HAMMONTON!

RARE OPPORTUNITY

TO SECURE A HOME

To All Wanting Farms.

In the great Hammonton Fruit Settlement, the best inducements are offered to all wanting farms in the most delightful and healthy climate, with a good productive soil, being among the best in the garden state of New Jersey, only thirty miles from Philadelphia on the Camden and Atlantic Railroad, and but few miles to the New York Railroad. These lands are sold to actual settlers at low prices and easy terms, in five, ten, twenty acres and upwards to suit.

The Title Perfect.

Warranted deeds, clear of all incumbrance given when all the purchase money is paid

The Soil

A fine, sandy, clay loam, suitable for all grains and grasses, and is pronounced the finest quality for gardening and fruit raising. It is a marine deposit, with a rich substance mixed all through it, a very convenient form and in exact conjunction to support plants. With proper farming it is very productive and profitable, easily worked, and early. The clay of the land is slightly undulating, and is called level; it is free from stones or rocks.

The Best Fruit Soil in the Union.

Pears, Apples, Quinces, Cherries, Chickpeas, Raspberries, Grapes, all kinds, and all other fruits are raised here in immense quantities, and they are sold after by the dealers and command the best prices in the market.
Hammonton is already celebrated for its fine fruits and its climate, and the soil is cleared, free from expense, per acre in the fine fruit culture. Sweet Potatoes, Melons, and all the fine Vegetables delight in this soil; this branch of farming pays much better than grain raising, and is much easier work.

The Market

is unsurpassed; direct communication twice a day to Philadelphia, New York, and Atlantic City. The Railroad Company leaves cars here to be filled with fruit every day in the season; they are filled in the afternoon, and the same night or next morning by daylight are in the market, where the highest cash prices are obtained, without any other trouble to the producer than delivering the produce to the car. None of the land now offered is over one and a half miles from the Railroad.

The Climate

is mild and delightful the winters being short and open, out-door work can be carried on nearly all winter, whilst the summer is no warmer than in the north.
Persons wanting a change for health will be satisfied here—the mildness of the climate is soon beneficially felt by delicate persons and those suffering from Dyspepsia, Pulmonary affections, or General Debility, as hundreds here will testify. This section has long been known for its health, and during the summer months tens of thousands flock for health. No Malaria, Chills and Fevers in this section.

The Water

Is pure and soft, of the best quality. It abounds in streams and is found by digging from ten to thirty feet. Wells are very cheaply made, as there is no rock to go through, and we have the best water in the country, where goods are sold as cheap as they are in Philadelphia or New York.
Good schools with competent teachers.
Clergymen of all denominations reside here some of them in charge of congregations, others cultivating the fruits; also a number of retired physicians. The Methodist, Presbyterian, Baptist, and Universalist have their services regularly. Mills convenient.

Reliable practical nurserymen who furnish all kinds of trees, plants and vines at the lowest price.
The population of the settlement is large and rapidly increasing; it is composed of the best classes from New England, the Middle, and Western States,—intelligent, industrious and moral. The buildings are neat and handsome, and some of them fine.
All materials for building, improving, &c., at hand; reliable mechanics who will give satisfaction. Every convenience to be had that can be found at any other place.

The lands have been examined by some of the best agricultural and fruit growing men in the country, who pronounced them the best in the U. S. for fruit growing. Mr. Solon Robinson, the agricultural editor of the New York Tribune; Dr. J. P. Trimble, the State Entomologist; Mr. John G.
Hergen, member of the American Institute of New York; and others, reported that they never saw a finer growth of fruit grains, and grain, than they saw here, and recommending this settlement to persons desiring to till the soil, for pleasure or profit.
These lands are being rapidly sold, and from the rapid and extensive improvements property will certainly increase in value.
Inquire for R. J. BYRNES, the founder of the settlement, who will show the land, free of expense. For further information write to or address,

The Prince of Vicavaro.

What is there in a title the American girls find so attractive? Why do they pounce on penniless Italian princes and hidalgos without marvel? Why should an American heiress prefer a beggarly fortune second cousin of a king, reduced by misfortune from a count to a crusade, to a well-born, well-bred, well-to-do American gentleman, with only plain Mister before his name and no romantic mystery after it?
Why should Miss Pauline de Parrenode liberally snub a thousand worthy American gentlemen for the purpose of buying with her dowry the evacuated title of an out-at-pocket prince? I don't know. I only know that she does it, and that her father encourages her in it, though he is not at all inevitable thereto that he should be a prosperous mushroom upon the soil of shoddy. The girls and the fathers of some of the good old families are just as bad in this respect as the girls and the fathers of the codfish stock. These remarks may not be perfectly appropriate of an announcement which recently appeared in The Home Journal (which has been felicitously named The Court Journal of the United States) to the effect that the daughter of Mr. Lorillard Spencer was betrothed to the Prince of Vicavaro. If my intelligence be correct, the marriage was already effected at the time this announcement appeared. At any rate, an advertisement appeared, under the head of "Married," which at once put an end to all incredulity on the subject. This advertisement stated that on Saturday, June 25, Miss Eleanor Lorillard was married by the Pope's nuncio to Virginia Cenci, Prince of Vicavaro. Startling announcement! Happy consummation! Ever-to-be-congratulated papa! Only why was not the news telegraphed?
Why was society thus kept a fortnight in a state of suspense? Why are such legatesses as war between France and Prussia, and the continental convulsions resulting from the question of filling the Spanish throne, flashed through the ocean, when Fashion is writhing with anxiety as to the triumphant capture of a poverty-stricken prince by a title-stricken heiress? For society says that Virginia Cenci was extrinsically poor, that he would not hear of such a thing as an engagement until papa Spencer had virtually paid one hundred thousand dollars down by settling it upon his daughter. That preliminary settled, this decendant of the Cencis consented to make love, and to accept the bonds of matrimony—particularly since the bonds were gold-bearing!
Society also asserts that the Prince of Vicavaro is the handsomest man of his time. I do not know whether photographs of him have yet reached this side, but I do know that his extraordinary beauty is proverbial among the belles of New York. That society may count himself happy indeed who succeeds in being pronounced by women "So much like Cenci!" Meanwhile Fifth Avenue is anxiously awaiting the arrival of the Prince, who is expected shortly to make a starting tour, so to speak, which shall include every province and metropolis of fashion in these United States.

A Real Romance.

This is a romantic story, whose plan might have been laid in the days of the crusades, of knight errantry and of chivalry, when young men, inspired by martial ardor and longing to distinguish themselves by martial deeds, left home and friends and often were never heard of more. But it is not an ancient story. The plot is laid in more modern and more matter-of-fact days.
The scene is laid in France, where a family circle is broken up for the first time by the departure of one of the sons, who was already for the dazzling stories that floated over the ocean, and left his home and friends and sunny France to seek fortune and fame in this Western world. This was twenty years ago. The name of the adventurous youth was Charles Guerolt.
Three years after he left home, a younger brother, named Theophile, also followed the setting sun, and landed on the shores of America. He sought everywhere after his lost brother, but twenty years of a nomadic life brought no tidings of him. After many vicissitudes, Theophile came to this city, where he now resides, and where he edits the French paper published here.
In Chicago the second scene is laid. One morning a few weeks ago, Theophile, like the rest of the reading world, saw in this paper an account of the arrival in Chicago of Red Cloud and his cotemporary savages, who were on their way from Washington to their homes in the wilderness. The arrival of the famous warrior was of no special interest to him, and he would have passed the paragraph by but that the name of the interpreter accompanying the party was that of his brother Charles. The thought struck him that it might indeed be his brother.

He went to the Trenton House and asked to see him, but was disappointed in finding that Charles had gone before the Indians to the West. He then saw Red Cloud, and that gentlemanly and discriminating savage was struck with his resemblance to the interpreter, and several of the party expressed surprise at the wonderful likeness. He came away confident that he was on his brother's trail at last.

The final scene will be laid somewhere out on the prairies in an Indian camp, where the brothers will probably meet in a few days. To-day Theophile starts for the West, going to Red Cloud's dominions, where Charles is stationed.

"The supposition is that the interpreter made his way from Mexico to the Indian country, and then, surrounded by savages, became enamored of their wild mode of existence, and took up his abode among them, forgetting the home and friends of his youth. Truly, life is full of vicissitudes." Chicago Tribune, July 16.

Revenge

A tall, raw boned Yankee was riding a diminutive specimen of the donkey tribe through the muddy streets of Gotham; and the animal being very stubborn, Jonthan found it very difficult to induce him to accelerate his pace.
He used the persuasive eloquence of a hickory stick, however, and at each blow he would draw out, "Git up, Bonypart, git up, I say!"

A little Frenchman, in passing, heard with rage, the name of his illustrious countryman applied to the ugly beast, and recommenced heaping a volley of abuse on the head of the offending Yankee.
"Sair," shouted the Gaul, "not for you call that ugly beast Napoleon?" By gar, sair, I shall have no grand satisfactory!"

"Git up, Bonypart," was the only response.
"Sacro! monsieur, sair! I say not for you call that vagabond horse Napoleon?"

"Git up, Bonypart!" Here the Frenchman's rage boiled over, and stamping his feet upon the pavement, he exclaimed:
"Oh, by gar, I shall have the grand satisfaction! I shall have to revenge. I have one little sheep dog at my home; I shall go call him Guillaume Washington, by gar!"

Misfortunes of a Trenton Lady.

A woman purchased some patent "balm," which was warranted to make her "beautiful forever," and she applied it to her face and head. Her scalp is now entirely bald, and is covered with blisters the size of a tennis ball, while her face looks like a mosaic breast pin with half the stones picked out.
She spends most of her time now in constructing vigorous sentences, in which "balm" is made to rhyme with a word which is so improper that we can't print it here. But if she once gets hold of the man who sold her the stuff, it is likely he will shortly afterwards lose in the market as a purchaser of hair restoratives and as a speculator in glass eyes.

HOW TO MANAGE A MISTAKE.—As a minister and lawyer were riding together, said the minister to the lawyer, "Sir, do you ever make mistakes in pleading?" "I do, said the lawyer. "And what do you do with the mistakes?" inquired the minister. "Why sir, if I argue ones I mend them: if small ones, I let them go," said the lawyer. "And pray, sir," continued he, "do you ever make mistakes in preaching?" "Yes, sir, I have." "And what do you do with the mistakes?" "Why, sir, I dispose of them in the same manner as I do—I rectify the large ones, and pass the small. Nothing else," continued he,
"as I was preaching, I meant to observe that the devil was the father of lies; but made a mistake, and said the father of lawyers.
The mistake was so small that I let it go."

Advertisements.

The circulation of the Republican is much larger than that of any other paper in the county. It is the only paper circulating throughout Atlantic County, and is a desirable advertising medium. Advertisements are taken as low as possible.
All bills for transient advertising will be presented upon the first insertion, when they must be promptly paid.
Advertisements must be handed in by Thursday evening to insure insertion the same week.

IN EARNEST.—A new township had been organized out of an old one, and "old W." an honest farmer was elected justice of the peace. He was new to the business, and the boys longed for some kind of a trial to see how he would make it go. After waiting for a long time for something in the legal line to turn up, some of them had a sham fight, and one party caused the arrest of the other. Several witnesses were examined, and the boys had a good time generally. At the close of the trial, the justice fined them all ten dollars each. The boys laughed, and told him the joke had gone far enough—they were in fun all the time.

"You was in fun, was you?" said the old man, striking his hand fast savagely on the table. "You was in fun, was you?" Well, I am not. You'll pay that fine every dog of you, or go to jail."

QUICK WORK.—Last Friday morning two gentlemen appeared at the New York station, West Philadelphia, and avinced the greatest anxiety to reach New York in the shortest "possible time." They were willing to pay several hundred dollars for the accommodation. Telegrams about the proposition were sent to the railroad officers in this city and Jersey City, and it was decided to put a special train at the general's disposal. The whole preliminaries were settled in less than half an hour, and at five minutes past ten the parties were on their way to New York, which city was reached at six minutes of one, a clock.
P. M. The Superintendent of Telegraphs, Mr. R. Stewart, had the running of the train in charge. It will be remembered that the proclamation of the French-Pussian war was announced on Friday afternoon.—Bordenstown Register.

The New York Sun professes to have captured Mr. William Russell, the former American war correspondent to the London Times, who will, we are informed, do up the Continental unpleasantness in the form of dispatches to that journal. We always believed that Russell would come to some bad end, but scarcely thought that he would sink quite so low down in the gulf of perdition as the announcement of his Sun connection would seem to signify. If he runs as well as he did away from the battle of Bull Run, the Sun will no doubt be furnished with war news quite as reliable as the majority of its fictitious papalium, with which it now inclines the scales of cheap sensation seekers. Of course Dana makes a great blow over his latest characteristic acquisition.

Everything sympathizes with the French German war. It is moving up at a rate quite like the times when the rebels won victories. Prices of all imported goods will necessarily follow. A drop of sensitiveness is felt in financial circles; positively from the uncertainty as to how we are to be affected. Will the U. S. Securities share in the general breakdown, or become the favorites in which to invest? Will our bonds come rattling back on us, or will the unemployed capital of Europe be sent over in exchange for more? These and kindred questions nearly every one is making without receiving answers. Nor can these answers be given in advance of the facts; and it is for this reason the war, disconnected from the usual interest attending a great conflict, possesses a deep interest for our people.

"Why is it my son, that when you drop your bread, it is always buttered side down?" "I don't know, unless it is because the buttered side is the heaviest, and the heaviest is the strongest; for this is the strongest butter I ever saw." "Sb-b, it's some of your aunt's churning, my son."
"Did she churn it?" "No, this butter; to make the old lady churn it, when it is old enough to churn itself." "Do hush, Zeb. I have eaten much worse butter at the most aristocratic tables." "Well, people of rank ought to eat it—it's rank butter."

The New York Star, speaking of the arrest of a female beggar in that city, charged with stealing pins in the legs of a baby to make it cry, so as to attract the sympathies of passers-by, goes on after this fashion: "A woman who would stoop to pin-stealing in a child's leg deserves to have red-hot splinters driven under her nails, cayenne pepper sprinkled in her eyes, and her soul torn from her person by hydrophobia's most profuse victims." That tender hearted reporter ought immediately to be put in charge of an infant school.

An erring Indiana hen was recently found in the back part of a hardware store, where the misguided fowl had struggled for three weeks trying to hatch out half a dozen white porcelain door knobs. She was very much reduced.

A post wrote of his departed wife, that she will hallow her grave with our tears, and the wicked printer set it up, "We will be-row her grave with our tears."

A Western paper describes a letter Horace Greeley's as looking "like a body had smashed a bottle of ink on it." tried to wipe it off, and it was ruined.
