Communication.

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

You are not in the swim,—you must advocate the liquor question in all its branches, or you will not be "popular." Permit me to say a few words in defense of their noble cause.

In your editorial you speak of the moral effect on the community. That is all bosh; who cares for that? We are in the money-making business, and such small objections are not worth considering.

We have a license Council now,—just what we advocated all along. And we can license rum shops. Now let's build a gin mill, or champagne factory, then we will have more of the health-giving beverage; our purses will be full of money, our young men will become nobler, and there will be no further need of revival services. And while we are about it, let's have three or four "accommodation houses" (they say we have several now,—we can license and advertise them.) That will bring money into town; visitors will flock in on wheels, carriages, and trains. It will give work to carpenters and masons, (and if you will about for them, a "divi" will go in your pocket); it will keep our people awake, so they can buy water works and other things; and our taxes will be decreased. We could put a license of a few hundred dollars on each, and that is not to be sneezed at.

Some say that we would have to enlarge our lock-up, or build a jail; that's all talk. Why, you would almost imagine you had stepped into Heaven! You would never see an intoxicated person, unless 'twas one coming in from a neighboring town,—and he would immediately reform. Our homes would be pleasanter; the young men would go only to prayer meeting at night. As a result, a theological seminary would spring up in the center of our thriving city, and every mother's son and daughter would attend and prepare to do missionary work in other cities and other countries; and the once small town of Hammonton would be held up before the world, and lauded as a model.

Enough of such trash! No man who cares a straw for his fellow-men, for his own wife and children, will advocate a gin machine or anything of the kind. He may say that no one but a fool will use the stuff to excess. That may be true. But the "moderate" drinkers are those who become fools in time.

Now I do hope, in the interest of the coming generation, that the good moral thinking people will exert their influence in keeping out the damnable business.

GOOD MORALS.

The decrease of membership in the Grand Army of the Republic during the past year is notable. The total number on the roll is 310,468, a falling off of 21,154. In 1890 the membership was 400,489, and since then there has been a steady decrease. In these seven years 90,022 names have disappeared from their books. Meanwhile, the death roll increases.

Has the Democratic party in the country or in the state done anything that could be even a decent excuse for any Republican voter to help it at next Tuesday's ballot box? Think of its history during the past five years.

Seventy out of eighty-four railroads whose statements have been obtained by the Financial Chronicle show an increase in earnings during September, over those in the same month in 1896, of 13.67 per cent. There could hardly be a better test of the improvement in industrial and commercial conditions, for the railroads are among the first to feel a change in business, for either bad or good.

Like a good citizen, as he is, President McKinley will go home to vote. If we remember correctly, his predecessor could not find time to attend to that important duty, last year.

The Monroe doctrine may be "an insolent bluff," as Bismarck calls it, but it will not be healthy for the country that calls the bluff.

The Council of Administration, G.A.R., met in Jersey City last week Friday evening, and elected Samuel G. Hayter, Bloomfield, Department Commander, to succeed the late Emanuel Sands. Jas. Hogenkamp, Paterson, was elected to succeed Mr. Hayter as Senior Vice, and W. Frank Gaul, Camden, was made Junior Vice.

The trifling fact that gold is coming into the country in large quantities at New York, San Francisco, and other ports, and that the gold in circulation during the year has increased more than fifty million dollars, is proving rather embarrassing to the silver cause. The total increase in circulation, as shown by Treasury tables, has been over one dollar per capita in the past year, or, to be exact, $96,538,249.

Winter Excursion Tickets.

On Nov. 1st, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will place on sale at its principal ticket offices excursion tickets to all prominent winter resorts in New Jersey, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, and Cuba. The tickets will be sold at the usual low rates, with the usual liberal limits for return.

The magnificent facilities of the Pennsylvania Railroad, with its many connections, make this the favorite line for winter travel.

An illustrated book, descriptive of winter resorts, and giving routes of travel and rates for tickets, will be furnished free on application to any of our ticket agents.

TO THE VOTERS OF ATLANTIC COUNTY. Believing in a fair, liberal, and unprejudiced government, I trust that the voters will favor me with their confidence and support. In event of my election, I desire that the people of our City and County shall know that, as their representative, I will at all times advocate, without radical views, that which will be for the public benefit, believing that what is good for Atlantic City and County is good for us all. CHARLES E. COPE, Candidate for Assembly.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of a writ of fieri facias, to me directed, issued out of the New Jersey Court of Chancery, in a cause wherein the Hammonton Loan and Building Association is complainant and Justin S. Thayer et al. are defendants, I will expose to sale at public vendue, on Wednesday, Dec. 1, 1897,

at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at the hotel of Alexander Aitken, in Hammonton, Atlantic County, New Jersey.

All that certain tract or piece of land, situated, lying, and being in the Town of Hammonton, County of Atlantic, and State of New Jersey, beginning at the north corner of lands of Orrin Packard a few feet from Central Avenue between Peach and Grape Streets; thence extending (1) along the northeasterly side of said Packard's land southeasterly nine and nine hundredths rods to the side of Grape Street; thence (2) along the northwesterly side of Grape Street northeasterly six and sixteen hundredths rods to the westerly corner of Central Avenue and said Grape Street; thence (3) along the southerly side of Central Avenue westerly about ten and ninety-three hundredths rods to a stake or stone corner; thence (4) southwesterly on a line with Orrin Packard's westerly line from Third Street to Central Avenue about four feet to the place of beginning; being the same premises which William Bernshouse and wife conveyed to Justin Thayer by deed dated Aug. 16, 1893.

Republican Ticket.

For Assemblyman,
Leonard H. Ashley,
For Surrogate,
John S. Risley.
For Coroner,
Chas. Cunningham, M. D.

Election Day.

Next Tuesday, Nov. 2nd, will be general election day. There is no important issue before the people of Atlantic County, and no active canvass is being made. It is the quietest Fall campaign that we can remember.

Nevertheless, Republicans should not neglect the duty of voting. If for no other reason, the Republican ticket should be elected, that the Legislature of our State may not be again in the possession of the party which gave us the vicious race track law, attempted to steal the Senate, built a shabby State House at enormous expense and paid twice for portions of the work. History contains few records of praiseworthy deeds done when the Democracy was in power in New Jersey. Self-interest should prompt citizens to use every honorable means to keep the State Republican.

As to our candidates, there is no objection to be made to any of them. Mr. Ashley, for Assemblyman, is an honorable sober man—neither owns nor patronizes a bar-room; has sufficient experience and ability to fairly represent the County.

For Surrogate, John S. Risley has served well in the office for ten years, gives satisfaction to all, treats every one with courtesy, is very accommodating, and should be re-elected.

Dr. Chas. Cunningham will make an excellent Coroner. We should have one located at this end of the County. These two facts should be sufficient to induce every voter to support him.

It is a satisfactory ticket, and we advise voters to support it.

Our readers will recall the case of William Holmes, the colored tramp, who in August last was seized with sudden and mysterious illness, was taken in charge by Overseer of the Poor George Bernhouse, a physician and nurse provided, and everything possible done for his comfort. When he died, he was decently buried; and the Town paid the bills. His half-brother, in Richmond, Va., wrote to the Overseer and asked for a bill of all expenses, and in a subsequent letter stated that he was only a working man, but in sixty days would remit the amount in full. The time was up yesterday, but one day last week Mr. Bernhouse received a postal money order for nearly all the expense account, with a promise of the balance in a few days. It gives us great pleasure to record this instance of strict integrity in one of the colored race, upon whom rested no legal liability, and upon whom the law of the State has no claim. In recognition of this man's praiseworthy act, the Overseer proposes to have the lonely grave in Greenwood marked with name, age, and date of death of the unfortunate who lies beneath.

This complete novel in the November issue of Lippincott's is "The Price of a Wife," by John Strange Winter (Mrs. Stannard). It is a tale of English life, and one of the best which the author of "Brides" has written of late years. "For his own People," is a tale of Hawaiian life by Adeline Knapp, who has seen and crossed the terrible crater of Kilauea, which she describes. Wm. Thompson narrates "A Brazilian Adventure." Then there is "Government by Gentlemen," "Odyssey of a Famous Chateau" (California), a little romance on "Sioux Contrabands," etc. The poetry of the number is by Ella Higginson and Silvio M. Best.

Politicians who were ordered to appear at Mayor's Landing Oct. 20th, to try an Atlantic City murder case, were on hand Tuesday morning,—that is, all who could get there. But the Prosecutor and others from Atlantic were storm-bound, hence Court could do no business. On Wednesday the situation was unchanged, Court was postponed until the regular December term, and jury men discharged.

Mrs. D. B. Berry, though improving in health, deemed it wise to resign her position as teacher of the Kindergarten, which she did last Saturday. At a special meeting of the Board of Education, Tuesday evening, the resignation was accepted, and Miss Myrtle Smith, a graduate of our High School in the class of '97, was elected to fill the vacancy.

At their last meeting, Tuesday, the Board of Registration found the following number of voters on their list: first precinct, 350; second, 313. This is a gain of two in the first, in two weeks; the second is unchanged. The total, 663, is a loss of twelve since last March; but we read that everywhere a shortage is noted in registration.

Tuesday evening was the first pleasant evening since last week, and then everything was so very damp from several days of rain that many feared to venture out, even to hear the Fisk Jubilee Singers. Still, there was a good audience; and those who were present were well repaid. As we anticipated, it was a cultured rendition of old-time and new music. They are wonderful singers, and improve as time passes. Each one in the troupe is an artist, and the different parts were so well balanced, their voices so nicely blended, that no music lover could fail to appreciate and enjoy their entertainments.

MAIL ROUTE for sale,—next to George S. Stannard's, six rooms, electric bell, everything in good order. Lot 20 x 110 feet, located at this office.

The strong east and north-east wind of Sunday caused high tides all along the Jersey coast. The meadows this side of Atlantic City were flooded—railroad tracks being covered nearly all day Monday. The Reading's roadbed, being high, was the last to disappear; but that fact also caused it to receive the most damage,—the track was swept from its bed, and much of the bed washed away. Several hundred car-loads of gravel and rock have been used in repairs. No mail was received until Thursday evening, from Atlantic. The damage in and about Atlantic City was not as great as might have been expected.

Firemen's Interstate Carnival.

For the Firemen's Interstate Carnival at Trenton, N. J., Wednesday, Nov. 10, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets from New York City and all points on its line in New Jersey; in Pennsylvania east of and including Harrisburg; Lock Haven, Littlestown, and Nottingham; in Delaware north of and including Newark and Dover, at rate of single fare for the round trip (no less rate than twenty-five cents) tickets to be sold Nov. 9 and 10, good to return until Nov. 11, 1897.

CEALED PROPOSALS will be received by the Board of Aldermen and Finance Committee of the Board of Ocean Freeholders, at the Aylmer, Smith's Landing, N. J., on Thursday, Nov. 4th, 1897, at 11 o'clock a. m., for the creation of a Barr on the Almshouse property. The plans and specifications may be seen at the office of Judge Joseph Thompson, Hammononton, and at the Aylmer, Smith's Landing. The Committee reserve the right to reject any or all bids, and will require to be deposited with bid certified check for Fifty Dollars as an evidence of good faith, and a suitable bond of the successful bidder.

The Grandest Remedy.
Mr. R. B. Groves, merchant, of Chibbio, Va., certifies that he had consumption, was given up to die, sought all medical treatment that money could procure, tried all cough remedies he could hear of, but got no relief; spent many nights sitting up in a chair; was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery, and was cured by the use of two bottles. For the past three years has been attending to business, and says Dr. King's New Discovery is the greatest remedy ever made, as it has done so much for him and also for others in his community. Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed for coughs, colds, and consumption. It doesn't fail. Trial bottles free, at Dr. King's store.

Teachers' Institute.

The coming Teachers' Institute, which will be held jointly with Gloucester County in Atlantic City, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week, promises to be one of the best, from the standpoint of actual benefit to be derived ever held in the County," remarked County Superintendent S. D. Hoffman. The services of a number of eminent educators have been secured.

The day sessions will be held in the Assembly Room of the High School at Arctic and Illinois Avenues, and on Thursday and Friday evenings there will be lectures in the First Presbyterian Church.

The chief instructors will be Prof. M. G. Brumbaugh, of the University of Pennsylvania, whose lectures are each satisfaction last year, and Dr. Emerson White, of the West Chester (Pa.) State Normal School. Among others who will participate in the program are Dr. Baxter, State Supt. of Education; Prof. Vernon L. Davis, Supervising Principal of the Orange schools; Miss Buckbee, who did considerable institute work throughout the State last year, and a member of the faculty of the Normal School, perhaps Prof. Appat, always acceptable, or Miss Williams.

Wednesday evening will be devoted to a social session, on which occasion the teachers will make themselves acquainted with each other. On Thursday evening Dr. White will lecture, and on Friday evening, Prof. Brumbaugh. The latter charmed several large audiences during last year's Institute.

All teachers are required by law to attend the Institute, and are paid the same as though they were engaged in regular school work. The Institutes long ago proved to be beneficial, and are now considered indispensable and approved by all educators. There will be about three hundred teachers from the two Counties.

The Revival Services.

Rev. Mr. Gell preached on Sunday morning to an audience reduced in size by the storm,—but numerous enough to testify to the earnestness of the people to hear.

In the afternoon Mr. Gell addressed a large audience of "men only," on "Personal Purity." It was very appropriate,—couched in good old-fashioned language, which none could pretend to misunderstand; and if only those present will follow the advice given, Hammononton will be the better for the Evangelist's visit.

There was a larger audience in the evening, in spite of the severe storm. After the services, all who desired gave Mr. Gell a cordial hand shake, many expressing their gratitude to him and good wishes for his success elsewhere.

During the remainder of the week, Pastors Rundall and Killian alternated in preaching, and united in the after work. The series of meetings closed Thursday evening.

There has been an untold amount of good seed sown during the past weeks; some have already born fruit; other must be left to Him in whose name the work was done. It was an honest, prayerful effort, and cannot fail of good results. So may it be.

HERE'S A CHAINLESS BICYCLE

to Inventor Claims Development of Speed of a Mile a Minute.

American wheel manufacturers no longer seek novelties in chainless wheels. In Europe, however, where the subject is still a matter of thought and a Detroit man believes that he has found a satisfactory solution of the problem. The new wheel promises to be very speedy and its inventor claims that by its aid a mile in one minute will be an accomplished fact.

The inventor is a skilled mechanic. While working at his trade, making a lot of patterns for a shaping machine, the idea for his chainless bicycle occurred to him; namely, the application of the principle of the motion of the taper. To all mechanics who understand the motion the idea will be justly clear. The general plan of the driving mechanism is that of an internal gear combined with compound cranks. The internal gear has a projecting arm which contains a slot in combination with the pedal cranks. The tremendous gain in crank power is more than sufficient to compensate for the slight increase of friction in the hub gear over that in chain gearing. The greatest advantage is that while transmitting the power to the pedal crank there is a gain of three inches actual leverage over the present model. With very little trouble the pinions can be changed (known as changing the gear) so as to convert the wheel from a racer to a road wheel. Another special feature is that the wheel base or distance between the points of contact with the ground, is 8 to 10 inches shorter than in the chain geared bicycle, which is an advantage in making short turns.

The rider sits directly over the rear wheel, the saddle being changed at will, as in all bicycles—although the position will be identical with that assumed on the ordinary "safety" and can provide real difference between riding a chain-driven wheel. The weight will not exceed 24 pounds. All bearings are either roller- or ball-bearings so as to minimize friction. The gears and bearings are enclosed in dust-proof shells. The wheel can be placed on the market in chainless style and workmanship for $125.

The Pet Cat.

It is not uncommon nowadays to see some one carrying a cat or kitten through the streets, and the well-fed condition of the creature presupposes it is not a stray or pick-up being rescued from a career of poverty. Generally it is a pretty young woman who holds puppy in her arms, and she stands at a white post waiting to take a cat. At this season the tabbies are in demand. The pet cat has returned to town with the rest of the family, and is being taken home. To the credit of the feline race he is said these little cats take matters calmly and exhibit none of the nervousness accredited to ordinary cats. It is just as one brings up a kitten, whether it loses its head in a crowd, and won't listen to reason when obliged to travel like other folks. Now the other day, in an electric, I sat opposite to a lovely specimen of chin-chilla and white fur, with eyes that would make the fortune of a stage beauty. They were so blue and bright, and the denouncer was beautiful to behold. Down it cuddled in its mistress's lap, and after dutifully wagging one paw, fell asleep, an odd sight, the cat being so much like a dog. It belonged to a remarkably pretty young man, whose gentle manners with a little girl who accompanied her showed that all pots would be treated with kind consideration by her. But the detour they then made was certainly entailed by the presence of the cat. I wonder why it is that a young girl and a kitten are such an attractive combination. Boston Herald.

Lincoln and the Police Officer.

One night during the civil war, while the loyal part of the city of Washington was greatly excited by rumors, there was a free fight near the old National Theater. An officer, seeing what was going on, raised his voice and commanded peace. The fight stopped for a moment; then one of the leaders, a notorious bully, pushed the officer and ordered him to begone, or he would whip him. The officer advanced upon the bully, and said: "Arrest you?" At the word the man struck a fearful blow at the officer's face.

The officer parried the blow, and the next instant struck the fellow under the chin and knocked him senseless. His neck seemed to be broken, and a surgeon, who was hastily called, pronounced the case a critical one, and ordered the man taken to a hospital. There the surgeons said there was no chance of the brain, and that the man would die.

The policeman was in great distress of mind, and after seeing that everything possible had been done for the injured man, he betook himself to the White House. He was on terms of intimacy with President Lincoln, it appears, and thought it was by this time 2 o'clock in the morning, he woke the President and requested him to come into his office.

Mr. Lincoln listened to the officer's story with great interest. Then he asked a few questions, and finally said:

"I am sorry you had to kill the man; but these are times of war, and a great many men deserve killing. This man, according to your story, is one of them; so give yourself no uneasiness about the matter. I will stand by you."

"That isn't what I came to you," I knew I did my duty, and had no fears of your disapproval. But I felt so sorry over the death of a man who was so good as you, that I wanted to talk to you about it."

Mr. Lincoln saw how deeply the man was affected, and answered him accordingly, laying his hand on his shoulder as he spoke.

"Well, go home now and get some sleep," he said. "But let me give you a piece of advice: hereafter, when you have occasion to strike a man, don't hit with your fist. Strike him with a club, or a crozier, or something that won't kill him."

The officer went home, but not to sleep, says Mr. Lamon, from whose "Reflections" we have extracted the foregoing. The tragedy had produced too great an effect upon him. But he never forgot Mr. Lincoln's kindness, a kindness of which he must have had many previous experiences, or he would hardly have called the President of the United States out of bed in the middle of the night to make him a confidant and sympathizer.

Why People Get Dizzy.

Doctors give a very curious reason why people get dizzy when they gaze down from great heights.

There is at the back of every person's brain another small brain, quite covered by its larger neighbor, and the particular work that engages it is to collect and co-ordinate the various sensations brought to the brain. It is, in fact, the brain's collector and co-ordinator. When we read aloud, for example, the eyes, ears, hands, mouth, etc., all work harmoniously together, and they are regulated and controlled by the "little brain."

Remove this, as a vibrationist might call it, and the person might be otherwise perfectly unimpaired, but it is a very serious matter, and it is a very serious matter, and it is a very serious matter.

Time Too Limited.

Who Could Not Strike a Match.

"You are charged with riding on the public highway after dark without a lighted lamp," said the magistrate, sternly. "Have you anything to say in your defense?"

"If you please, your honor," replied the fair bicyclist, tremblingly, "my lamp went out."

"That is what they all say," said his Honor, sternly. "Did you not know your lamp was really a candle?"

"Yes, sir," admitted the wheelwoman, with downcast eyes.

"Then I can see no excuse for you," said the court.

Still he wished to be lenient if he could. "Had you no match?" he asked, more kindly.

"Yes, your Honor," she stammered. "I had a match, but it was a bad one, and it went out."

"In that case I shall have to sentence you to—"

"O, please don't, Mr. Judge," implored the girl. "I can explain."

"It is true, your Honor, that I had a match," she pleaded, with crimson cheeks, "but—"

The magistrate was all attention. "Was the first time I had ever worn bloomers?"

There was a look of compassion on the judicial face now.

A Street-Car Comedy.

Even the worn will turn says a New York Herald reporter, who believes in preserving one's originality. The remark was drawn forth by something he had just seen in a Madison Avenue car, into which entered a middle-aged and stately-looking man. At a first glance the car seemed to be already full, but the anxious gaze of the newcomer detected the fact that a certain rough-lad was really occupying space enough for three passengers, or as the reporter puts it, "had pre-empted a 15-cent reservation."

The pale gentleman stepped in from of her and waited, but she did not move. The reporter says that "her thoughts were full of Easter." At all events, she made no sign of surrendering any part of her "reservation."

Her next neighbor, however, was more considerate, or less deeply absorbed, and by means of a little crowding in the other direction, cleared space enough so the man could sit down "as a guest," to borrow once more the reporter's language.

Still the youngish lady with the inflated sleeves kept her place, and the gentleman, weary of his narrow quarters, just then a woman who "had the breadth of the Liberty statue" boarded the car, market-bag in hand.

The gentleman might be in feeble health, but his heart was chivalric. He rose at once, and with gracious civility motioned the market-woman into his place. She accepted the favor, and the gentleman retired to the platform, the other passengers looking alternately at him and at the young lady whose side he had just left.

That elegantly dressed person, if we are to accept the reporter's version of the affair, turned red, white and blue, besides biting her lips, looking daggers, and performing several other feats little less wonderful.

Then she signalled a stop, and as she left the car those who were standing on the platform "heard a hissing sound like the word 'brute.'"

Comradeship of Miners.

A touching incident is reported from the Australian province of Victoria. A miner met with an accident and broke his leg. The nearest doctor was at Oran, thirty-eight miles away. He was sent for, but could not leave the town, where several serious cases claimed his attention. The miner's mates thereupon decided to carry the sufferer to Oran, and thirty-two of them have improvised a rough stretcher and carried the poor man there in a day and a half. They had to traverse the roughest country in Queensland and to cross a river and two creeks, all of which were in flood. They got their man into the doctor's hands in time to save his life.

An eminent preacher, who prided himself upon his ability to discourse without the aid of notes, once got into the pulpit but, when he found himself face to face with his congregation, his ideas vanished, his mind was a blank. He tapped his forehead, but in vain, his ideas would not come. "My friends," he said, "I am not a great man, but I am a great man."

Two freight engines collided near the Kentucky town of Whitlock recently. Both were pretty badly damaged, and one engineer was discharged for carelessness and disobedience of orders. The funniest thing about the matter was the answer of the disobedient engineer to the other, who asked, "Didn't you have orders to meet me at Whitlock?" "Well, d—n it, I ain't met you," said the engineer who caused the head-on collision.

A friend of mine, says James Payn, had a colonial acquaintance who was very like a certain eminent diplomatist, and plumed himself upon it. My friend met him one evening at a reception, with ever so large a star on his breast. "Oh, come, Jack, this won't do," I don't believe in orders, and I don't believe in stars."

Conan Doyle tells a story of a friend of his who had often been told that there is a skeleton in the cupboard of every household, and that he was a respectable that household may be, and he determined to put this opinion to a practical test. Selecting for the subject of his experiment a venerable archbishop of the church, against whom the most censorious critics had never breathed a word, he went to the nearest postoffice and dispatched this telegram to the reverend gentleman: "All is discovered! Fly at once!" The archbishop was displeased and has never been heard of since.

The Bishop of Worcester, England, once had occasion to travel through Danbury by rail. Being desirous to see and at the same time to encourage the far-famed industry of that town, he beckoned a small boy and inquired the price of the celebrated buns. "Three-pence each," said the boy. The bishop thereupon handed him sixpence and desired him to bring one to the car, adding, "And with the other three-pence you may buy one for yourself."

The boy shortly returned, accompanied by a smiling boy, and handed him the three-pence in exchange to the bishop, exclaiming: "There was only one left, your honor."

A careless man dropped a brick from the second story of a building on which he was at work. Landing over the wall and glancing downward, he discovered a respectable citizen with his arm outstretched and his eyes and ears, rising from a recumbent posture. The man, in tones of apprehension, inquired, "Did that brick hit any one down there?" The citizen, with great difficulty extricating himself from the extinguisher into which his hat had been converted, replied, with considerable wrath, "Yes, sir, it did. It hit me."

"That's right," exclaimed the man, in tones of unalloyed admiration; "able man, I would rather have wasted a thousand bricks than have you tell me a lie about it."

Some years ago Judge Shipps, of Princeton, was pleading a charge case before the Illinois Supreme bench. A short time before the court had decided in an almost similar case, in which one of the parties was a woman, against the injured man, saying in their decision: "The party being an attorney, his injury does not keep him from 'blatting' those heights where the country is (unquestioned) and is Shipps was deep in the point of law when his remarks were interrupted by the justice who wrote the former decision, who said: "Was not this point covered in a decision about three years by this court?" "Yes, your honor," replied the attorney. "It was, but my client has lost his law, and has no chance to 'blat' those heights, etc."

The other justice (unquestioned) and the lawyer was allowed to finish in peace.

"Well, d—n it, I ain't met you," said the engineer who caused the head-on collision.

A friend of mine, says James Payn, had a colonial acquaintance who was very like a certain eminent diplomatist, and plumed himself upon it. My friend met him one evening at a reception, with ever so large a star on his breast. "Oh, come, Jack, this won't do," I don't believe in orders, and I don't believe in stars."

Conan Doyle tells a story of a friend of his who had often been told that there

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.
Edwin Adams, Executor of James C. Adams deceased, by direction of the Surrogate of the County of Atlantic, hereby gives notice to the creditors of the said James C. Adams to bring in their debts, demands, and claims against the estate of the said deceased, under oath, within nine months from this date, or they will be forever barred of any action therefor against the said executor.
Dated Sept. 24, A. D. 1897.
EDWIN ADAMS, Executor.

NOTICE OF REGISTRATION AND ELECTION.
Notice is hereby given that the several Boards of Registry and Election of Atlantic County will meet on Tuesday, Oct. 12, 1897, at the place where the next election in their district will be held, at ten o'clock in the morning, and remain in session (except from one to two o'clock) until nine o'clock in the evening, for the purpose of making up from the canvassing books two lists or registers of the names, residences and street numbers, if any, of all persons in their respective election districts entitled to the right of suffrage therein at the next election, or who shall personally appear before them for that purpose, or who shall be shown to the satisfaction of such Board of Registry and Election to have legally voted in that election district at the last preceding election therein for a member of the General Assembly, or who shall be shown by the affidavit in writing of some voter in that election district to be a legal voter therein.

And notice is hereby further given that the said Board of Registry and Election will also meet on Tuesday, Oct. 26, 1897, at the place of their former meeting at the hour of 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and remain in session until 9 o'clock in the evening for the purpose of revising and correcting the original registers, or adding thereto the names of all persons entitled to the right of suffrage in that election district at the next election, or who shall appear in person before them, or who shall be shown by the written affidavit of some voter in said election district to be a legal voter therein, and of erasing therefrom the name of any person who, after a fair opportunity to be heard, shall be shown not to be entitled to vote therein by reason of non-residence or otherwise.
And notice is hereby further given that the County Board of Elections will be in session in the Court House at May's Landing, on Saturday, Oct. 30, 1897, for the purpose of revising and correcting the aforesaid register of voters, by ordering erased therefrom the name of any person who shall be shown to the satisfaction of said Board, for any cause, not to be entitled to vote at the next election in the election district where he is registered, and of adding to said registers the names of any person or persons who shall prove to the satisfaction of said Board, by affidavit or otherwise, his right to vote at the ensuing election.

General Election.
And notice is hereby further given that the next general election will be held on Tuesday, November 2, 1897, commencing at six o'clock in the morning and closing at seven o'clock in the evening.

And notice is hereby further given that on the aforesaid day of the general election, Nov.
2, 1897, the County Board of Election will be in session at the County Court House in May's Landing, from eight o'clock in the forenoon, to five o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of ordering added to the registration lists the names of such persons as shall then satisfy the Board of their right to vote on that day.
Done in accordance with an act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, entitled a "further supplement to an act to regulate elections," approved May 28, 1890, and the amendments thereto.

Something to Know.
It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigil is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centres in the stomach, gently stimulates the liver and kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50 c.
and $1 per bottle, at Croft's drug store.

George M. Bowles,
Cherry Street and the New County Road, Hammononton.

Born September 18, 1841.
For more than Fifty-six Years it has Never Failed in its Weekly Visits to the Homes of Farmers and Villagers throughout the United States.
It has faithfully labored for their prosperity and happiness, for the improvement of their business and home interests, for education, for the elevation of American manhood and true womanhood.
It has told at the fireside, interesting and instructive stories of the doings of the world, the nation, and states.
It has advised the farmer as to the most approved methods of cultivating and harvesting his crops, and the proper time to convert them into the largest possible amount of money.
It has led in all matters pertaining to the welfare of farmers and villagers, and for over half a century has held their confidence and esteem.
It is the New York Weekly Tribune, and we furnish it with the Republican (to all our Atlantic County subscribers) one year for $1.25, cash in advance.
Address orders to South Jersey Republican.
