BEFORE AND AFTER.

Before they had arithmetic,
Or telescopes, or chalk,
Or blackboards, maps and copybooks—
When they could only talk:

Before Columbus came to show
The world geography,
What did they teach the little boys
Who went to school like me?

There wasn't any grammar then.
They couldn't read or spell,
For books were not invented yet—
I think 'twas just as well.

There were not any rows of dates,
Or laws, or wars, or kings,
Or generals, or victories,
Or any of those things.

There couldn't have been much to learn,
There wasn't much to know—
'Twas nice to be a little boy
Ten thousand years ago!

For history had not begun,
The world was very new,
And in the schools, I don't see what
The children had to do.

Now always there is more to learn—
How history does grow—
And everyday they find new things
Everyday we ought to know.

And if it must go on like this,
I'm glad I live to-day:
For boys ten thousand years from now
Will not have time to play!

The Council's License Committee met on Tuesday evening, to consider Tom Tell's application for liquor and bottle licenses. There were no protests, except one based on the ground that it is not a "public necessity," as there is already a saloon within a few hundred feet. This the Councilmen realized, and, as there was an error in the application, all voted against recommending it to Council. That was right. While we have respect for Mr. Tell, one of our best-known Italian citizens, we believe that he and his fellow countrymen will be better off without another rum-hole, into which much of their hard-earned money would go.

Parental Discipline Lacking.

Discipline does not consist of constant beating and harsh treatment, though something of punishment is frequently necessary. It properly begins during the child's infancy, and is composed of firmness and common-sense. This permitting boys to roam about the streets at night bears fruit in disobedience, defiance, mischief, and criminality. Of this we have had instances this week.

Monday night, two lads broke into the "Beauty" round house, took an ax, and literally cut to pieces three bicycles belonging to employees. Railroad detectives soon had the boys in tow. It will cost their fathers nearly a hundred dollars to settle damages.

Two little youngsters broke pipe connections at Colwell's greenhouses, this week, costing their fathers some cold cash for repairs.

Complaints have been made of the mutilation of boats at the Lake. As a watch is being kept, some arrests will certainly follow unless the boys take warning in time.

The M. E. Church has been favored from time to time, during the summer, with solos from Mr. Franklin P. Jones and Miss Nettie M. Monfort. Last Sunday morning, these gifted singers each sang a most pleasing solo before returning to Philadelphia at the close of the week. Both have very fine and well-trained voices and a thorough knowledge of music, giving to every musical effort a delightful charm. In the city they sing regularly as soloists in the South-Broad-Street Baptist Church.

At the conclusion of the solo by Mr. Jones, Sunday morning, Pastor Payson expressed not only his personal appreciation and delight, but that of the congregation also, and tendered them the hearty thanks of the Church for the interest they have added to the services by their singing. He also wished the young professionals God-speed in doing good by singing to his praise.

Mr. John B. Hay, formerly of Winslow, and well known to many now in Hammononton, died at his home in Collingwood, yesterday, Friday, Aug. 31st, after nearly three months' illness. He was a charter member of Winslow Lodge of Odd Fellows, instituted in 1840, and retained his membership to the last.

William Coburn died at the County Almshouse, Smith's Landing, on Tuesday last, Aug. 28th, and was buried there by order of Hammononton authorities. Will has been a town charge for two or three years, a great sufferer.

The Joe manufacturing company have repaired the disastorous leak, and everything seems to be running smoothly. They expected to begin harvesting three hundred pound cakes last evening, and to be able soon to supply the local demand.

F. D. Giacomo has bought from W. H. Barnhouse the large lot formerly occupied by Saxton's coal yard, corner of Egg Harbor Road and Orchard Street. It is not known what disposition he will make of his purchase.

We have a thrifty looking tobacco plant hanging in the office, - or it was thrifty when for Frabrizio plucked it up by the roots. It is a demonstration of the practicability of growing the "weed" in Hammononton. There's money in it.

Speaking of the unsatisfactory street lighting service, Wm. C. Jones, Chairman of Council's light committee, suggests that he might be able to improve the lighting if citizens would telephone him on any evening when they have cause for complaint. In fact, we know of several occasions, recently, when a word from him sent gas men to the scene of trouble, and gave relief.

Yes, it rained this week. The sun has been about continuously obscured for a week, and everything is soaking with dampness. We hear of farmers wearing hip boots while digging white potatoes, which are reported to be rotting in the ground.

Flagstone curbing has been laid along property line of J. L. O'Donnell and Mrs. Aiken, Egg Harbor Road.
