NO. XXXI.

Protection is not for the manufacturer's benefit. It is the agricultural States in the West and Northwest which have advanced most rapidly in wealth during the last ten years.

The greatest gain in assessed valuation of property made by any of the distinctively manufacturing States from 1880 to 1890, was that made by Vermont—97.31 per cent. But the greatest gain made by the agricultural States was that of South Dakota—1040.62 per cent.

New York, manufacturing largely, advanced—42.36 per cent. Minnesota gained 133.09 per cent.

Massachusetts, manufacturing, forged ahead in the same ten years 39.93 per cent. North Dakota, agricultural, 797.79 per cent.

Connecticut, manufacturing, shows a gain of 9.70 per cent. Kansas, 116.58 per cent.

Pennsylvania, manufacturing, advanced 54.05 per cent. Nebraska, agricultural, 103.97 per cent.

Rhode Island, manufacturing, gained 27.41 per cent. Washington, agricultural, gained 755.56 per cent.

New Hampshire's gain was 53.39 per cent. and Maine's was 31 per cent. That of Arkansas 102.57 per cent., and that of Texas 124.61 per cent.

The average of these nine distinctively manufacturing States was only 40.54 per cent, while the average for the whole country was a gain of 45.84 per cent.

No, assuredly, Protection does not build up and enrich the manufacturing at the expense of agricultural sections. On the contrary, if there are any sections of the country upon which its influence for the good is felt more than upon others, it is the farming sections, for whose benefit, as farmers should never forget, Protection was first adopted.—American Economist.

"It was the Tariff that caused the Homestead strike," cries the Free-trade demagogue. What then caused the far more deplorable strike among the silver miners of Idaho, workingmen in an unprotected industry? If Protection caused the one strike, did not Free-Trade cause the other? The fact is that in neither did the Tariff or the absence of a Tariff have any influence, as any one but the Free-Trade demagogue will admit.

If Free-Trade would benefit American agriculture, why has it impoverished the farmers of England, Ireland, India, and wherever it has been tried?

A STORY FOR BOYS.

I never heard from what source he was supposed to have drawn the habit that certain it is that Sam Braddock always represented himself as the most defiant of mortals.

Now defiance, like everything else, is very good in its proper place, but when brought into every little affair of daily life it is apt to become inconvenient, if not injurious.

They lived in a little cottage, which in some wonderful way had been squeezed in behind a street of large houses, and could only be got at through a narrow passage.

It was a noticeable fact that a large percentage of the Union League members who waited in the club assembly-room for election returns on Tuesday night were rosily checked and bald-headed.

Sammie, in reaching some books from a shelf at school before the master's arrival in the morning knocked down a large ink bottle.

Employment and hardships prevent melancholy.—Johnson. The main part is to do with might and main what you can do. Encourage the heat may penetrate to every part.

Repeated efforts have been made to manufacture rhubarb wine and some measure of success crowned the labors of those who essayed making a strong drink from the rhubarb stalks; but the wine will never be popular.

BASIEST METHODS OF HOUSEKEEPING.

No matter how small your home, try to make it as convenient as possible—says a writer in the Old Homestead—"a place for everything and everything in its place."

The field in which they were had been entered by a small gate. To this he ran at once, unlocked it, and with the help of another lad set it afloat just within Sammie's reach.

It has been said the secret of good housekeeping, and the reason why it is made very difficult, is first of all, to have convenient places for all necessary utensils, to have nothing that is in frequent use packed away behind a dozen other things, or on a top shelf where it can only be reached by mounting a chair.

It is a noticeable fact that a large percentage of the Union League members who waited in the club assembly-room for election returns on Tuesday night were rosily checked and bald-headed.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

An ace in the hand is worth two in the deck. Earnestness of purposes is the secret of success. Posterity is a pack horse, ever ready to be loaded.

SUMMER DRINKS.

MEAD—NO. 1. One-fourth pound of tartaric acid, four pounds of sugar, two quarts of boiling water; when cold add one-fourth ounce of any essence, and bottle. This will fill four bottles.

MEAD—NO. 2. One-fourth pound of tartaric acid, one-half ounce of essence of anise, two quarts of boiling water, three-fourths pound of sugar, one and one-half pints of molasses. Let it stand in a cool place twenty-four hours, then strain and bottle.

ROSE DRINK. One quart of cold water, a cupful of sugar, an egg, a teaspoonful of tartaric acid. Beat the egg to a froth, beat in the sugar, add the other ingredients, stir well and drink at once.

PINK LEMONADE. A change from the ordinary lemonade may be made by coloring it a pretty shade of pink with cochineal coloring, made in the following manner: Boil together, for twenty minutes, one ounce of cochineal, one ounce of cream of tartar, one-fourth of an ounce of alum, one-half pint of water.

GELATINE JELLIES—ORANGE JELLY. The juice of four oranges, grated rind of one, juice and rind of one lemon, one and one-half cupfuls of sugar. Put one-half a box of gelatine in cold water, let it stand two hours; add a pint of boiling water and the other ingredients; pour into moulds and set on ice to cool.

PEACH JELLY. Prepare the gelatine as before, add one-half dozen peaches (pared and sliced), the juice of two lemons and two teaspoonfuls of vanilla.

FLORER DE LUCE. Beautifully dwelling by still rivers, Or solitary near the mountain's base, Or where the sluggish meadow-brook delivers Its waters to the sea!

Among the loveliest flowers of the summer are those of the Iris, or flower-de-luce whether blooming in dank marshes with tall reeds, or in "green meadows" or lifting above the garden flowers its queenly head, peer of the lilies and roses of summer.

A New Yucca scientist claims to have succeeded in forging nickel. He says the metal is as strong as steel, can be made as cheaply, and is as susceptible of as bright a polish as silver.

A Berlin shoemaker has invented an artificial stone sole for footwear. It is made of a solution of some kind of patent cement and pure white quartz sand. A pair of such soles will last for years on any pavement.

There is a chill air surrounding those who are down in the world, and people are glad to get away from them as from a cold room.

COMFORT ON THE PIAZZA.

being a real decoration to the piazza. Japanese ones are always beautiful, but with a plain frame one can manufacture her own by the use of any strong cotton goods or wall-paper, or some thin figured Japanese matting, which is only 25 cents a yard.

Second-floor piazzas, seen chiefly at summer resorts in the country or at the seashore, seem to be now a feature of suburban homes everywhere. They are much more delightful than first-floor verandas, and, though not always as spacious, may be somewhat similarly furnished.

The wife laughingly calls it "the spoonery," and has made it fragrant with blossoms in narrow boxes that fill the entire railing, and cozy with a hamper, chairs, a table and her work.

Next to couches for solid comfort come steamer chairs. They can be purchased for about two dollars each, and can be folded up and placed in a corner when not in use.

Other homemade contrivances for the piazza are the hassocks made out of boxes. The lids are hinged and padded, and the sides covered with cretonne or other wash goods.

AFRICA IN PUTTY, OR HOW TO LEARN GEOGRAPHY.

"I never can learn this geography lesson. I wish it was in the Red sea, I do truly." Leon threw down his book and looked so dejected that his sister Faith laughed outright.

"Well, Leon, I did not think you would get so easily," she said. "What is the trouble?"

"It's the map of Africa I can learn the description part easy enough, but I never can remember those hard, old names. I hate maps! Miss Burd said today she would keep us after school, and she's splendid at it."

"Well, we'll see if we can't do it so interesting that you will wish there was more of it," said Faith. "Go to the shop and find a smooth board, a foot or more square, and ask father for the can of putty."

Leon was busy, in a few minutes with the articles, and the look of despair had quite gone from his face.

"Now draw an outline of Africa on your board and cover the inclosed space with a thin coat of putty, spread on evenly, after you have worked it in your hands until it is soft. This is very well done. Now put on more putty and pinch into ridges for the mountain ranges."

With this knitting needle you can make the boundaries of the countries by pricking small holes in the putty.

"O, that's fine!" said Leon. "And the rivers I can make by marking lines where they go; but how will I make the lakes?"

"We will define the lakes by being wavy, making them a trifle lower than the surrounding country."

"Who's the answer to all the questions," said Leon, "after you have done that?"

"That's the answer to all the questions," said Leon, "after you have done that?"

"That's the answer to all the questions," said Leon, "after you have done that?"

THE SEASON WHEN THE WORLD STIRS OUT-DOORS.

A dreary basement that awnings and aways in a dim piazza in August days. Does that sound delightfully cool and inviting? Doesn't it suggest delectable, airy dreams, a book of Summer stories, a long, long lay after noons and evening suppers on the piazza?

The hammock has long held sole supremacy there. The piazza, in the suburban homes, is the Summer retreat room, the gathering place of the family, and every one has a swinging couch (or two) there. But why not have other resting places than the hammock? There are many people who cannot even sit in one, because the slightest motion of it makes them sick.

There are many people who cannot even sit in one, because the slightest motion of it makes them sick. For these people, who, unfortunately for them, have a great pleasure in "the draw hammock," there are some of the most beautiful and comfortable places to be had.

Another novelty will be a legless couch, a sort of chair, made of cane, and so snug that its back will rest against either the side of the house or the piazza railing to steady it. It is swung by its arms, which will need to be very strong and should be made of stout chains.

Next to couches for solid comfort come steamer chairs. They can be purchased for about two dollars each, and can be folded up and placed in a corner when not in use.

WITHERY—My wife got a dress here yesterday and it hasn't been delivered yet.

Withery—My wife got a dress here yesterday and it hasn't been delivered yet. Clerk—Yes; I remember the circumstances. We didn't deliver it because she went out without paying for it.

Withery—But she might have known you wouldn't send it without the money. Clerk—That's probably why she asked you to call.—New York Herald.

A lady was recently teaching a boy to spell. The boy spelled "cool-ld," but could not pronounce it. In vain his teacher asked him to think and try. At last she asked him: "What do you get when you go out upon the pavement on a rainy day and wet your feet?" "I gets a licking!"—Drake's Magazine.

Lady Customer (timidly)—Oh, I should like to look at some false hair, please. Smart Shopman—Yes, madam. What color does your friend want?—Judy.

She—Do you think that you love me well enough to marry me? He—Well enough! My darling, every atom in my being clamors for words to tell you how I love you. Oh, you do not know. I see but your face, I hear but the sweet music of your lips, I hang upon your smile and I only ask that you will be with me always. How much did you pay for that dress?—New York Herald.

FANCY WORK.

The latest novelty in materials for fancy work is crepe cloth, which is used very successfully as a background...

A COMMON HERITAGE.

WHAT THE POORER MAY GIVE THEIR CHILDREN.

An anxious mother said to me once: "I met little Jack Horker the other day, in the street, and stopped to ask him some question. Instantly his cap flew as though it were worked with some magic."

My mental retort was, "Well, why haven't they?" Manners cost nothing, and the designs are, for the most part, bold and conventional in style.

It would seem an impossibility to bring out any novelty in embroidery or lace, so various are the choices of useful articles made of this material.

There are very few woolen goods, if any, that are not improved by sponging. Colored Henriettas and many other colored goods spot with water greivously if they are made up before they are sponged.

When India silks fade on exposure to the light, it is a good plan to treat them by burning some of the ravelling. Silks become animal fibers, and does not burn a bright blaze like jute or hemp or cotton.

There are not only silks thus adulterated, but body Brussels carpet in market composed wholly of jute. These carpets are cheaply, but the merchant who deals in them would not dare expose his goods in his shop windows for a day lest they fade.

CROCHET CAP FOR A LITTLE BOY.—This little cap is worked in crochet with white zephyr wool and a bone crochet needle. Begin at the centre with a chain of five stitches, and close into a loop with a slip stitch.

Like the last 4th-52d rows.—A single angle on each side, and the succeeding stitch for a narrowing work off together as one stitch the 2 singles which come on the 21st of the row.

HE THINKS THERE'S MILLIONS IN IT.

It isn't often that a newspaper reporter is approached by those who have a dead end of a fortune and given an opportunity to literally "wall in wealth," but such an opportunity came to a member of The Free Press staff a few days ago.

At a social gathering on Harlem avenue Prof. Snore of Columbia college was present as an invited guest. Miss Esmeralda Longonoff, a venerable matron, was also present, and as usual she made frantic efforts to captivate the professor.

St. Peter.—You see yourself that you were a compositor on a daily paper. What earthly claim have you, then, to come in here?

Mrs. Van Winkle—I hear that your son, who has been away so many years, has returned.

There are very few woolen goods, if any, that are not improved by sponging. Colored Henriettas and many other colored goods spot with water greivously if they are made up before they are sponged.

When India silks fade on exposure to the light, it is a good plan to treat them by burning some of the ravelling. Silks become animal fibers, and does not burn a bright blaze like jute or hemp or cotton.

There are not only silks thus adulterated, but body Brussels carpet in market composed wholly of jute. These carpets are cheaply, but the merchant who deals in them would not dare expose his goods in his shop windows for a day lest they fade.

CROCHET CAP FOR A LITTLE BOY.—This little cap is worked in crochet with white zephyr wool and a bone crochet needle. Begin at the centre with a chain of five stitches, and close into a loop with a slip stitch.

Like the last 4th-52d rows.—A single angle on each side, and the succeeding stitch for a narrowing work off together as one stitch the 2 singles which come on the 21st of the row.

SMILES OF CONTENTMENT.

ISSUED FROM THE PENS OF VARIOUS HUMORISTS.

At a social gathering on Harlem avenue Prof. Snore of Columbia college was present as an invited guest. Miss Esmeralda Longonoff, a venerable matron, was also present, and as usual she made frantic efforts to captivate the professor.

DEV. DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON.

The Brooklyn Divine's Sunday Sermon. "Seek ye the Kingdom of God."

Isaiah stands bold and shoulders above the other Old Testament authors in vivid descriptions of Christ. Other prophets are more than present, as it were, the face of Christ; others a bust of Christ; but Isaiah gives the portrait of Christ.

TO READERS OF THE South Jersey Republican.

The Presidential Campaign of 1892 will, without doubt, be the most intensely interesting and exciting in the history of the United States, and country people will be extremely anxious to have all the general and political news and discussions of the day as presented in a National Journal, in addition to that supplied by their own local paper. To meet this want, we have entered into a contract with the

New York Weekly Tribune,
Leading Republican paper of the United States,
Which enables us to offer that splendid journal (regular subscription price, $1 pr year) and the REPUBLICAN for one year
For only $1.25, Cash in Advance.

New York Weekly Tribune, regular price, $1.00
South Jersey Republican, 1.25
Total, $2.25

We furnish both papers one year for $1.25
Subscriptions may begin at any time.

This is the most liberal combination offer ever made in the United States, and every reader of the REPUBLICAN should take advantage of it at once.

Address all orders to the South Jersey Republican.

HE Missed His Opportunity! DON'T Miss It!
The majority neglect their opportunity and die in poverty and die in obscurity! Harrowing despair is the lot of many, as they look back on lost, forever lost, opportunity. Life is passing! Seize it! Be up and doing. Improve your opportunity, and secure prosperity, peace, success, peace. It is said by a philosopher, that "the Goddess of Fortune offers a golden opportunity to each person at some period of life; embrace the chance, and she pours out her riches; fail to do so and she departs, never to return." How shall you find the golden opportunity? Investigate every chance that appears worthy, and of fair promise; that is what all successful men do. Here is an opportunity, such as is not often within the reach of laboring people. Improved, it will give, at least, a grand start in life. The golden opportunity for many is here. Money to be made rapidly and honorably by any industrious person of either sex. All ages. You can do the work and live at home, wherever you are. Even beginners are easily earning from $5 to $10 per day. You can do as well if you will work, but too hard, but industriously; and you can increase your income as you go on. You can give spare time only, or all your time to the work. Easy to learn. Capital not required. We start you. All is comparatively new and really wonderful. We instruct and show you how, free, failure unknown among our workers. No room to explain here. Write and learn all free, by return mail. Urge the policy. Address at once, Balliet & Co., Box 529, Portland, Maine.
