It is hoped and expected that the order will be rescinded by next week.

Thursday's daily papers stated that John D. Carver, of Elwood, is dead. No particulars are given, except that "he died at the home of his brother, in Waukegan, Ill."

Game Warden Otis C. Small arrested Charles J. Williams, on Wednesday, and Justice Strouse fined him twenty dollars and costs. Williams, from Williamstown, was one of a camping party at Weymouth, and was found with a shotgun in his possession, in violation of State law.

Mr. Anthony Paul Graziana, of Minotola, and Miss Pearl Adams, of Hammonton (for years teacher in our local schools), were united in marriage, by Rev. W. S. Marple, at the Presbyterian Manse, on Wednesday evening, August 2nd, 1916. Mrs. Nettie C. Ramona, a dear friend of the bride's family, and Albert Graziana, brother of the groom, accompanied them. The young couple will live in their fine new home, in Minotola, where the best wishes of all friends follow them.

Town Council met in special session last week Friday evening, and after reading three protests against certain bids for fire apparatus, on the ground that they did not comply with the specifications, went into committee of the whole. On returning to executive session, they recommended the rejection of all bids, which was adopted.

The Granges of Atlantic County will hold a picnic and exhibition at Leiling's Park, May's Landing, on Thursday, Aug. 31st, with the hope of eventually making this an Atlantic County Fair. Live stock, vegetables, fruits, art needlework, domestic science, as well as farm implements and machinery, will be shown. In the afternoon, addresses will be made by prominent men.

The explosion of a train-load of ammunition, on an island in New York Harbor, about two o'clock Sunday morning, caused about twenty-five million dollars' worth of damage, and was felt in several states. Many Hammonton people were awakened, some thinking intruders were breaking into their homes, others that two railroad trains had come together with a crash. Fortunately, but four lives were lost.

CAUSE OF DOMESTIC TROUBLE

Judge John Rooney, of Chicago, in the Court of Domestic Relations, said one day recently: "I find that three out of four cases of domestic trouble which have come before me since I have been on this bench result from the neglect of husband and wife to attend any church services. I do not care what church one attends, but I do think any man or woman could spare at least one hour a week to pay reverence to the Omnipotent. 'Every day I have parents bro't before me, neither of whom attends church. How can they expect to have any influence on their children's moral training if they themselves do not set the example by attending Church.'"

How about the situation here in Hammonton?

Miss Beatrice Sooy, of Camden, and John Kehler, of Allentown, Pa., were married on Tuesday, Aug. 1st, by Rev. John R. Mason. Hammonton friends extend best wishes.

There was a quiet wedding at the Baptist Parsonage on Thursday evening, Aug. 3rd, when Mr. J. H. Bowker and Mrs. Eleanor Brown were made one by Rev. W. J. Cusworth. Young friends of the bride and groom had been put wise, and were on hand with a good supply of rice and best wishes.

PULPIT TOPICS

THE RELIGION OF CHILDHOOD

"The Religion of Childhood." The text was from I Samuel 1:1-18. Moreover, his mother made him a little robe, and brought it to him from year to year, when she came with her husband to offer the yearly sacrifice.

I wish to catch at least the afterglow of some of these lighting-like forces flashing to and fro in this undainty beautiful picture and story of Samuel's childhood. If occasionally turn aside to apply the lessons to the chil-dran of to-day, the facts and forces shaping their lives, you must not presumptuously infer that I am speaking of local or personal matters.

—The Factor of Motherhood.

Turning to this lovely history, the first factor found in the child's religion—the sweetest, the purest, the simplest, this side of the angels—is Motherhood. "Moreover his mother,"

Alas, what histories, what heroisms, what poems, what consecrations, what loves for forever ringing and slaying through the world! Who was Anne Ham Lincoln? A great human redeemer—plus his mother! And so the story runs—the swift, dazling, the-foot, anti-fashioning stuff that makes the heart of history throb with divine flame. Truly, this factor of motherhood so shaping her child, her her child-shapes the world into which he comes for righteousness and for God—is very old and very new. But, better than being old or new, it is everlastingly true.

—The Factor of Discipline.

A second factor in the religion of childhood is discipline. "His mother made him a little robe." Hannah did not try to make her husband's religious clothes fit little Samuel, the propit-to-be. She knew that Samuel had his own religious life to live. It must not be a forced, stereotyped, mechanical, unnatural religion. The child's religion is untought and untrained, of course; yet it is spontaneous and sincere. Therefore, it must be bright, joyous, wholesome, healthful.

—The Factor of Vigilance.

Vigilance, watchfulness, is a third factor in the religious life of children.

Samuel had a mother—a goodly mother; she was watchful, she was of common sense, and she was keenly aware to her boy's growing, unfolding

"He said: 'Bring up last year's robe for this year's sacrifice.' It was the same, and yet not the same.

Samuel retains his self-identity from year to year, he does not expect and emotions during each successive year.

The miracle of growth is in his nature, the inner and outer; and the expansion are inseparable; and it has been decreed from eternity that Samuel is a moving, changing being, in a moving, changing world, and way shall be more? How shall he change?

These questions may be helpfully answered by the vigilant eye of a parent, a teacher, and a friend. From year to year we must enter more deeply into our children's religious thinking. From year to year we must make an ampler, finer robe for their spiritual natures. From year to year we must approach them more understanding, more sympathetically.

They are young and fresh and sparkling; for their life is at the spring; they are the light of the antiquated

CHOOSE HELPFUL FRIENDS.

Ecol. 4: 8-10.

Jesus sent out His disciples in pairs to preach the Gospel of the kingdom.

(Luke 10: 1.) And when the time came for choosing foreign missions work the Holy Spirit said to the leaders of the church at Antioch, "Separate Mo Barnabas and Saul for the work to which I have called them."

Two and two is God's thought for man in every field of service. He said from the first, "It is not good that man should be alone. I will make him a help meet for him." Evidently it was God's intention that the woman should be the counterpart of the man, excelling especially in the spiritual life. The best friend any man can have is a good wife and the best friend any woman can have is a good husband.

But alas! Instead of choosing each other with a view to mutual helpfulness and to united service for God, men and women choose each other very often in the foolish way, and instead of becoming mutually helpful and unitedly useful, they are apt to become a hindrance to each other, even to the detriment of the quarrel and cultivate a spirit of hostility to each other.

The case of "Billy" Sunday is a good example of the wisdom of God's plan. We understand that Mr. Sunday has great faith in his wife's good judgment, and allows her to decide for him where he shall go, and also to take a prominent share in the management of his campaign. We have no doubt that he also needs her quiet strength to sustain him in hours of exhaustion resulting from the great nervous strain under which he works.

The most helpful friend any one can have is a good wife and a good husband. But how shall the man be trained to become a good husband, or the woman to become a good wife?

UNQUISHED RIVAL.

"Oh, halloo, old chap. Just the man I'm looking for. Come and have dinner with me," bubbled Doggett Loose.

"Huh! What's the occasion—the joy?" doggetfully asked. Cokie Nooks. Good reason he had, too, for he was known all over the town as chizniawit that Doggett Loose was a mean man. Why, he was so mean that he'd drop a coin in a blind man's cup with a string tied to it, so that after he received a blessing he could jerk it back again. So, of course, Cokie Nooks knew that something wonderful had occurred for Doggett to treat him to a dinner.

"Occasion," asked Doggett. "Why, the greatest in the world! My rival is dead!" and he laughed demoniac-ally.

"Rival? Why, you're married!"

shouted Cokie Nooks.

"Certainly I am. But I had a rival until to-day. He's dead now. Died!

APPEARANCE.

The well-dressed stranger stepped into the chemist's shop, and passing by the boy who usually attended the casual customers, approached the proprietor, who was arranging some glasses in the show-case.

"Mr. S—, I presume?" he remarked, pleasantly, and the chemist turned and bowed gracefully. "I have heard my friend, Mr. Quorn, speak of you often," said the brisk man. "He said me that you were a man on whom could rely with perfect confidence, who had the best of everything, and with whom it was always a pleasure to deal."

"Mr. Quorn is very kind," answered the other, beaming with gratification.

"He is one of my best customers.

What can I do for you this morning?"

"Well—this morning, as it happens, I'm a little short of money, and little business, I'm this morning a little like, if you will allow me, to consult your directory."

"I'm very glad to help you," said the chemist, and he took a selection of penny and halfpenny stamps as well as railway time-tables, and with any other thing that you need anything of that kind."

Hammonton Field Day.

Attention! fruit growers! poultrymen! truck farmers! florists! and ladies! The second annual South Jersey Fair is to be held at Hammonton Park on Saturday, September 9th, 1916.

The Field Day was decided upon early in the Spring, and is an event that is going to take place. When the Hammonton growers start to do a thing they carry it out. Send or bring in your exhibits of peaches, berries, grapes, eggs, dressed poultry, live poultry, vegetables, set flower exhibits, laces, baking and canning. You had better begin now to plan your exhibits, if you are not already preparing them. Put a little extra fertilizer on the crops, and make them A 1 in every way. Begin to get your birds in shape now. Pick out the best you can find, to can. Consult your recipe book for the fine cake that all the neighbors praise. Start that piece of fancy work.

There will be first, second and third awards made in every variety of fruits, vegetables, berries and poultry, baking, canning, needlework, providing there is sufficient competition. No awards will be made on single exhibits in any one class.

Don't forget the date, Saturday, Sept. 9th, and remember the place, Hammonton Park. Exhibits must be in on Friday, the 8th.

Send in your best; they will be returned if you desire. Show all the rest of South Jersey what you can do.

Alone all, come yourself, and bring your neighbors. A very profitable and enjoyable time for all is assured.

THE COMMITTEE.

Assemblyman R. R. Whitman desires to notify the people of this county that there has been reserved for him, at the State Game Farm, a quantity of pheasants to liberate in this county during August and September. RU-BER-OID Pronounced "RUB" as in RUBBY COSTS MORE - WEARS LONGER

We recommend RU-BER-OID because we know it is the most satisfactory roofing that we can offer. RU-BER-OID roofs laid 20 years ago are still giving perfect service.

Cheaper roofings will be water-proof for a while, but RU-BER-OID is permanently waterproofed with a compound containing high-grade animal and vegetable substances which cannot crack or run.

RU-BER-OID is sold through and through. It contains no coal tar, and, mineral fillers or asphaltic oils.

The attractive colors are built into the roofing. The Colored RU-BER-OID (Red-Jet-old) is made in the Red and Copper Green.

The U. S. Appellate Court has enjoined imitations from using the word "Rubberoid" or any similar name as the trade name or brand of their roofing.

We sell the genuine RU-BER-OID, which has the "Rubberoid Man" shown above, on every roll. Imitations will not last like the real RU-BER-OID.
