Valued Citizen Passes Away.

It came as a blow, such as we have rately known in Hammonton when, at noon last Saturday, the announcement was made that Dr. Frederick C. Burt had passed away, after but a few days of illuess, from pneumonia, aged fifty one years.

Dr. Burt had entered into everything for the betterment of his town, county and state, having been mayor, was chosen freeholder and president of the Board of Education at the time of his death, Charles Matson was in town for and was largely instrumental in a day or so, and called on old the installation of the sewerage plant, cement sidewalks, paved streets, etc. He was thoroughly September 14th, at 3 p. m., in the his opinion and push were relied

Dr. Burt came here in 1903, suffering from asthma, but this climate had a decidedly beneficial effect on him.

But few men will be missed as will the Dr., by parients and townspeople as well.

The funeral, on Tuesday, was the largest ever seen in town, there being over one hundred and twenty-five automobiles in line, and the floral offerings the finest and largest ever seen here. The services were in charge of his pastor, Rev. E. A. Rook, assisted by Rev. W. J. Cusworth. a former pastor, and Rev. Chas. Delphian Society will meet with O. Mudge, of the Presbyterian

> The large attendance and floral pleces were but mere expressions of the love his townspeople had for him.

> The Masonic services at th grave were very impressive. The Sons of Columbus showed their regard by attending in a body. The Kiwanis Club also turned out. after a noon-day memorial service with remarks by his fellow members, Samuel Anderson, Seely, and others. To Mrs. Burt, to Edward, his son, and Miss Ethel, the daughter, our heartiest sympathy is extended.

Rev. Chas. O. Mudge, W. R.

Town Council.

A special meeting of Town Council was held on Wednesday morn ing, to take up matters in regard to street paving. All members were present but Messra, Tell and Jack-

A resolution was passed, authorizing the signing of contract with Nichael J. Staub by the Mayor and Çlerk.

State Engineer, in a communica tion, favored the granting of permission to Ordille to install gas pumps and tanks at curb on Twelfth Street, as his garage was in course of erection before the resolution was adopted forbidding them.

A letter sent to Mr. Ordille, granting permissian to install tanks was approved by Council.

The following resolution was of fered by Mr. O'Donnell, and unaninounly adopted:

DERHAPS there are a few mothers who do not know the virtues of Fletcher's Castoria. Perhaps there are a few who know that there are imitations on the market, and knowing this demand Fletcher's. It is to ALL motherhood, then, that we call attention to the numerous imitations and counterfeits that may be set before them.

It is to all motherhood everywhere that we ring out the warning to beware of the "Just-as-good". For over thirty years Fletcher's Castoria has been an aid in the upbuilding of our population; an aid in the saving of babies.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1922

An authority stated, the past week, that three quarters of the toilet systems in Hammonton were leaking constantly. If this is true, or partly true, there is a tremendous waste of water. We do not believe it is due to faulty plumbing: we would rather think that it was caused by faulty materials, or the accumulation of rust in the tanks. At any rate, the leaks should be stopped, and thus save many dollars to the water department and, at the same time, increase the water pressure in time of fires.

Every child, as soon as it can talk, should be taught its name, as well as that of its father, and the street on which it lives. We were reminded of this on Wednesday, when a little girl, four or five years old, wandered to the fire house with the children, and could tell no one her name, or give any clue, for some time. Fortunately a mother took charge of Her and, after gaining her confidence, found her home.

A "Four" That Sets a New Standard The 1923 Buick Four Touring-$885

In beauty of appearance, dependability and economy of operation the Buick four-cylinder, five-passenger Touring has established an entirely new standard for four-cylinder cars.

Its low body with its clean, straight lines, accentuated by the high radiator and straight hood, give it a long. racy appearance that is new to cars of its class. Massive crown fenders add to this distinction, as do the snug-fitting, shapely top and the handsome drum-type head and cowl lamps.

And with this beauty has come a new riding comfort. The seats are deep and low with full leg room in both compartments. The steering column has been changed in position to increase driving case and the gear shift lever has been raised to meet the driver's hand. A transmission lock, a windshield adjustable from the inside, and a transmission-driven speedometer likewise are among the many new refinements of this model.

Material changes also have been made in motor, chassis and body construction which contribute still further to the wonderful performance record characteristic of Buick cars for twenty years.

The Buick Line for 1923 comprises fourteen models: Fours—2 Pass. Roadter. 3865: 6 Pass. Touring. 2885: 5 Pass. Coupe. 3176: 6 Pass. Sedan. 31396: 6 Pass. Touring. Sedan. 41325. Sixts—2 Pass. #### Shiela's Crossed Wires

By LILY WANDEL

Once outside of the fussy little parlor Shiela leaned her pale cheek against the hall wallpaper. A man doesn't borrow from the woman he loves. It was the deadening of the last little my of hope.

She rushed upstairs to her bedroom with its great four-poster and meat oval rag rugs her grandmother had made, and thrust her fluttering fingers in the back of the top bureau Grawer for the ten-dollar bill Rodney needed. He had lost the job that Mr. Eddington bad obtained for him. walked out of the office because he couldn't stand it! And Mr. Eddington had said that a live wire would make good there. She had planed her hopes on that, tried to tell herself It was only a matter of dollars that prevented Rodney from asking her to marry him. She had told herself with happy tears that he was a ilve wire, that he would make good! In the fussy little parlor Rodney slouched in the old davenport, his hands dug in his pockets, a deep scowl on his forehead, his eyes fixed vacantly on the little three-cornered cabinet with its shelves full of images and vases and knick-knacks.

Shiela entered softly, "Don't worry, Rodney. At least this will pay your room rent and the postage on that bistory of Bucks county. And-perhaps, if I spoke to Mr. Eddington be might see that you were given another chance."

"Hang Mr. Eddington!"

"Oh., Rodney, he has been so kind!" "I don't like that money air about him-and he's here all the time, Guess be's coming tonight, eh?"

In Shiela's heart a song sang dis-"If you cared enough, you'd try again, be a live wire and keep Mr. Eddington from marrying me!" Rodney stored victously at the fact Ish, cluttered up three-cornered shelves, "По вобы во фити ргозрегова, гос What's his business, anyway? ( behe's a crook, that's what."

"He's spoken of his offices in the city," answered Shiela quietly, a very well mannered man and very well informed, too, Rodney, Last night he was telling me about cities in Peralo and—"

"Aw rais? Who wants to know about that?"

"We cau't all be just interested in the bistory of our own country," murmured Shiela tentily, "You know Very well the last magazine wrote you that the interest of your history Was commed to a very small foculty,"

Sidela watched him go; the dis couraged droop of his shoulders, the phiny back of his serge cont stabbed her young, tender heart. She wished that she did not love him to desper ately. And there had been a time when he had been writing the history of Bucks county under the great white Mac bush that she was sure he loved Bor, too. She could antell the savert scent of the wel Illaca, hear the robba and see Rodney's cuthuslastic static fint it was nothing but a memory, as empty dream. She could not wall forever, especially when also had noted the last bond, but grandmother did not know that foor, dear old gratidmother, with a memory that did tricks, tricks, banked her hopen on Rodney, too "You are Both young," she would counsel gently "Inst walt, there's no hurry and we two have enough to live on; we can walt."

Stilely sighed; her heart was beavy from worry. It would have been so ntee if Rodney had been a five wire; fife would have been worth living. As It was, there was no liternative; she mount necest Mr. Eddington, who had authoritetively. been so kind. He had been calling on her for the past three months; his Intentions were obvious Reveral times he had commenced to ask the all-im- Mexico, about the year 1002.

quistibut out Special pallie stricken, bad, by a clever twist in the conversation, prevented him. But he had appounced that this evening he was coming on an important mission. It had been a hint to have Rodney out of the way and Shiela real sed that she could not forestall the question any longer; besides her own financial affairs cried for help.

Under the soft yellow glow of the shaded lamp. Shiela, in a very foden lavender dress, ruffles primly fluted, sat in the corner of the davenport. Her hands were folded loosely in her lap; she could control them, but her thoughts were less governable. She wondered where Rodney was. He was discouraged, desperately delected, and he had no one to turn to; he was alone In his miserable furnished room or trotting the streets.

Opposite her on a straight-backed chair Mr. Eddington coughed lightly to draw her wandering attention. He was immaculately dressed, from the brittiantined, scanty locks brushed carefully over his bald head to the fawn-colored spats on his patent leather shoes. His tiny eyes gleamed with unusual intelligence, and though he was stout he gave the impression of being briskly active. He might have easily been taken for a scholar, had not a certain shrewdness in his features marked him as a business man, but certainly not as a merchant or manufacturer.

"Miss Everett, or may I say Shiela?" With difficulty the girl roused berself from her thoughts. Again the great desire to evade the question, again the nanicky feeling as he drew his chair close and leaned forward. "I do not know if you could have possibly guessed my purpose in coming here this evening, Shiela.' A number of times I have tried to tell you, but something in the refined, aristocratic atmosphere of this home-"I-I never would leave it-or randmother," faltered Shiela looking at the door and hoping that by some chance Rodney might come and interrupt them.

"I do not blame you for that, Shiela, though surely one, as lovely as you must have thought of marriage." She grew white and red by turns. "That depends-" she managed to answer, "depends on—"

"On-shall we say-money?" suggested Mr. Eddington discreetly. She nodded faintly, and he seemed relieved.

"I presumed as much, but I hesttated to say it," he went on very cautiously "Shiela, I have something to ask of you. If I offend you, I will apologize and leave at once. You are aware of how_often I have come to this little parior, I know. Have you noticed how many times my greedy eye has wandered to that little three cornered cabinet? Shiela, was some body in your family a traveler, a col-Stilela, puzzled at the unexpected turn in his convergation, answered: 'Perhaps; you see grandmother can't remember very well, but she had several brothers who are dead now that traveled. I believe."

Mr. Eddington left his chair and walked briskly to the three-cornered shelves. "Here are two little Ming rabes, Shiela. Genuine, exquisite little gems! I know, because that is my business, a collector and dealer in the re old pleans of art calling on you for nearly three months trying to get up courage to ask you if rou will sell the pair to me for $6,000. know you prize them dearly, but you are young, you may wish money for a troussenu-" he waited for her answer, bis whole face nervously expectant. Shiela was suddenly selzed with a lesire to burst in uncontrollable laughter, but with an offort she asked him gravely, as though she had dealt in Ming vases all her life, "Are you prepured to pay caste?"

Out in the sommer night air she watched Mr. Eddington waddle away, n package under his arm, and then suddenly out of the darkness leaned tall thin agure.

"Shielal I was walting for the fellow to go?" Rodney dung an arm fublicatly around her shoulders. "Here's your ten spot back. I don't reed it! I took the old history of Bucks county to the Dally Enterorise and the editor is going to can it as serial and gave me twenty-five to advance payment. More than that, I am a full-fledged reporter! Shiela. he drew closer, "tell me you don't really care for that old foull, Eddington, tell me I may hope—" She gave fully her that in prontisand then whilapered, "Rodney, como h the library and tell grandmother while I look in the encyclopedia, I want to find out what a Ming vase in!"

Toxas Town Claims Antiquity. A tradition which has been handed own through many generations of West Texas and New Mexican ploncers has it that the little town of Yeleta Tex., If inter southeast of El Paso is the oldest settlement in the United States.

According to this tradition. Valeta vas founded in 1940 by Don Francisco Vasquez Coroundo, famed Spanish explorer. This would make Yeleta twen ly five years older than St. Augustine. Florida, which is necrodited as island the oldest city to this country, Yet there are no official records to ubstantiate the theory of Ysleta's anliquity. It is old, the oldest town in Texas, no doubt, but its origin is traceable only as far back as 1682.

According to church records at Yaleta, the town was founded by Antonia Oternita, Bentish governor of New

Flapper Love Sends Evelyn Couture to Death and Kenneth Gumm to Hospital

BREAKS UP WEDDING

Marriago Festivities Turned into Tragedy by Infatuated Girl-Bride Telle Story of Dead Girl's Persistence.

Toledo, Ohio. Flapper love, violent and passionate, but shallow and impotent, sent Evelyn Couture, nineteen years old, of Sylvania, to her death by her own hand and put Kenneth P. Gumm, twenty-one, of Toledo, in a hospital with a bullet in his lung. .

Mrs. Pearl Thomas Gumm, wife of the wounded man, is a candidate for the state senate in the primary election. She has espoused the cause of short skirts, bobbed hair and other features of a liberal platform.

Wedding festivities of young Gumm and his bride of a few hours were balted by an insistent knock on the door of the bride's apartment on the evening of the wedding day. When it was answered Evelyn Couture, the sinister shadow of the Gumms' courthip, stood in the hall. She formerly had held's place in Gumm's favor.

Aske Girl to Depart. Mrs. Gumm, realizing that the girl vas agitated over the news that young Gumm had married, asked why Miss Couture did not go away and leave them alone. "He's mine, Pearl Thomas." she re plied to the bride who formerly was earl Thomas, manleurist and artis model. Mrs. Gumm attempted to persuade the girl to go away and not make a scene on account of the mer

"Oh, what's the use." she replied despondently.

Then, according to Mrs. Gumm, the Couture girl asked that Mrs. Gump step out into the hallway.

"After a recent experience with her I was afraid to do this. Then she anid also wished to see Konneth," the "He came out of the bothroom and naw her. The nald: 'Oo home, we're married. Let us alone,"

"She insisted that she wanted to see him for's moment and came into the room, corrying a flapper hat in her hand. . Kenneth said: "I suppose you have a gon again. Well, if you have you might as well shoot. I catchullets.

"Of course, he didn't think she would shoot but she walked up to him and pulled the gan from under her but and fired. I had started downstairs and turned at the shot. She had thrown her arms around him, but even though wounded, he flung her from blm toward a corner. Then I beard another shot, and, running back, thought she had shot him again. When I mached the door she was falling to the floor. She had killed herself. When I saw her there, all crumpled up and Kephoth wounded, I fainted.

"She didn't love Kenneth and he didn't love her. She might have been icfatuated with what I would call flap por love, but there was nothing deep about her affection.

"I truly love my hasband, although if has only been in the last few weeks that we have been together much, affer a long estrangement. During these weeks this girl continually followed us. Kenneth told me he was through with ber. "An late an two nights before the wedding I wanted to terminate our friendship and give Kenneth to her if he wented to go to ber, but he appred me that there was nothing to his 'rlendalily with her and that he merely had spent some time with the Cou ture girl while we were estranged. Three weeks ago he told me he was rendy to settle down and we started going together again.

Black Marauder Put to Elight When He Attempts to Carry Off One of Broad, Lewes, Del.-A mother hen belonging to George Walls, a farmer living slong the Georgetown-Rehoboth Beach. has proved that the chicken is a better fighter than old Jim Crow. A day or two ago a hen of the common barnyard variety, while piloting thirteen fluffy youngsters through a wheat stubble, saw a big black crow pounce on one of her little ones and attempt to fly off with it for supper.

The mother then saw the peril of her progeny and leaped in the air, reaching the black kidnaper and beaboring him so severely that he was obliged to drop the chick and fly into a high altitude for safety. Several automobilists who witnessed the battle declare the hen never showed the white feather for a moment nor besitated in attacking the greatest foe of the chicken family. _

They were, however, amazed at the ferocity with which she countered on the black marauder, and the crow bimself was evidently taken by sur prise at the violence of his assailant, for he winged away at top flight to the nearest woods, leaving two or three neck feathers behind as testimony of the prowess of the mother

Done For New Jersey Poultrymen.

Until a faw months ago all New Jersey eggs sold in New York on the basis of J.Nearby' quotations.

The "Nearby" quotations were made by the commission men until this association began business.

The only poultrymen who had o voice in making their own prices and quotations in New York were the members of the Pacific Coast Procucers Association, and California, Oregon and Wash-ton eggs sold at the same or a higher price than New Jersey eggs. This year it's different. New Jersey eggs are given a seperate quotation, which is much higher than the quotations for the Far Western eggs.

The New Jersey prices and quotations are made by the New Jersey Poultry Producers' Association (Cooperative), which maintains its own New York office and salesroom. The prices and quotations on "other nearby' eggs are also relatively higher because of the effect of our prices. Commission men and jobbers are pay-ing the producers on the basis of the higher prices we have made and are maintaining.
