Fancy Beds and Foliage Plants.

This is a branch of gardening which has received very little attention in Hammonton. A few have planted cannas and coladium esculentum this season, some with very good success and some indifferent; and it may help those who are disposed to try it next year to look around a little now before frost destroys these plants. There is nothing that I have seen here that compares with the bed in the lawn of the Camden & Atlantic Railroad. There is a little failure of the Golden Bedder coleus on the farther side, but, as a whole, the gradation in the size of the plants, and the contrast of colors, is very good, much above the average of such beds. The next best I have noticed is the bed of cannas and scarlet Geraniums in Wm. J. Smith's grounds on Bellevue. The growth and color of the cannas are extra good, and the geraniums are very fine; but there is too much difference in size between them. To make this satisfactory, either some larger plants than geraniums should have been used, or something between those and the cannas. Several have planted coladium esculentum, but I have seen none that were very good except at the railroad. Some have failed from lack of sufficient fertilizing, and some by having one moderate sized plant in a place. The nature of this plant calls for several together, or that it be planted with other large leaved plants.

Plants which are used on account of the tropical appearance of their large foliage, like cannas, coladium and castor oil plant, to look well require that the land be made very rich and plenty of water supplied, so as to make this special feature of size as prominent as possible. Water has been abundant this year, but may not be so next. There are a great many varieties of cannas—some with bronze foliage, some with light green and some with dark. Among the bronzes, those before mentioned on Mr. Smith's grounds are as fine as any, and among the green cannas chemmannii (which I have in my front) is incomparably the finest, because the foliage is the largest—like a banana—and the flowers are as large as a gladiolus; and it continues in bloom longer than any other variety.

SIGNS

Of the Heavenly Bodies.

If you see the moon over your right shoulder, it is a sign that C. E. Hall is making special prices on the very household articles that you need.

If you see the new moon directly in the face, it is a sign that you must buy your Furniture at C. E. Hall early the following morning.

If you see the new moon over your left shoulder, it is a sign that you purchased Furniture at some other store, and consequently "got left."

When you see stars in broad daylight, it is a sign that you have postponed your visit to C. E. Hall's, to purchase the new bedroom suit, too long, and your wife is swaying the business end of the broom in consequence.

When you see stars very early in the morning, it is a sign that a new set of springs and a new mattress are awaiting you at C. E. Hall's.

When a day passes without you seeing a rainbow, it is a sign that you will find something interesting in prices and in household utensils at C. E. Hall's largest and leading hardware and furniture establishment of Atlantic County.

When you make a purchase there it is a sign that you have secured the very best for your money.

WHAT MR. LOWE EMMERSON SAW IN ENGLAND.

Why the American Workman Should Cling to the Good Old Tried and True American System—Solid Shot from a Maker of Carriages.

Mr. Louis Emmerson, of Cincinnati, one of the most widely known carriage manufacturers in the United States, has recently returned from Europe. He is a keen observer and told a Times-Star reporter some of his impressions. Said he:

"I paid particular attention to the wage question when I was in England this summer. I want to say in the beginning that there is no comparison between the manner of living of English and American laborers. The former will and does put up with things the latter could not and would not endure.

"The first thing is the cost of living. Meat is imported to England from this country and is, therefore, higher. Clothing is from 10 to 15 per cent. cheaper than here. But again the English laborer buys very few clothes—as few as possible. Rent is somewhat cheaper there than here, but the homes there are far poorer and very seldom indeed does a laborer own the property he lives in. As a rule they live in tenements—whole families in a room. Take it all around I think the cost of living, food which a man has to have every day being cheaper here, while clothing, an affair of once or twice a year, being in their favor, I think the cost of living is in favor of this country.

"In the carriage business the best laborers are paid thirty-five shillings, less than $5.70 a week. Here our best mechanics get $3.50 and sometimes $4 a day, while the average is about $2.50 a day. Averaging the thing up the mechanic here gets something over twice as much as the English mechanic—and that is putting it very mildly. The mechanic of America lives like a prince compared with the Englishman.

"The mill operatives are worse paid than the carriage men. Where an American cotton mill hand gets $10 an English cotton mill hand gets but $4.50. The woolen mills pay somewhat worse. The ratio there is as four to eleven. As to the matter of living you will find twice as many in a room there as you do here. In mining and its branches, wages are about 45 per cent. of what they are here.

"The skilled workmen who were laying granite blocks in the streets of Aberdeen, Scotland, got 35 cents a day—one shilling and six pence—for their work. The skilled workmen who laid our granite blocks got on an average $5 a day.

"The skilled workmen engaged in quarrying Scotch granite near Aberdeen were paid from 35 to 45 cents a day for their work. Where will you find the stone cutter in this country who would work at such prices?

"Street car and omnibus drivers get five shillings for a day's work of fifteen hours in London and a shilling a day less at Edinburgh, Manchester and Glasgow. Conductors get five shillings in London and a shilling less in the other places; that is, they get about $1.20 and 95 cents respectively. Here for a day's work of twelve hours conductors are paid $2 and drivers $1.75.

"The brunt of the burden of a reduction of the tariff would undoubtedly fall on the laborer who lives from day to day. The manufacturer could live on his capital. In England the wealthy class is the manufacturers and merchants. The great political power lies with them. Free trade would throw a wedge into society, elevating and putting more power into the hands of the wealthy classes and driving lower the working classes, rendering their condition hopeless.

"In England manufacturing pays about the same, or perhaps a little better, than in America, while laborers get far less and live far worse. This illustrates the point made before, that power would thus be taken from the humbler classes and placed with the wealthy.

"The farmer, too, must suffer. He has his products to sell, and if his market is curtailed he must sell at a sacrifice. Free trade would bring them a low market without fail.

"I talked with a good many Englishmen. Very few of them would discuss the effects of the change on America, although all were in favor of Cleveland. I talked with one man on the Clyde, who was a sensible, calm sort of man, and he admitted all I have said."

Bad Management.
Secretary Fairchild has raised his limit for the purchase of United States 4 per cent. bonds to 130, says the Democratic New York Sun, and at that figure has just bought $3,340,350 of them.

In January last the secretary could have purchased these bonds at from 125 to 130. In the same month of January he deposited with certain favored national banks $3,000,000 and upward of public money free of interest, with which he could have bought $24,000,000 of bonds. Adding to the 130 he is now paying for them the 2 per cent. interest paid since January, brings their cost to the government up to 132, as against say 120, which the cost would have been if he had bought them in January.

Here is a dead loss to the national treasury of 6 per cent. on $24,000,000, or $1,440,000, and a corresponding profit to the banks which bought the bonds and pledged them to the treasury. This might have been avoided, and could have been avoided by the exorcism of a little common sense. What says the president?

AN UNEXPECTED ALLY.

Another Free Trade Democrat—Jay C. Gould on Wool.

Cleveland and the free traders seem to have found an unexpected ally in the person of Jay Gould, the eminent New York financier. Mr. Gould, who has been known for many years as a free trader, has been found to be a free trader in wool. He has been found to be a free trader in wool, and he has been found to be a free trader in wool.

He says: "It will give them free of duty raw material from England and Australia, where the quality is very fine, to mix with the common grades grown here. If the wool imported was of equal grade with ours, the effect might be different, but it is much superior."

Mr. Gould's reasoning is just about as sensible as that of the philosopher who cut two holes in his gate for his two cats, a big hole for the big cat and a little hole for the kitten. It is true that the wool now imported is of a fine grade, but if we admit wool duty free, it is not obvious that wool of low grade will rush in upon us to the destruction of our wool industry. Not even Mr. Gould could open a flood gate to a rushing river and expect only pure, clear water to come in. It is the low grade wool we want to keep out, not even improve our own clip and raise our own high grade wools.

But Mr. Gould does not know his subject. We raise a great deal of high grade wool, and the domestic product is certainly increasing, being stimulated by a protective tariff. There are, too, some low grade wools imported, of a special kind, but not in great quantities. The manufacturers of wool do not agree with Mr. Gould. New England is almost a unit against free wool, and the manufacturers on my needs as Mr. Gould can, whose interest have been popularly supposed to be confined rather to destroying than to making; that is, except to making a colossal fortune out of the misfortunes of others. — San Francisco Chronicle.

MR. MILLS' BILL.

A Few Industries the Democrats Propose to Kill.

The Mills bill declares for:

- Free trade in lumber, which we produce to the value of $500,000,000 annually.
- Free trade in wool, of which we produce nearly 500,000,000 pounds annually.
- Free trade in salt, of which we produce nearly 40,000,000 bushels annually.
- Free trade in flax, hemp, jute and other fibers.
- Free trade in cement, potash, lime and brick.
- Free trade in meats, game and poultry.
- Free trade in vegetables, peas and beans.
- Free trade in marble and stone.
- Free trade in tin plates, which would destroy the sheet iron industries.
- Free trade in at least 100 other articles produced in this country, most of which would be consumed in sufficient quantities for home consumption if properly protected.

Mr. Cleveland's Native Town.

The following is an extract from a private letter written from Clinton, N. Y.:

"We are deep in political work here. This mill, which had only one vote for Blaine, does not give Cleveland a single vote this coming election. There are hundreds of Irish voters in this town who are Republicans and they are all working for Harrison. * * * A large manufacturer in Hudson was always a red hot Democrat; he is now president of the Republican club at Hudson. He wrote me: 'We had to leave the Democratic party and come over to protect our means to do all we can to elect Harrison and Morton. This action on his part turns about 30 votes in his mill, and his influence is good in the city. The Democrats of this town have fallen off so fast that they could not get enough to attend their meeting to call the roll, so they were obliged to go home, as their speaker would not address so small a crowd. Mr. Smyth, the delegate to the St. Louis convention, was disgusted with the platform that he will not take any part in the work, and a great many agree that he will vote for Harrison, but it will not be known positively. The claim was made that Omaha county gave Cleveland the chair last election, but if it were with this county this fall Cleveland might as well pack his grip and prepare for that country where the stream is said to be impracticable with that common article, elaborate of sodium-salt—when by copious draughts of water he may lose some of his virulent frolicness and still live. At any rate the people—not even excepting the Mugwumps—of Omaha county do not propose to have any few wool pulled over their eyes. Our last meeting was addressed by a Mugwump, a professor of Hamilton college, on the hill in this town. He said 'he was trying to devise some way to atone for voting for Cleveland. He did so because he believed the man meant what he said in his letter of acceptance, and he went to school with him. This is Cleveland's native town.'"

A Dinner Pall Argument.

A bright English mechanic whom State Senator Vedder, of New York, met abroad put the case in this way:

"If you look at the dinner pails in England and at the dinner pails in America, you will see the difference between the two countries. Your American workmen, have dinner pails of two compartments, indicating that they have a variety of food. Our dinner pails have but one compartment, and our workmen are glad enough to get one kind of food."

This difference between the American and English dinner pails is one of the biggest stumbling blocks in the way of Mr. Cleveland's reelection. It is a silent, solid fact which outweighs all the demagogic Democratic politicians from Grover Cleveland down to Henry George.—Boston Journal.

Dr. R. S. Storm, the well known divine, says in The New York Independent:

"Practical results are the important things in politics, and until the current and counter currents of trade and politics whirl around us, remembering that platforms exercise no despotic control over the intelligent life of a party, I am still warmly disposed to feel that the national welfare will be more likely to be advanced on the line which commands themselves to me, if the Republican candidates shall be elected in November."

GAS ADMINISTERED—50 Cts.

BUNKER, TAILOR AND CANDLESTICK MAKER.

Headlord, Carpenter, Farmer, Engineer and Baker—They All Get a Whack at the Wages of the Protected Workingman.

This is the neat little cottage in which the protected workingman lives, whose unprotected landlord received a part of the $10 earned by the protected workingman.

This is the unprotected carpenter who built the neat little cottage in which the protected workingman lives, and who wouldn't have had the job of building it if good wages were not being earned by the protected American workingman.

This is the unprotected teamster who hauled the lumber of which the house is built, in which lives the protected workingman.

These are the unprotected horses that hauled the lumber to build the protected American workingman's house, and who eat the oats raised by the unprotected farmer, which are paid for in part by the money earned in hauling the lumber to build the house of the protected workingman.

This is the unprotected milkman who serves the milk to the landlord of the protected workingman, the carpenter who built this house, the driver who drove the lumber wagon and to the family of the protected workingman.

This is the unprotected baker who bakes the bread for the protected workingman, his unprotected landlord, the unprotected lumberman, and all the other unprotected people whose business prospers because they get a part of the wages of the protected American workingman.

This is the unprotected butcher, who sells the meat to the protected American workingman, whose wages permit him to eat flesh three times a day if he desires, and who also sells to the unprotected landlord, the unprotected carpenter, his sisters and his cousins, all of whom get a whack at the wages of the protected American workingman.

This is the unprotected conductor on a car line, who is mainly sustained by the protected workingmen, and whose wages are dependent upon the amount of the patronage of the protected American workingman.

This is the unprotected gripman, who probably would not have a chance to grip if it were not for the patronage of the families of San Francisco's 40,000 protected American workingmen.

This is the unprotected American "cop," whose salary is six times as big as that of the English "Bobby," because he is the guardian of the interests of a city full of well paid protected American workingmen.

This is the unprotected doctor who attends the protected workingman and his family, the unprotected landlord and his family, and the other unprotected fellows, too numerous to mention, who would lag superfluous on the scene if it were not for the wages of the protected American workingman.

This is the unprotected school teacher, who teaches the children of the protected American workingman and of his unprotected landlord, etc., and who would probably lack a job if the general prosperity of the country, chiefly due to the "live and let live" system of protection, did not permit us to have school houses enough to educate the youngsters of our millions of protected American workingmen.

This is the unprotected granger, who grows the wheat which makes the flour eaten by the protected American workingman, his unprotected landlord, the unprotected carpenter and the whole caboodle of unprotected, who derive their support from working for and winning the wages of the protected American workingman.

This is the unprotected brakeman, who runs on the train which carries the produce from the farm to the cities, where the protected American workingman and his family and those who depend on him live, and who hauls from the factory to the farm the manufactured articles made by the protected American workingmen.

This is the unprotected engineer and his unprotected helper, who haul the produce from farm to factory, and who haul to the farm the wares made by the protected American workingmen.

This is the unprotected clerk, who sells the ribbons and other faddish to the unprotected daughter of the protected American workingman, whose unprotected employer would probably be whistling for customers if it were not for the good wages of the protected American workingman.

This is the unprotected housemaid of the protected American workingman, who gets ten times as big wages as she could possibly earn in a free trade country, simply because the scale of wages is pitched high in the land of the protected American workingman.

This is the unprotected saloonkeeper who sells beer at five cents a glass, and catches all the stray nickels of the protected American workingman.

This is the unprotected piano, pounded upon by an unprotected virtuoso, who manages to eke out a comfortable existence by torturing the ears of protected American workingmen.

This is the protected American workingman.

And this is the kind of unprotected labor the free trader wishes him to compete with.

Funny, isn't it, that after a man has given you his word he should try so hard to keep it.

Mr. N. H. Frohlichstein, of Mobile, Ala., writes: I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, having used it for a severe attack of Bronchitis and Catarrh. It gave me instant relief and entirely cured me, and I have not been afflicted since. I also beg to state that I had tried other remedies with no good result. Have also used Electric Bitters and Dr. King's New Life Pills, both of which I can recommend.

Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds, is sold on a positive guarantee. Trial bottles free at Cochran's drug store.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of a writ of fieri facias, to me directed, issued out of the New Jersey Court of Chancery, will be sold at public vendue, on SATURDAY, the 6th day of October, 1888,

At two o'clock in the afternoon of said day,
at the office of A. J. King, Esq., in Ham-monton, Atlantic County, New Jersey, all those tracts or parcels of land and premises, situate in the Town of Hammonton, in the County of Atlantic, and State of New Jersey, bounded and described as follows, viz:

Beginning at a point in the centre of Fairview Avenue and Third Street; thence (1) north forty-four degrees west, about forty and one-half rods to the land of one Clark; thence
(2) north-easterly course by line of said Clark about twenty-six rods and eleven feet to a stake at corner to land of Mary G. Gilbert; thence (3) south forty-five degrees and thirty-five minutes east, thirty-three rods and fifteen feet to the centre of Fairview Avenue; thence (4) along the centre of the same, south forty four degrees and twenty-five minutes west, about twenty-nine rods and eleven feet to the place of beginning.

Again, beginning at a point in the centre of Fairview Avenue, corner of land of Mary G.
Gilbert and running thence (1) north forty-five degrees and thirty-five minutes west thirty-two rods and eleven feet to a stake in said Gilbert's back corner; thence (2) by the line of land of one Clark in a north-easterly course about nineteen rods nine and one-half feet to a stake in the line of land of Edwin G.
Booth; thence (3) by the line of said Booth's land south-easterly about thirty rods to a corner of Fairview Avenue; thence (4) by the centre of the same south forty-four degrees and twenty-five minutes west about twenty rods to the place of beginning; containing in the two surveys ten acres of land, be the same more or less.

Also, the following tract of land: Beginning in the centre of Fairview Avenue, twenty eight and seventy one-hundredths perches north-east of the intersection of the centre of Fairview Avenue and Third Street; thence
(1) north forty-five degrees and thirty-five minutes west, thirty-six and ninety six hundredths perches to land of one Clark; thence
(2) north fifty two degrees and fifteen minutes east twenty-two and eighty hundredths perches along said Clark's line to a corner;
thence (3) south forty-five degrees and thirty five minutes east thirty three and eighty five hundredths perches to the centre of Fairview Avenue aforesaid; thence (4) along the centre of the same southerly forty four degrees and twenty five minutes west twenty two and sixty hundredths perches to the place of beginning; containing five acres of land and a half more or less.

Seized as the property of Samuel W. Gilbert et al., and taken in execution at the suit of Henry H. Veit, and to be sold by
