POISON.

That cigarettes are poisonous is a scientific fact. A physician made a solution of all the nicotine from one cigarette; one-half of it was injected into a full-grown frog, from the effects of which the frog died almost instantly; the other half was used upon another frog, with the same result. The poison of the cigarette is as deadly to a human being as to a frog, but is slower in its work. Diseases resulting from its use are well known to physicians. The same physician who experimented upon the frogs says that instead of fancy pictures which accompany cigarette packages, each one ought to bear a skull and crossbones, and be marked "poison," the same as other dangerous drugs.—The Classmate.

Why an Independent will This Year Vote for McKinley.

It seems proper to preface my statement by saying that four years ago I worked and voted for Bryan. I admired his great ability and wonderful energy and endurance as a man. I believed, in the main, in the doctrines of the Democratic platform, especially the then "paramount" issue of 16 to 1, and the double standard of gold and silver, and I believe in it still.

Since 1896 we have had a war with Spain, and all the people have been as one man in patriotic efforts, hopes, and prayers for the triumph of our arms. Our success seemed miraculous to the civilized world, and astonished ourselves. We were unconscious, before, of our superior power and resources to any other nation on earth, save perhaps one. The great superiority of "the men behind the guns" proved the power of education and liberty in a people. Within about three months, Spain was prostrate at our feet. She surrendered her East and West Indies to us, — gave us a clear title to all she possessed in those islands, except Cuba, which was to be independent under our fostering care. In mercy, we gave to Spain $20,000,000 for her public property in and sovereignty over these extensive possessions. Besides these numerous islands, small and large, we have during the same time acquired sovereignty over the Sandwich Islands, a most important group, Guam, Tutilla, and others.

The question now has been raised, and stands as the "paramount" issue, viz: Shall we retain the sovereignty of the Philippine Islands? No question has been raised as to other acquired territory. Mr. McKinley says, Yes; Mr. Bryan says, No. That is the controlling question, according to Bryan, and on it the voter at the coming election must express his answer by voting for one or the other of the Presidential candidates.

Mr. Bryan advised the confirmation of the treaty with Spain, and the payment made for this sovereignty. Why did he do so, if it was not desirable to hold it? A half-civilized tribe inhabiting a part of Luzon, has rebelled against the sovereignty of the United States, and he advocates a surrender to them on the ground that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. Has any statesman ever before applied this principle to uncivilized tribes? Did our fathers, who enunciated this principle, ever apply it to the Indian tribes of our own country? Have the civilized nations ever recognized the right of savage and barbarous tribes to hold and govern the land they may occupy, as against the rule of civilized man? It is absurd to say that savagery should rule in any country, in preference to civilization. No government, in any just sense, has a right to exist, that is not based upon the principles of establishing justice and promoting enlightenment and just liberty among all its people. Our fathers never thought to apply this principle to Indians, slaves, women, or children. It certainly seems straining this principle to absurdity, to apply it to the Tagals of Luzon.

But they are at war with us. Will it not be ignoble, yes, infamous to surrender to them under apparent compulsion? Shall we take down our flag and skulk out of one of the richest countries of the world, to which we have a clear title, and leave it to uncivilized man to propagate his low conditions and curse the world, or discharge the duty that God and nature have placed upon us, and devote the land to liberty and enlightened civilization?

High man is the proper guardian of low man, and it is his duty to educate and elevate him for his own and the world's good. We cannot shirk the responsibility to take care of those islands that have providentially fallen into our hands. They will doubtless be a great blessing to us, as well as to the people there, as well as to the world at large, which will be benefited by the elevation of this people and the development of the vast vegetable and mineral resources of these rich lands.

I well remember our war with Mexico, and that by the treaty after that war we received the surrender of the Mexican claim to Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Oregon, Washington, etc. This was under President Polk, a Democrat. I remember how the Whigs opposed the war and the taking of this "worthless" territory. I remember the purchase of Alaska by a Republican government, and how the purchase was ridiculed as being a land of glaciers and eternal cold, worthless for civilized man. Now we are contending with great pertinacity for a little strip, a few rods wide, claimed by Great Britain. Who thought, a few years ago, that South Africa, including the Orange and the Transvaal territory, was worth fighting for? They did not know then the untold wealth in diamonds and gold concealed in its soil. Who knows the riches of the Philippines? Who will deprive our citizens from developing this wealth and enjoying its blessings? Much precious American blood has been and is being shed there in maintaining our sovereignty. Are not those who advocate surrender thus encouraging the enemy at war with us? Our prestige as a nation is far greater than ever before: where would it be if we should surrender that country to the Tagals? We would be a by-word among nations. Surrender? Never!

I think that the doctrine of the government, that the Constitution does not cover acquired territory until Congress so determines, is wrong, and merits the criticism of its opponents. There is no doubt in my mind but the Supreme Court will decide that the Constitution goes where our sovereignty goes, where the flag permanently goes.

The Constitution is above Congress, and gives it its powers,—not Congress the Constitution. Porto Rico is part of the United States, and is as much governed (or ought to be) by the Constitution as New Jersey, and any obstruction to free intercourse and trade between Porto Rico and other parts of the United States is as wrong as to obstruct trade between the states. So with slavery in the South Islands. No slavery can exist under the sovereignty of the United States. When the Tagal war is over, and the Supreme Court has determined the question, and the Government has had time to correct the matter by doing justice by paying the masters for their slaves, and freeing them without war or other expense, then the beneficent principles of this government will be carried out in these islands, and will be appreciated by the people everywhere the United States is known. It is reasonable to give time to accomplish great changes in society.

Mr. Bryan does not seem to regard the Supreme Court with very high respect. He thinks it is assuming too much when it enjoins the leaders of a mob from committing great wrongs. He calls it "governing by injunction." This smacks strongly of anarchy, which is the greatest menace I know of to all civil government, and the most to be dreaded. He says one accused of crime is tried by jury, but the Judge tries the injunction case. When one threatens to commit crime, he is compelled by the Judge to give bonds to keep the peace, or go to prison. So with injunction. When threats are made to destroy property or commit crime, by the mob, the Courts have enjoined them, and I hope will always protect the people from the carrying out of such violations of right and good order by injunction. "An ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure." I am decidedly against Mr. Bryan in this respect. I consider this question almost equal to the "paramount" question, in both of which I am against Mr. Bryan, and therefore I am compelled to vote against him.

A Night of Terror.

"A awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave Gen. Burnham, of Machias, Maine, when the doctors said she would die from pneumonia before morning."

writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and she recovered—she recovered.

A very heavy rain-storm visited this section last Saturday night. Sunday was very cloudy and threatening.
Monday was bright, warm, and altogether delightful. Tuesday dawned fair, and until afternoon was a model;
but clouds gathered, driven by a brisk wind, and before five o'clock rain fell in torrents. It didn't last more than two hours, however, and later the stars shone out brilliantly. Weather turned decidedly cooler.

"I couldn't Sew another Stitch to Save my Life."

A black and white illustration of a woman sleeping in a chair while a man in a suit stands behind her, looking at a book. The scene is set in a room with a desk and a lamp.

A gorgeous costume flashed beneath the brilliant lights of a ball room. The queen of society is radiant to-night.

The nervous hands of a weak woman have toiled day and night, the weary form and aching head have known no rest, for the dress must be finished in time.

ness, to that queen of society and her dressmaker we would ascribe a word. One through hothouse culture, luxury and social excitement, and the other through the toil of necessity, may some day find their ailments a common cause.

Nervous prostration, excitability fainting spells, dizziness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and strength, all indicate some trouble, which has been promoted by an over-taxed system.

For the society queen and the dressmaker alike, there is nothing so reliable as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore strength, vigor, and happiness.

"MRS. LIZZIE ANDERSON, 49 Union St., Salem, N. J., writes: "DEAR MRS. PIERKIN—I feel it is my duty to write and tell you how grateful I am to you for what your medicine has done for me. At the time I suffered severely from colds—had inflammation of the ovaries, falling of the womb, and leucorrhoea. At times could not hold a needle to sew. The first dose of your Vegetable Compound helped me so much that I kept on using it. I have now taken six bottles and am well and able to do my work. I am a Christian and believe in the power of God and am thankful to the Giver of all good for giving you the wisdom of curing suffering women. I recommend your medicine to every woman troubled with any of these diseases."

La Porte, Ind., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: It gives me great pleasure to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I had been a sufferer for years with female trouble. I could not sew but a few minutes at a time, would start violently with my head. My back and kidneys also troubled me all the time. I was advised by a friend to take your medicine. I had no doubt as to its power to cure. After taking one bottle I felt so much better that I continued its use, and by the time I had taken six bottles I felt that it was no longer needed for me. I recommend it to all my friends."
