HAMMONTON, N. J., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1918

No. 42

Health Notice.

Influenza is on the decrease in the town, but is increasing in the country. Our people are now (too late in many cases) seeing the grave danger of the disease. Many cases have been very serious, but few deaths can be actually traced to the epidemic.

Patients unable to help themselves are in need of substantial food and delicacies. The public is responding nobly, but more help and material is needed. Send fresh fruit, tart jellies, and other good things to eat to either Mrs. Little or Mrs. Spear, Inspector.

A new heating system is being installed in Palace Theatre.

A card received a few days ago stated that Caspar Pier had arrived safely overseas.

No cases will be tried in the County Courts before Oct. 24th, on account of the epidemic.

One of the largest pumpkins in town—in Myers' window—was raised on the Aiguer farm.

Alf. Patten was in town last Thursday. He has just recovered from a severe attack of the flu.

Born on Friday, Oct. 4th, to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Meloney (nee Ortol), a nine pound baby boy.

Employees of the Pleasant Mills Paper Company have subscribed one hundred per cent to the Fourth Liberty Loan.

Mrs. L. Myrick is spending the winter in Burlington, with her daughter, Miss Elizabeth, who is teaching school.

Eight huge transportation cars, comfortably seating forty persons each, have been leased by Atlantic Loading Company.

Sympathy is extended to Alfred Riebel whose wife died Wednesday night, of influenza. Two little children survive her.

Louis L. Purchase, of the Raleigh Hotel, who has been ill since last Saturday from the epidemic, is progressing satisfactorily.

The County Republican Committee chose Dr. C. Cunningham as candidate for Coroner, in place of Charles C. Demarco, deceased.

Wednesday was the first of the four deer-hunting Wednesdays. Three fine buck were brought in, P. T. Ranere's party being among the successful ones.

Mrs. Edward Rush (nee Miss Olive Rehman), formerly one of Hammonton's young ladies, is slowly recovering from an operation for appendicitis, in a Philadelphia hospital.

The annual meeting of Hammonton Branch of the Needlework Guild has been postponed until further notice, on account of the danger from collecting garments during the epidemic.

Walter Cusworth, a brother of Rev. W. J. Cusworth, died on Oct. 2nd, in Philadelphia, of influenza. While here, it will be remembered, he favored the Baptist congregations with sacred solos.

Angello Rubba, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Matteo Rubba, and a telegraph operator, succumbed to an attack of influenza on Thursday, aged 26 years. Others of the family are ill, and the afflicted parents have universal sympathy.

George L. Atkins, of Upright, Va., a trusted employe at the loading plant, died on Thursday, Oct. 16th, at the home of Samuel Foster, on Second Street, aged 35 years. Though here less than a year, he had many friends, who unite with us in sympathy for the parents, also his fiancée, Miss Alberta Foster.

Mrs. Florence Cottrell-Grels, wife of Attorney George R. Grels, died on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 12th, after a short illness. Known and loved by all, the news of her death brought sadness everywhere. Two little children, a husband, a mother, a sister, and two brothers in the service, and her large circle of friends, are thus bereft of a loved one and friend.

NOTICE TO PARENTS.

Nothing definite about opening of schools is possible now. But in order that parents may know at the earliest possible moment when the ban is lifted—

THE FIRE BELL WILL TOLL THE DAY BEFORE SCHOOL REOPENS.

N. C. Holdridge.

ATTENTION!

Christmas packages for men abroad.

Only one package, a carton 5 x 4 x 9, can be shipped to a man in service abroad. This package must be sent under the supervision of the Red Cross, and cardboard cartons will be furnished by the Red Cross.

To avoid any duplication, and to make sure that each parcel will be correctly addressed, a Christmas parcel label is now being issued to the men abroad. This label will be mailed to some relative or friend who upon receiving it will apply to the Red Cross for a carton.

Will families having members abroad, notify us at once, that we may order a sufficient number of cartons. This is very important. Telephone on local to one of the following numbers,—583, 704, 1161—or write to the Secretary, Executive Board.

A Call For Prayer.

In the absence of public worship in our Churches to-morrow, and realizing the great need of Divine help in these days of sorrow, let all unite in prayer to-morrow at eleven o'clock, petitioning that the hand of death may be stayed, that the sufferers may be returned to health again, that the sorrowing may be comforted; and that His arm may be about our boys at the battle front, giving them victory and a safe return home.

Edward Miller, eldest son of Mrs. J. R. Miller, died on Wednesday, Oct. 16th, after a short illness of influenza, aged just 34 years. Ed. was well-known and liked by all, who unite in sympathy with the afflicted mother and sister, and brother in the service.

Mrs. Erma J. Foster, wife of Wm. J. Foster, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. R. Mortimer, formerly of Hammonton, died at her home in Camden on Sunday, Oct. 13, 1918, after a week's illness from pneumonia. She is survived by her husband and two daughters. Interment at Harleigh Cemetery.

A CARD.—We wish to thank the many friends and neighbors, and lodges, for their manifestations of sympathy during the illness of our mother, cheering her during her hours of pain, and comforting us during that trying time, and since her decease.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. Hood.

Stricken with influenza, Louis Charles Meloney, electrician at the plant, died of pneumonia, Thursday, Oct. 10th, at the home of his wife's parents. He was very popular here and in Atlantic City, and will be missed by his many friends. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Louise Ortol, and infant child.

Anthony L. Russo, proprietor of the Hammonton Cash Market, died on Tuesday after a hard and brave fight with influenza. This is made especially sad as he left a wife of less than a year, who is also ill and heartbroken. Tony was one of the brightest and most progressive of Hammonton's young business men. He will be missed by old and young.

SOLDIERS WELL PLEASED WITH FOOD SUPPLIES

There is a great change going on in the food habits of all the Allied forces. We see it even here with our own men in training. At first you remember how concerned many mothers were over the food the boys were served. Each week, however, we remarked how splendid the men in training looked and they boasted of their fitness.

Diet had a lot to do with this change for the better. Our military men know this and have taken a strong liking for the plainer foods—that means fitness and efficiency.

Between military advancements overseas they will try staple French, English, Italian, Belgian, Russian and possibly Spanish dishes. Many of these they will be particularly fond of and expect to be prepared just as well as they are prepared in the countries to which they are peculiar.

As the greater number of these dishes are prepared with the thought of thrift they will help us in our new economy cooking.

Meats.

Through the efficient management of the Allied food administration soldiers are all receiving a regular ration of meat. To us who are the greatest meat eating nation that is nothing unusual, but in the families of thousands of men of the Allied forces meat has been served only on rare occasions.

These men are going home with a new food habit that will draw on the meat supply. Also many civilians whose wage has been increased have formed the meat eating habit. This will create a continual increase in demand for meat after war and necessitate our using meats in the most intelligent way.

We may as well make up our minds that the days of cheap meat are over and put all our efforts to getting the most out of small quantities. As we were so wasteful in the old days of plenty, we will be able by wise use of meat alternatives and thrifty use of meats to have all that health and efficiency demands.

First in this meat extension campaign we should master the numerous delicious ways of preparing the perishable products. Suggestions are repeatedly given on this page—make a meat scrap book and save the practical information you find in your favorite paper and magazine, making notations under each recipe as you test it.

Just at present our definite conservation ruling is to demand meat from light weight cattle; the heavy sides of beef are lighter to heat advantage.

These lighter meats we are asked to buy are just as wholesome when they bear the U. S. Government inspection stamp. Look for it on every cut.

Cooking Long Fibred Meats.

Such cuts as the fore and hind shank, the brisket, plate, neck and tail of the beef are cut from each side shipped for war orders, as this makes it possible to pack them to better advantage for shipment.

These cuts should be used here to release more and more of the sides to ship.

As these are long fibred cuts they must be given the long moist cooking. The chuck is also in this class. From these cuts can be made splendid economy dishes such as Goulash, Beef a la Mode, Casserole and Rice and Meat, Braised Beef, and scores of appetizing foreign dishes.

STOP ISSUING SUGAR CANNING CERTIFICATES

Further issuance of canning certificates in householders for sugar has been discontinued by the Federal Food Administration for New Jersey. The order became effective October 7 in all parts of the State.

The reason for canning, which has been a record one, is now drawing to a close and the need for sugar in large quantities by householders is past. Furthermore, it is the belief of the food officials that sugar procured on canning certificates is being hoarded against a possible shortage in winter or else used for ordinary household purposes. This practice it is intended to prevent.

Every pound of sugar means cargo space, and cargo space is precious now.

"Use all the milk," says the United States Food Administration. Milk is the cheapest animal food. Children must have it. An adult may use it in place of meat.

An abundant harvest a thankful heart—and safe reserves.

The 1918 food reserves in the only safe insurance for 1919 food supplies.

Conservation is the All-American job—an army of four million soldiers must be fed from this year's crop.

Every grain proves that home canners have reached the goal, 1,500,000,000 quarts. This, by the way, insures the home pantry, for the Government needs most of the commercial pack for the Army.

The sacrifice of the American home, added to the efforts of the American farmer, have removed four from the minds of our Allies, for this year, at least.

HOMELESS CAREL FOR BY THE WAR WORK COUNCIL

New Jersey Organizations Take Quick Action in Disaster at Morgan.

FOOD AND SHELTER PROVIDED.

Thousands Made Homeless Are Cared for by the Allied Agencies, Who Demonstrate How Effectively They Can Meet Such Emergencies.

Newark, Oct. 15. (Special).—When the people of New Jersey had their attention directed to the appalling disaster in the shell loading plant at Morgan, near South Amboy, more than a week ago, through which many lives were lost and hundreds of people were made homeless, they had a demonstration of how effectively the seven co-operating organizations interested in the United War Work Campaign, beginning November 11, could meet an emergency. At once the work of the Red Cross in feeding and sheltering the refugees was taken up by the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the Knights of Columbus and the Salvation Army in this and neighboring cities. Plans for the care of the people, who were obliged to leave their homes near the scene of the explosion, were made, and the allied organizations have done good work in caring for them.

The prevalence of the Spanish influenza epidemic last week resulted in a lessening of the activity for the Liberty loan drive because of the quarantine placed upon indoor assemblies by the State Board of Health. For the same reason it was deemed necessary to abandon the conferences arranged by the Speakers' Bureau to be held at Morristown, Newark, Red Bank and Camden. These will be merged with the county conferences, whether they are held singly or jointly.

Rev. Gypay Smith, the talented evangelist who has a wide acquaintance in New Jersey, is an inspirational speaker. He was scheduled to attend the Speakers' conferences, and, since they are off, it is hoped that there may yet be an opportunity for Smith to deliver his wonderful message from the battle front in connection with the Liberty loan and the United War Work Campaign.

The work of perfecting the organization of the New Jersey War Work Campaign is progressing rapidly. The organization of the twenty-one counties is a big task. E. M. McBrier, of Montclair, chairman, keeps in close touch with his "war council," as the executive committee may rightfully be termed, or he drops into the headquarters in the Wiss Building occasionally to consult with Campaign Director Charles A. Coburn. In aiding the county chairmen to perfect their organizations some good work has been done by J. A. MacArt, of headquarters.

Conferences which result in a better understanding of the details connected with the big task, as well as the adaptation of the plan to the several counties, are being held at close intervals. Much inspiration as well as enthusiasm is being derived from some of these meetings, which will be more manifest when the campaign shall have attained its momentum.

The decision of the Victory Boys' and Victory Girls' Division not to have any street soliciting, shows or benefits or football games of any sort, but to make it a straight contribution proposition for the boys and girls of the state, is generally approved. The plans for the carrying on of the campaign in the schools of the state are being perfected rapidly. The co-operation displayed on the part of the seven allied organizations insures the reaching of practically every boy and girl in the schools of the state. The work has the approval of the State Department of Public Instruction, and also of the State Library Association, which will aid materially.

H. B. Rogers, chairman of the Industrial Division, has about completed his plans for his campaign, and every industrial worker in the state—the men, women and boy and girl workers over fourteen—who are back up our boys in the trenches so effectively by their splendid work in essential industries—will have a chance to further display their patriotism by contributing to the combined fund.

Mr. Rogers has had a special industrial button designed, which will be a pleasing emblem for the workers to wear. Also, he has gotten out a handsome poster which is regarded as a fine piece of art printing. It will attract attention wherever it is displayed, and will adorn many of the big industrial plants of the state before the campaign is ended.

The United war work is a great leveller. There is no distinction of race or creed. Preachers, professional men, women of prominence socially and the humble Salvation Army worker are all intent upon aiding the campaign. With a united purpose and for a common cause the work will be prosecuted harmoniously to a successful conclusion.

The government has placed the monumental business on the non-essential list and if they force our mechanics to change to essential work manufacturers of monuments will have to close their plants until after the war. This will mean goods in our line cannot be secured until after the war at any price and conditions will be such that for many years thereafter the price must be in advance of present prices, therefore, it is to your interest to purchase immediately.

The Presbyterian Sunday School room will be open all day to receive same. If you have clothing and find it impossible to send it call up the Chairman or Secretary of the Red Cross and they will see that it is collected.
