D. C. HERBERT,

Sunday School Convention.

The thirtieth annual convention of the Atlantic County Sunday School Association was held in the M. E. Church at Port Republic, last week Friday, Oct. 23rd. Morning, afternoon and evening sessions were held. At 10:30 the Pastor of the Church led a devotional service, which was a good start for the meetings which were to follow. Many good thoughts were received from the Home Department conference, led by Prof. E. D. Riley. Every Township was represented, there being 63 delegates besides the local, and their reports were certainly encouraging. The committees on nominations and resolutions met at one o'clock, as did also the primary teachers, with Mrs. T. Earl Budd as leader, for their conference.

The 1:30 praise service was followed by an address by State Secretary E. M. Ferguson on the work of the State S. S. Association. Cor. Secretary and Treasurer Tice made his annual report, and also resigned to take up work in another field. A rising vote of thanks was given for his efficient work. Mrs. Budd gave practical examples of how to teach primary departments. Rev. Gilmore addressed on the responsibility of the Sunday School faculty.

The committees on nominations and resolutions gave their reports at this time.

The following officers were nominated and elected:

President.—W. R. Tilton, Hammonton.
1st V. P.—Rev. A. Douglass, Pleasantville.
2nd V. P.—Rev. O. D. Sinkinson, Atlantic.
3rd V. P.—Rev. H. L. Eundell, Hammonton.
Cor. Sec. and Treasurer.—E. D. Riley, May's Landing.
Rec. Sec.—Chas. Wray, Victoria.
State Ex. Com.—Wilson Sensesman, Atl.
Ex. Com.—J. W. Johnson, Port Republic.
Mark Parnell, Atlantic; Rev. A. K. Stalger, Atlantic.

Township Secretaries.—
Absecon, Miss Georgia Townsend.
Atlantic City, R. P. Harris.
Buena Vista, Chas. Wray, Victoria.

Hammonton, Wm. O. Hoyt.
Littwood, Lewis Steelman.
Mullica, L. L. Holden, Elwood.
Pleasantville, Miss Belle Cheesman.

The evening praise and song service was followed by addresses,—one by J. C. Price on the great International S. S. Convention at Boston, and the other by Rev. W. D. Roberts, of Camden, on "The Glorious Mission of S. S. Teachers."

This was conceded by all to have been the best convention ever held in Atlantic County.

By vote, the next convention will be held in May's Landing.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS.

Clipping from the South Jersey Republican of July 1st, 1890, found by a town councilman among his papers.

One evening recently, while we were standing in the shadow cast by the coal oil lamps on one of our dimly lighted avenues, we heard several gray haired old gentlemen, relics of town council, discussing the question of contract for electric lights. We may say still discussing, for they have had the matter in hand since the Fall of 1886, and now contemplate calling in an expert electrician who is manager of the "Nesco Electric Light and Power Co.," for his opinion as to the needs of our little town of 4000 inhabitants, the councilmen congratulating themselves that their delay has kept our population from increasing during the past fifty years, hence no increase in power is necessary, hence economy. One or two obstructionists on council have passed away, ripe in years of idleness and inertia, while their feeble fellow members are left to struggle with the problem long since solved by every little hamlet in our state. A great-grandson of that sterling old Populist, Ex-Gov. P. H. Jacobs, in an interview gave us some interesting facts relative to the contract made by the city of Buffalo many years ago, upon that city's first venture in electric street lighting, and added that now not only are the streets, factories, theatres and stores using this light, but the humblest mill hand and berry picker enjoys in his home this inexpensive privilege, brought about by an active, intelligent, and progressive council. With characteristic humor, this scion of the Jacobs tree related how his ancestor would take him on his knee and talk of light and candle power until his head felt like a dynamo in full operation. We distinctly remember the Ex-Governor's interest in the subject for it was in the year of McKinley's election, and we were equally enthusiastic on both issues. Two sad faced young men, descendants of the electricians who proposed the original contract, were present, and gravely expressed a hope that the councilmen would come together and do some real work, to the end that by 1955 the last of oil lamps would be seen, and the Hammonton Electric light plant be in operation. The gray-haired councilmen are still discussing as we go to press.

The Italian voters have not been neglected in this campaign. Much quiet work has been done among them by the Silverites; and this has lately been more than offset by the judicious labors of Prof. A. Monteleone, editor of the L'Aurora, of Providence, R. I. Last Tuesday evening a meeting was held at the residence of Matteo D'Agostino, on Fairview Avenue, addressed by the professor, and a Republican Club organized, with the following enrollment:

President, Pietro Anastasio.
Vice Pres., Antonio Rosa.
Secretary, Matteo D'Agostino.

The elaborate system of ventilation used in our new Central school building has not proven a success. Complaints of foul odors from the closets in the basement have been made from time to time, but nothing done about it. On Tuesday last, however, these odors became so unbearable that members of the Board were sent for, and they promptly ordered all the schools dismantled for the afternoon, and the entire building opened. Complaint was made to the company which put in the system. They sent a string of type-written questions in regard to the manner of observing rules. These have been replied to, and just what will be done about it remains undecided. The only violation of these rules, so far as we can learn, is the opening of a school-room window or two occasionally, and this is made absolutely necessary by the felt want of ventilation.

Every man in Hammonton would do himself credit if he voted for M. L. Jackson for Assemblyman.

of preaching, but it is the winter grain; and though the snows of worldliness may come and cover the seed, it will still grow and come to harvest. Let us be sure we sow the right kind of seed. Sow mules and stags and lions and tigers and bears and all manner of thistles and Canada thistles will come up. Sow wheat and wheat will come up. Let us sow the seed of the word of God. Let us know the difference between wheat and le-ho-rah, oak and hembra.

There is a great difference in the farm there must be a barrow. I refer now not to a harrow that goes over the field in order to break up the clods, but to a barrow in which goes over after the seed is sown, but the birds pick up the seed, sinking it into the ground.

You know a barrow. It is made of bars of wood nailed across each other, and the underneath is covered with iron plates, with teeth, and the horses are hitched to it. It goes tearing and leaping across the field, and the birds are not able to pick up the spruce up in the harvest. Bereavement, sorrow, penitence are the Lord's harrows.

Agate, I remark, in grace as in farming, there is a time for threshing. I tell you bluntly that is death. Just as the farmer with a flail beats the wheat out of the straw, every sickness is a stroke of the flail, and the sickened lie in the threshing floor. What, say you, is death to a good man only taking the wheat out of the straw? That is all. An angel man had fallen asleep. Only yesterday you saw him in the sunny porch playing

IN IMPERIAL ROME.

A Jewish Boy Who Entered One of the Famous Fort Hoses,

Rome was a mighty city in those days. It had many a mile of streets and avenues, reaching out into the surrounding country, until nobody could tell where the city ended, although everybody knew that its center was on a hill at the capitol. Far from the capitol, but still within the city, was the amphitheater, where the most wonderful shows were given that the world has ever known. There were wild beasts and men were made to fight by thousands, for the shows were murderous, and the vast sandy arena of the amphitheater was often stained with blood.

"O Jewish boy, who art thou?" asked Crispus, in Aramaic, with an accent that made Cyril's heart beat.

"I am Cyril Ben Ezra, of the house of Kish," replied Cyril, staring hard at the grim, iron-mouthed official, for something in the man's face seemed familiar.

led away by the Awarit to one of the outbuildings of the amphitheatre. It was, as we have seen, a kind of shed in which were kept the men who were in training for the races. Many of them were mere slaves put there by their owners, in hope that they might win a prize for their masters. At all events Cyrell was to have shelter and food, but the boarding house or jail of the numerous addled great deas of public authority, and he was kept awake all night by the roaring of angry lions for the thousands except over Rome and the hundred-throned kings of forest or plain responded with thunderous roars of their own making. — St. Nicholas.

the same little Myra Bromley married her Harry Capel. For one thing, he was the first man who had asked her to be his wife; and for another, she was very genuinely in love with him, indeed.

She migrated from her "combined flat" in the Kensington quarter to a furnished apartment in Maddox street, and here, on the first floor of a large house, the ill-assorted couple began housekeeping.

Sometimes Mr. Capel said. At first it gave matrimony, and marriage had proved as empty as the rest. There was nothing more to pursue than a life of sin, without religion, the more so because he had no religion at the moment of his birth. From the first contemplation of little Myra Bromley's face, he had wanted to clear out of the Maddox street lodging and take a couple of miles somewhere on gravel. He balanced his cash and decided that he was justified in feeling like that. He had a little money, a dinner and a nurse called afterward. As for Myra, he didn't want any more to do with her. She left him, and he did not intend to be drunk of her again. It was his "re-creation," he told himself bitterly, for he had seen her recriminations and everything. He felt that he had been from encouraging to note that the estimate shows an increase of $1,000,000 over the previous year. Of this kind of stealing is done of good education, and at least opportunities for honest success. The main cause is the too prevalent desire to gain wealth and enjoy life without hard work—to get something for nothing.

If the most valuable lessons that can be learned is that everything worth having is worth the effort to get it, then the world is a better place.

She then appealed to a London magistrate to take action on her behalf. He, although he contemptuously refused to do so, was the owner of the lost property in the shape of a man. It compelled the ungrateful fellow to return her suitably. Indeed, he was cold comfort from the London magistrate. He laughed loudly at her accusation, but frankly told her that she could do nothing for her. He would have acted wisely if he had gone to the police with the stolen property.

LAST WORDS.

The campaign is now virtually ended. The issues have been plainly set forth, and voters have doubtless decided as to whom they will support next Tuesday. Mr. McKinley, Republican candidate for President, stands for protection to American industries; for a tariff that will at once pay all obligations of the government and foster such a diversity of productions as will secure home markets and prosperity. He is for sound money, for a gold basis to United States currency, the only means of securing stability to value to our circulating medium, and to property. He favors a stalwart patriotism, which will support the government in each of its branches, believing that our Constitution is wisely framed, our Courts equal to the best in the world. He is an experienced legislator, a born leader of men, an honorable Christian man; a model in his home life, loved by his townsmen. In all respects he is worthy of your support.

Mr. Hobart is a fitting companion on our ticket. Of him, as of Major McKinley, no word of ill report has been spoken, none can be, truthfully.

Vote for McKinley and Hobart. For Congressman, John J. Gardner, who has served this district well for two years, who for several terms was this County's state Senator. A faithful guardian of his people's interests, a fearless man in denunciation of wrong, able to fill the office with credit to himself and his constituents. Vote for him.

For Assemblyman, M. L. Jackson, needs no introduction. For many years in business in Hammonton, nearly every man, woman and child in his friend; for years a member of the Board of Freeholders, well acquainted in all parts of the County; last year our representative at Trenton, no act of his being adversely criticized, he will be a more useful legislator in the future. If all voters do their duty, he will receive the highest majority ever given to an Atlantic County candidate. Vote for him.

For Sheriff, Samuel Kirby. Coming here almost a total stranger, he has won many friends. He has the ability to serve the county well. Give him your vote.

For Coroner, Elisha S. Ingersoll. We know him to be a straight man. Help us elect him.

On Monday evening, Professor Alonzo Williams, of the Chair of Languages in Brown University, Providence, R. I., addressed a meeting in Jackson's Hall, in the interests of McKinley and Hobart. We have heard many lectures, many political addresses, but have never heard this man's equal. On every phase of the issues of this campaign he was equally good. On statistics of crops, prices, commerce, money, coinage, he is a "living encyclopedia" of information. Liberally educated, a teacher of men, with advantage of extensive travel, he ought to be, and is, an eloquent speaker; and gifted with a pleasing address, he held a large audience for nearly two and a half hours. He has been speaking in several of the Western States for three months, and bid his hearers to disown all fears, for McKinley and Hobart are to be elected by strong majorities.

By spring the West Jersey and Seashore (C. & A.) R. R. will have completed their double track. Mr. Edward Cunningham (brother of our Councilman and the Doctor), the civil engineer, has completed the survey through Hammonton. The new track will be on the north side of the present one.

The C. E. Rally, held in the Presbyterian Church, Wednesday eve., though not attended by the large number expected (because of the parade), was none the less inspiring. Five societies were represented. An interesting program, led by District Sec'y E. E. L. Tice, opened with a song service, with Scripture, prayer, and a solo by Mrs. Harry Benjamin. Miss Hewitt gave an interesting report of the Junior's, the addresses and exercises at the Philadelphia convention. Following this, Rev. J. C. Killian reported, giving good thoughts from the several speakers. A hymn was followed by a consecration service, led by Mr. Ash, many taking part. A committee previously appointed suggested and urged the formation of a district union, including Elwood, Egg Harbor, Folsom, Newtonville, Westcottville, and the two Hammonton societies. The meeting voted to organize and appointed a committee on nominations, which after consultation presented the following:

President, H. R. Randall, Hammonton.

Vice Pres., Mr. Saver, Egg Harbor.

Secretary, A. W. Goff, Hammonton.

Treasurer, Miss M. Wood, "

By vote, the above were constituted a committee to make necessary arrangements, and call a meeting of the Union. After singing "Bliss Be the Tie That Binds," the meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

The member of Council who advocated the employment of an electric engineer to draw plans and specifications and superintend the erection of an electric lighting plant forgot, evidently, that the town is to buy the product, not the plant. When a sample of the goods is produced, the town may, if thought best, have it tested, to ascertain whether it is equal to the contract power. Law specifies how the work shall be done, and the National Board of Underwriters will inspect it before a wheel is set in motion, — and this will not cost the town one cent.

Early Tuesday evening, a party of young Italians had a slight "scrup," near Anderson's store, and when several Americans approached, one of the Italians grasped one of the Americans by the neck, and struck at him with a ferocious looking knife. Fortunately, there were others, and the miscreant was somewhat rattled before he escaped and ran up street. He may hear of the affair again, for Americans don't relish being carved.
