How Refreshing
is a Cup of Coffee
provided it is GOOD and also made right.

Read:

To three-fourths cup Royal Java and Mocha (ground fine) add two or three cups cold water and one egg (beaten one minute), boil three minutes, then fill to quantity desired with hot water, and serve.

We recommend "Royal" blend above all others, as being the finest flavored coffee this town holds, and when made by the above receipt cannot fail to give satisfaction.

We are the sole agents in Hammonton for both Royal and White House, also a high grade coffee. So don't waste time looking for them elsewhere, nor waste money on cheaper coffees said to be just as good.

But if you want other kinds, we have them all from 18 c. to 30 c.

Poultry in Hammonton.

MR. EDITOR:—Now that the failure on berries has caused many of our most energetic and deserving citizens to face the "hardest kind of times," it may not be out of place to state that the man who had "one acre of hens" made more profit than he who had "ten acres of berries." Leaving out artificial incubation, let us consider hens.

Give the hens the whole farm (not a pig pen) and they will pick up a large share of their food, as well as destroy many insects. Instead of endeavoring to keep a hundred hens on one-fifth of an acre, try keeping fifty hens on one acre, using separate houses. No fences will be needed (this fact has been fully demonstrated).

Make a business of poultry, and don't turn the hens over to "the wimmen folks." A woman cannot do the work required, nor should she.

You don't have to wait until berry picking time for results, as hens pay weekly wages all the year. Drouth or wet weather does not spoil your crop. It is not necessary to sell in our stores, as eggs are cash everywhere; but good prices can also be obtained at home. If our farmers made the same effort to secure markets for eggs as for berries, more profit would result.

Do not make poultry a "side" business, but a specialty, giving your whole time and attention thereto. You must not begin by buying hens, thus introducing disease and vermin on the farm, but use good breeds and raise your own stock.

The way to compete with cheaper western foods is to convert the food into eggs, using hens of mediums for so doing.

You may exclaim, "I have tried poultry; hens don't pay." Very true; neither do berries. How many persons now in Hammonton, "brought up on a farm," know one breed of poultry from another? or who can distinguish a Java from a Langshan? How would a man make out with blackberries who did not know a Wilson from an Early Harvest?

This town, with New York, Philadelphia, and Atlantic City as markets (including intervening towns) should be a centre for poultry production.

I venture to claim that the "egg basket" has brought many necessities during periods when no crops were growing.

Eggs pay better in summer than in winter, if hens are given plenty of room, as it is not necessary to feed them during the warm season, the actual cost of eggs then being nothing.

If artificial incubation is tried, one must have more experience, but hens will pay in eggs alone. Choice fresh eggs will sell for more than the market price, but with the careless methods now practiced the nest egg gets into the basket with the others.

Let us discuss this subject; it is a path open to many. Poultry will give more profit on the labor and capital bestowed than any thing else, but a dozen hens will not produce much, and women and children are not the ones to manage large flocks.

OLD ROOSTER.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:

My report on the progress of the (to be) canning factory is that $300 has been subscribed at $10 per share, of course only to be called in when the factory is assured. Three thousand dollars might give us a start of one factory, but more would surely follow.

There's money in it, and it will make a way out to avoid the annual failure of our late berry crops. We have plenty of men in our midst fully capable of making this matter a big success. But they seem to be too modest to come out. I would advise them at least to give me their names, and the number of shares they will take. Remember, our Bank was organized in this very way, and carried to its present success.

BASE BALL.

HAMMONTON 9. MORRIS A. A. 7.

For the third time this year the Hammonton boys defeated the Morris A. A., last Saturday. The second inning did it for our boys. Luderitz was given his base on called balls and would have been easily put out there had not Conrad made a howling error. He and Conley were soon put out, then the fun commenced. Mathis sent to center and reached 3rd while the visitors were attending Luderitz. Wait reached 1st on Saunders' error and Naylor brought them in with a fly to center. Gartside sent one to 3rd and Naylor scored. Bakely crawled to 1st on a dead ball and followed Gartside in, on Cunningham's hit to left. The curtain dropped on five runs after Luderitz had stood again at the plate.

In the last of the second inning, Saunders and Jackson changed places, and the former did rather better in the box. Hitchner did not appear to do as well as usual in front of the batter: more hits than usual were made off him and he had less strike-outs than are sometimes the result of his fine twirling. The first three balls he pitched, however, retired E. Brown, their first batter. Pascoe, their catcher, evidently did not ingratiate himself with the people of Hammonton but all are willing to acknowledge his skill behind the plate and in holding the team together.

The score:

A thrilling story of a wild man in the woods near Elm was told in some of the city papers, this week. The whole truth is that some of Mr. Jonah Wood's berry pickers, coming in from huckleborrying, greatly excited, stated that they saw a man out there, nearly covered with hair, a great futher sticking in his hat or hair, a frightful object. They drew knives, expecting a fight; but he dropped onto "all fours," and moved rapidly out of sight into the bushes. No one else has seen the creature.

A PATENT
PEACH CARRIER OR CRATE.

The long-felt want for something better than a tottering small bottomed basket for shipping Peaches in, has been found at last, in the shape of a crate that holds two baskets. This carrier has a spring bottom, like a buck-board, that prevents fruit from being bruised in transit,—on wagon or cars, on the way to market. It is light, but very strong, and intended for a return package. The cover is hinged on, which saves the annoyance of tying or wiring covers on baskets. Price complete, $15 per 100. Baskets for carriers, $3.50 per 100. Sample can be seen at Brown & Co.'s store. For sale by

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN TICKET.

For President.

Wm. McKinley.

For Vice-President,

Garret A. Hobart.

The strongest argument for sound money and a sound government, such as the Republican party gave us from Lincoln to Harrison, is the character of those (Communists, Anarchists and the like) who oppose them so vehemently, without reason or common sense; who would destroy both if they could.

Thus speaks the New York Sun—words of truth and sobriety. Hearken patriots, veterans, Americans! Paste it in your hat; stick it on the head-board of your bed, where you can see it night and morn, and point to it when retreating or rising, and say "them's my sentiments!"

The cause of honest money and the defeat of repudiation, in other words, the success or defeat of McKinley, cannot be subordinated to any question of Democratic organization or regularity. It is the duty of every American to join the forces of the strongest and most loyal opponent of the Populist Convention at Chicago. And the Ohio candidate is the man.

Patriots must follow Mr. McKinley against the enemies of the Republic who come from the prairie, as though he were the regular commander for defence against an enemy from over the sea.

Sentimental allegiance to the name of a prostrated and now impotent Democracy, or insistence on the technicalities of its organization, is inimical to the most desired end, the preservation of the national credit.

Canadians can see through the silver dollar maze that is blinding the eyes of Populists and free silver men. Here is what the Toronto Star has to say of the situation:

Bryan's nomination was of the sky rocket sort. He captured the convention, not in its moments of sober thought, but under the influence of the crowd's wild applause. He won on the effervescent enthusiasm, on the mob's hurrah; and the mob was caught by his glowing, rounded periods. The nomination was, therefore, a nomination of a man who is not a man.

Mr. Bryan; it elevated him a good deal higher than he will be in November, after the people of the United States have dropped their little papers in the slot. Presidents are not elected amid the enthusiasm of conventions, but by the sober thought of citizens, which has plenty of time to do its work between July and November. That period of thinking means a landslide for McKinley and the Republicans.

Dominick Bono was found dead on Wednesday morning, by a neighbor, in the rear of his residence on Eleventh Street, about half a mile from May's Landing Road. Mr. Bono was a German, about sixty years old, unmarried and lived alone; was a veteran of the Seventh Regiment New Jersey Volunteers. On Tuesday afternoon he was at Justice Atkinson's office to have his pension voucher executed, and seemed well and cheerful. On his return home he evidently went to the woods and cut several small trees for fuel, carried them on his shoulder, and fell just as he reached the wood-pile. When found, he lay on his face, the poles and axes lying across his body. Dr. Cunningham, acting for the County Physician, gave a certificate of death from heart disease. The Lutheran at Polom refused to permit his remains to be buried in their cemetery, as he was formerly a Roman Catholic. Members of our G. A. R. Post took charge of the funeral, and buried him in the Post lot, Greenmount Cemetery, on Thursday.

The close of the season has bro't the usual suite for "canning crates." In two cases the defendant showed that he bought the crates from a commission merchant. We don't see why that should clear him. Mr. A. sends one hundred crates of berries to Mr. B., a commission merchant in Philadelphia. B. makes return "sold for 5 cents," evidently meaning the berries. By what right, then, does he sell A.'s crates to Mr. C. for cash and pocket the proceeds. C. knows that the crates bear the name of A.; yet he pays B. and claims them as his. If the property was a horse, the Justice would give A. possession, no matter from whom C. purchased it.

L. G. Horn, the Elm grocer, is doing a strictly cash business.

Don't be impatient if the week folks are frothy, this weather. They suffer as you do, and don't understand why. Make them as comfortable as possible, regardless of appearances, and earn their gratitude.

Messrs. Ames Dean and John Super, of Elm, were overcome by heat, Thursday, as were two others, names not given us; and work in the fields has been in great measure abandoned until the heat moderates.

Pastor Killian, of the Baptist Church, expects to leave on Monday next for a month's recreation. During his absence, the Y. P. S. C. E. will have control of the Sunday services. Further announcements next week.

The Junior Epworth League will hold a lawn party next Tuesday evening, August 11, at Mr. Swank's residence, Fourth Street and Bellevue Avenue. A programme of pleasing variety has been prepared. Admission, five cents. All invited.

The record of one half mile tandem unspaced, flying start, 57 4-5 sec., made by J. P. J. and J. S. Williams on Hammonton track, July 4th, has been accepted as a world's record, by Chairman Gideon. It is certainly a good advertisement for our speedy track.

Senerocco Looorocco, while trying to board a morning freight train at the Reading, Monday morning, accidentally got his foot crushed between the bumpers. He was taken to a doctor who pronounced it a severe contusion. The Italian was later taken to the hospital.

It is proposed to organize here a "Sound Money Club," to be composed of those, irrespective of party, who propose to vote for McKinley and Hobart, in the interests of true patriotism and common honesty. Young men of eighteen and over will also be received as members.

The Board of Education are having difficulty in securing bids for the Reading school house. The committee have had two meetings, and on each occasion but one bid was received, and that they refused to open—requiring competition. They will try it again next Tuesday, when we hope they will be more successful.

Eugene Ashley, son of J. A. Ashley, of Washington, was drowned while bathing, at Batsto. The young man was a nephew of Gen. E. Wright, of Atlantic City, and came to Batsto to assist Mr. Frank Middleton in surveying. Monday evening he complained of feeling unwell, and thought a bath would prove beneficial; but it seems to have aggravated his trouble; or he may have been seized with cramps while in deep water. Crowley Loveland and Geo. A. Elvins, who were passing the place with a number of other young cyclists, heard his cry for help, but were unable to reach him, though they plunged in and did their best. The body was recovered some hours later.

the rapidity with which some business is built up is really surprising.

The quality of the goods in stock, and the fair and honest dealing which people meet with at such places, account in part for the rapid

They also found that in New Siberia the mammoth ivory was still more abundant, and in 1899 Sanitoff brought away 10,000 pounds of fossil ivory from New Siberia alone.

The sensation at the banquet given by the German colony at Moscow during the coronation is likely to stir Germany to its center, Europe to its circumference. An inept chairman proposed the health of the representative of the Emperor, and, in doing so, used as a sequence 'and the princes in his suite.' This was an inaccuracy as well as an offense against good taste. Prince Henry could represent his brother, but he could not have a suite composed of representatives of the kingdoms that are co-ordinate members of the empire. Prince Henry, in other words, being only a member of the royal house of Prussia, could not include as members of his suite representatives of the kingdom of Bavaria, Saxony or Württemberg. Prince Louis of Bavaria alone and his wife, and not vassals, were the allies of the Emperor. We stood by the side of the King of Prussia in the war against France, and the old Emperor acknowledged it always. We will do the same whenever Germany is threatened with war. But the German nation must remember not only the great fatherland but also the old German dynasties. Prince Louis spoke for a house as royal as that of Prussia. The kings of Bavaria are descendants of soldiers whose removal of the crown to the twelfth century, one of whom was elector of the holy Roman Empire. The representative of the King of Saxony comes from stock that were emperors of the German empire in the tenth century. In consequence of the speech of Prince Louis the other princes and the German ambassador immediately left the table. The rest of the banquet must have been a church in Ireland in which Dean Swift officiated. The congregation usually consisted of the preacher and the sexton. Prince Louis was right. Bavaria, Saxony and Württemberg are allies of Prussia in the empire—not vassals of the Emperor. Versailles are not as numerous in the world as they used to be.

Oil for Furniture. There is no one of the housekeeper's duties that requires more careful attention than the care of furniture surfaces. Dust will settle, dampness and steam moisten it, and though a room may be carefully put to rights every day some dust is bound to adhere, especially in corners and the crevices and ornate work that it neglected presents anything but a lovely appearance. If there are children, the imprints of their fingers, so hard to keep from soil, are sure to adorn the edges of tables and form traceries on chairs and other household goods. The aid of a cabinetmaker every month or so to clean the furniture would prove too costly, and the repeated varnishing of such articles as require it too much troubles the owner. The best way is to keep the furniture looking neat, remove the stains and soil, and that does not cost a great deal in time and money, is a great boon to housewives. To reach this end there is nothing better than a mixture of kerosene and turpentine, but it is not satisfactory, as after repeated washings the turpentine remains on the polished surface.—Fittsburg Dispatch.

A Small Order. J. L. Toole's fondness for practical joking is well known. Not very long ago the celebrated actor entered a lady who in London, and assuming a solemn demeanor addressed himself to the man behind the counter: "I will take a boy," said Mr. Toole, gravely looking round at the shelves. "A boy, sir?" asked the clerk, in a puzzled tone. "And a girl," added Mr. Toole. "The man gazed open-mouthed at his customer, evidently under the impression a lunatic was addressing him. "This is a mill shop," said the clerkman in an emphatic tone. "Come outside," answered Mr. Toole in a sepulchral voice, and taking the man by the arm he led him to the door and pointed upward to the sign. "I'll take a boy and girl," repeated the humorist, with not a word of a smile. "Send what your notice states," Hamilton replied in any quiverly. "—London Tit-Bits.

She Saved Everything. While cleaning and renovating the residence formerly occupied by Mrs. Mary Adams, deceased, at Larchmont, N. Y., a number of valuable coins were found, some dating back 187 years. The coins were mostly English, all silver, although one copper and one gold piece were found. A large number of old newspapers and magazines were found. The Troy Times, from 1884 to the present time, was included. It is estimated that Mrs. Adams' wardrobe consisted of more than 200 dresses and a large number of hats of styles from 1810 to the present day were found. The house she occupied for more than forty years was a two-story frame dwelling, and the relative late removal of the old owner to a full of years, and there being no one to take care of the property, it is believed that the house will be sold.

STEER'S DAY IS COMING.

Demand for Good Will (Again) Come, and Prices Rule High.

Every day has his day, at least so they say, and just as the year comes round the steer will have his, says The Homestead.

The current testimony of every man we know who has given the subject careful attention, is that there has been a decline in the numbers of beef cattle in the corn and grass States of the West. The same report, but not with the same uniformity, comes from the ranches.

Unfortunately in these years of depression the quality of the cattle has run down. Buyers tell us that in counties in Kansas, for example, where they could six years ago point out great numbers of herds of high grade cattle, few can be found now. We think this statement is true generally. Commission men tell us that the quality of the cattle has run down. Our foreign friends gloat over the fact, as we see from our exchanges, that the grade of our cattle is being lowered. The thing that is being lowered is the quality of the cattle. The thing that is being lowered is the quality of the cattle. The thing that is being lowered is the quality of the cattle.

We cannot begin too soon. We are quite aware that a good many of our readers will say the times are hard, and talk 'depression,' about the way the business man talked 'want of confidence' last summer. We wish them to bear in mind, however, that the calf that was dropped in 1893, will not be ready for market until 1896, and the produce of the cow that is bred in 1894, will not be ready for market until 1897, and not in 1894. This should never be left out of the account.

No man can foretell what price they will bring, but as things usually go in this world, there is a hill on the other side of every hollow, and a period of prosperity in advance of every period of adversity. Therefore we advise every cattle grower in the country to make up his mind that the future he will raise the best stock possible, and the way to do it is to buy for the head of the herd a young bull, not only of excellent breeding but of the very best individual merit. Do not look at the color of his hair, but note whether the hair is harsh or not. Get a good handler. Buy him as cheap as you can, provided he is a good one, but do not buy a poor one at any price, no matter what his pedigree.

Select the best cows you can get for raising and then be prepared to take care of the calves. Every dollar lost in years past in keeping calves will be made back, and much more, by the man who raises good cattle, for he then has his calves as a grain of mustard seed. The calf will have his turn and his dam and sire will be counted worthy of honor, just as surely as the horse, sheep and dog have had theirs.

There is no radical change which as yet has been heard of in the human stomach on account of which it is likely to refuse good food, and all this change which we can do, no doubt our medical friends will advise us in time, it will pay to hold on to the best cows, select for them the best sires and take care of the progeny.

A Natural Dog.

A Detroit man recently received, as a token of esteem from a southern friend, a fine hunting dog. The animal was such a pleasant, neighborly sort of a brute, that his new owner got on terms with him right away, and made a companion of him. One day during the last hot spell he took him for the first time to his office with him. Along in the afternoon the clerk came back into the private office with a rash.

"Come out here, come quick!" he gasped.

"What's the matter?" exclaimed the man, jumping up.

"Your dog's mad."

"How do you know he is? Where is he?"

"His tongue is hanging out; he's panting dreadfully, and he won't obey water."

"The gentleman immediately sat down.

"Go back to your work, you blamed jack," he said quietly. "Didn't I tell you that dog came from Kentucky?"

M. E. services to-morrow. Sermon by Pastor Bishop in the morning. Evening, Epworth League and public services combined, commencing promptly at 7:30 and lasting just one hour. There is an evident increasing interest in these meetings. During the heated term, every effort will be made to render these services profitable but in no respect tedious.

Capt. Wescott, of the Baptist Boys' Brigade of Atlantic City, was in town on Monday, making arrangements for the encampment, which is to begin Sept. 7th, at the Park. It is expected that on their arrival they will be met by the local Brigade and the Sons of Veterans and escorted to their grounds. This Brigade is the pride of Atlantic City, and will doubtless be a stimulant to our boys.

Hark! hark! hear the dogs bark; The Italians have gone for the year; Some with rage, but most with bags Of more chink than farmers could clear.

Pursuant to call, a number of Republicans met, Tuesday evening, and talked over the subject of organizing a campaign club. Orville E. Hoyt was chosen chairman, J. Murray Bassett secretary. It was resolved to organize a "Sound Money Club," and a committee of five authorized to receive applications for membership, draft a constitution, and secure a hall. A second meeting will be called later.

Burglars entered W. H. Tillery's little shoe store some time Sunday night, and carried off fifty or more pairs of shoes. Entrance was effected through the cellar, the inner door bolt catch being broken with a jimmy of some kind, as was that on the next door, giving a clear access to the store. The party must have cleared out hastily, as a sack was left, into which they had put six pairs of shoes. No clue to the robbers.

Two vagrants were prowling around Capt. Loveland's premises about midnight last Friday. Capt. Crowley Loveland and Charles Geppert captured one of them (an Italian), and as he could not give a satisfactory account of himself, Policeman Garton locked him up. In the morning Justice Atkinson recognized him as the man who paid a fine last year for stealing tools from Abel Wood's engine about a year ago. There being no charge against him, this time, he was discharged with a hint to leave town at once, which he seemed glad to do.

Two Lives Saved.
Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her, and she says it saved her life. Mr. Theo. Eggers, 139 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which there are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trial, bottles at Croft's Pharmacy.
