July 17th, 1890.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN,

Dear Sir:—I remember that I promised to write you on my arrival here, of my trip, and occasionally while absent. It is a week to-day since I started from the land of small fruit, of genial climate, of the homes of many dear to me, from the plains of New Jersey's Atlantic coast, for the rock-ribbed mountains and the back-bone of the continent—the home of perpetual snow, of warm summer days and cold frosty nights. I had a very pleasant trip, nothing occurring to mar the enjoyment of the change of scenery as I flew through the country.

I left Philadelphia on the Reading road at a quarter to four, P. M., on the 10th, via Bethlehem and the Lehigh Valley; thence, on the Erie, to Niagara Falls; thence by the Grand Trunk, through Canada, to Port Huron, Michigan; thence, through Flint, Lansing, Battle Creek, &c., to Chicago. Here we will pause and set our watch an hour backward. We have gained an hour on time. We have gone one twenty-fourth part of the distance around this little planet. We arrived here at quarter to eleven o'clock, P. M., on the 11th, one day and seven hours after starting from Philadelphia, and traveled at least three hundred miles farther than by the most direct route. The Pennsylvania R. R. would have brought me to this point in 5 hours less time, but I would have had to remain in Philadelphia that length of time, waiting for the train, and preferred riding.

Nowhere on the route did I see so many fine country seats, beautiful villas, and lovely grounds, as near Philadelphia. The Lehigh Valley never looked so charming to me. One not accustomed to see the great mountains of earth, would regard the scenery there as grand and picturesque in the extreme. They have a noted glen and fine hotel at its mouth, bearing an Indian name. The names I do not recall. Here was a school teachers' reception on the evening of the 10th, and we were simply overrun by the crowd of teachers going from a state teachers' convention being held near there.

In the early morning we were at Elmira, N. Y., where I changed cars, and rode in that car to Chicago. We arrived at Niagara at 8:30 A. M., and took a hasty look up and down the river as we crossed that fearful chasm on the suspension bridge. Just above us stood the cantilever bridge, supposed to be the latest improvement in bridging such awful depths. Still above is the other and smaller suspension bridge. Below was the same old-tarnished waters—the rapids and the whirlpool. Last fall, on my return home, I stopped off and spent a day in viewing the many wonders of this place. Though I have seen the falls many times, they never cease to be intensely interesting to me.

But I must not linger here. We are in the dominion of the Queen. Crops of grain and grass have appeared unusually good all the way; but the magnificent orchards of apple and peach in western N. Y. were barren of fruit. The same in Canada. Here, however, I saw cherry trees laden with ripe fruit. In Michigan there are apples. Here must be our reliance for that king of all the fruits, next winter.

The country through Canada was, in places, rolling, and beautifully diversified in aspect; in others, flat like Michigan, and I might say "South Jersey." At Port Huron, or rather Sarnia (the town on the Canada side) we ran onto the boat, and were quickly across the quite rapid stream. The river is, I judged, about 80 rods wide, and carries all the waters from the mighty lakes—Superior, Michigan and Huron. The water is as blue as the sky. I think it does not need bluing for the washer-woman's rinsing water. It is exceedingly clear and pure, and no doubt one can see to a great depth in it. This clearness adds greatly to its beauty and whiteness as it pours over the Niagara cataract, after passing through lakes St. Clair and Erie. Here, at Port Huron,

I dropped a postal in Uncle Sam's letter box, for home. It was now one o'clock, and our train started for the great interior metropolis with an energy I never saw surpassed. It seemed to rejoice that it was on free territory, and it put on the wings of the wind, and flew. I could hardly see between the fence posts, we went so rapidly. Michigan, here, is as level as a floor. The crops are fine, —the rich golden grain waving in the wind, or just cut and bound. It is a very rich agricultural country. I never saw the crops better.

At Chicago, I had a good night's sleep, and found I had to stay here till 6 P. M. next day. Just as I arrived they had an explosion on a steam boat near my hotel, and killed some 20 men, which you have read about, no doubt, and also a fire in the next house was just quenched. But I went to bed just as calmly as though I were at home. Next day I saw the wreck of the exploded boat, as they were digging out the victims. It rained in the forenoon, but I improved my time, and after getting my ticket for Denver, and attending to other important business, I went out to see the town. [The firebell is ringing and a great cry of fire is made down town, and I must close here and go too, and finish another time, and get this off this mail.] Yours, A. J. KING.

[Entered as second-class matter.]

HAMMONTON, ATLANTIC CO. N. J.

SATURDAY, JULY 26, 1890.

Mr. H. R. Ruby went to Winslow, Tuesday morning, on a train, but found that the tool-house had been broken open during the night, his chest dragged out, the lid forced up, and all his tools carried away. Tramps were suspected, and a clue followed for a long distance, without success.

Now that the Pennsylvania and Reading Roads are slashing each other so vigorously in other localities, it is the general opinion that rates will soon be cut on their Jersey lines. Low fares would bring thousands of people into South Jersey.

The new Seashore Railroad is now completed as far as Tuckahoe, and four trains a day are running. It is expected the road will be opened to Sea Isle City by August 1st, with a complete schedule of trains. The road is almost an air line, with very few curves.

Prof. W. B. Matthews requested a release from his agreement to accept a position in the Atlantic City school, and after long delay the request has been granted. We are pleased to know that Mr. Matthews will remain as Principal of the Hammonton Schools, with extended duties and powers.

Our local reporter for the city papers don't seem to reach the mark. Even May's Landing's "snake" reporter can beat him on yarns. Folks say that a heavy dew down there is reported as a flood; and two persons in a hull are by him charged with creating a riot. "Victor," wake up!

Mr. George Chakaloff, a native of Bulgaria, instructor in vocal music in South Jersey Institute, Bridgeton, proposes to start a choral class in Hammonton, in September. The plan is to include young and old, all who desire to learn to read music, and begin with the elementary chart. Tickets for the course will be for sale later, and we will then give full particulars.

Among the new laws passed last winter is one relating to smoking by boys, which should be rigidly enforced. It provides that on and after the first of September next, no child actually or apparently under sixteen years of age shall smoke or in any way use cigars, cigarettes, or tobacco in any form whatever, in any public place, street, or resort, under a penalty of not more than $10, nor less than $2, for each offense.

Last Saturday was Pastor Swett's birthday. On Thursday, some of the members learned the fact, and on Saturday afternoon a large number gathered at Mr. Stockwell's residence, congratulated the pastor, had some music and a general good time, ending with a substantial supper. The tables being spread under the trees on the lawn. It is good to see the cordiality manifested between this pastor and his flock—not a discordant voice is heard, nor a word uttered to mar their perfectly harmonious relations.

We can't resist the impression that it is some one's duty to see that State laws and town ordinances are enforced in Hammonton. Surely, our legal machinery is not so defective that offences can be continued and repeated, month after month, with no hindrance and no penalty. We have several times called attention to the beer business on Main Road; there are rumors of other "speakeasy" establishments, sufficiently well-known to warrant investigation. Is this every body's business, nobody's? Respectfully referred to the Council's Committee on Vice and Immorality?

Sparks from an engine on the West Jersey railroad set afire the woods just north of Mays Landing last week Thursday. Considerable damage was done before it was put out by section men.

LOCAL MISCELLANY.

Council meeting to-night.

Mrs. John B. Seely is visiting relatives in Atlantic City.
Mr. Wm. Purcell, of New Orleans, was in town on Sunday.
Mr. Osgood has returned from Yankee-land, happier than ever.
Preston P. Crowell, of Jersey City, is spending a few days with his mother.

Mr. J. S. Thayer is building a house for the glass factory company, at Winslow.

Our railroad time-table is correct, according to the latest information we have received.
Will G. Hood has charge of the Reading R. Co. Company's switches, at Winslow Junction.

Mr. William Newcomb, of New York, made a flying visit to Hammonton relatives, last Friday.
Mrs. J. Nichols, of Philadelphia, spent a few happy days with her sister, Mrs. C. F. Crowell, this week.

Messrs. George A. Elvins and Montgomery Biggs go to Atlantic City to-day, intending to stay a week.

Mrs. Peoples (nee Miss Annie Elvins) and Mrs. J. A. Jones, of Long Branch, are visiting in Hammonton.
The Ehrke Brothers, Elm, had a fine crop of blackberries. They sent us a sample box, and they were giants.

Miss Gertrude Heydinger and her friend Miss Lulu Nicholson, Brooklyn, are on the list of Hammonton's welcome visitors.

Tickets are selling rapidly for the "Pete Chynette" on the grounds of Judge Byrnes, next Tuesday, 29th, from three to ten P. M.

Thomas Wells, the Rosedale grocer, has the foundation laid for a three-story residence opposite his store, on the north side of the railroad.

Rev. and Mrs. Mewhiney, with their two little ones, and Mrs. Johnson, were made welcome by many of their Hammonton friends, this week.

Mr. Woodruff has resigned his position as member of the School Board and District Clerk. S. E. Brown has been recommended to fill vacancy.

A warm, gentle rain began about eight o'clock Friday morning, and is still falling as we go to press. There is no wind, and no electrical display.

Our census enumerator might send one more name to Washington. Born, to Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Oechran, Saturday, July 19th, 1890, a daughter.

Mrs. Huerietta Stockwell, a native of Vermont, was born in 1862, in Puttville, Penna. She was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Potter, who were among the early settlers in Hammonton. Her life, from early youth, was that of a consistent, cheerful Christian.

Lovingly cherished, and carefully sheltered from annoyances and care in her childhood, she was peculiarly fitted for her position, and cheerfully enduring the cares and trials which came to her later. Her affectionate and genial disposition won many to love her for the sweet and gracious womanliness of her character. A sufferer herself, she endeavored, as far as possible, to alleviate the sufferings of others, generously contributing to the necessities of the unfortunate and afflicted from her own limited store. The past year seems to have been one of special preparation for the life she has entered. The sweet voice, so long subdued, has regained its power; she is singing the new song with the redeemed in Heaven, where are gathered many of her loved ones—brother, father, husband, mother. Her strong faith assured her of the blissful reunion of all her loved ones, including those four sons so dear to her (their work here just begun), left for a time in care of the dear judgment, whom God has kindly spared for this mission of love, awaiting the summons which shall unto them all forever, an unbroken family, in the home "He has gone to prepare."

The Methodist and Presbyterian Sunday Schools will unite in an excursion to Atlantic City, over the Reading Road, Wednesday, Aug. 6th. Adults' ticket, $1. Child's, 50 cents.

The "Tempest Cornet Band" propose to give a moonlight concert on next Saturday evening, Aug. 2nd, in the grove adjoining Union Hall, to be followed by a free dance in Fireman's Hall. Refreshments of various kinds will be for sale. Give the boys what help you can.

Two Italians, with a big brown bear, created a decided sensation on our streets, Monday. The bear was well trained, and brought his owners a good harvest of coppers and nickels.

Mrs. Lyman Abbott, wife of the successor to Henry Ward Beecher as pastor of Plymouth Church, is to become one of the editors of The Ladies' Home Journal on Sept. 1st next.

Mr. Lawson has about completed his work on Trowbridge's new store. The plate-glass was set, Thursday, and Mr. French's men are putting on the final polish to the inside wood-work.

This has been a very comfortable week, cool, almost cold-evenings, the mercury standing but little above fifty on two or three mornings. In many sections of the country they had heavy frosts.

The Board of Education, of Atlantic City, has elected B. A. Boyer, of Newtown, Pa., principal of the high school, in place of W. B. Matthews, of Hammonton, who was elected and declined.

Now the good word is passed around, that there is not to be an "original package" run-shop near the Reading depot, after all. That new store building is offered for sale. Rumor says that the proprietor's wife has recently inherited a fortune.

St. Mark's Church, 8th Sunday after Trinity, July 27. Morning Prayer, 10 o'clock; Sermon, 10:30 A. M. Evening Prayer, 4:00 P. M. Sunday School at 3 o'clock.

A Young People's Bible Class is to be organized after the Evening Prayer.

We are requested to again call attention to the good work being done by the "Children's Country Week Association," of Philadelphia. Those of our readers who have been compelled to spend one day in the city during the heated term, will recall the relief which they experienced when they were free to leave behind the heated walls and pavements and stalling atmosphere, and speed away to where the breezes are unobstructed and the air pure. Think of the thousands of little folks whose lives are spent in those narrow streets, with no prospect of the relief which you so highly appreciate. Can you not sympathize with them? Then do what you can to relieve this suffering—call one or more of these little ones to your home for a week or two, and make one bright spot in their lives. It may be a sacrifice for you, but 'twill do your own heart good. Mrs. Hoffman will give all desired information.

Died.

CHRISTIE. At his residence, at Elm, N. J., on Monday, July 21st, 1890, Mr. John Christie, aged 91 years. Mr. Christie was a native of Vermont, for some years was engaged in business in Troy, N. Y., and came to New Jersey about thirty years ago. Well known for his long and unimpaired health, he was a warm, universally esteemed, and successful business man. Personal services on Wednesday, conducted by Rev. B. C. Lippincott, Jr., of Winslow, and Rev. P. Clive, of Hammonton.

The new election law makes it obligatory upon the local authorities to furnish booths for local elections, and charges the county with providing those for the general elections. As the same booths can be used for both spring and fall elections, the expense may be divided. The booths may cost anywhere from $25 a set to several hundred. It is not likely they will cost over $80, unless portable houses have to be provided, when from $250 to $300 will have to be added.

Thirty days after the organization of the county board a "Board of Registry and Election" must be appointed by the county officers for each township and voting precinct. This board must consist of two Republicans and two Democrats, and will act as registry officers and as election officers on election day. The election officers elected last spring cannot serve unless appointed by the county board, as the new law requires them all out of office. These local registration officers are to be selected by the county committee of each party. The local board of registration must appoint two poll clerks, who can hold no other office.

On October 7th the local board must meet at 10 o'clock in the morning and organize, and then proceed to ascertain and enter into a book the names and residence of each voter in the precinct. This canvass and registration must be made by actual inquiry at dwelling houses, and this house to house canvass must be continued on successive days until it is completed, and it must be completed on the Saturday next succeeding the date of organization, which will leave but five days for the canvass. The board is permitted to divide the work into two committees, each committee to be composed of one Republican and one Democrat, and both must concur in placing any name on the registration list.

On Tuesday, October 13th, this local board must meet and remain in session from 7 o'clock in the morning until 9 at night to transcribe from the canvassing books two registry lists of persons entitled to vote at the next election, the lists to be alphabetically arranged. At this meeting all persons whose names are not entered on the canvassing list may appear and register personally, or a citizen may present an affidavit as to the right of any citizen to vote for the purpose of having said citizen's name registered.

When the registry lists are completed on October 14th, they must be placed in handbill form in conspicuous places in the township.

On October 27th the Board of Registry must meet again to revise and correct the list and add such names as may have been omitted, and on the Wednesday following the clerks shall have returned copies of the complete registers posted in conspicuous places, and on election day no person shall be permitted to vote unless his name appears on the registry list which is to be kept at the polling place by one of the registry clerks, the other clerk to act as poll clerk.

It was supposed that the new machinery would have to be ready for the special election, September 30th, when we vote upon the constitutional amendments; but a decision has settled that the old law and old election officers are sufficient for that occasion.
