Another Veteran Mustered Out.

Charles A. Leonard died on Monday morning, Aug. 3rd, at his home on South Third Street, Hammonton, after a lingering illness from an affection of the heart, aged seventy-six years.

It is but expressing the general sentiment in repeating the words of a long-time friend, who said, "He was one of the best men I ever knew." Mr. L. has resided here about forty years; was employed in the earlier shoe factories; later had a farm on Thirteenth Street, but sold it ten years ago and built a home on Third Street. A quiet man naturally, his every acquaintance became a friend because of his friendliness to all.

His wife, his son Harry C., and his daughter, Miss Maud, have the sympathy of all.

August Clearance Sale of Desirable Merchandise is now on.

With the aid of low prices, we intend to sell all goods that were bought for this season. This has been the policy of the store since it was started, nearly ten years ago. We look upon carried-over stocks as an enemy, hindering our advancement: for this reason, the low prices, which act in place of bullets, are put on, on unsold goods, and out they go!

GEORGE ELVINS,

Hammonton, - New Jersey

A Disappointment.

On Tuesday evening of this week, the Hammonton Board of Trade postponed indefinitely, or till some time next year, the celebration of "Old Home Week." That this was a disappointment to me goes without saying.

The holding of this meeting on the plan advertised was suggested in one of my articles several weeks since. From the very start, the idea seemed to be popular. The chairman of the Entertainment Committee endorsed it heartily. The Executive Committee of the Board of Trade, in two of its meetings, endorsed it just as heartily. In one of these meetings the Committee assumed all financial responsibility for it and proposed to put it through in good shape. The plan was extensively advertised both in our local papers and in the city dailies. Letters came from many localities, asking for detailed information in regard to it. The whole country was rapidly becoming interested in it. The programme was well under way. I have helped to prepare hundreds of such programmes, and never yet helped to prepare one which was coming into shape more satisfactorily. A plan had been devised by which the printing of an official programme and souvenir book for Hammonton was fully provided for, without one dollar of financial risk for Hammonton. If I knew anything about such matters, and I think I do know just a little about them, the way was open for a successful meeting; and I must be excused for thinking that under all the circumstances it was a great mistake to "get scared" just at the present time, and pull the meeting off. Other towns all about us, of not half the importance of Hammonton, are holding such meetings and making them successful. Hammonton can do it if she will.

But no matter. While I honestly believe that the postponement was a mistake, I just as honestly believe that it was not my mistake. I will make the best of it. It will delay the development of Hammonton longer than any of us can figure out. Possibly it will spell defeat for our Board of Trade movement which we worked so hard to get organized. If it even does all this and very much more, my skirts will be clear.

It is often hard to see the end from the beginning in this life. What we regard as actual calamities are often, after all, only blessings in disguise. Out of the disappointment the blessings come when we least expect them. My faith in the wisdom and power of an over-ruling Providence is so strong that I confidently expect good even from the very muddled condition of affairs on the other side of the big lake.

As I look at things, the world has gone dollar mad. The dollar is so close to the eye of the average man that he can see absolutely nothing beyond it. The dollar is the controlling factor in everything. Even the pulpit toadies to it. The great newspapers of the age which ought to be the friends of the people are not the friends of the people at all. Their mission is rather to fool the people into supporting measures that will redound to the benefit of their owners. Republicans edit Democratic papers, and vice versa. With them it is not a question of right or genuine honesty, but simply a question of the number of dollars they can pull out of the business for deceiving the people. The whole arrangement is an abomination to an honest man. I do not pretend to see the end from the beginning, but my faith is strong that in some way the dollar is to get a serious back-set in politics, in religion, in morals, in the management of our civic affairs, and in about everything else before we get through with the strenuous times in which we are living. I believe and always have believed, and always expect to believe, that the man rather than the dollar ought to rule in all these relationships of life.

J. A. VANFLICK.

P. S. As this article goes to press, I am creditably informed that the Red Men will carry out their part of the programme arranged for "Old Home Week" just to the letter, regardless of the action of the Board of Trade, and doubtless on the very day assigned them on the "Old Home Week" programme, Sept 5th. They hope to come 2,000 strong, with their own banners, music, and speakers, and make the day a rip-roaring success. Members of the Red and Gun Club think they will do the same thing.
