ITALIAN CELEBRATION.

The annual "Feast of Our Lady of Mount Carmel" was celebrated by St. Joseph's Church on Thursday, with even more than the usual pomp and ceremony.

The Jefferson Cornet Band, of Phila., furnished very good music during the day and evening.

During the greater part of the day services were continued in the church, the bell sounding out over the town at frequent intervals. At about 4:30 p. m. the parade started from the church. The line was led by about eighty young women and children dressed in white, carrying lighted candles. These were followed by men carrying the images of saints, about which there has been so much agitation of late. Then came several hundred men, women and children, a large number of which dropped out of the line before the route was finished. From the church they passed along Third Street to Bellevue, thence along Main Road, Fairview Avenue, Railroad Ave., Bellevue Ave., Third St., again to the church. At different points the procession was halted for devotional exercises and no matter how prejudiced the spectator was he could not help noticing the earnestness and fervor attending these public ceremonies.

As the line passed up Bellevue, they were met by Mr. Alvin Adams who claimed the right of way and refused to wait for the procession to pass by. His horse was grasped by some of the paraders and held, but after a few words were exchanged and threats made by Mr. Adams that he would drive over them, the Italians parted their lines and Mr. Adams proceeded on his way. They also stopped Harry Leonard who was driving along Railroad Avenue. After repeated attempts he reached Pleasant Street and turned off, leaving the paraders in possession of the Avenue.

"Day fireworks" were sent up in the afternoon from the church grounds, and in the evening the display was enjoyed by the public in general who had assembled along Third and Pleasant Streets.

All things considered, very good order was maintained throughout the day and evening. Probably no where on this continent could a scene be found equalling that on Third Street Thursday, especially during the evening. Both sides of the street were lined with booths stocked with all kinds of refreshments—solid and liquid, fireworks, jewelry, notions, etc. The surging crowd of Italians, gaily dressed women, shouting men, the children—some tired and crying, others rollicking with glee—made a picture never to be forgotten by the many who witnessed the "Italian Fourth of July."

Mr. H. S. Fitzgerald, of New York City, gave a unique exhibition, Thursday evening, in Dr. Cunningham's parlor, before about a score of invited guests, including physicians. By some unknown formation of his frame, he can at will dislocate shoulder, hip, knee, ankle, and other joints, retain them thus while being examined, then restore them. Can grasp main arteries and stop the flow of blood until his flesh below that point cools, and his pulse ceases to beat. Can distend and displace various cords and muscles, and in other ways puzzle and astonish the most eminent surgeons in the country. It is needless to say that his Hammonton audience was astounded. Mr. F. noticed this peculiarity when about six years old, developed it, and has for thirty years been exhibited before medical institutions and classes, as a study in anatomy. He is now above fifty years old.

The County Board of Elections for 1896 is the same as last year, all members having been re-appointed, as follows:

Republican.—James D. Southwick, of Atlantic City; Joseph Haanmill, May's Landing.

Democrat.—John T. French, of Hammonton; Henry S. Scull, Atlantic City.

BASE BALL.

HAMMONTON vs EGG HARBOR CITY
The game for the championship of Atlantic County played last Saturday, was won by our nine to the tune of 6-3. Hitchner, as usual, did nobly, and undoubtedly won the game for us. His record of nineteen strike-outs is not equalled every day, nor by every pitcher. Garfside did not show up as well as usual, and one of the visitors' runs was made on a passed ball. Our boys do not seem to hit so hard, nor often as they used to, though seven hits were made off Prasch, to four from Hitchner.

Tuesday evening, a traveling troupe opened a show in Union Hall. There was not much of an audience, but every self-respecting man who was present wished for a very small biding place, so provoked was he at being roped into such a performance. Every one whom we have heard express an opinion declared the things there a disgrace to the hall, and to the town, low, immoral, indecent. On Wednesday an attempt was made to prevent their advertised second performance. A member of the Council's Vice and Immorality Committee was seen, and while admitting that such a show was productive of only evil, made no promise of interference. The Town Clerk stated that the troupe had no license, as the ordinance requires, but did not seem to think it his duty to call the crew to order. He promised to notify the Chairman of Council, but nothing came of it; the show went on just the same. Will we ever have a law that will define the duties of town officers? that will make it the business of some one to enforce laws and ordinances? Of course, faultfinding will not mend matters; but we cannot avoid censuring men who accept public office without knowing its duties; or, knowing, neglect to perform them. Such shows as the one referred to are worse than pestilences—polluting to a depraved taste, breeding moral disease which physicians never cure.

Thursday evening after the fireworks, the party started a third performance, but didn't complete the program, being interrupted by volleys of ancient eggs thrown through the windows by parties outside the hall. It wasn't a pretty thing to do, of course, but sometimes people must take the law into their own hands. It would have been a better job if more skillfully done, and two nights earlier. It is said that the troupe were afraid to leave the hall until too late to catch the late special train, and were compelled to spend the balance of the night in the station.

Some of our citizens are asking why the Italians were allowed to defile a town collection by carrying their images and religious emblems in their parades. The charter provides for their punishment by complaint and summons. They could not be arrested on sight. The Italians had legal advice to the effect that the ordinance could not be enforced, being sectarian legislation, therefore unconstitutional. They were further advised to carry out their usual program, and allow a test case to be made of the violation. Further, some claim that the permission given by Council for the parade, includes a right of way, without interruption by teams. Town officials state that they are ready to begin suit against St. Joseph's Church to recover penalty, if public opinion demands it. But public opinion is pretty well divided on the question, and the outcome is to-day uncertain.

The Orchard Street crossing of the O. & A. R. R. will yet be the scene of disaster unless protection is provided. Three times within a month there have been very narrow escapes there. On Wednesday morning Nicholas Solazzo drove over that crossing. With him were two men, a woman and babe. The up-express came tearing along, so close that the men all jumped, two on one side of the track, and Solazzo on the other side; so close that the engineer feared that he had struck the wagon and stopped his train. It was a very narrow escape, with no damage. Recently, two young ladies only escaped by whipping up their spirited horses. It is too dangerous a spot to remain unguarded.

While Miss Viola Adams was riding her bicycle homeward on Fairview Avenue, Thursday evening, she was stopped by a drunken man, who brandished a club and pulled her from her wheel. Four or five other ruffians came running to his assistance, but after rough treatment she broke away from the first one, and before the others could seize her, mounted her bicycle and escaped unhurt.

"Jack" McFetridge, the "amateur phenom," will pitch for the Riptons to-day. On Thursday he won the game for Atlantic City by his pitching, against the Asbury Park nine. About six years ago he held the Hammonds down to one hit, in a game with the Highlands, who won with a score of 14 to 0.

FOR SALE. A fine brick residence in Hammon, eight rooms, heater, broad piazza, with twenty-five acres of cultivated land. Will include horse, carriage, wagon, cow, and farming tools. Immediate possession, Part cash. Inquire at REPUBLICAN office.

Mrs. Mary Benz has been suffering from cancer for about four years. Now the disease has so far progressed that she is helpless, and requires constant care. She is lying with her son-in-law, Lorenzo Pantella, and as he is a poor man, with seven children, the expense and care are a burden though cheerfully given. No money help is asked, but if you have any rays suitable for dressing the sore, please leave them at Stockwell's store, with your name.

Tuesday evening, as Mrs. Harry Leonard was swinging in a hammock on the front piazza, one of the hammock hooks gave way and she fell to the floor, painfully injuring her back. She was carried into the house; but happily the injuries did not prove to be permanent, and are yielding to careful treatment.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her, and she says it saved her life. Mr. Theo. Rogers, 129 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which there are examples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trial bottles at Croft's Pharmacy.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received by the Committee on Bridges of the Board of Chosen Freeholders, at the City and Law Building, Atlantic City, on Monday, July 22nd, 1896, at 11 o'clock a. m., for the reconstruction of the supports and wings of the draw-bridge over the creek at Fort Republic, New Jersey. Bids may be submitted for either wood or stone construction. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids. Specifications can be procured from the Chairman of the Committee, M. J. THE MODEL FENCE.

The second of the series of Christian Endeavor services at the Baptist Church was held last Sunday evening.

The subject, "The Model Fence," was illustrated by a "real" fence which surrounded the platform.

After the opening exercises, Pastor Killian gave an address, taking for his text our C. E. motto, "For Christ and the Church." He compared the text with the rail fence at the side, which was composed of two posts and five rails. The first post used as representing "Christ," and the second as "Church."

The first rail being called "Conversion," the second, "Holy Spirit," third, "Loyalty," fourth, "Honor," fifth, "Helpfulness." The address was full from beginning to end of practical suggestions as to the manner of doing more efficient work for Christ and the Church.

Everyone is invited to the third ramble, through the "Green Pastures," Sunday evening, at 7:30.

On Wednesday evening, Joseph Rupertome's horse ran away. In the wagon with the owner were a young woman a girl and a baby. Starting on Egg Harbor Road, the horse turned up Bellevue Avenue, just there striking A. Bernhouse's wagon, damaging it somewhat, throwing a boy with some injury, and scattering his load of empty crates. Rupertome's baby was also seriously hurt. Up Bellevue, opposite the REPUBLICAN office, Jos. Bernhouse's wagon was struck, and his horse ran away, but was caught on Central Ave., without damage. As Rupertome's team neared Third Street, the woman was lying across the shafts, between horse and wagon, where she pluckily held on while the horse turned the corner and brought up suddenly in Mr. Elvine's wagon shed. Fortunately, she was not injured, and rallied from the shock.

Near the corner, Miss Lillian Jacobs was driving their pretty Standard pony, in a tiny road-cart. Right in the path of danger, with no time to do anything, Miss J. was paralyzed with terror, when Chas. Helm, the young barber, rushed into the street, grasped pony and cart and (witnesses say) lifted them just out of danger—not six inches from the flying team—no doubt saving the young lady's life. A brave act, properly recognized by Mr. Jacobs.

Mrs. Almira D. Lake Heartwell, wife of Nathan Heartwell, Esq., died last Sunday night, July 12th, at her residence on Washington Street, aged 70 years, after long illness. Mrs. H. was a native of Vermont, but in childhood moved to New York State, was there married, and came here with her husband in 1861. She was a great reader, happy in the company of historical and poetical works. She had a phenomenal memory, which her friends loved to test by quoting a line of poetry which she would take up, complete the quotation, and name the author. A son and daughter, several grandchildren and two great-grandchildren mourn with the aged husband. Funeral services were held on Tuesday.

BOGUS LARD.

A Great Deal of the Stuff is Now Sold in the City.

In its Manufacture Many Deleterious Substances Not Fit to Enter the Human Stomach are Used.

A great deal of complaint has been made of late in regard to bogus lard that is being produced and put upon the market. A number of wholesale-provision merchants, who were seen yesterday by a representative of the North American, vouched for the truth of the assertion, and one gentleman said that the unclean and disgusting devices which are now used to cheapen the productive cost of lard are an outrage and a serious menace to the public health. He said he thought that it was very important that the Board of Health should take up the matter immediately and suppress the sale of all such compounds. The information comes from such a source that its correctness cannot be doubted. The large packers of lard have always given out that even their compound qualities were manufactured in the most cleanly way, nothing being allowed to enter into them which was either unclean or deleterious to health, but, unfortunately, such is not the case.

There are several standard grades of both pure and compound lard, such as "Choice Family Lard," "Lard Compound," "Silver Leaf," and so on. Many manufacturers produce lard under these names, which are no longer regarded as private brands. None of the lard ever manufactured under any of the names mentioned above is pure. For instance, "Choice Family Lard," as a rule, contains but 40 per cent of lard, with the remaining 60 per cent equally divided between tallow, cotton oil, and "off" lard, which is a quality not fit to enter the human stomach. "Lard Compound" contains no lard at all, being composed of cotton oil, deodorized hog grease, tallow and oleostearine.

It is asserted on good authority that smothered hogs, and those which have died from disease, are also used in the manufacture of lard. These animals, even after they are putrid and exhale a fetid stench, are made into a "pure" lard, after being deodorized by the use of permanganate of potash, bichromate of potash, and washing soda. The vilest sort of greases are subjected to the poisonous effects of these chemicals, and then turned out fit for the stomach. Bichromate and permanganate of potash are both powerful caustics, capable of causing serious disorders.

A 300-pound hog, which has died from disease, will yield fully 130 pounds of lard, which will sell for six cents per pound. Lard manufacturers are required to use great care in handling these decomposed hogs, as they will produce blood poisoning if allowed to touch a scratched hand. The carcasses are nearly always handled with hooks and gloves, yet they are perfectly fit to produce lard which enters into the human system.

A man who witnessed the process of manufacturing lard at one of the Chicago stock yards, declared that he saw these diseased hogs lying on the platform of the stock yard, swollen to twice their usual size, and burst open. They were waiting to be made into lard. The process of deodorizing the putrid carcasses includes sulphuric acid and oil of vitriol, the properties of which are well known.

A vast amount of butter and lard is adulterated by the use of water in which plasterers' lime has been dissolved, this being introduced into the article during the process of making.

MORAL: Buy only Jackson's home-made lard.

Thursday morning one of Chas. Jones' horses, in charge of Joe. Naylor, ran away. Turning from Bellevue into Second Street, one of the carriage shafts caught a young Italian under the arm, lifted him from his bicycle and carried him some distance, the boy grasping the horse's collar until he could drop. It looked like a slim chance for life, but he escaped serious injury. A badly bruised leg and a wrecked bicycle are the results. The young man was a nephew of B. Crescenzo, from the city.

State Road Commissioner Budd has issued commissions to the following named persons as supervisors of the new County Road:

Section one, Hammononton to Elwood,—Wm. H. Burgess, of Hammononton.

Section two, Elwood to Egg Harbor City,—Albert W. Irving, of Elwood.

Section three, Egg Harbor City to Pomona,—John Hanselman, Germaniam.

Section four, Pomona to Absecon,—John H. Steelman, Absecon.

Harry McD. Little appears to be one of the most prosperous of Hammononton business men. He seems to have a faculty of knowing just what people want. For instance, recently he bought several couches of a desirable pattern; and all but one of them were sold before he had time to take them into the store.
