Observations of an Observer

There are six thousand people in Hammonton. About one thousand go to church; five thousand never do. Is it your fault, or the fault services last Sunday. There was best moral force in our community. School.

Hammonton needs a Y.M.C.A. -started right, and continued and

There ought to be a stronger public sentiment in Hammonton for cleaner streets and for better morals. We have one of the most beautiful towns of its size in the state. Let us keep our name and reputation fair, also.

Our moving picture shows should be more carefully watched, and our hotels more carefully controlled.

Men's Overcoats and Suits,

Almost any man can be fitted here, young or old, stout, tall slim or short. Our collection is bigger than ever,---a wide range of materials and styles. If you have had unsatisfactory experience in being fitted with made-to-order or ready to wear Clothing, you are just the man for us.

We can put a suit of clothes on you that you will be satisfied with. It will fit because it was made to fit just such a figure as yours. That is one reason why we are desirous of getting all men to this store, and get them well acquainted with our clothing stock. We feel that we have solved the problem of fit and style for all figures.

Overcoats.

Of particular interest to young men is the new "French Overcoat Model."

The separation had been due to a quarrel—the quarrel had been due to nothing at all. It sprang out of one of those absurd misunderstandings which seem peculiar to young people who are in love. But the upshot of the quarrel was the word "Goodbyc." and thus had they parted. Each was too proud to write and sak for pardon, and it is quite possible that two young lives would have been made permanently unhappy had not a of rare beauty.

Harold Mayne began to pine for feminine companionable once more. He was sick of spending his evenings about him for some suitable companion, but his circle of acquaintances was narrow, and he found none Then a brilliant idea came to the wretched young man. He remembered how his chum Allardyce had made a most excellent and quite happy marriage through the advertisement columns of a "matrimonial" news-paper. Why should not he do likewise? True, the process was somewhat sordid, somewhat unromantic; but if the issue was good, what mattered the method? Besides, it would he an amusing experience, even if

But he was mistaken. For several days after the appearance of the advertisement no replies of any kind came to hand, and he began to feel mice, moles and mildew.

One Session, or Two?

The Supervising Principal, desiring to know the wishes of parents the matter of one session daily, has sent to parents of pupils above Fifth Grade, a copy of the following letter, requesting a reply, and leaving one-half of the sheet blank for the purpose.

To the Parents, Guardians, and others interested: The Hammonton Schools are having, as you know, one session, extending from 8.00 A. M. to 1.00 P. M. ## HELP BUILD A BIGGER, BETTER HAMMONTON.

The first plank in the platform on which I ask your support is the one 5 relating to the license question. The license question is not a mere drinking question, but one that enters deep into the conduct of the official affairs of Hammonton, controlling official action in many departments of the town's

These men either could not be elected because of their bollef that their no license views would ensure their defeat, or license men, because they would not stand for some of the groggeries is existence to-day, and did not care to arouse the enmity of these dealers.

As a result of these men declining public office, men of mediocre qua ties have often been elected to Council, and THE TAXPAYERS HAVE BEEN MULCTED because of their poor judgment. With the license question so tled as it should be settled, many high class men would accept public office here and taxpayers would benefit because of the higher quality service rendered. In a later letter I will make plain some of the losses suffered because of this situation.

In the second place tens of thousands of dollars are annually sent out Hammonton to distillers and brewers, lost forever as far as Hammonton concerned. With license cut out these tens of thousands will remain in circulation here spent largely among Hammonton merchants and town, and cut down the tax rate some, perhaps, much. At any rate our mon vill be better off morally, mentally, physically and financially. They would or a plane consequent about a selection or processor and the consequence of the consequence of the consequence

Everyone will acknowledge that Hammonton needs an organization for the amusement, moral uplift, and education of its young men Although we have many organizations (ten or a dozen of them), not one of them is broad enough to take in all classes of people.

For the purpose of discussing this need, and means of filling that eed, a public meeting was called for Wednesday evening in Firemen's Hall. W. R. Seely was elected chairman, and I. I. Hearing chosen ecretary. There was an exchange of views on the subject, each one agreeing that an organization was needed, but one different from the Y. M. C. A., which excludes many desirable ones, should be adopted.

On motion, the chairman was authorized to appoint a committee of enty-five, who are to canvass the town, ascertain who would join, secure as much financial backing as possible, investigate desirable men's organizations, and report at a similar meeting called for Friday evening.

-We heartily approve of the above action, and hope that all men, oung and old, will enroll their names with the following committee:

N. C. Holdridge Geo. H. Parkhurat Thos. B. Delke. Dr. F. C. Burt Wm. O. Hovt Samuel B. Bank Wm. J. Bramar H. C. Doughty H. O. Packard C. C. Small Thomas Skinner C. F. Osgood W. J. Smith Wm. L. Black John G. Galigne John T. Kelley Dr. E. E. Allison A. L. Jackson Chas. P. Campanella Irvin 1. Hearing H. A. Driscoll Robert H. Sharpe Wm. Doerfel Charles Fitting

We believe a men's club or league could be formed, with the Home Guards as an auxiliary, and have one place of meeting. That would mean the erection of an armory, on a moderate scale, with a large drill hall, reading rooms, game rooms, shower baths, etc. Hammonton is not large enough to support many organizations; those already in ex-Next Wednesday will occur the big drive for second Liberty Loan istence are not any too prosperous; neither can she finance the erection

From Credit to Cash

Extended Credit is no longer a necessity. Changes during recent years often make charge accounts undesirable. Larger markups needed to carry accounts!

Some years ago we made a change in the basis of our iness, and we feel certain that it has been heartily chantes; partly for new huildings and improvements, the increased value of approved by our customers. Years ago, credit was a neceswhich will help raise the necessary funds for conducting the affairs of the sity: first, because custom demanded it; second, because when business began transportation and banking facilities be more efficient workers—A POINT THAT SHOULD APPEAL TO A TRUE were limited. But it is no longer a necessity; it has even become a burden on the customer, as well as on the dealer. the conduct of Councilmanic affairs. There would be a freedom of ac. | Money is more plentiful; the laborer gets his pay as soon. as he earns it, and the farmer may sell his produce when he wishes. It is more expensive to the buyer. Every time you buy a pair of shoes of us as a credit firm, you pay more for them than you would on a cash basis. We need less profit to keep our business on a sound business basis if you pay us cash, than if we must charge what you buy for six months or a year. Could a bank loan its money without interest, and be staple? Not very long. The principle is the same

Here is the way the cash basis applies to our business: Out of every dollar you spend for footwear, that part of it which would be required to carry the book account is handed back to you; and let us state that that part is five per cent.

Once more we will call your attention to the fact. that Victrolas are advancing in price.

To-day is your last chance!

After to-day they will advance again. We are lucky enough in having a few at the old price. We have three of the $15 ones in stock; after to-day they will cost you $20. A few at $27.50; after to-day, $30. And we are glad to say we have one of the $100, which will advance to $110. Act quickly, as you will save money. If you do not want it delivered until Christmas, we will keep it for you on a small deposit.

Call to the Housekeeper

T THIS HOUSEHAIDS HINTED TIN TRAY, DIVIDEI

By Elizabeth Lounsbery

ITH the end of the Summer vacation the Winter home, the housekeeper's first thought should be of the cleaning and reviving of her house, even before she prepares her children for the opening of school. This is necessary so that the usual routine of living can be carried on comfortably and without confusion, for the problem of shopping for the children and fitting them out for school will keep her fully occupied for some days; without the added detalls of house renovation. It is, therefore, well to begin the Full house cleaning early in September and, if possible, before the chtire household has moved back. One would suppose that with the modern simple style of furnishing no Pall house cleaning would be really required, providing a general daily sweeping and dusting of the house is conscientiously carried on For we have hardwood floors, now, in place of the dust-gathering carpets tacked close up to the surbase. We have fower drapertes—and those of a kind eastly brushed and cleaned. No massive cornices holding weighty lambrequins and double and triple sets of curlight and air.

But there are things to do in spite of the utmost care and precautions taken in the closing of a house for the Summer and endless paint to wash-for dust accumulates, notwithstanding, the closlahing degree.
