Our Convention.

The Republican County Convention was held at Egg Harbor City last Saturday, Oct. 3rd. Called to order at 11:10 by T. L. McConnell, the retiring chairman.

Samuel H. Kelley, of Atlantic City was chosen temporary chairman; E. C. Shaner, of May's Landing, Secretary; Daniel Walters, Jr., of Absecon, Asst. Secretary; Peter E. Tucker, of Atlantic, Sergeant-at-arms. On motion, the above were made permanent officers.

Committees on Credentials, Rules, and Resolutions were appointed, and a recess taken. Afterward, the Committee on Credentials reported all delegates present—110,—no contests.

Committee on Rules reported as follows:

1. Towns, townships, wards, and boroughs shall be called in alphabetical order, for nominations.

2. The nominations for Assembly, Sheriff, and Coroner shall be made in the order named.

3. The delegates present from each town, township, ward, and borough are entitled to cast a vote, which vote shall be announced by the chairman of the delegation; provided that any town, township, ward or borough not represented, the representatives for such town, township, ward, or borough shall be elected by the vote of the convention, the vote to be taken by calling the roll of the several towns, townships, wards, or boroughs.

4. The basis of representation to which each town, township, ward and borough shall be entitled in the next Convention shall be one for every fifty Republican votes cast for Coroner at this election, also every town, township, ward and borough casting thirty Republican votes or over shall be entitled to two delegates-at-large, provided that each town, township, ward or borough shall have at least one vote.

5. After the second ballot the candidate receiving the lowest number of votes shall be dropped until the nomination is made. The candidate receiving the majority of votes of the Convention to be the nominee.

6. The Chairman of the Convention shall appoint the Executive Committee on or before May 1st of each year, with the recommendation of the delegates present of each town, township, ward or borough.

Committee on resolutions presented the following:

We, the Republicans of Atlantic County, in convention assembled, offer the following as our basis of action in this political campaign:

1st, A hearty endorsement of the platform of the National, State and District Conventions, which pronounced for sound money, true patriotism, restoration of business as it was in 1892, before the mandate of Democratic theoretical experimenters closed up thousands of factories, mills, foundries, and other industrial places, throwing hundreds of thousands of thriving laborers out of the means of earning a livelihood, thereby reducing them to pauperism, beggary, starvation and a condition tending to lead men to crime, and making them dependent upon public soup-houses or other charities to keep body and soul together, and humiliating their manhood. Not satisfied with this, these Democrats [or many of them] have combined with Populists [a worse set of theorists, who have not one solitary idea relating to good government or political economy], who would, had they the power [thank God they have not!] prolong the misery and suffering of the past three years for another four years, just to make the capitalist suffer the loss of his income.

2nd, The Republican party, which so successfully ran the government for more than a quarter of a century, and promoted the industries of the country, and under which the prosperity of our people surpassed anything ever known in our own or any other country, is now endeavoring to regain control of the government, that they may restore that prosperity by electing a Republican Congress and Republican President and Vice-President [Major William McKinley and Garrett A. Hobart]; and to this end we will use every honorable means and exert ourselves to the utmost.

3rd, We pledge ourselves to labor earnestly to secure the election of our whole ticket, and help our State to enable Vermont and Maine in burling forever, in a shower of ballots, the enemies of sound money, good government, the supremacy of our Courts, and the Constitution of the United States.

Reports were adopted unanimously. Nominations for Assembly were in order. J. C. Alberison, of Atlantic, presented the name of Hon. M. L.

Jackson, for re-nomination, in a good speech, in which he eulogized Mr. J., as a representative who had made a spotless record, whose work and votes in the Assembly had never been adversely criticised. The various delegations seconded the nomination, and it was made unanimous by a standing vote.

For Sheriff, Edw. W. Wilson, of Absecon, presented the name of Samuel Kirby, of Atlantic City. A colored delegate from the third ward of Atlantic named George H. Long, of that ward. George Breder, of Egg Harbor City, presented his townsman, George W. Senft. Hamilton named the present Deputy Sheriff, Leonard Ashley. Linwood nominated Kew. H. Barrett.

The roll was then called, the ballot running as follows:

CITIES, WARDS, TOWNS, ETC.	Kirby	Barrett	Long	Senft
Absecon	13	12	11	10
Atlantic City, 1st ward	12	11	10	9
" 2nd ward	11	10	9	8
" 3rd ward	10	9	8	7
" 4th ward	9	8	7	6
Bridgeton	8	7	6	5
Buena Vista	7	6	5	4
Egg Harbor City	6	5	4	3
Egg Harbor Township	5	4	3	2
Galloway	4	3	2	1
Hamilton	3	2	1	0
Linwood	2	1	0	0
Mullica	1	0	0	0
Somers Point	1	0	0	0
Total	110	110	110	110

At this point it was seen that Kirby already had a majority, and the first ward set the pace by changing its vote to Kirby: Egg Harbor followed; third ward did likewise; Long withdrew; Barrett did likewise and moved that Kirby be nominated by acclamation. This was done amid great enthusiasm, and the first ballot was not completed.

On motion, the Secretary instructed to cast the convention's ballot for Messrs. Jackson and Kirby.

For Coroner, George F. Lutz, of Absecon; Capt. Eliza Ingersoll, of English Creek, and Benj. Ray, a colored barber of Atlantic, were named. Three ballots were taken and Mr. Ingersoll nominated.

Voted, that the next convention be held in Egg Harbor City.

A committee then escorted Messrs. Jackson and Kirby to the stage, where each made a short speech. Congressman John J. Gardner was then called for; but an adjournment for one hour was voted.

About two o'clock Mr. Gardner was introduced, and entertained the Convention for nearly an hour with facts and figures, wit and wisdom.

At a regular meeting of Hammononton Council, No. 43, Jr. O. U. A. M., the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, The hand of death has entered Hammononton and removed our Brother John H. Lawrence from the labors of earth to the opportunities of the higher life, therefore

Resolved, That we extend to the family and friends of our deceased brother our heartfelt sympathy, praying that the consolations of heaven may heal the sorrow with which earth has afflicted them.

Resolved, That as a mark of remembrance and esteem for our deceased brother, that the charter of our Council be draped in mourning for the period of thirty days, and that these resolutions be printed in the local papers and a copy sent to the family of the deceased.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish, and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison, Headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50 cts and $1 per bottle, at Croft's Pharmacy.

HUNTING GIANT FOSSILS.

Remains of Prehistoric Quadrupeds from the Rockies.

Prof. Henry Fairfield Osborn, curator of the American Museum of Natural History, contributes a paper on "Fossil Quadrupeds of the Rockies" to the Century. The article is illustrated by drawings by Charles Knight, giving careful reconstructions of these strange beasts. Prof. Osborn says: Before describing the animals themselves, we may stop to note what our present knowledge of them has cost in human skill and endurance. Every one of these pictures is drawn from a complete skeleton here out of the solid rock, and each of these skeletons represents years and years of arduous exploration in which Wortham, Hatcher, Peterson and others sent out by the American Museum, by Princeton, or by Yale, have become famous. Our party found the Titanomys in a brilliant alkaline canyon of South Dakota. Its head was protruding from a hard sandstone cliff, and the chest, limbs and trunk were embedded in the sandstone. Under a rude shelter which lowered the noon temperature to 108 degrees. They were encouraged to think that the whole beast had been mired in a standing position. This was probably the case originally, but the mired position across a fault; it appeared that the hind limbs had been swept away; and it required two years' more searching before bones of an animal of a corresponding size were secured. Every other skeleton has its own story of determination, disappointment and surprise.

The old lake basins, once on sea level, and enriched by the moist, balmy winds of the Pacific, now elevated from four to five thousand feet. The only redeeming feature of their present aspect of absolute barrenness is that the absence of vegetation leaves the old graves and burying grounds bare. Fossil bones are not plentiful—Trachymys, but a brain of eye seen a great distance along the bare gullies, cliffs and canyons, and your daily scramble of fifteen to twenty miles enables you to prospect over a vast stretch. You are out in the morning, and you are out in the evening, and you are out in the middle of the night. You know by experience that the ice in the basins does not promise a cool day. Your backbones are still freezing while the sun begins to broil and blister your skin, and you are out in the middle of the night. You know by experience that the ice in the basins does not promise a cool day. Your backbones are still freezing while the sun begins to broil and blister your skin, and you are out in the middle of the night.

When you reach the edge of this upland, you look off into a sea of rock, sometimes well beyond description, and you plunge down the slope to a certain level. Then you follow this level round and round and in and out. Here you are on a seam which bears fossils. Above and below it are other similar fossiliferous seams, and between them are barren wastes where you will not find a bone if you search till doomsday. This level, perhaps, represents the delta of a great mountain river which swept the animals out with coarse sand, and you walk miles and miles, up and down, day after day, and see nothing but common turtle bones, which are so deceptive and tempting at a distance that the fossil hunter profanely kicks them aside. Twelve are found everywhere because they swim out, bask in the sunshine in the midlands, and occasionally sink to the bottom, while the carcasses of land animals were buried in the deltas or nearer shore.

In such a fossil-hunter land the heat comes twice as terrible on the butter your muscles and back ache doubly, your tongue lies parched from the last gulp of alkali water, your soul aches a fustil, and long for the green shade of the East, and the watermelon, when, all of a sudden, a little protecting bone strikes your weary eye. You fall on your knees, and breathe gently on the loose sand; a little scraping, and you see the signs of a skull—perhaps of some missing link. The thrill of discovery greets like an altar through your frame, and two or three hours later, after carefully cutting out the prize, you walk vigorously back to camp, every inch a man.

This fossil hunting is a life of violent toils and emotions. The fossil hunter is predestined to his work, like the apostle, he returns fast in the autumn, raving he will never go back to the flat lands; but as the favorable months of spring come around he becomes more and more restless until he is off. The country that is as hot as Hades, visited by stagnant alkali pools, is almost invariably the richest in fossils. Here, in fact, as you find the greatest variety and number of bones, you enjoy the most delightful nights of the scientific luncheon; when parched and burned, you conjure before you the glories of these ancient lakes.

No doubt about it. First of all, about a hot house. Do you suppose we can get anything to drink here? Second of all, about the enormous aggregation of wheels in the carcase shed—Life.

RIVER EATS UP A CITY.

Remarkable Mishap to a Kansas Settlement.

In the story of the rise and fall of Western boom towns within the past generation there is one strange chapter that has never been written—the passing of Elwood, Kan. The Missouri river, twenty feet deep, rolls and gurgles and foams over the spot that was once the main street. Where bustling merchants once displayed their wares in commodious houses, and the hardy plainsman bumped elbows with the moneyed tenderfoot fresh from the East, the broad and straiter river flows today. The corner lot that once fitted back and forth in the real estate exchange have gone glimmering like the will of the wisp of the gold seekers—gone to make sands on the seashore. Elwood has tumbled into the muddy Missouri. The corner lot that once fitted back and forth in the real estate exchange have gone glimmering like the will of the wisp of the gold seekers—gone to make sands on the seashore. Elwood has tumbled into the muddy Missouri. The corner lot that once fitted back and forth in the real estate exchange have gone glimmering like the will of the wisp of the gold seekers—gone to make sands on the seashore. Elwood has tumbled into the muddy Missouri.

At any rate, few days passed before a wooden building, with the sign, "Last Chance Tavern," swinging from the door, stood on the pleasant prairie across from St. Joseph. Other houses soon clustered around Tavern Keep. Allen and Yankee industry, combined with foreign capital, had a line of ferry steamers—sturdy stern wheelers—actively churning the muddy waters of the Missouri into foam before the summer was dead. Elwood grew—grew and prospered. Truly, it filled a long felt want.

The next year overland traffic increased. Long caravans came and went; settlers and pioneers came and remained. The housing real estate agent, the honest homesteader, the ruthless river gambler, the arsenical-begged terror, the nondescript hanger-on, all drifted into Elwood.

The Great Western Hotel, the finest structure of its kind anywhere on the river, was built, and old-timers of this city—former residents of Elwood, who came and went with its powers and glory—today relate many wonderful tales of the revels that went on beneath its prosperous roof.

Interesting relics of the Elwood-Town Company came to the surface occasionally. Purchasing Agent George Dixon Berry, of the St. Joseph and Grand Island Railroad in this city, has one of the original certificates of stock in the town site scheme. It is remarkably well preserved. It was issued to Richard G. Graves, and bears the signature of Henry Douglas, president, and Edward Russell, secretary.

Little by little the best part of Elwood crumbled and was swept into the stream. To-day there is but little of the once prosperous town left standing. One of the most interesting of the old landmarks yet remaining is the Elwood jail, built on high and dry, far removed from the river bank. Within its narrow confines many a tough character has been thrust by the town marshal.

As the place looks today it presents the appearance of a deserted village. The houses now standing were in the suburbs before the course of the river was changed. The greatest evidence of life that is there now is the depot of the St. Joseph and Grand Island Railroad company, which is about a mile from the original town site. This road was built after Elwood was on the wane. The few remaining houses are occupied by fishermen and the people who eke out a precarious existence by doing odd jobs in the city across the river—St. Louis Republic.

Upon their arrival from England where they have been since April, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of New Jersey will tender to Francis E. Willard and Anna A. Gordon a welcome meeting, next Tuesday evening, Oct. 13. This will be a unique affair, and will be held in Dr. Scudder's Tabernacle, Jersey City. Dr. Scudder, by the way, is one of the lights of the broader manhood, and is wonderfully successful in his work for his fellow men in Jersey City. One feature of his work is a place of recreation for working men, where everything that can harmlessly entertain and recreate is furnished. The Tabernacle, on this occasion, will be fittingly arranged to receive this distinguished leader whom America, England, and the far countries delight to honor. All who can do so are urged to swell the joyousness of the welcome songs to "Our Chiefest."

JOHN T. FAUCET, P. M.

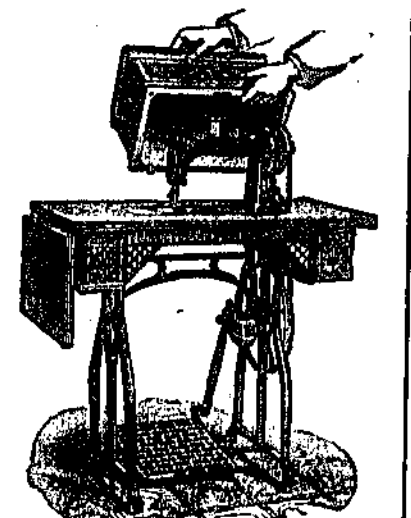

The National Encampment of the Union Veteran Legion will be held at Washington, D. C., from October 14 to 17, and for that occasion the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has arranged to sell excursion tickets to Washington and return from all stations at a single fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold on October 12, 13, and 14, and will be good for return passage until October 25, inclusive.

It is said that the special town meeting this afternoon cannot vote an appropriation for electric lights. Ball & Sheetz say that will not hinder them, if the contract is granted. They will wait on the town meeting next March, but the town will not have to wait for their lights.

It is claimed by some that incandescent street lights soon lose their full power owing to the accumulation of dampness and dust. Ball & Sheetz agree to inspect every lamp every night and keep it in perfect condition, and our town officials will see that they live up to their contract.

We have frequently heard our town criticised as "slow," "dead," because other towns of this size have telephone, electric lights, water-works, trolley-cars, etc., none of which are found here. Now we have a chance to secure electric lights at a very reasonable rate. Shall we have them?
