Mr. and Mrs. Andrew K. Bernhouse, of Sumpter, S. C., are to be congratulated upon the arrival of their ten-pound boy, Sept. 10th.

We saw an indefinite notice of the drowning of Edward Durand, at Atlantic City. He will be remembered by many friends here.

No. 40, a workman at the brick yard, had his skull laid open, on Friday, by a block of wood falling on him. Dr. Cunningham attended him.

Charles Hoffman, night engineer on the Pennsy, fell from Geo. Wood's engine, last week Thursday evening, and broke his collar bone.

J. Murray Bassett gives a cordial welcome to all visitors to his home dahlia fields, where three hundred varieties of the pretty blooms are on exhibition.

Aaron Bassett was taken to the Hahnemann Hospital on Thursday. His recovery from gunshot wound seemed too slow, and better surgical facilities appeared necessary.

M. B. Church. Morning praise at 9.30. Subject at 10.30, "Palm Tree Christian." Sunday School at 12 o'clock. Epworth League at 6.45. Subject at 7.30, "A ruler sought by God." Service for prayer Thursday evening at 7.30.

Four automobiles conveyed a party of Hammontonians to the Masonic Home at Burlington, last Sunday afternoon, where a religious service had been arranged.—Rev. W. L. Shaw to be the speaker, with singers from various choirs. They found a numerous party there from Hopewell, and another from Camden. Bro. John H. Marshall and wife gave the friends a cordial welcome. It was his seventy-fifth anniversary. The visitors found Mr. and Mrs. M. very pleasantly situated.

Married, on Saturday, Sept. 6th, 1913, at 4 p. m., in the Presbyterian Church, Hammonton, N. J., Mr. George R. Grels and Miss Florence Cottrell, by Rev. Wallace S. Marple. It was a pretty ceremony, and was witnessed by relatives and intimate friends. The Church was appropriately decorated. Mr. Grels is one of our successful young lawyers, highly esteemed; Miss Cottrell was one of our social favorites. The happy young couple, on returning from their honeymoon, will reside in their own home in Atlantic City.

Elwood Matson's house has been reshingled.

State Senator Edge and Ex-Sheriff Enoch Johnson were in town on Saturday last. They were disappointed in not hearing Mr. Katzenbach.

Mrs. Harry Little will entertain the Civic Club thimble-bee, at her home, Friday, Sept. 19th, at three o'clock. The usual good time, combined with the work of nimble fingers, is anticipated.

Mrs. Geo. W. Carson has bought the Wm. A. French property, corner Third and Cherry Streets, will make extensive improvements, and open a select boarding house, to be known as "The Cedars."

A CARD. We wish to thank all those who manifested sympathy during the last few months illness of our father, E. C. Lobdell, and to us since his departure.

THE CHILDREN. The contractors have a great trenching machine at work on Central Avenue. They claim that it will dig a twelve-foot deep ditch for the sewer pipes, and move along six or seven feet per minute. A great thing.

Presbyterian Church. Morning worship at 10.30; theme, "The problem of joy and suffering in life." Sabbath School at the noon hour. Evening worship at 7.30; theme, "I wonder what I was ever born for, anyway?"

Mr. E. C. Lobdell died on Saturday last, Sept. 6th, the eighty-sixth anniversary of his birth, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Measley. An early settler, he was well known. Funeral services were held on Tuesday; interment at Oak Grove Cemetery.

The Board of Education and teachers had their annual meeting on Saturday evening, for conference on the work before them. There were addresses by President Osgood, District Clerk Seely, and Supervising Principal Holdridge. Light refreshments were served, and an hour spent in getting acquainted.

Thursday night, when Sarina Cennini, of Minotola, attempted to go up stairs in the Giacomo Hotel, he opened the cellar door by mistake, and fell to the bottom, fracturing his skull. Dr. Cunningham saw the nature of the injury and rushed his patient to the Vineland Hospital. While preparations were being made for an operation, the man died.

Intelligent people who do their own thinking, will be interested in the booklet sent out by Edmund B. Osborne, candidate for Governor of New Jersey. He submits a plan for reducing the cost of living that is worth consideration, for he gives facts and figures that cannot be ignored. On Votes for Women he says: "I favor allowing women to vote, the same as men. They have just as much natural right to vote, and they are just as competent to vote." Mrs. Everett Colby, wife of the other Progressive Candidate, is a prominent Suffragist.—Pub. Com. of W. P. U. of Hammonton.

We have started in this year to make our High School paper, the "Blue and White," a true representative of the Hammonton High School. For this purpose, it is under a new form of management. A Board of Control has been elected by the school, consisting of the following ten members, with two more from the freshman class: Everett Hooper, Chairman; May Morton, Secretary; Chas. Snyder, Harry Crossdale, Cecil Dodd, Norbert Deltich, Lola Cunningham, Beth Phillips, Miriam Vost, Anne Cunningham. The faculty, Board of Control, and pupils are all earnestly working to raise our paper to a high standard. To this end, we request the hearty support of all the Hammonton people. SRE'v.

The authoritative styles in Men's and Young Men's Clothes for Fall and Winter, 1913.

Here's a correct description of the new styles that will be worn this coming season.

The new clothes are coming in daily, and every garment is a correct expression of the latest whims of fashion.

In the young men's suits, the coats are snugly fitted around the waist and in the back—making you stand erect like a member of a crack regiment. The lapels swing into a soft roll. The collar sets true and close. The vest is cut high, with a few buttons to show when the coat is buttoned. Trousers hang straight and swagger.

Pencil stripes, blue and grays, are the most favored fabrics.

For middle-aged and conservative men, the coats are cut semi-fitted back, with loose fronts, smaller lapels, and three or four buttons. Vests are cut high, and trousers medium.

Materials, grays, blues, blacks and neat mixed worsteds.

Every garment is made of all wool material, shrunk by the original London cold water process. Hand tailored by expert workmen, and stitched throughout with silk thread.

Prices are, $10, $12.50, $15, $16.50, $18, $20, and $22.50.

There are good values here for the man who wants to invest $7.50 or $5.

We invite you to call and look them over.

Time to Wake Up.

(This article was put in type three weeks ago, but crowded out until now.)

MR. EDITOR:—I was greatly interested in what Mr. Jas. Brearly, Mayor of Chesilhurst, said about the trolley last week. Hammonton needs the trolley for a multitude of the best reasons. Hammonton needs the Chautauqua, but it needs the trolley more. In this age, a man might almost as well be out of the world entirely as out of the reach of the trolley car.

We can have the trolley easily enough if we will go after it in good earnest, but it will not come unless it is invited.

Hammonton needs the State Normal School, and has done a good, efficient, preliminary work to get it. We have just the climate, the location, and accommodations of every sort and kind for an institution of learning of this kind, and the value of every acre of ground within ten miles of Hammonton would be increased by the location of this institution in our midst; but only continued and persistent effort will land the prize. We have the fear that unless Hammonton business men organize and work for this institution, other towns will wriggle in ahead of us, and we will miss the prize just as we missed the Chautauqua.

Hammonton needs more factories, and what always follows the location of factories,—more pay-rolls.
Nothing helps to make a town to grow like pay-rolls. Nothing is quite so good for the ordinary family as the chance to earn an honest living at some honest employment.
Hammonton has more available and really valuable factory sites than any other town of double the size of it. Hammonton has the cure for the labor troubles of the world.
Give the laborer a home of his own with ground enough to grow during his leisure time all the truck, all the fruit, all the poultry and eggs, all the potatoes and other stuff of the kind that his family can consume from beginning to the end of the year, and labor troubles will vanish like the dew before the summer's sun.

Hammonton needs more men on its farms, not such men as come out from the factories in our large cities, and know absolutely nothing about farming, but practical farmers who know how to dig money out of the ground and have the energy to do it. The Middle West is full of just such men who are dissatisfied with their present surroundings because they are compelled to give so large a percent of their earnings to the railroads for carrying their products to the market.

Hammonton can have all these things if it will organize and go after them, but they will not come uninvited. We must in some way let the world know what we have to offer here in Hammonton, or these advantages will not come to Hammonton.

Hammonton is just now at one of the turning points of its career.
If it will organize and go after these things—persistently,—it can have them as well as not; but if it will not organize and go after them, it can stand at the tail end of the list of South Jersey towns just as well as not. What will Hammonton do? I say go to the head of the list.
J. A. VANFLEET.

Chas. Myers, Jr., is nursing a broken collar-bone, the result of a fall.
