Hammonton, N. J., July 18, 1918
My Dear Mr. Hoyt:

July 14 I wrote to Major General H. L. Scott, of Camp Dix, asking that he furlough our boys on July 16, so that they might spend the day at home. I said this would be especially appreciated by the Catholic boys who had annually been accustomed to take part in the feast of "Our Lady of Mt. Carmel." This morning I received a letter from Major General Scott, which is as follows:

Headquarters: Office of the Commanding General, Camp Dix, N. J., July 17, 1918

Hon. Michael E. Boyer, Mayor, Room of the Town Council, Hammonton, New Jersey, New Jersey.

Your letter of July 14 was received this morning, upon my return after an absence of several days from the camp. I greatly regret that I did not receive it in time to take action on this matter, as you request. I hope, however, that the men have gotten authority from their companies to have carried out the request.

I am, Sir, very respectfully,

H. L. SCOTT,
General, U. S. A.,
Commanding.

I am sure that an effort will be made to get our boys home on July 16. If but for a moment, I hope, however, that the men have gotten authority from their companies to have carried out the request.

Very respectfully,
MICHAEL E. BOYER.

July Sixteenth Celebration.

Though the crowds were not so large as usual, Tuesday's celebration was a memorable one, it being more of a religious holiday than formerly. There were refreshment stands along Third Street, besides the carnival and its attractions.

The band concerts were very much enjoyed, as was the huge parade in the afternoon.

The State Militia Reserve, with several appointed special officers, were in evidence all day, the former being in uniform, and but little disorder was reported. A husband and wife in a fight, had to be locked up; a mother and child were separated, and a few suspicious characters scattered. Much credit is given to the presence of the Militia Reserve.

The motion pictures, witnessed by thousands of spectators, were very interesting.

Communication.

Editor South Jersey Republican,
Hammonton, N. J.

Dear Sir:—
I am not superstitious by nature; but after reading your account of the recent fire at the Loading plant, with comments as to its probable cause, and barking back to the fire which occurred at the same plant some two months or less ago, from a similar cause, I could not help recalling the old superstition that two successive calamities were almost invariably followed by a third, and no one could feel safe until the third had shown up. According to this reasoning, the Loading plant is doomed to suffer one or more dangerous experience before it can be considered immune.

In my humble opinion, that will be its experience unless the Government will, at the urgent request of your citizens, declare absolute prohibition within a zone extending for five miles in all directions from the Loading plant. I cannot believe that your citizens at all realize the disastrous effects of a possible explosion of the immense quantity of powder * * * worse than all else, to cause a fearful loss of life at the plant itself.

What are your people thinking of to allow, under such dangerous conditions, the menace of even one saloon? I fear that you and Brother Delker are not yet half awake on this subject.

Stir your citizens up in every issue, and see that a petition goes quickly to Washington.

Sincerely yours, "Safety."

Editor Republican:

As an amateur gardener, I fear that I have made a mistake in planting two varieties of corn—side-by-side. It did not occur to me that they might mix. On one side I have planted "Howling Mob," and on the other "Golden Bantam." Can you or your readers inform me whether they will mix, and whether I had better have them plowed up?

"Farmerette."

(We are amateurs, like our fair correspondent; but we are of the opinion that she will reap a crop of "Howling Bantam" corn. Now that it is planted and well on the way, we would let it mature. They are both good varieties, and the mixture may prove most excellent. —Ed.)

From a Hammonton Nurse.

Mrs. D. S. Cunningham has received many very interesting letters from her daughter, Sara A. Cunningham, who is in charge of civilian hospital in Semaize, France. The hospital is supported by the Friends' Society of Phila. The hospital is an old chateau made to accommodate 40 patients, and in the past few months barracks have been built for 20 additional beds. During the month of April 88 operations were performed.

In one letter she writes—"I wish you could see the wonderful dressings the Red Cross send to us. We haven't received any yet from New Jersey. You can't realize what it means to have these things sent us, sterilized, and all ready for use."

The following is a clipping from one of the papers in Semaize:

The busiest center of medical relief at the present time is the Chateau of Semaize. Here any day of the week you may find patients arriving or departing by the carload. Plumbers are plumbing, builders are building, and electricians electrifying all about. If you walk inside you will see Dr. Habbitt's lunch getting cold and hear that there are still two more operations. Night draws on,—by seven o'clock it is expected that more patients will have arrived than there are beds. (N'importe), while there are baths and stretchers and (chaises longues), none will be turned away.

The Chateau is the surgical center of a large district comprising much of the Marne and more of the Meuse. Perhaps in a few weeks, if all our plans go well, the whole of the Meuse will be under our care. The doctors of the Mission treat civilians where no civil doctor can be found, and where the military doctors only appear sporadically for a few days at a time. The women and children are sent to the hospital for medical treatment and for convalescence after operations. The men and boys in like situation are admitted to the source Hospital at Semaize. If we had more beds, they would always be filled.

Possibly Some of Them.

Dodd Gaston remarks that a newspaper's income springs from three sources. Advertising, circulation and the owners of lost dogs.

From Prentiss A. Myrick.

I am not dating this letter, nor giving the place. It is "overseas." We had an interesting and pleasant trip, and with no apparent danger. There was something of a storm one day, and I had thought a storm at sea would be terrifying, but it wasn't in the least. It did not cause as much worry as an ordinary rain and wind storm on land, and not nearly as much as a thunder storm. In fact it only made the sea more interesting to watch.

I am very glad to be taking part in this war, but I shall be glad to have it over, and to get back on the farm.

Our present location is at Camp M. The country around here is almost exactly like Massachusetts. There are the same rocky hills with similar low, thick, prickly bushes. These hills are used as in Massachusetts for pasture. The valleys are, as there, better land, and used for growing similar crops. There are the same stone walls between the fields.

Some little French kids ran along beside our train, throwing up their hats, and shouting shrilly "here come the Americans, the Americans!"—It pleased us a lot.

There is a V. M. C. A. within 100 yards of our barracks, and we had a concert the other night—singing by a professional, and playing by a father and son, the latter violinist on the French grand opera staff.

I never would have believed that a man could be comfortable and perfectly satisfied with his surroundings, and could keep fairly clean with so small an equipment. A man can carry on his back enough to clothe and wash and amuse him for several weeks. Of course he has to have extra food.

Editor of the Republican:—

Although not a "Hammontonian born and bred" I still have the good of the town at heart, as I have of every American community. Allow me to express my admiration of the showing made by the Hammonton guardsmen on July 16. Their presence certainly was largely responsible for the maintenance of the order that day; in fact, the publication of their intention to go on police duty doubtless kept many undesirable characters out of Hammonton that day.

It was a pleasure to see how well they showed up in comparison with the fully equipped Vineland company on July 4. Do the people of Hammonton appreciate this organization of men who are giving their time now, and mayhap their lives later? If so, why are they still using wooden sticks for guns? Why are they not getting training at Sea Girt at the rifle range? Other communities are fully equipping their men and sending them to Sea Girt. I know of one town, not much larger than Hammonton, that has collected $4,000 for the purpose of equipping its men and giving them the benefit of the stay at Sea Girt. Why must such a good body as the Hammonton company lose this valuable experience? Patriot.
