Why It Succeeds.

Because It's For One Thing
Only and Hammonton People Appreciate This.

Nothing can be good for everything.
Doing one thing well brings success.
Doan's Kidney Pills do one thing only.
They cure sick kidneys.
They cure backache, every kidney ill.
Here is Hammonton evidence to prove it.
Mrs. H. M. Farmer, Bellevue Ave., Ham-monton, N. J., says: "I cannot speak too highly of Doan's Kidney Pills, as they are the only remedy that ever gave me relief from kidney trouble. The secretions from my kidneys were too frequent in passage and at times contained a sediment. I also suffered from a pain across the small of my back and felt vulnerable in every way. I finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the Red Cross Pharmacy and they entirely cured me. The pain in my back were disposed of and the kidney secretions were regulated. I gratefully recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, as I know they can be relied upon to act as represented." For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents.

The Truth about Wine Drinking.

It is popularly believed that alcohol produces its greatest ravages among the people who use it in its strongest form, — whisky, gin, bitters, quack medicine, hard cider, and brandy, and that those who use it from almost childhood up in the form of beer, ale, porter, or in the vinous fermentation of the juice of the grape, known as wine, are exempt from the deleterious effects because of the moderate quantity of intoxicant in these beverages; and that consequently autoerotic alcohol does not subdue, blind, and bring into bondage his votaries in grape growing districts to the same startling extent as with imbibers of ardent spirits.
In other words, that the vice inebriety is not a monster of such frightful mien in wine-producing countries as among our whisky drinking people at home.

That this is not absolutely true is shown by the great antialcoholic wave that at present is sweeping over all of Germany, including the wine producing parts, also Switzerland, France and Italy, countries celebrated for the abundance and excellence of their light wines, and among a people thought to be temperate. That in this great teetotal movement in these wine producing countries, physicians are among the most active and effective participants, also indicates how great must be the need for such very radical change.

Observing the change that drink has produced in the individual, the home, the community, it seems of late to have become a question among the many continental physicians whether alcohol in any form should be used, even as a stimulant in sickness, or as formerly, when it was thought to be a tonic, for amelioration of the ill and feebleness of old age.

Alcohol is becoming universally regarded as a poison so deleterious, even in small quantities, that it used at all should be only in the arts.

So rapidly has the conviction spread as to the evil effect of even small quantities of alcohol, that in some hospitals, especially in Germany, neither patients nor attendants, as in the past, are supplied with it; and many of these men, active in the crusade against alcohol, have come to this conviction because of what they have seen of its effect among the wine producing people of continental Europe.

A very significant indication of the antagonism of the people of wine-growing and other parts of Europe to the use of wine and other intoxicating liquors was shown at the Anti-Alcoholic Congress held in Stockholm, Sweden, last August. In a room devoted to an exhibition of the vast literature of anti-alcoholism, where, not counting books, tracts, leaflets, reprints, etc., over twelve hundred distinct periodicals pointing out the danger of drink and advocating abstinence, were shown. Only about two hundred of these were printed in English; the others were chiefly in the languages of continental Europe, and most of them emanated from the wine producing countries.

This tells the story.

EVERY DAY TALK.

"Do you know of a place where the birds love to sing?
Where the water is pure as a bubbling spring?
Where the air's ever balmy with piney ozone?
For 'tis there I would rest in a home of my own."
"Yes, there is such a place, I am happy to say.
And it's ideal for homes: Hammonton, N. J."
"Ah, indeed! But I'd need, if a place there I'd own,
Just a few other things, such as a telephone."
"Could I have that and gas? Better, electric lights?
Is the climate conducive to good appetites?"
"Both the light and the telephone service's the best;
And you'll eat till you'll have to unbutton your vest."
"And the streets—are they watered? Ah, there is the rub!"
"Yes they are, and kept clean, by the Town's Civic Club."
"Are the foods in their seasons, fresh, plenty and cheap?"
"They are that, and all kinds, from a peach to a sheep."
"Are there houses for sale in that town, do you know?"
"Yes; but if they don't suit, build a nice bungalow."

MRS. ORVILLE BASSETT.

THREE-FIRE ALARMS.

The rear half of A. G. Ebinger's house, on Liberty Street, was destroyed by fire on Tuesday, and only by hard work was any of the building, or its contents, saved.

It was about 10:57 when the alarm sounded, and in a very few minutes all the apparatus of both companies fled out Liberty Street,— the down-towners laying their hose on the run.— Water was soon turned on, and notwithstanding but one line of hose was laid, and that eleven hundred feet long, a good stream played havoc with the flames,— preventing anything but the attic over the front rooms taking fire. The alarm was received too late to save the rear of the house, three or four rooms.

The chemical engines did good work, holding in check the destructive agent, and putting out little blazes all over the building.

Much might be said of the effective work of the firemen and citizens; needless to say they were well used up, after one hour and a half fighting.

E. P. Jones, of the Volunteer Company, was dragged down stairs with one arm through the nozzle strap, badly tearing the muscles of his right hand, also losing his glasses. This was the most serious of the few mishaps.

The fire is supposed to have originated from an oil-stove on which dinner was being cooked, the family being out picking peas.

A goodly proportion of the furniture was saved, damaged of course. Both building and contents were insured, but Mr. Ebinger's loss will be quite heavy, notwithstanding. Mr. Reeves, Secretary of Cumberland Mutual Insurance Co., was here yesterday, and adjusted the loss satisfactorily.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Janson opened their home to the burned-out family.

A second alarm sounded about one o'clock the same day. Some firemen had not yet reached home; others were climbing into dry clothing, while a few were soaking in bath tubs.

The scene was a chicken-house on the Miss Korsey (Kirby) place, out on Twelfth Street. A bonfire had been started too near the building, and it caught fire; but the fireman's services were required a few minutes.

The third fire alarm, for which many were listening, thank goodness, did not come until Thursday night, about 8:30, — then the boys responded, and some of the apparatus got as far as Thirteenth Street, when word came that the fire was only in brush heaps, somewhere about Rosedale, — and they hiked back home.

Close Calls at the Lake.

Four narrow escapes from drowning in the Lake have already been reported this season.

First, Prof. Holbrook was near the verge of being upset from a canoe. Then, Walter Bakely, with the help of a companion who had been made timid by a previous close call in the same boat, ran for a near-by boat and pulled a young bather out of the channel at the cove. He was in bad shape, but soon revived.

A few nights later, a young Italian got into trouble at the same place, but was helped out by a young chap with water wings.

James Appleseed, unaided, pulled Mrs. H. O. Puckard and son out of a hole at the dam, probably the old wall that tradition says was flooded when the dam was built.

It is strenuous and dangerous work, at the best, to rescue a drowning person, but probably no recent rescue required such strenuous and dangerous work as when, some thirty-odd years ago, Joseph Brane, Sr., pulled the three Andress girls from the channel in front of his mill. The girls had gone in for a bath, and when Mr. Evans looked out of the mill window a little later, they had disappeared. He ran to the water edge, and knowing the dangerous spot, dove, and brought up one after another, then, unaided, resuscitated them.

A seven year old daughter of Joseph Abbott, at Neco, died Saturday morning, 10th inst., from burns received Friday afternoon. She had gotten hold of a fire-cracker, somewhere, and lighting it, it flew up under her dress, setting her clothing on fire. Her mother was severely burned about her hands while endeavoring to extinguish the flames. The family have our sincere sympathy.

THE SIXTEENTH.

As we stated last week, yesterday was the gala day of the year with the Italians, not only residents here, but trainloads from everywhere for many miles around. It is stated that 1000 came in from 9:30 to 10 a.m., and scores of teams brought their loads.

There was an unusual number of stands on Third Street, at least two score, where eatables were on sale, and various amusements, catch-penny con games, licenses from which should be more than enough to pay the six or eight special officers.

Stands were quite well patronized, as was the ocean wave. For the evening's entertainment there was a dance pavilion and a trapeze performance, in addition to the fireworks.

The parade was made conspicuous by the absence of Hammoncton Band, the Italians not being willing to pay them the same as the city bands. Most of our merchants contributed toward the expenses, being assured that the local band would be engaged; but they will know what to do next time the solicitor comes around.

CHAIRMAN.

Mrs. Marin Bickley, of Haddon Heights, and her cousin, Miss Ruth Weld, from East River, Conn., are spending the week-end in Hammoncton.

YOU that transfer per cent. interest for money deposited in a Savings Account at Hammoncton Trust Company whether the money remains one calendar month or twelve, it makes no difference. Interest is paid for every full calendar month that remains on deposit.

Prof. Geo. W. Quinn, from Texas, for years a Hammonctonian, is here. He finds many old acquaintances, though still more have passed "over the bar."

Winslow Council will celebrate its third anniversary next Tuesday eve, at their hall. Music by Hammoncton Band, speakers, and a banquet, are on the programme.

We are told, and we sincerely hope true, that Miss Margaret Atkinson is about to return to Hammoncton, her operation for cancer having been successful.

If the former proprietor of "L. Aurora," and of the Hammoncton Ice Company will communicate with this office, they will confer a favor, their whereabouts being unknown.

Mrs. P. H. Jacobs is entertaining her cousin, Mrs. Stuart, Roanoke, Va., also Mrs. Kirkham, of Paterson, N. J., Tucker, of Richmond, and Mrs. May Phillips, of Philadelphia.

Mr. C. L. Woodward, proprietor of the "Woodward Print Shop," with his wife and child, started on Wednesday for Boston, Va., where Mr. W. will start a newspaper. Success to him.

To-morrow, 18th, services at the Italian Presbyterian will be: Morning, 10:30, baptism, sermon and the Lord's Supper. Four ministers are expected. Rev. A. Stasin, Rev. A. Serafini, and two others. All are welcome.

In case of fire, all teams should take to the side of the streets, or get off altogether. Otherwise, firemen are delayed in getting to their destination.

We noticed a carriage, Tuesday, that had both wheels torn off one side.

At the Baptist Church, Sunday morning, Pastor Spidell's topic, "The Christian's Demeanor in both Worlds," Evening, seven to eight o'clock. Short sermon on "Good and Bad Advice." Special music, duet and quartette.

There will be preaching in the M. E. Church to-morrow, morning and evening, the latter from seven to eight o'clock, when Pastor Shaw will speak on "Counting the Cost," and recite a poem, the scene being laid in Rome during the reign of the Caesars.

A number of friends surprised Aaron Bassett on the occasion of his fourteenth birthday, Thursday evening. The guests surrounding the house were prettily decorated with Jap lanterns and bunting, with a large American flag suspended over the table. About fifteen were present.

NOTICE. The absent partnership that existed between L. Frank Horne and Wm. B. Oliver dissolved by death. He it known that all maturing first estate mortgages, or in process will be settled by me. I shall continue in the real estate business. After August 1st, my office will be in the O'Donnell building, first floor, on Egg Harbor Road, L. Horne.

The District Clerk has received the approval of our State Attorney General on the proceedings of the special school meeting held last week. Now the desired plans for new building will be completed, sent up to be approved, and a contract awarded. It doesn't look, however, as though the work could be done by September.

Geo. E. Bruns and wife, Robt. McC. Miller and wife, with two or three others, went to Atlantic Park, P. Hott, on Wednesday, to attend an all-day meeting of Old Fellows. They went over in an automobile, and had a very enjoyable time.
