Wilson And The Tariff.

Governor Wilson may yet get around to it—the Baltimore platform on which he was nominated. At Union City, Indiana, when extracting a little fun out of having to speak on the moving platform of a railroad train, he actually said: "This is the kind of platform that I don't like to stand on. It moves around and shifts its ground too often. I like a platform that stays put. I would rather, therefore, stand on the platform that was framed at Baltimore."

"This is one of the most hopeful incidents, so far, in the Governor's campaign. It may really be that he intends before election day to discuss various details of the platform, and to say something specific about the policy he intends to pursue if elected President, instead of merely devoting his time to saying that abuses in the tariff should be eliminated, with that statement everybody agrees, including all his opponents."

What all would very much like to know is just what part Woodrow Wilson intends to play in tariff reduction. His party's recent history on the tariff question gives no reliable assurance on the downward revision problem.

Mr. Wilson would certainly make a great hit with the voters if he would say just exactly what he intends to do with the tariff if he is elected President.—Jersey Journal.

Governor Woodrow Wilson is at this writing on a tour of the West, seeking Democratic votes. He left no word, either with John D. Prince, President of the State Senate, or with any of the department heads at the State House, of his intention of leaving the State. Hence, New Jersey is to-day without a Governor. Senator Prince has a number of times been sworn in as Governor when Wilson was out of the State; but Wilson never paid him the courtesy of notifying him in advance of his contemplated absence. Prince learned of his absence either from the news papers or by word sent to him by a Trenton newspaper man.

Every citizen who desires to vote in November must register, no matter how many times he has voted. Next Tuesday, September 24th, is the date. Don't forget!

While the "Republican" is a Republican paper, we cannot approve of or assist in the reelection of President Wm. H. Taft. We are in accord with the principles laid down by the Progressive party, and favor Theodore Roosevelt for the Presidency, believing that he will carry out those principles to the best of his ability. We have made no pledges to other candidates of that party, the head of the ticket being the one in which we are most deeply interested.

In local affairs, politics does not enter, and should not. We do not believe that a good official should be displaced simply because he doesn't vote with our party. Our readers will do as they please; but for Town Councilmen, unless better and able men come to the front, we shall vote for Messrs. Sharpe, Nicolai, and Wood.

See the Difference?
Editors S. J. R.: In a recent speech before the New York Press Club, Governor Wilson said, "The history of liberty is the history of the limitation of governmental powers," and proceeded to attack the platform of the Progressive party, as advocating the increase of such powers.
In his speech at San Francisco, Colonel Roosevelt replied that so long as the contest was between kings and the people, Mr. Wilson's statement was correct; but that now the government rests with the people, and the only kings are kings of the financial and industrial world, and what they are all clamoring for is the limitation of governmental powers. What the people sorely need is extension of governmental power; and called up as examples of what has already been done in that line, laws for factory inspection, oversight of the railroads, etc., etc.
It seems to me that Roosevelt is so nearly right, and Wilson all wrong, in their respective positions, that I am briefly calling the attention of your readers to these items, and ask that they will calmly look the subject over and see if they can come to any other conclusion.
Wm. F. BASSETT.

Joseph Thorpe, brother-in-law of Thomas Scamister, proprietor of the cut-glass factory, in May's Landing, was seriously burned about the face and eyes, on Wednesday afternoon, while pouring hydrochloric acid from a carboy. It was not determined at last report, as to whether his eyesight was destroyed, or not.

Mr. A. J. Rider entertained several distinguished scientists, Sunday last.—Dr. J. C. Lipman, New Brunswick, Director of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station.—Dr. Arthur Rindell, Helsingfors, Finland, Professor of Agricultural Chemistry; Dr. E. J. Einarson, Stockholm, Sweden, Director of the Swedish Experiment Station; and Prof. Peter S. Kossovich, St. Petersburg, Director of Agriculture and editor of Russian Journal of Experimental Agriculture. It is hardly necessary to say that they were looking for up-to-date methods of cranberry culture.

Where 2=3

Here are some definite statements and facts to show that you either delude yourself or are unknowingly humbugged when you buy inferior paint.

A gallon of low priced paint won't cover more than 200 to 250 square feet, two coats. The label on the can and the printed matter concerning the paint often even tells you that.

A gallon of

Lucas TINTED GLOSS PAINT

ONCE USED ALWAYS PREFERRED

Covers at least 300 square feet, two coats.

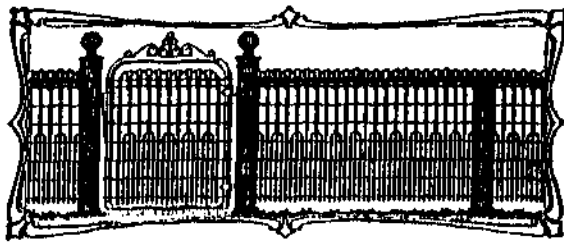

When you use inferior paint you must buy three gallons to do the work that could be done with two gallons of Tinted Gloss and besides you've got to pay for the additional time and labor required to apply the greater amount of an inferior paint.

Remember these things when you buy paint and then you won't fool yourself or be fooled.
