HAMMONTON, N. J., AUGUST 5, 1905.

Children are Important Customers

In our estimation. When they are sent to us on a trading errand we always remember that they are not discriminating buyers, and take special pains to see that they get what both you and they want. Then we always try to be prompt in waiting on them—there is always a little worry at home when they are sent on an errand and stay too long, often through no fault of their own.

W. J. LEIB, Druggist, Hammonton.

The Presbyterian Picnic.

Yes, everybody was there; but it looked as though some would have to walk, before we finally got started, the wagons were so full. When I weren't we squeezed, though! The last wagon left the church at 7:45, and the ride was most delightful. No "low limbs" out our way.

On arriving at Greenbank, we chose the shade of the majestic oaks which are scattered along the historic Mullica River, and from the grassy banks, situated some twenty feet above its surface, we commanded a beautiful panorama of the surrounding country and winding stream.

We spent most of the time before lunch, "getting acquainted." About 11:30 came the spread,--yes, a whole row of them, and everybody tickled his esophagus with goodies.

After dinner, George Bassett piled us up on and around a hay wagon, and we had our "pictures took."

The scheduled ball game was played in an adjoining field, Reid and Walther being captains of the contesting teams. Below is a summary:

Positions	Reid	Walther
Catcher	Dierker	Fegness
Pitcher	Reid	Gries
First base	Paulin	Deppe
Second base	Zietz	Kramer
Third base	Rogers	J. Walther
Short Stop	A. Walther	Whitten
Left field	W. Westcott	Seely
Centre field	Ed	Littlefield
Right field	K. Hurley	Joslyn
Umpire	A. Hurley
Time	about two hours.

Walther's team was beaten in a closely matched game, by a score of 23 to 18. Reid, the honored captain, was carried through the crowd piggy-back.

Paulin put up a crack game at first, never missing a ball; and as for stealing bases, it was a "walk-over," pure and simple. The only trouble with Littlefield was that he was almost too long to play short.

Out at center, Littlefield said he had a big field to chase balls in. Rogers made a couple of "dry-sockers," but then he's one of Hammonton's professionals, you know.

Over near the fence, the girls ardently vied with each other in supplying the heroes on the field with sparkling spring water.

After the game, the ice cream was dished, and so were a great many people who didn't come at first bidding. Then came the races, on the road running parallel with the picnic grounds.

Len Rogers won first prize in the young men's 100-yard dash. Freddie Small stood (or, rather, ran) best in the boys' race. Three teams of four men each entered the relay race, and Rogers captured the blue ribbons for himself and team.

The potato and sack races were funny to the utmost. The participants were the greatest set of acrobats you ever saw outside of Todt's circus; but Garfield Kramer roped in the potato race. When John Walther, in the sack race, with hop-skip-and-jump, crossed the line, he found most of his competitors wriggling in the dirt near the starting-point.

The prizes were neatly designed badges of honor, which were worn by the winners with pride.

Swimming, boating, fishing, were included in the programme. Philip Westcott was "on deck" with his 35-foot gasoline launch, and made several excursions down the river, which was a prominent feature of the day. Phil's all right.

Did you see Clarence? He brought his girl down in the afternoon.

About 6:30 we all piled into the wagons and started for home, where we arrived about nine o'clock.

There were no sad accidents, no "thrilling rescues."

No doubt this was the most successful picnic in numbers (225 to 250) as well as interest manifested in the history of Sunday School picnics from Hammonton.

MID SUMMER Clearance SALE

Such as will interest Every

At Bank Bros. Nev

111 Bellevue Ave, Hamm

To be up-to-date means not to have any goods left over from other; therefore, we have planned a mid-summer clearance sale of summer merchandise is cut almost to half its former price.

With a few months of summer weather ahead of us, it is an interest in Bank Brothers' mid-summer Clearance Sale unparalleled saving on high-class merchandise, for a few weeks or a month. No two or three years ago our business career is only a little over three months.

This is positively the greatest opportunity ever offered. Everything is marked at such a low price that you can hardly believe it.

We beg to call your attention to the fact that not a cent of profit is being made, so that a child can do your shopping.

you!"
"It's a secret," I said.
"You are engaged?"
"I did not say so." I looked very shy. Like this. (Looks shy.) I am not very shy, really.
You would not believe it, but the stupid girl turned quite disagreeable with me. She told her mother that Fred Thomas and I were engaged, and her mother told everybody. Fred Thomas was away on a visit, so he could not contradict the report. I thought it was great fun. So did my cousin—the ridiculous boy.
Rev. Adolphus Surplice did not think it fun at all. He is Aunt Anne's tame curate. (Meaningly.) He had grown tamer while I was staying there. He called at 9:30 on Tuesday morning to inquire if it was true. Of course I said "No." He became so sentimental that I wished I had said "Yes." He did not trouble to contradict the rumor. (Reflectively.) I fancy he thought it would keep other people off.
Wasn't it mean?
He called again in the afternoon; also in the evening. Of course, a report got about that he and I were engaged.
I didn't mind the report, but I invited him. So I told Cousin Tom that we must do something to protect me. He said that he would. He is very ingenious. (Sadly.) I am afraid he is not always strictly truthful. He had had a little conversation with the curate. Then Rev. Adolphus picked up his hat and rushed out of the drawingroom with a loud groan. I was afraid Tom had been disagreeable, so I asked him what he had said.
"Oh!" he replied, carelessly, "I just told him that you were engaged already."
"Why, you great stupid!" I said, "I told him this morning that I barely knew Mr. Surplice." Tom grinned.
"I am sorry to Fred Thomas."
"Why?" I asked.
"Tom, unluckily, I could have boxed his ears with pleasure."
"You don't want to be engaged to me, do you?" I said, with a bow.

"No fear," said he.
"You nasty, rude—boy!"
"Oh, all right," he said, cheerfully.
"I will if you like."
Of course I knew he wouldn't.
(Laughs.) There happens to be somebody else whom he prefers. So, on the whole, I thought it was a good joke—if mother didn't hear. Mother is—well, very prim and proper, you know.
(With much gravity.) I am considered very like her.
On Wednesday afternoon Jack—he's Tom's brother—came to me with a long face.
"I say, May," he began, "I've always said you were a good sort." He looked as though he desired reassurance.
"I don't mind your saying it," I informed him graciously.
"Thanks. Er—then you—er—wouldn't mind my saying I was—er—engaged to you?" I jumped up and shook him. At least, I tried to; but he is six feet odd.
"You—you, donkey!" I cried. "I wouldn't dream of it."
"Neither would I," he said, emphatically.
"You impertinent, hateful—"
"You don't want—" he began. He caught my eye in time to stop. It was lucky for him! The idea!
"Whatever made you say such a thing?" I asked.
"Well," he said, uneasily, "Mrs.
Meadows." She is an enterprising widow.
"Didn't I warn you?"
"That's where it was. She began to talk about engagements, and—er—that sort of thing, you know, and to look at me, and—er—that sort of thing, you know; and so I said—er—"
"More of that sort of thing, you know?" I suggested, kindly.
"No-o—I didn't. She said it was time I was engaged to some one, and I—I said it was—to you!"
"Did she scratch your eyes, and—er—(mockingly) that sort of thing, you know?"
"You always make game of a fellow," he growled.
"Not when I'm engaged to him," I said, sweetly.
"By the way, do you know how many people I'm engaged to at the present moment, Jack?" He shook his head.
"Four!" He whistled and opened his eyes.
"I say, May, you're quite a sort of she-Mormon!" Then he went out—quickly.
The next morning was Thursday. I had seven letters of congratulation, and began to feel rather uneasy. In the evening I had four more. On Friday morning I had eight. Two asked me what I would like for a wedding present, and three inquired who it was, as they heard such conflicting rumors.
As it happened, Cousin Guy came over that morning. (Enthusiastically.) Guy is a dear! My very, very best friend. No, no! I only mean "friend."

He is a lot older than I am, and has been appropriated for years. Of course I told him all about it. He laughed at first; then he was so cross that I cried. Naturally he said, "Never mind," and kissed me. I didn't mind that, only—Mrs. Jackson came in at the moment, unannounced. She put up her eyeglasses and stared. And Guy said:
"It's all right, Mrs. Jackson. We're engaged!"
So she tossed her head and went out.
(Impressively.) She is the biggest scandal-monger in the place, and (tousslingly) I knew she'd write and tell her nephew, Captain Armstrong. I—I didn't want her to. He—he (pettishly) —oh, bother!
Guy had the sense to keep out of my way for the rest of the day. I was so angry that I wouldn't even say good-by to him when he went. Next morning I had a note:
"Dear May—Come over to mother's this afternoon. You must. It is important. Yours ever, GUY."
"Oh!" I cried. "Surely he doesn't mean that he—er—of course I knew he didn't, but I couldn't help worrying.
(Very nervously.) I wouldn't flirt with dear old Guy—anything in the world."
He met me at the station and teased me all the way to the house. He had a wedding present for me, he said, in the drawingroom, but when I went in there was nothing there; at least, not a Captain Armstrong!
"Aldo!" I cried, congratulating you on your engagement to Guy," he said, tellingly.
"But I—I'm not," I stammered.
"To your Cousin Jack, then."

shook my head. "To his brother Tom, then?"
"No, no!"
"And Rev. Adolphus Surplice." I stamped my foot.
"I hate him!"
"And Mr. Thomas."
"You know I'm not."
"And—the others!" He looked very angry. You seem to be engaged to nearly every fellow in the neighborhood.
"A few have escaped," I assured him, "as yet!"
"They will have their turn, no doubt." He seemed very disagreeable.
"I suppose even I might hope?" I tossed my head.
"You'd have to be a great deal nicer than you are this morning," I told him.
He looked at me very hard. "I—don't like being stared at."
"I am going to exchange to India," he said, quietly.
I went and looked out of the window. Of course, it wasn't my business what he did; but I thought it seemed a pity, because (ingeniously) you see, his people wouldn't like it.
"I think you are—horrid," I said.
"You might—India is such a nasty, hot, dirty place. Suppose you had a fever or something dreadful happened to you?"
"A few engagements, for example?"
"Yes," I said, feebly. "It—I—you—they—oh, do tell me how to get out of them." He wouldn't speak. So I took out my handkerchief, and suddenly I found him beside me. (Pretends to draw away from an encircling arm.)
"I know a way," he said.
"Do you? How?"
"Make another, of course! A serious one, little May."
"I don't suppose anyone would," I said.
He said—well, I don't think he said anything much, but we got engaged!
(Solemnly.) Really and truly engaged, I mean, of course.
(Impressively.) And this was nearly two months ago, and I've not been engaged to anyone else ever since. (In-sinnuately.) So I'm not a flirt, am I?

ABOUT OLD INDIAN PIPES.
Every One Has Some Special Significance to the Braves.
It need scarcely be told that in the pipes of long ago each feather appended to the stem represented an enemy slain, says Outing. If one doubted the record of the war eagle feathers, the warrior then showed the scalps of the enemy, which were kept as a sort of sacred proof of his worth.
Such pipes were used only on occasions of peace and war. Speaking roughly, the best pipes of the eastern tribes were in molded clay, the best of the western tribes in slate pipe stone taken from the famous quarry west of the Mississippi. Before the great buffalo and antelope hunts, when herds of game were driven into a pound, or an inclosed area of snares, it was customary for the Indians to whiff the incense of propitiation to the spirits of the animals about to be slain, explaining that only the desire for food compelled the Indians to kill and that the hunt was the will of the Master of Life or "Master of the Roaring Winds," who would compensate the animals in the next world.
The pipes used for this ceremony usually show the figure of a man in conference with the figure of an animal. Others show the figures of Indians with locked hands. This typifies a vow of friendship to be terminated only by death. It was usually between men; but sometimes between a man and a woman, in which case the Platonic bond not only precluded but forbade the very possibility of marriage. After that who shall say that the stolid Indian has no vein of sentiment in his nature?
One of the most curious pipes I have seen I bought from a Cree on a reservation east of the refugee Sioux.
It is in the shape of a war hatchet, of a metal which I do not know, though I suspect it is galena mixed with clay, the edge being sharp enough, but the back of the ax being a bowl and the handle a pipe stem.
The odd lines in Indian carvings and woven work are not without meaning.
Fighting Mistah could read a legend where we saw nothing but blarney markings. There were the circular flutes, hollow down, meaning clouds; the cross, meaning the coming of the priest; the tree, a type of peace with its branches overshadowing the nations; the wavy line, signifying water; the arrow, war. The ordinary Indian can read a tribal song or chronicle from obscure drawings on the face of a rock, or crazy colored work on a warred buffalo skin.

Balfour Not a Promising Youth.
A. J. Balfour is described as having been a "haughty boy, with a volume of Munchausen always in his hand or resting open across his arm." At Eton he did not care much about school work, but was fond of desultory reading. The boy friends were none of them noted for their brilliance, and he himself did not show promise of future greatness.
Many a man who has succeeded in carving out a vast fortune for himself would not be able to carve a boarding-house turkey.

Hor Che Children
I'm "kep" in when I'm "tardy," An' I'm "kep" in when I'm "late"; I'm "kep" in for "position"— That means not settin' straight.
I'm "kep" in on my joggerly.
My readin' an' my writin', An' I'm "kep" in some for laughin', But I'm "kep" in most for fightin'.
I'm "kep" in when my marbles Comes rattlin' from my pockets, An' sometimes when my matches Gets mixed up with my rockets.
I'm "kep" in ef I whisper, An' I'm "kep" in ef I chew
The piece of gum I've borried An' am warnin' in my jaw!
The truth is, 'at I'm "kep" in"
Most everything I do!
But one jolly thing about it Is, the teacher's "kep" in" too!

Helen's Nest.
Once upon a time there was a little girl named Helen. She lived in the country, and about her house there were many fine trees, where the birds came every year to spend the summer.
Now Helen loved to watch the birds, butterflies and bees doing their work.
Well, one day Mr. and Mrs. Oriole came to look at the big elm tree. They soon decided to build a nest there, and each flew off in a different direction to find building material.
"Oh, papa," cried Helen, who had caught the gleam of brilliant orange and black, "let's help them so they'll stay here."
"All right, little girl," answered her father.
Helen had helped birds before by putting bits of string and worsted and straws on the ground and nearby bushes.
Suddenly she clapped her hands, exclaiming, "Oh, I'm going to label this nest, and then, after it's all built, it will be mine!"
So she carefully wrote her name on a tag of paper, putting a long piece of white string through the end of the tag. On some other tags she wrote the day and month, "May 28." Then they were left in plain sight and Helen scampered away.
The birds did not seem to notice the strings at first, but later every one was gone, and from that hanging nest waved six little tags bearing Helen's name and the date!
When the birds had raised their families and gone south, her father took down the nest and brought it into the house to Helen.—St. Nicholas.

How Rover Gave Alarm.
Old Rover seldom barked. Only when there was great excitement and he wished to rouse the whole family did his heavy voice sound, and then every one came to see what was the matter. He lived in a little box all by himself out on the lawn, and at night he wore a great chain about his neck, for if Rover found it necessary to bark, he might also think it necessary to take the situation into his own hands.
One night it was storming furiously, and the wind howled about the house.
It was midnight when Rover's warning bark was heard. The children got up at once and came to mother's room.
Papa said that the wind must have startled Rover, and they should wait a while. But the dog barked louder and louder, and so papa dressed and went to the kitchen and looked out. Nothing unusual was in sight. He lighted a lantern and opened the side door.
What do you think he found? Only a little stay kitten huddled the door and mewing plaintively. took up the kitten and en-back into his kennel.

Mother came down and ten some milk and made a house to live. They never she came there, and if Rover he never told. He had done

"Diogenes the Wise."
With all his faults, the old pber of Athens was often called genes the Wise." Whether his was really so great as to desertitle may be doubted. But his faults seem to have been good carried to excess. In opposi-much luxury, he cut himself off the comforts of life; in his eagerness to make life simple, he lost sight of gentleness; he was saving at the expense of neatness, truthful at the expense of courtesy, and plain-spoken even rudeness. One would say that he was coarse-grained by nature; but he showed signs of tenderness, and even refinement, which proved that the grail was not entirely coarse, and which make us wonder at an age that could produce two men so wise and yet so different as Diogenes, the rude, "walking philosopher" of his time, and Plato, the polished and aristocratic gentleman—

PROUD THAT HE IS A NEGRO.
Booker Washington Would Not Belong to Any Other Race.
The chances of the colored man in the business world were discussed by many speakers at Carnegie Hall recently, says the Washington Post's New York correspondent. The meeting was held by the colored men's branch of the Young Men's Christian Association of this city, and nearly 4-000 were present. Upon the stage were nearly 100 or so speakers, officers and singers.
One of the principal purposes of the meeting was to raise money toward lifting a $28,000 debt on the property of the branch at 232 and 234 West 43d street. The secretary announced at the close of the meeting that the amount raised was about $10,000. Of this J. Pierpont Morgan contributed $500. The general association has agreed to duplicate every dollar that the branch raises before July 1.
Bishop H. C. Potter and Booker T.
Washington were the principal speakers. Mr. Washington arose amid cheers and waving of handkerchiefs.
He told first of the hopeful conditions of the colored race in New York, and said that he had never stood before a finer looking lot of people in his life.
"I have always been proud of my race, and I am prouder of it this afternoon than ever before. No temptation, were it physically possible, could make me become a Jap, a Chinaman, an Englishman, or any one but an American negro. I am told by Mr. Jerome, the District Attorney of your city, that the colored people here are a most reputable element. I am glad to see that this organization has the confidence, the sympathy, and the active support of the Christian ministry of the city."
"The best thing about this organization is that it concerns itself with the negro's body as well as his soul. And somehow I believe that if you take care of your body the Lord will take care of your soul. The great trouble is with the negro's body. Everybody believes that the negro will be saved and that his soul has an eternal bidding place, but the trouble is with his body. This organization makes a young man keep in good trim. And unless the negro young man keeps a strong and vigorous body he cannot hope to compete with the rest of the people in this or any other city. You can't sit up at a card game in a saloon all night and hold your job long."

Weak Heart Pain Bloat.
Dr. J. P. Lockart Munnery, the famous British surgeon, says "It is often extremely difficult to estimate the condition of a patient with regard to his power of standing a severe operation.
Often a weakly looking individual, who looks as if he would not stand a severe operation well, stands it quite well, and vice versa.
This is accounted for by the fact that a person of poor physique who leads a strenuous life has often much more highly developed nerve centers than one of robust physique who leads a life of ease and indolence, which makes but slight calls upon his nerve centers for great or sudden activity.
The mental condition of a patient prior to operation has a considerable influence upon the development of shock. Patients who dread an operation and who are in a state of considerable mental anxiety before the anesthetic is administered are more liable, other things being equal, to develop shock than those whose mental equilibrium is undisturbed."

Incompatible.
"What would you do if you had $100,000?"
"I'd own a private yacht."
"Then you wouldn't have $100,

THE BEST Health Culture. No poor man can afford to bother with any of the experimental health fads. He is too busy making a living for himself and family, and when he is afflicted with a bad cough of cold, or develops catarrh as the direct result of a cold, he takes a few doses of Dr. Lincolne's German Syrup. And if he suffers from more serious, say consumption, prostrates him or any member of his family, German Syrup can again be relied on to effect a cure. Trial bottle, 50c. Big bottle, 75c. At Leiba.

villion, on Tuesday evening, and gathered quite an audience. They intend to give an open air concert every Tuesday and Friday evening, this month.

Dr. Wans went to the city on Friday last, and had his ankle examined by the use of X-rays, which revealed a broken bone, near the joint. A glass bandage now holds the fracture in place.

The School Board want two ju-nitors, one for the High School and another, at $405 per month; one for the new building, at $50. If you would like the job, send in an application by Aug.

15th, when the Board will have a meeting.

Three weddings were reported this week. July 22nd, Antonio Parisi and Grazia Giocoppo; Aug. 1st, Mr.

Milton D. Lamb, of Allentown, Pa., and Miss Daisy P. Kelsor, at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Hellmann, in Ham-mononton; both by Justice J. H. Garton.

Aug. 2nd, Mr. Gilbert Sheppard, Mgr. of Child's Grocery, Hammononton, and Miss Mary D. Claypool, at her parents' home, in Cedarville, N. J., by Rev. E.

Kellmayer.

Insure with the A. M. Phillips Co., Barclott Building, Atlantic City.

Dr. Cunningham reports the following accident cases for one week:

Jake Cappucci, trampled by a horse in Giberson's stable, Friday. George, son of Postmaster Rosenbaum, Winslow, finger amputated in a corn cutter, on Thursday. Joe Patrios had a very serious operation on his right foot, caused by infection from a rusty nail. John Petali had the little finger of his left hand crushed in a machine at the brick yard, Friday. Henry Grebler fell out of a wagon on Saturday, at Elwood, breaking both bones of his left forearm.

THERE is no way to maintain the health and strength of mind and body except by nourishment. There is no way to nourish except through the stomach. The stomach must be kept healthy, pure and sweet, or the strength will let down and disease will set up. No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, sour stomach, rising indigestion, dyspepsia, and all stomach troubles that are curable, are quickly cured by the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. Mallick & Pierson.

Miss Alice Martin was the recipient of a very pleasant farewell party tendered by her sister, Mrs. Brownlee, at her home on Orchard Street, last Monday evening. One of the enjoyable features was a soap-bubble contest, in which Stuart Whiffen was awarded the prize for being the biggest "blower."

There were select recitations and several musical numbers. Those present were:

Mrs. A. Brownlee, Misses Nellie Wool-ston, of Burlington, Mary Walther of Lumberlon, Alice Martin, Mabel Small,

Bessie Colwell, Anna and Clara Wal-ther, Kathryn Brownlee; Messrs. A.

Brownlee, C. Stuart Whiffen, A. K.

Littlefield, John S. and B. A. Walther, Wm. F. Reid, H. C. Gordon, and Wm.

Doerfel.

Town Council Meeting.

Regular meeting last Saturday evening, July 29th. All members present except Mr. Austin.

Committee on Fire, Water and Light made a long report. They had decided not to move the lamp near Third and Quincy, but lower the arc light at Horton Street. There are two additional lamps on Grape Street, which completes the number contracted for. The Company are trying in every way to mitigate the noise nuisance of their gas engine.

On motion, requested Mr. Batchelor to present his bill for expenses in connection with pickpocket case; also, voted to pay the two city detectives five dollars each.

Bills ordered paid were,— protest against damage to their premises by crowds of people on July 17th.

Complaint filed, for use next year.

Henry F. Stockwell sent a resolution in regard to change in time of payment of water bonds, enabling the Town to pay one or two bonds in ten years, and two each year thereafter.

The new telephone franchise ordinance was read, amended, and passed second and final readings.

From Treasurer Davis, a report in relation to school money to June 30th.
Filed.

Mr. DePuy introduced an ordinance in regard to firemen's pay, which passed first reading.

Voted, that the marshal be directed to allow bicycle racks to remain for the present, and report on the subject at next meeting.

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion.
Kodol cures indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does not only cure indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy cures all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membrane lining the stomach.
Mr. S. B. Hall, of Ravenswood, W. Va., says:
"I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years.
Kodol cured me and we are now using it in milk for baby."
Kodol Digests What You Eat.
