SOW FLOWERS.

BY MISS A. V. MUNGER.

Sow flowers, my friends, sow flowers.
Thence spring without your care;
Sow blessings like the summer showers,
That purify the air.

How many poisonous weeds have grown,
From chry's bitter root;
Where Eden's flowers had their birth,
Would yield their golden fruit.

How many rankling thorns have sprung
Around the paths of youth;
Instead of wisdom's flowers among Fair Friendship, Love and Truth.

The lowest born, the humblest cot
May hide a venomous germ;
Then cherish it, Oh, spare it not,
You may be poor in turn.

The very dust beneath your feet,
Conceals the flowerly seed;
O, crush it not, for in its stead
May come the poisonous weed.

If there's reward, for Christ-like souls,
If there are crowns in heaven;
To him who greatest wrong controls,
That stony crown, be given.

Sow flowers, then, friends, sow flowers.
Thence spring without your care;
Sow blessings like the summer showers,
That purify the air.

WHO DOES HIS BEST DOES WELL.

Yes, life is a burden of sorrows and care,
And none do their best, can escape from the fate;
Then since we are doomed our great burden to bear
Let us steadily study to lighten its weight.

And, first, in good humor set out on the way,
With a song, or a cheer, or a kind word or a laugh;
For we find as along the world's highway we stray,
The mass of mankind are too serious by half.

Why should virtues forever wear crosses and yew,
While sin flutters in garland of myrtle and rose?
The heart that is cheerful can still be true
As the heart that is ever bemoaning its woes.

Leave preaching for practice, leave promise for deeds,
The poorest can spare a kind word or a smile;
Quencher of true brotherhood shames all the creeds
Ever woven by councils the world to beguile.

Do the best that you can with a hearty good will;
Help the weak and the weary you find on the way;
This humanity's measure of duty fulfill—
You'll find every act with the deed brings the pay.

When you lie down to rest, with your hand on your heart,
And can say, "In good faith, I have tried to do right;
To live in the duties of life a man's part,"
The fullness of peace will come in with the night.

Our Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Aug. 30, 1880.

General Chalmers, of Mississippi, one of the "Brigadiers" sent to Maine in the interest of the "Fusion" has returned to this city on his way South. In reply to an inquiry he said: "I had big audiences and our fellows are working hard, but is no use. The Republicans have got us in Maine." General Chalmers is right. The Republicans, he will find, have got us not only in Maine, but in every other State necessary to elect General Garfield. Senator Conkling has authorized a member of the National Committee to state that he will make four speeches in Indiana and three in Ohio. General Grant, it is said, will preside at the first meeting in the West at which Senator Conkling speaks. There are signs of increasing activity in the Republican camp. Men who have not interested themselves in politics for years are working with an aim to save the country by electing Garfield and Arthur. Mr. Blaine, after the election in Maine, will stump the West as far as California.

It is quite certain that in view of the census frauds in South Carolina, a new enumeration will be ordered in that State. Some curious facts are coming to light concerning these frauds. In some cases the regularity of the handwriting, covering a whole sheet of the returns, shows that it was written at a single sitting, and not during the actual work of enumeration. Other enumerators left whole columns of details blank—a thing which would not have happened if each name had been recorded, with all the details as it was received. These and many others are but a few of the transparent frauds which General Walker has discovered. They reflect little credit on the intelligence, to say nothing of the honesty of South Carolina Democrats. The people who exercise power in South Carolina by means of the shotgun, and retain it by the tissue ballot, seek to prolong it by vulgar frauds upon the census.

It has been decided by the President that the Chinese vessel now on her way to San Francisco will have to pay all the duties imposed by law. When it was first announced that this vessel—loaded with celestial merchandize—was on her way to this country, the satisfaction in official circles was such that an effort was made to slip around the tariff laws. But the Attorney General stepped in and called the "too generous" officials back to their duty. This vessel is the pioneer of the traffic to be opened between the United States and China.

The late General Albert J. Myer was not the whole Signal Bureau, but he gave of his quick mind, and time and money to its advancement, and is entitled to great credit for what has been accomplished by it. Its efficiency will not be disturbed by his taking off, and if a judicious selection of a successor is made, we may be reasonably hopeful that in the future there will be still greater improvements. No one will be named for the place until the President returns from the West.

To the Members of the Fruit Growers' Union.

As there is a report in circulation that the Fruit Growers' Union are soon to make an assessment, the Board of Directors have instructed me to make and have published a correct statement of the financial condition of the Union at the present time.

Cash on hand after all bills have been paid (including salary of delivery clerk in Jersey City to January 1st, 1881), $177.52. Estimated amount due the Union from commission merchants, $125. At the beginning of this year we were about $60 in debt. Since then we have received $778.43; and bills have been paid to the amount of $601.91.

Do not be alarmed at any report you may hear. The Union is on a more solid basis now than ever before. There will be no assessment this year, for the simple reason that there will be no need of any. Instead of being in debt at the beginning of next year, we shall have money to loan the croakers, if they can find security. Z. U. MATTHEWS, Sec'y Fruit Growers' Union. HAMMONTON, Sept. 2, 1880.

A Suggestion to Voters.

MR. EDITOR:—It is an old saying, and a true one, that "whatever is worth at all is worth doing well." Political matters are not exempt from the application of this saying. Every citizen of this Republic is interested in the management of the affairs of the government. Indifference to this is a crime, the effect of which rests not only upon the perpetrator himself, but upon many others. What I do goes to fix the destiny of the nation. If so, how can we treat the matter with indifference, or meet our responsibility in this direction without careful thought.

But is it not a fact that many deposit their ballot without a thought as to what the effect will be? How many having the responsibility referred to hold the position of articles of traffic, waiting for bids, thus ignoring their manhood and yielding themselves voluntarily, soul and body, to the caprice of wicked men. This is a crime twofold in its nature,—first upon the chattel in the market; second, upon him who deals in such commodities. How it looks for a man to make a fool of himself and reduce the noble faculties given him by his Creator to the level of the brute and permit these faculties to be swayed to and fro at the will of another. I look upon the man who attempts to influence a vote by offer of money as too vile to be recognized as a man, and not worthy to be called a loyal citizen of this government.

A nation cannot become great and prosperous unless it has its origin in the intelligence of the people. This must be secured by careful study. Which is to be desired,—a government by the people or a government vested in a few crowned heads? What is the secret of the vast emigration to this country, if it is not principally that the people desire to govern themselves, or take a part in framing the laws that govern them? But when men hold themselves in readiness to be bought or sold, they do what they can to establish a monarchial form of government. Let us be men, exercising our God-given faculties of reason, judgment, conscience, discretion, informing ourselves thoroughly; then shall we be prepared to cast an intelligent vote. Was it the honest intelligence of the mass of the people of the South that led them to rebel against the government? No, sir! It originated with a very few ambitious men, who arrogated to themselves the right to sway the destinies of the nation. Pure selfishness was their motive: and these few, by sophistry, deception and intrigue, hoodwinked the masses and led them into a cruel war. Selfishness and ignorance have been the source of many fearful calamities.

In the coming election, if the people were let alone,—no intimidation by revolvers or other implements of death, and no illegitimate attempts to change the inclinations of the people, I think we should realize a sweeping victory for the Republican ticket. Suppose all the people, without hurry or distraction, or anything to bias the mind, gather up the history of the past twenty years, and inquire who inaugurated the rebellion among the people of the South, and who their sympathizers among the people of the North. Who in the North rejoiced over victories gained by the Southern army; and what were the political proclivities of these men? Then consider who fought for the Union from pure motives, not for money or popular applause? And again, who is it that retains that same spirit of rebellion in the South? To what party do they belong? And who at the North sympathize with that feeling? To what party do they belong? Who is it that still stands firm for the Union? and to what party do they belong? These things considered ought to prepare every man to judge where his duty as a loyal citizen lies.

"Look before you leap," is a pertinent suggestion. Give the masses light. Post them on the true aspect of affairs; urge them to think for themselves; then leave them to exercise their judgment, and the privilege of enjoying life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Then shall we have a government possessing every element that gives strength and prosperity to the people. M. D.

The Memphis Avalanche calls upon its friends to support the Democratic ticket because the Democratic party is distinctively a Southern party.

Let those who wish to build up workshops and manufacturing establishments in Europe instead of their own country, vote for the "Solid South" and a "tariff for revenue only."

The Republican party in the South does not represent the principles that Jackson and Lee fought for; therefore it is shot-gun out of existence.—Detroit Post and Tribune.

The Ohio Democrat has made this significant remark: "O you fellows will carry the country, of course; I have noticed that when wheat was a dollar a bushel you always beat us."

English denies that he has an iron-front door and lives behind a mass of bars and bolts with his ill-gotten gains. He vows that he has only one modest Shy-lock in his whole house.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Here is a pregnant passage which Wade Hampton eliminated from his speech: "So it is that I, like so many of the veterans of the Confederacy, am jealous of the honor, and proud of the glorious heritage bequeathed to her by her Lee and her Stonewall Jackson." Said Gen. Garfield about a year ago, in speaking of the Democratic party: It is a sad place, young man, for you to put your young life into. It is to me far more like a grave-yard than like a camp for the living. Look at it! It is billowed all over with the graves of dead issues, of buried opinions, of exploded theories, of disgraced doctrines. Hancock is the first man who ever took part in a great war that was rather ashamed to have it mentioned.—Blaine. Accident insurance companies refuse policies to Republican candidates of the South, where they handle shot-guns so carelessly.

During the fiscal year ending last June the national revenue was greater by fifty-nine million dollars than during the same period twelve months before. People who have just entered upon the enjoyment of such prosperity as that statement indicates will not be anxious for the change about which the Democratic stump orators have so much to say. They will have sufficient sense to argue that it is always best to leave well enough alone. The times are much too good to suit the purposes of the opposition. The Hancock men would have a much better chance if banks were breaking and business men failing on every side. Then there would be some plausibility in their appeal for a new deal.

A Waterbury family tried to evade the dog tax recently. The special officer to investigate the subject of dogs in that city suspected falsehood, so he sent his son to find out. The youth has remarkable powers as a mimic, and when he asked if they had any dogs and was answered "No, sir," he imitated a dog's bark so effectively as to start three dogs barking in the cellar, where they were concealed.

The Democratic State Convention, held on Wednesday last, was a lively and exciting gathering. Countless men, with loud voices, shouted to a speaker, "Pull down your vest," "Dry up," etc. Oh, yes; the Democracy are very harmonious! Hon. George C. Ludlow was nominated for Governor on the fourth ballot. As the Essex county delegation in the hall they were very noisy and gave three cheers for Frederick A. Potts, the next Governor of New Jersey.

The first resolution in the platform adopted reads as follows: Resolved, That the platform adopted by the National Democratic Convention at Cincinnati meets our hearty approval. The third reads: Resolved, That the Democratic party in this State is in favor of such a tariff as will best protect our home industries.

How is that? The Press well says: "This is inebriety of the boldest kind; but it was the only refuge of the Democracy of New Jersey." The fact is, the nomination of Mr. Potts made Republican Victory in New Jersey an easy political possibility; and the work of the Democratic Convention makes it highly probable. Vigorous work will make it a certainty.

The census returns from some of the Southern States, most conclusively indicate an attempt of the Southern Democracy to force by fraud an increase of congressional representation, and number of electors. South Carolina is reported as having increased in population at the rate of 35 per cent, and Florida at 46.3 per cent. There is no doubt that Florida has nearly doubled her population by immigration in the last decade, while it is doubtful if South Carolina has made any increase by the influx of foreign or other immigration. If the truth was known, it would be found that there has been a decrease, for there has not been one solitary inducement offered to attract persons to her limits. On the contrary, since 1870, the treatment of Northern people and negroes has driven them out of the State, so that increase had been made up to 1870 has been driven away. Her principal city has been at a standstill. Her capital is little more than a provincial town, where the red-shirted ex-rebels congregate to plot schemes of sedition against the government, and plans of persecution of Northerners, how to cheat the Republican of his vote, by tissue ballots, etc., and try what means they can use to keep Northern men with Republican or progressive principles out of the State. Aside from the natural increase, there has been a large percentage of decrease in the population, and the claim they set up of increase, is on a par with the general character of her leading politicians, who gained their present ascendancy in the State by fraud and murder, and hence would not hesitate to swear to fraud and falsehood to maintain that ascendancy, and if possible to increase their strength in Congress.

Other States of the South are in the same boat with South Carolina, and if justice and right are to prevail no returns will be recorded until the truth is known. None who claim, as does Hampton, that they are fighting now for the principles that Lee and Jackson fought for, are to be trusted in anything pertaining to politics.

The Issue of the Campaign.

The August number of the Penn Monthly, in an article on "The Issue of the Campaign," uses the following plain language, which will be of great interest to manufacturers and laborers. Its importance is all the greater because of its truthful portrayal of the exact issues of the two parties, and coming from one not a partisan in politics: "In the present campaign both parties have presented the issue very distinctly. The Republicans stand by the policy which has created our great manufacturers, has advanced the wealth of the nation at a rate without parallel, and has given us a foremost place in the world's industries. The Democrats declare for a tariff for revenue only, without even indulging in the common hypocrisy of an 'incidental protection,' or professing to seek this change in order to open foreign markets for our manufacturers. The issue is made as distinctly as words can make them; and should General Hancock be elected, along with a Democratic Congress, then the last obstacle to the overthrow of our manufacturing system will be removed, and we shall have the experience of 1816-19, 1827-19, and 1857-60 renewed in our midst. Three times this Democratic party have torn away the scaffolding from the unfinished edifice of our prosperity, and three times they have exposed it to such injuries that its reconstruction had to begin almost from the foundation. If the people of the United States permit such ruin for a fourth time, it will be because they are incapable of learning anything from their own history. Our respect for the national intelligence forbids such a supposition. Judging by the experience of the three earlier periods of disaster, what would be the effect of such a change? It would put a period to the investment of capital in productive industries, and turn it loose for every sort of speculation. It would send in the same direction what had been saved from the wreck by those whose factories had been closed and their furnaces blown out. It would force the laboring class to seek employment at farming, or to take the career of the tramp. And when the crash came, it would surpass anything known in our history, as far as the present wealth of the country exceeds that of these earlier times. The farmers, who are relied upon to carry the country, would find Eastern markets closed to their grain, and the Eastern laborer producing, instead of merely consuming, wheat. They would find Europe ready to pay them hardly the nearest thing to what they had received for their wheat, and the net gain consequent on the reduction of all goods would be bankruptcy. This is the prospect offered us by the South, which now controls the Democratic party, and one of whose representatives has declared his readiness to bring this ruin upon the country at large, in the hope that this section will get a larger share than it has, when the time comes for rebuilding the edifice."

All the world knows, that when a woman has once expressed a decided opinion upon any subject, the matter may be regarded as settled, and the status of the article under consideration is defined beyond possibility of dispute. Nor are these opinions often wrong. That marvelous short-hand logic, which enables the female intellect to rush to a conclusion, as if by instinct, while the slower masculine mind is still struggling with the pros and cons, is generally to be depended on; and when a woman says a thing is good, the chances are a thousand to one that it deserves her encomium. An apt illustration of this truth is ENRICH'S FASHION QUARTERLY, of which the Fall number is before me. That one sixth thousand ladies throughout the United States should accept this magazine as their guide to Fashion and Shopping, is sufficient evidence of the estimation in which it is held by the fairer portion of the community. The ladies look to the magazine, discern its character at a glance, and hasten to subscribe; while the male reader examines the pages critically, reads the descriptions, and finally concludes the female verdict to be sound. The Fall number opens with a choice selection of literary articles, in which, entertainment is blended with instruction; lessons in dress-making, hair-making, cooking, etc., being relieved with interesting stories and sketches. Then follows a general review of Fashions for the Fall season, and then come the reviews of the different departments of household economy, commencing with the Fall costumes. In every department a clear distinction of the changes of fashion is given; new articles are described at length, and illustrated in a really artistic manner; and complete price lists are given, to enable the reader to compare the cost of different styles. A magnificent lithographed Fashion Plate accompanies the book, representing actual costumes, at moderate prices. The magazine, as a whole forms a perfect shopping guide, and should enable its readers to make their purchases from any store in the country, without fear of being overcharged, or induced to buy unfashionable goods. Published by ENRICH BROS., 257 to 295 Eighth Ave., New York, at 50 cents a year, or 15 cents a single copy.

JAPANESE PERSIMMON TREES 4 ft to 6 ft in 12 choice kinds. Dried specimen fruits received last season from Japan would when fresh from the tree, have weighed 16 ozs. with the flavor of a rich Smyrna fig.

Should these, like the shrubs and Superb evergreens introduced from Japan, prove hardy
as authorities have already pronounced them to be, we may look forward in this instance to an acquisition of the highest commercial im-

It supplies the natural food and color to the hair glands without staining the skin. It will increase and thicken the growth of the hair, prevent its blanching and falling off, and thus AVERT BALDNESS.

It cures Itching, Erup-

MUST!

Above product, our "specialty," is the pure unfermented juice of the grape as it leaves the press, and equivalent to this delicious fruit in liquid form. Possessing no alcoholic properties, it is invaluable to Invalids, Temperance people and Churches for Sacramental purposes.
"Our" MUST must not be mistaken for other so-called unfermented wines, as it is not boiled and hermetically sealed to keep it from spoiling.
The only "Process" resorted to by us is to permanently stop fermentation, which naturally must result in the juice remaining as it grew.

The undersigned are now disposing of their new stock prepared from their last grape crop, and warrant that it will keep without special care.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

PASSED BY THE SENATE AND HOUSE OF ASSEM-BLY OF THE STATE OF NEW JERSEY, ON THE ELEVENTH DAY OF MARCH, A. D. 1880.

Resolved (The House of Assembly concurring), That the concurrent resolution proposing amendments to the Constitution of the State, providing for biennial sessions of the Legislature, having been agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two Houses, be entered in the respective journals of the Houses and the same be referred to the Legislature
next to be chosen in this State, and that publication for three months previous to making such choice shall be made in at least one newspaper in each county; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate and the Clerk of the House cause said entries to be made in the journals of the respective Houses and cause publication to be made aforesaid according to law and the requirements of the Constitution in that regard, under Article
IX, "Amendments."

GEORGE WURTS,
Secretary of the Senate.

CUMMINS, O. COOPER,
Clerk of the House of Assembly.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION PROPOSING AMEND- MENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE.

Resolved, by the Senate the General Assembly concurring, That the following amendments to the constitution of this state be agreed to:

ARTICLE IV., SECTION I., PARAGRAPH 3.
Strike out the words "yearly and every year;"
after the word "November," insert the words
"in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two, and every second year thereafter;"

ARTICLE IV., SECTION II., PARAGRAPH 1. Strike
out the word "three" and insert in lieu thereof
the word "four;"

ARTICLE IV., SECTION II., PARAGRAPH 2. Strike
out the whole paragraph, which is in the following words:

"As soon as the senate shall meet after the first election to be held in pursuance of this constitution, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes; the seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the first year; of the second class at the expiration of the second year, and of the third class at the expiration of the third year, so that one class may be elected every year and if vacancies happen, by resignation or otherwise, the persons elected to supply such vacancies shall be elected for the unexpired terms only;" and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"The senate meeting in January, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three, shall be divided as equally as may be into two classes;
the seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, and of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, so that one class may be elected every second year; if vacancies happen, by resignation or otherwise, the persons elected to supply such vacancies shall be elected for unexpired terms only;"

ARTICLE IV., SECTION III., PARAGRAPH 1. Strike
out the word "annually," and insert in lieu
thereof the word "biennially;"

ARTICLE IV., SECTION IV., PARAGRAPH 7. Strike
out the word "annually," and insert in lieu
thereof the word "biennially."

Insurance.

CUMBERLAND MUTUAL Fire Insurance Company.

BRIDGETON, N. J.

Conducted on strictly mutual principles, offering a perfectly safe insurance for just what it may cost to pay losses and expenses. The proportion of loss to the amount insured being very small, and expenses much less than usually had, nothing can be offered more life-saving to the insured. The cost being about ten cents on the hundred dollars per year to the insured, on ordinary risks, and from fifteen to twenty-five cents per year on hazardous properties, which is less than one-third of the lowest rates charged by stock companies, on such risks—the other two-thirds taken by stock companies being a profit accruing to stockholders, or consumed in expenses of the companies.

The guarantee fund of premium notes being now Three Millions of Dollars.

If an assessment had to be made of five per cent. only, twice within the ten years for which the policy is issued, it would yet be cheaper to the members than any other insurance offered.
And that large amount of money is saved to the members and kept at home. No assessment having ever been made, being now more than thirty years, that saving would amount to more than

One Million Five Hundred Thousand Dollars

The Losses by Lightning.

Where the property is not set on fire, being less than one cent per year to each member, are paid without extra charge, and extended as far as to cover all policies that are issued and outstanding.
