Letter from Camp Voorhees.

SEA GIRT, N. J., August 0, 1898. All the boys are well, except colds. Billy Bull enjoys himself as much as any one, and knows more about getting up time than any of us. He is up first and waits for the suprise gun, then tries to make the boys understand that it is time to get up, by yelps. At dress parade, he lies at the head of the company street, and when the bugle blows he begins to cry. The boys have to hold him to prevent his running at the cannon when it goes off at sunset. He knows as much about meal calls as any one, and answers to each, but has no "kit." He takes hie daily bath with the rest, and when the boys forget to go he goes alone. He has gained friends in all the companies. His particular friend is "Shafter," a billy-goat in Co. H; they play together. This is the goat that waves the stars and stripes.

The boys take great care in dressing Billy Bull every night for dress parade, that vicitors may see who he belongs to. The blacket shows him up nicely. His pictures are all over the country, as every one who comes into camp with a camera includes the dog.

Will Slack had to have a cot made to order, as his feet would hang over the lower end. When he covers his feet the blanket only comes up to his waist. As to feeding, he eats all he can get the first time, then kicks because he's still hungry; but he hasn't nerve enough to tackle the cook for more.

Harry Roberts is getting to be quite religious. He was selected as a Sunday School teacher at the Y. M. C. A.

Wm. H. Flausgan, Harry Roberts, Will Slack, J. H. Kane, and Jas. Woolbert qualified in the 200-yard range. Steve Woolbert would have been in the number, but fired at the wrong target, and it didn't count, though he made a bull's oye.

Stove's appointe is wonderful. He always shows up at meal-time for two turns, and would like a third, the' one course is enough for an ordinary eater.

John Alloway is first in line at meals and last at drill. The boys think he would make a much better fluisher than

J. II. Kane is an expert at cards and qualt pitching. The other day he was so much interested in a card game that out to drill; and the Captain found him thirty minutes later, playing solitaire.

Lew Allendar, our "Spring Chicken," was on guard duty one evening last week. When the Officer of the Day approached, Lew halted him. The officor asked why, and explained that he, being officer of the day, could pass in or out at any time. Lew roplied, "You out of this, for if the officer of the night catches you he'll give you ---- rate l'

Will Flaungan was out on a pass the other day, and on his return gave us a long description of an elegant dinner given him by a "lady friend" in Manasquan. We learned, later, that he was not satisfied with his breakfast, and called at a house in town, where the cook took pity on him and managed to scrape up a hand-out, which the hungry boy cyldently appreciated.

John French and Steve Woolbert were invited to a country dinner at Lake Como, which they accepted, and reparted a very enjoyable thme.

There is only one tent in Co. If where more than three sleep,—that is where James Woolbort and Billy Bull put up. As the teuts are only large enough for three cots, and two are occupied by Atlantic City boys, there is but one for the other two.

Shok and Steve Woolbert will be home on a two-days furlough on the 20th, and Flaungan on the 23rd.

Billy Bull stood inspection with the rest, last Friday, standing at the right of the line, and passed favorably.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. 'Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz.' Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at Crowell's Drug Store. Regular size 50 c. and $1. Every bottle guaranteed.

Yellowstone Park and the Omaha Exposition.

The Yellowstone National Park is unquestionably one of the most interesting regions on the globe, for within it is displayed the greatest collection of nature's manifold wonders. Indeed, this mountain-bound plateau, high up on the summit of the everlasting Rockies, is a veritable playground for the world's giant forces. The personally conducted tour of the Penna, R. R. Co., which leaves New York on Sept. 1, affords the most satisfactory means of visiting this wonderland and viewing its may elous features. A stop of two days will be made on the return trip at Omaha, affording an opportunity to ylsit the Trans-Mississippi Exposition. Rounder than Glotto's O.

Most newspaper readers, as well as collectors of quaint sayings, obscure pharases, etc., are familiar with the quotation, "Rounder than Glotto's O." It is doubtful, however, if a very large percentage of those familiar with the saying know anything at all concerning its origin. The following, says the Olitengo Times-Herald, is given for the bought of those who have never seen gravest crimes in parts of the Ohinese the explanation in print:

Glotto was a famous pointer, sculptor left to die of starvation. and architect of the latter part of the thirleenth century. He was a son of a poor shepherd, but the attention of the great master, Clmabus, having been attracted to the boy by a drawing the lad had made on a fragment of slate, the young artist's fame had opread rapidly throughout southern Europe. In those days it was customary for the Popes to send for the noted men of their realm, move for the purpose of gratifying their dealers to see such celebrities than anything else. Glorto was 😅 no exception to the rule. No sconer had the young Tusean become famous than Pope Roulface VIII, invited him to Florence. When young Glotto arrived at the gates of the Pope's private grounds, according to the account! the enand halfed him and inquired concerning his mission.

Texr: "There was silence in heaven about the space of haif an hour."—Rove indicate, with. I.

"Take this watch and keep it," said a dying Christian as he picked it up from the stand at his pillow, "I have no more need of it. I am goning where time shall be no longer." But it seems from my text that heaven was at least once measured by an antityly time-piece.

The busiest place in the universe is heaven. It is the center, from which all good influences start; it is the goal at which all good results arrive. The Bible represents it as active, with wheels and wings and corleastras and processions, haited. The band of arrest was put upon all the splenders. "Siop, Haaven?" cried an ombipotent voice, and it stopped. For ther pillor, and the processions haited. The band of arrest was put upon all the splenders. "Siop, Haaven?" cried an ombipotent voice, and it stopped. For the space of haif an hour."

From all we can learn it is the only time hoaven ever stopped. It does not stop for a large, for the inhabitant never says, "I am sick." It does not stop for a large, for the inhabitant never says, "I am sick." It does not stop for a large, for the inhabitant never says, "I am sick." It does not stop for a large when the special of the space of hair an hour."

And, first of all, we may learn that good and all heaven then honored silence. The full power of silence many of us have yet to learn. We are told that when Christ was and I do not care when it was, and I do not care when it was, but of the that such an interregum of sound and il heaven then honored silence. The full power of silence many of us have yet to learn. We are told that when Christ was arraigned "He answered not a word." That silence was louder than any thunder that ever shook the world. Ottlimes, when we are assailed and misrepressited, the might less thing to say nothing, and the mightlest thing to say nothing, and the mightlest thing to say nothing and the mightlest thing to say nothing and the mightlest thing to say nothing and the mightlest thing to that ever shook the world. Oftelmes, when we are assailed and misrepresented, the mightlest thing to say is to say nothing; and the mightlest thing to do is to do nothing. Those people who are always rushing into print to get themselves set right, accomplish nothing but their own chagrin. Silence! Do right and leave the results with God. Among the grandest lessons the world has ever learned are the lessons of patience taught by those who endered the mith the half hours between professional alter an physicial that made Abertramble.

of patience taught by those who endured uncompitalingly personal or domestic of political injustice. Oh, the power of patient silencel Eachylus, the immortal poet, was condemned to death for writing something that offended the people. All the pleus in his behalf were of no avail, until his brother uncovered the arm of the prisoner and showed that his wrist had been sacrificed for his country at the battle of Salamis. That silent pleus liberated him. The loudest thing on earth is silence if it be of the right kind and at the right time. There was a quaint old hymn, spelled in the old style, case sung in the churches:

Heaven has been crowning Kings by friends, the tossing sea of Galileo seemed more to offend Christ by the amount of noise it made, for He said to it: "Be still!" Heaven has been crowning Kings and Queens unto God for many centuries, yet heaven nover stopped a moment for any such accourance, but it stopped thirty minutes for the coronation of Siloneo. "There was silence in beaven for the space of half an hour."

Learn also from my text that heaven must be an eventful and active place, from the fact that it could affer a large that the fact that it agains affered any there.

Learn also from my text that neavour must be an eventful and active place, from the fact that it could afford only thirty and not its mightlest pemp and instead of the fact that it could afford only thirty minutes of rocess. There have been eventful and a whole day or whole week or whole without end.

But how will you spend the first half hour of the boy to life. After your prostration of the low to leave a the low to leave a the low to life. After your prostration of the low to leave a life. Hitherto with the low to leave a life of the low on earth and in nearest time seems whole day or whole week or whole year for celestial consideration. If Groting was right and this silence occurred at the time of the destruction of Jorusalem, that the silence occurred at the time of the destruction of Jorusalem, that ceens was so awful and so prolonged that the hishabitants of heaven could not have done justice to it in many weeks. After Jorusalem—Antonic and Hippieus—had been going on fer a long while, a Roman soldier mounted on the shoulder of another soldier mounted into the window of the temple was after the follier in the folli solder mounted on the shoulder of motion solder hurled into the window of the temple was all solder hurled into the window of the temple was all falline, and after covering many sacrifices to the boliness of God, the building itself the royal bands playing—the Crimean became a sacrifice to the rage of man. LESSON SURROUNDINGS. Intervening Events .- In 2 Kings 2: 1 t 8:15, we have fourteen longer or briefer narratives of remarkable incidents in the life of Elisha. Their position in the book is a reason of sense weight for holding that the incidents all occurred during the reigns of Jehoram of Israel and Benhadad of Damascus, and there is no weighty reason against this. In the absence of reason against this. In the absence of opposing evidence, we may assume that they are narrated in the order in which they occurred. To this there is one exception. The expedition against Mesha (3:4-27) seems to have occurred before the accession of Jehorum of Judah, but the translation of Elijah (2:1-48) after that accession (2 Chron. 21:12-15). On this basis, the recorded events since the last lesson are the funitless search of the som of the prophets for Elijah (2 Kings:16-18) the healing of the water at Jericho (vs. 19-22), the incident of the two bears (vs.

19-22), the incident of the two bears (vs 23-25), whence Elisha went to Carnel may have been one or a few years earlier. The time when the Shamannite family built the upper room for Elisha was many years carlier, whey the prophets were in

In the past six months the Baldwin Locomotive Works in Philadelphia have received orders for one hundred and thirty-eight engines from Russia. The Baldwin locomotive is a world favorite, and may be found in almost any country where there are railroads. This is another of the triumphs of American ingenuity backed up by suitable protection.

Speaker Reed, in his speech of acceptance at the convention which renominated him last week, said: "I never knew less of it (political feeling) in all the years in which I have known of such things. To me this seems fortunate for the country. 'b Patriotism has been the dominant feeling for the past three months. It is gratifying to know bow entirely our people ignore the baser political bickerings when the time arrives for them to assume the seriousness of a grave crisis.

Poor rations are no excuse for inad o quate discipline. The regulars won the victory at San Juan half starved. Some of them did not have a morsel of food for forty-eight hours, but they vever forgot that they were American

With Cuba, Porto Rico, the Philippines, and Hawall, the United States will control the sugar production of the world.
