Vol. 51

HAMMONTON, N. J., SATURDAY, JULY 19, 1913

No. 29

Blackberry picking is about finished.

Mrs. Mabel Yates was one of this week's visitors.

Rocco Rubertone has an auto,—a great convenience.

For a wonder,—it didn't rain on either the 4th or 16th.

Volunteer Fire Company meets next Monday evening.

John Prash is driving a fine rubber-tired dead-wagon.

The Baptists will picnic at the Park on Tuesday, August 12th.

Rev. W. L. Shaw entertained his brother Rev. Joseph Shaw, this week.

Mrs. Laura Jones writes that she is enjoying her prolonged visit in Newark.

James Fitzpatrick came up from the shore to witness Wednesday's celebration.

Lewis Speyce, 3rd, spent a week very pleasantly with friends in Philadelphia.

Comrade Thomas McKay, from Buffalo, N. Y., is visiting his sister, Mrs. J. R. Conkey.

Mrs. Quedno is in the Cooper Hospital, Camden, for a few weeks' treatment and operation.

R. L. Rubertone bought the Wm. Baker property, on Third St., last Saturday, at Sheriff sale.

The first instalment of the list of scholars will probably appear in the next issue of the Republican.

Mrs. Samuel Speese and daughter, of Germantown, visited local friends, John Kelley and family.

John K. Lintner has an auto, and is building a garage in the rear of his house, on South Third Street.

Miss Anna Kligenberg entertained her friend, Miss Etta Kennedy, of Winslow, part of the week.

Judge and Mrs. Smathers, of Atlantic City, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rider, over Sunday.

Hammonton Hotel has gone dry. No, not their beer pump; but they have just put on a new metal roof.

Miss Lola Cunningham leaves on Monday next for several weeks camping along the banks of the Hudson River.

Miss Mills, from Central New York State, is the guest of her cousin, C. A. Leonard,—her first visit in many years.

Senator Prince, of Columbia College, was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Rider, on Saturday and Sunday, July 5th and 6th.

Amos S. VanHise is now located in New York City, as manager of the Miller Bros. Company, manufacturers of pocket cutlery, steel pens, and ink erasers.

Among the dozen or more jobs turned out by Hoyt & Son, this week, was an eight page catalogue for Hugo Kind, listing the Ranere raspberry and other fruit bushes.

Little Ha-Ha Council were compelled by rain to postpone their "Lemon Social." They invite you to come at five o'clock this afternoon,—on Mrs. W. H. Burgess' lawn.

The Civic Club will hold its next fortnightly "dimble party" at the residence of Mrs. P. H. Rosebery, Central Avenue and Maple Street, next Tuesday afternoon, July 22, at three o'clock.

Dr. J. C. Bitter has completed a post graduate course at Hahnemann College, fitting himself to make physical diagnosis, chemical analysis, and microscopic tests. It took six or eight hours out of each day,—which he will now have for his practice.

Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Kramer spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents, in Palsom. They report having had a delightful trip through Pennsylvania and New York State, stopping at Mauch Chunk, Wilkes Barre, Ithaca, N. Y., Niagara Falls, crossing Lake Ontario to Toronto, Canada, and points of interest. They are now in their new home on Fern Ave., Collingwood, N. J.

Moving out,—berry pickers.

Mrs. W. H. Parkhurst has what we call the prettiest automobile in town. It is well named "Little," graceful in shape, and contains everything needed in an up-to-date car. It was a birthday gift from her husband.

Doctor and Mrs. F. C. Burt returned, early this week, from their automobile tour. They covered some twelve hundred miles, including the whole length of New York State,—enjoyed every day, and reached home looking better for their trip.

A postal card invitation was received by some of our ladies, this week, to meet this afternoon and assist in organizing for woman suffrage. Possibly, the invitation would have been more enthusiastically received had the projectors signed their names.

Death of an old Resident.

Margaret Warburton Atkinson died in Hammonton, N. J., on Wednesday, July 16th, 1913, in her 91st year.

Miss A. was born in Liverpool, Eng., April 12, 1823, came to this country when about seven years old, her parents settling in Camden. They moved to DaCosta in 1859, where, later, her father was the station agent and postmaster. Margaret was his assistant, and at his death, in 1880, was appointed successor, holding both positions for sixteen or eighteen years, then resigned on account of age.

Miss Margaret was known to nearly everybody in this vicinity, and universally esteemed.

Her remains can be viewed at her late home, the residence of Mrs. M. W. Dunfee, 208 South Second St. Funeral service at the Universalist Church, at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Bank Bros.

In the ordinary crowd on the street, there are always some well dressed men. They are men whose appearance is noticeable; they have an air of distinction and class.

You may just as well be one of these. You can have clothes of that kind if you just come in and say the word.

We will show you Suits that Hart Schaffner & Marx made for us, and are now lowered in price; and the only reason why they are reduced is because we want to dispose of all goods that were bought for the season.

You will find here very great inducements.

The costs against each lot or parcel, if paid before the sale will be $2.02.

THOMAS CHALMERS, Collector,
Dated July 2nd, 1913.

"Virginibus Puerisque."

"Where is Jack?" asked Mr. Rogers, as he came in at six o'clock. "He was late to dinner last night, and he's going to be late again to-night."

"I saw him with that Jones girl," answered his daughter Dorothy. "She's a new girl in town, very pretty, but very bold, I'm sure she's not nice. I do wish Jack wouldn't go with her."

It took Mr. Rogers a long time to get out of his overcoat and take off his gloves. Generally he was full of boyish spirits when the day's work was done. Now he was very quiet, and he looked long and absently out of the window.

Presently the door opened, and Jack came in.

"Jack," said his father, "I want to show you something."

Relief and interest showed instantly in the boy's face. The dreaded question was not to be asked, after all.

Mr. Rogers led the way to his work-room in the attic. There were his carpenter-bench and his tools and his lathe, and in the corner was the dynamo that worked it. Jack had seen them all many times.

"What is it, father," he asked.

Mr. Rogers laid his hand upon the dynamo. "Jack, by means of this a mysterious power becomes mine. We call it electricity, but no one knows what it is. We only know that if we treat it in the right way, it will enable us to do wonderful things. It will work our mills, light our houses and our streets, and run our cars. It will enable man to do more than any other power that has been discovered. But at the same time, if you treat it in the wrong way, it will strike you dead!"

"Yes, father, I know that," said Jack.

His father turned toward him with an earnestness that Jack had never before seen in his face. "There is another power very like that in its results. There is the mysterious feeling that men have for women and women have for men. Treat that right, and it will bless your life and ennoble it, and make you ten times, yes, a hundred times, the man you could ever be without it. Nothing of earth will ever do so much for you if you treat it right. But treat that feeling wrong, and it will curse you, and blast your life, and kill your immortal soul!"

For a moment they looked each other square in the eye; then together they went down stairs in silence. In the hall below, Jack put his hand on his father's arm. "I know what you mean, father, and I know it's true," he whispered.—Youth's Companion.

A Chapter of Accidents.

Herman Priestly, of Elm, was struck by an automobile last week Friday, near Ancora, breaking a small bone in his left leg.

Last Saturday, while the Sampson boys, of Winslow, were riding to work on a motorcycle, they collided with an Italian boy on a bicycle. The Italian sustained numerous cuts and a broken ankle.

J. T. Townsend, of Atlantic City, sustained a badly fractured wrist, Wednesday, while cranking an automobile.

An unknown motorcyclist was badly cut and bruised, Thursday, by a spill from his machine.

Dr. Cunningham attended these four patients.

Hammoncton Needs Rain.

It takes a normal amount of rain each year to grow the crops. This normal rainfall is well known. In consequence the weather bureau issues bulletins showing the precipitation and excess or deficiency of moisture.

It takes a normal amount of boosting and public spirit to keep a town from drying up. If a bulletin were issued showing what you have done to patronize, to boost and to help Hammoncton, where would your name appear?—in the excess or in the deficiency column? Are you precipitating a normal amount of home pride and local enthusiasm?

The propositions differ in two important particulars: First, you can't have an excess of home pride. Second, if there is a deficiency, you can correct it.

Efforts to make it rain when the country needs rain have never been very successful. But it ought to be easy for you to realize that you are not doing enough for Hammoncton and for Hammoncton's present and future, and to get out of the deficiency column and onto the honor roll.

PERSEVERE.

Rome was not builded in a day:
For centuries men worked away—
No quitters there.

And, if this town of ours is slow,
Remember it is often so
That cities grow.

Just keep on boosting it a bit:
Just show that you have faith in it,
And never quit.

Just make your cash, and spend it, here,
And, day by day and year by year,
Still persevere.

Hammoncton, amid the fertile loam
Is just as good a town as Rome—
So boost for Home!

D. B. Berry met with a peculiar accident a week ago yesterday. At work in the "Atlantic Cash Feed Company" store, he turned slightly and stooped to pick up a bag, when he heard something snap in his right hip, and fell to the floor. Dr. Crowell was summoned, and pronounced it a dislocation of the hip joint. Saturday morning the doctor took him to the German Hospital, Philadelphia, where an X-ray examination revealed a fracture of the bone below the joint, in addition to the dislocation. Late reports state that he is "doing well."

The manager of the Hammoncton Telephone and Telegraph Company wishes to thank patrons for their patience in waiting for the reinstatement of the three hundred telephones put out of commission during the recent storm.

It is estimated by those who are in a position to know, that there were a half-million dollars worth of automobiles in town, Wednesday. This figure does not include those that passed through without stopping.
