The two batteries were pretty evenly matched last Saturday, and we won principally by good team work; and it had to be good to beat that of our opponents,— something that we hardly dared dream of a few weeks ago. Sacrifice hits are increasing, but there is still room for improvement in some directions. Neither nine seemed to have much difficulty in connecting, but safe lute were nearly as scarce as mosquitos in January. Watt deserves special commendation for his work at third, especially his brilliant stops of red-bot grounders,- Egan's in the fith, and King's in the ninth.

King started off with a bunt, moved up on Wagner's push, took third on Branson's single to center, and tallied the first run on an overthrow.

Loveland reached third in the next on a single and two stolen bases, but died there on Setley's foul and Beverage's hit to King.

In third, Pierce was hit by a pitched ball. Wagner sent to short, Brauson drew a base on balls; then Egan fouled to left field. Tell made a fine catch and a beautiful throw home, -too late, however, to cut off Pierce, who scored.

We commenced to score in the next. Mathie sent a fine two-base drive to right field, among the apple trees; Watt's eye held good for four balls; Setley sent thro' short, but was caught on second by Pierce, who had covered up Egan's tumble of Beverage's drive. Somehow, at this time both Mathie and Watt reached home in eafety. Conley closed with a pop to centre. With three on bases, and none out, Pierce fanned, King was declared out for attempting to bunt third strike, and Wayland was caught at home.

Tomlin scored in our inning, as the result of a base on balls, a stolen base, and sacrifice hits by Treat and Tell.

In the eighth inning we made two of our four hits. Setley sent to centre, elid down a base, reached third on a passed ball, and came in on what Beverage intended for a eacrifice, but which amounted to an error. Conley sent to right, took his second and counted on a wild throw to shut off Tomlin at first.

1927 Overseer of the Poor Bernshouse had a difficult problem presented to him, Wednesday, in the form of a colored tramp. He is a six-footer, polite and intelligent. Tuesday evening he stopped at the residence of Mr. Haines, Myrtle St., during the storm, and asked for something to eat, which they gave him; then, finding that he expected to eleep in the woods. Mr. Haines fixed a comfortable place for him in the barn. The darkey seemed grateful, and in the morning was ready to pay in work, cut wood awhile, then gladly accepted a chance to pick berries. About 3 o'clock he complained of severe headache, and laid down. Twenty-four hours later he was still suffering strangely, -evidently not entirely conscious of anything, and unable to stand. The Overseer visited bim, then called Dr. Crowell; but the case puzzled all, and it was decided to take the man to the Cooper Hospital, Camden, provided the authorities will admit him. But there seems to be considerable red-tape, and as we go to press the poor fellow lies in the lock-up. He takes neither food nor drink, and seems to be quietly unconscious.

THE SUMMER VACATION.

A Change Rven if in Miner Things Will lie a Great Benefit, In the Ladies' Home Journal Ed word W. Bok gives some sensible advice upon "Going Away in Summer." He points to the mistake that instead of a rest and change so many women and girls, physically tired and in need of reemperation, make of their vacations a round of continuous gayety, every moment crowded with some excitement or pleasure. In consequence, the woman who goes away for a rest comes back tired and worn out. Mr. Bok very truly says: "We all speak of 'going away' when we start on a vacation. But most of us do not 'go away.' 'Going away' means cutting ourselves entirely free from everything that has entered into our lives during the year-away from things which have occupied us, away from disturbing troubles, away from depressing surroundings, away from one's daily self to seek for one's best self, away from familiar places and people. Such a change means a change in ourselves, in our thoughts, in our ideas, in our motives, in our outlook on everything. The idea that we must ever keep ourselves busy, even in vacation, so that the mind may not become rusted, is all nonsense." For those who cannot go away Mr. Bok advises a change in their mode of living, or in their daily work, "We need a change in our lives," he contends, "even if it is only a change of rooms; of merely not sleeping in the same rooms in summer as we do in winter, or even a rearrangement of the furniture, of the curtains, carpets or woman is so humble of circumstances that she cannot make her life pleasanter and higher, bringing some change a rest at home, with the mind changes from day to day, is ofttimes as much needed and as beneficial as a long journey to other places or in other how to get personal benefit in spite of need not always mean leaving the city or leaving one's home.
