

South Jersey Republican

Hoyt & Sons, Publishers.

Terms--$1.25 Per Year.

VOL. 33.

HAMMONTON, N. J., NOVEMBER 2, 1895.

NO. 44

Many People

know a good thing when they see it,

but this is a matter of taste.

Try one of our

Banquet Cheese

and you will be convinced that it is not only a good thing, but unsurpassed in everything that goes to make up an excellent article.

It comes to us in very attractive Glass Jars, with self-sealing covers, filled with the choicest of Cream Cheese.

30 cents per jar is the price.

Frank E. Roberts,
Grocer.

Full Line of Groceries, Provisions, Flour, Feed, Hay, &c.

—AT—

P. S. TILTON & Co's
Hammonton.

Orders called for,
Carefully filled, and Promptly delivered
We solicit your patronage.

Henry Kramer, Manufacturer and Dealer in FANCY SHINGLES
Posts, Pickets, etc.
BERRY CRATES.
Folsom, N. J.

Lumber sawed to order.
Orders received by mail promptly filled,
Prices Low.

JOHN ATKINSON,
Tailor,
Second Street and Bellevue Ave.,
Hammonton.

Garments made in the best manner.
Booring and Repairing promptly done.
Rates reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed in every case.

Blankets

and

Quilts

in good variety now in stock.

We are selling

Flour

that is made entirely from old wheat,
and
the price is low.

Call and see

GEORGE ELVINS,

Bellevue Ave. & Main Road.

Bring us your orders for Job Printing.

Wm. G. HOOD

Successor to Alex. Aitken
Hammonton Hotel

Livery and Boarding Stable.

Carting and Delivering of all kinds done promptly, on short notice.
Single and Double Carriages to hire,
by the day or hour.

GO TO

Wm. Bernshouse's
Lumb'r Yard

For all kinds of Lumber, Mill-work, Window-glass,
Brick, Lime, Cement, Plaster, Hair, Lath, etc.

Light Fire Woods
For Summer use.

We manufacture
Berry Crates & Chests
Of all kinds. Also,
Cedar Shingles.

We have just received our Spring stock of goods.

Can furnish very nice Pennsylvania Hemlock At Bottom Prices. Manufacture our own Flooring. Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Our specialty, this Spring, will be full frame orders.

Your patronage solicited.

For the information of all interested, we give the division of the Town into Road Districts, as established many years ago:

First District. All streets and roads south of Camden and Atlantic Railroad.

Second. All from C. & A. R. R. to a line parallel with and eighty rods north-east of Main Road, County line to line of Broadway.

Third. From above eighty rod line to a parallel line eighty rods north-east of Myrtle Street,—from County line to Laurel Avenue.

Fourth. All roads from C. & A. R. R. east, including Broadway.

Fifth. From eighty rod line above Myrtle Street, to Atsion.

Town Council met on Saturday evening, 26th inst. Present, all but Mr. Little.

Bills ordered paid:

H. J. Monfort, assessor.....	$161 00
J. H. Garton, watchman, 3 mos.....	19 50
Hoyt & Sons, printing.....	1 75
Alvin Adams, committee fees.....	6 00
J. Esposito, goods to poor.....	9 00
W. L. Black, goods to poor.....	8 00
Geo. Bernshouse, salary.....	14 00
Highways—
W. H. Burgess.....	$167 50
H. Bobet.....	5 25—172 75
	$322 00

Voted, that Council issue warrants to Collector Davis to sell real estate for unpaid taxes of 1891.

On motion, Mr. Garton re-appointed night police for six months.

Ordinance taken up forbidding the dumping of garbage on vacant lots and streets. Amended, and passed second reading.

John Stokes appointed janitor of Town Hall.

Overseer of Poor stated case of poor woman, sick, who was likely to be homeless because of unpaid rent. Voted, to pay said rent from poor fund, in addition to aid now given her. Adjourned.

Recent arrivals at our hotels:

HAMMONTON HOUSE
Mr and Mrs Alfred C. Groszholz, O. Maritzke, E. A. Hawthorne, Hord Sheall, Geo W. Leech, W. J. Anderson, E. J. Roberts, Phila. Nelson D. Knight, Lansdale. T. Harry Stiles, Haddonfield.

COLUMBIA
Thomas Marsh, Phila. H. H. Styles, Grand Rapids, Mich. A. Cline, O. Allen, R. Haynes, Medford.

A full Republican vote will assure the election of John W. Griggs as Governor. That means it is the duty of every Republican voter to go to the ballot box next Tuesday. Let there be no stay-at-homes.

The best daily paper published in Pennsylvania is The Philadelphia Inquirer. Their facilities for obtaining all the news, national, State and local, are the very best to be found anywhere. The new building into which they moved some eight months ago is not only unsurpassed for beauty, but the spacious quarters give them an opportunity to handle news in a more complete and satisfactory manner than any of their contemporaries. Private telegraph wires special long distance telephones and the regular service of the Associated Press are only a few of the most improved methods for gathering news to be found in the new building. The Inquirer has long been the recognized authority on sporting matters, and is in every way worthy of its tremendous popularity, which has gained it the largest circulation of any Republican newspaper in the United States. The several departments are each under the personal direction of a competent authority on the subjects discussed. Reports, decisions and all the details of the State Supreme Court proceedings are given special attention. The Inquirer carries the largest amount of advertising of any Pennsylvania newspaper and is everywhere acknowledged the best medium of any one cent daily.—Adv.

Dr. J. A. Waas,
RESIDENT
DENTIST,
HAMMONTON, N. J.
Office Days,—Every week-day.
GAS ADMINISTERED.
No charge for extracting with gas, when teeth are ordered.

WIN & SON.

WIN & SON.

Hats Trimmed Free of Charge.

Next door to Post Office,

Hammonton.

Grand Winter Opening

Trimmed Hats, Millinery, Coats, Capes, Dry Goods, Men's Youths' and Boys' Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Rubbers.

Friday and Saturday, Nov. 1 and 2.

Wonderful display,—Unparalleled Bargains for our Opening,—in Trimmed Hats and Millinery.

Price Wonders in Coats and Capes for ladies, misses and children. Full and complete line of Ladies' Caps and Fascinators, Kilt Skirts and Shawls. Surprising prices in Blankets and Quilts. Our Glove departments speaks for itself. Ladies' kid gloves in large variety. A large line of ladies', misses' and children's Woolen and Silk Mittens; also men's, youths' and boys' Gloves.

Special Bargains in Overcoats and Suits for opening days. Hosiery,—over 20 styles to select from. Macintoshes for ladies, misses, and children, men youths and boys. Surpassing qualities in Underwear, at wonderfully low prices. Boots, shoes and rubbers in all styles, at prices to suit the times.

Philadelphia and New York Styles

Trimmed and Untrimmed Hats.

Facts!

Facts!

in regard to

Eckhardt's Meat Market.

No one can undersell us in prices.

We endeavor to have the best possible variety of meats.

We try to please all. If goods are not satisfactory, return them.

Leave your order, and have it delivered.

At present, our prices are as follows,—

Sirloin Steak, 16 c.

Rump Steak, 14 c.

Round Steak, 12 c.

Hamburg (Round), 12 c.

Chuck Roast, 8 to 10.

Plate and Brisket, 5 c.

Leg Mutton, 12 c.

Fore Quarter, 6 c.

Chop, 14 c.

Sausage (our own), 2 for 25

Pork Roast, 12 c.

Pork Chops, 14 c.

We also handle the best Creamery Butter.

Lobley's Mince Meat.

Give us a call.

Big Reduction in Underwear!

Natural Wool

Shirts and Drawers, 39 c.

Fleece lined, 49 c.

Fine all-wool grey Flannel at 98 cents.

Also, Big Bargains in Ladies' Capes and Coats.

J. GOODMAN

Fall Underwear.

We have just received a large lot of Ladies', Men's, and Children's Fall Underwear. We are putting in a full line of Dry Goods, Clothing for Men, Boys and Children, Boots, Shoes, Rubbers. Boys' Knee Pants from 35 cts. up, and a good assortment of School Suits.

WIN & SON,
Hammonton, N. J.

P. RANERE,
The Hammonton Steam
Macaroni Works

(Established in 1889)

The best Macaroni made in the United States. Try them.
Sold Wholesale and Retail.

Dealer in Imported & Domestic GROCERIES.

Just received a new lot of Imported Olive Oil.

D. D. FEO
STEAM

Manufacturer of the Finest

MACCARONI,

VERMICELLI,

And Fancy Paste,

And dealer in

Imported Groceries

Wm. Rutherford,
Commissioner of Deeds, Notary Public, Real Estate and Insurance,
Hammonton, N. J.

There was no indication of a struggle; the blow had evidently been struck from behind, and with unerring aim had pierced the heart. The safe had been filled of its valu-

In five minutes the men, looking somewhat mystified, were all assembled, and everything was ready for the next step. With a quick glance Banks ran his eye over the forty faces before him. Then, turning to me, he whispered mysteriously:

overcoming his good intention he had gone away again without entering. Shortly afterward, meeting a friend who lived some twenty miles from town, he had been tempted with the prospect of a day's shooting to accompany him home. Three o'clock that afternoon, and just after

She Can't Calculate.
 "Women have no head for figures." That's so. My wife insists that she is only two years older than she was in 1883.—Exchange.

The wealth of Wisconsin of all kinds, including the pine forests, amounts to $100,303,185.

of cuffs. I am sadly change, and I would laundry as rapidly as "Well, sissy, out he in need of a hasten to the possible."

are in this part of

If you want to keep one that is homely.

WHEN some men
ther talk mean.

a dog, select _____ There seems to be no fathomable space shee can't act mean, _____ is near the turn around Stephenson Mountain.

deed. If you ever counting divorced, old man, will you? I'd like to Bronson myself."—Jud, template get-let me know, marry Mrs.

age.

to make which
se. The most cannot at all ys of the mind.

For a New Line of Ingrain and Brussels
Carpets and Mattings CALL AT
M. STOCKWELL'S.

Also, New Process Gasoline Stoves
AND FINE OIL STOVES.

THE OLD RELIABLE DEPENDABLE
EVER IN THE LEAD

Men's Venetian Fall Overcoats, $5.50
One year ago this quality, made and trimmed in exactly the same way, sold for $10.

F. S. GIBSON & CO.,
S. E. Cor. 2nd and Spruce Streets, Philadelphia.

The Philadelphia weekly Press and the Republican, both a year for $1.25, cash.

Now we have just what you want--

Homemade Scrapple & Sausage made three times a week-- always fresh.

Look at some of our prices--
Beef Steak, 10, 12, 15, 16 c
Roast Beef, 8, 10, 12, 14 c.
Stewing Beef, 6, 8, 10 c.
Soup Meat, 4, 5, 7 c.
Roast Pork, 12 c.
Leg Mutton, 12 c.
Roast Mutton, 8 and 10 c.
Stewing Mutton, 6 and 8 c.
Mutton Chops, 14 c.
Pork Chops, 14 c.

Home-made Pepper-Sauce and Chow Chow.
Our best Creamery Butter only 30 c. a pound.

H. L. McIntyre.

Chickens always on hand.

T. E. LEECH, of Leech, Stiles & Co.,
The Philadelphia Eye Specialists,
441 Chestnut Street,
Will be at Croft's Pharmacy, in Hammonton, N. J., Friday, Nov. 22, 1895.

There is no safer, surer or cheaper method of obtaining proper relief for overstrained and defective eyes, than to consult Dr. Leech, Stiles & Co. Specialists. The happy results from correctly fitted glasses are a patent surprise to persons who have not before known the real profit to themselves in wearing good glasses. No charge to examine your eyes. All glasses guaranteed by LEECH, STILES & CO.

For Meat and Vegetables

go to

Geo. M. Bowles' Market,

Egg Harbor Road and Cherry Street, Hammonton.

The Republican.
[Entered as second class matter.]
SATURDAY, NOV. 2, 1895.

Republican Nominations.

For Governor,
John W. Griggs.

County Clerk,
Lewis F. Scott.
State Senator,
Samuel D. Hoffman.
Assemblyman,
Marcellus L. Jackson.
Coroner,
Wm. McLaughlin.

Nothing shows more clearly that the statements recently made in the Democratic papers in the State by that prince of deceivers, Allen McDermott, are as false as devil or man can make them, than the record of the rival candidates for Governor, when they were in the Legislature, on the labor question. Mr.
McDermott says that John W. Griggs is the foe, and Alexander T. McGill the friend of working men. Below is the record of both. Head:

GRIGGS. Alexander T. McGill supported and disapproved the bill to prevent partitioning of the State prohibiting more or less in 1895 demonstrations against the State the workingmen of the State had the State had been Co. introduced a bill to abolish employees in lawful contract labor. He voted to abolish state prison. He voted to abolish the 10-hour bill after it had been for surface railroad employees.

If we lose a Senator from Atlantic County at this election, the Senate of 1896 will contain 15 Republicans and 6
Democrats. Of seven counties now represented by Republican Senators whose terms will expire next year, two --Monmouth and Union--if we may judge by their record, may return Democrats, thereby reducing the number of Republicans to 13 in the session of '97.
It is in the Senatorial election of Cape May, Middlesex and Sussex should return Democrats, the following session would contain a Democratic majority of one. Consider well, Republicans, before you cast your vote for a Democratic candidate for Senator on Tuesday next.

John W. Griggs was elected by the people of his own County to the Assembly twice, and to the Senate twice. That shows what his neighbors think of him.
Allen McDermott, his mendacious assailant, when running for Mayor of Jersey City some years ago, instead of receiving the usual two or three thousand and Democratic majority, was buried under a popular avalanche of five thousand adverse majority. That shows what is thought of him by his neighbors.

Voter, remember the coal combine record of the Democratic party; remember its race track record; remember the Senate steal record, and then ask yourself if you are ready to back up the bosses that dictated these measures to the party.

A failure or refusal of any Republican to vote means a failure of refusal to support good, honest government.

If you find yourself being condoned in men, read 1 Cor. xiii.

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Callionette, druggist, Beaverly, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with a severe cold and the physical physicians for miles about, but of no avail, and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store, I sent for a bottle and began its use, and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep house or store without it." Get a free trial at Croft's Pharmacy.

HAMMONTON
Directory.

RELIGIOUS.

BAPTIST. Rev. J. O. Killian, pastor; Sunday services: Preaching 10:30, Sunday-school 11:45, Junior C. E. 2:30 p. m., Christian Endeavor 6:00, Preaching 7:45. Weekday prayer meeting Thursday evening 7:30.
CATHOLIC. St. Joseph's. Rev. Spigardi pastor. Sunday mass 10:30 a. m., vespers at 7:30 p. m.
CHRISTIAN ALLIANCE. Mrs. M. S. Hoffman, president; Miss M. E. Olney, sec'y. Meeting every Friday afternoon at three o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Olney on Third Street.

EPISCOPAL. St. Mark's. Rev. A. C. Prescott, rector. Sunday: morning prayer 10:30
a. m., (second and fourth Sundays celebration of the Holy Eucharist 7:30 a. m.), Sunday school 12:00 noon, Evening 7:30 p. m.
Friday eve Evesong, 7:30.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL. Rev. Alfred Wagon
pastor. Sunday services: class 9:30, a. m., preaching 10:30, Sunday-school 12:00 noon,
Epworth League 4:00 p. m., preaching 7:00.
Class Tuesday and Wednesday evenings 7:45.
Prayer meeting Thursday 7:45 p. m., Mission at Pine Road.

PREBYTERIAN. Rev. H. R. Randall pastor.
Sunday services: preaching 10:30 a. m., Sunday school 12:00 noon, preaching 7:00 p. m.
C. E. prayer meeting Wednesday 7:30 p. m.
Church prayer meeting Thursday 7:30 p. m.
Missions at Folsom and Magnolia.

SPIRITUALIST. J. O. Radson president, A. J.
King secretary. Regular meetings Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

UNIVERSALIST. Rev. Costello Weston pastor. Sunday services: preaching 10:30 a. m., school, 12:00 noon, preaching 7:30 p. m.
Sociable alternate Thursday evenings.

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION.
Mrs. Chas. E. Roberts president, Mrs. S. B.
Brown secretary. Mrs. Wm. Salsford corresponding secretary.

YOUNG WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION.
Miss M. B. Newcomb president, Mrs. J. E.
Moore secretary, Miss M. E. Olney cor. sec'y.

MUNICIPAL.

CURR. J. L. O'Donnell.
COLLECTOR & TREASURER. A. B. Davis.
MARSHAL. Geo. Bernshouse.
JUVENES. John Atkinson, G. W. Pressey,
J. B. Ryan, J. D. Faltchid.
CONVICTS. Geo. Bernshouse, W. B. Wells, Don Foglio.

OVERSEER OF HIGHWAYS. W. H. Burgess.
OVERSEER OF THE POOR. Geo. Bernshouse.
NIGHT POLICE. J. B. Garton.
FIRE MARSHAL. S. H. Brown.

BOARD OF EDUCATION. C. F. Orgood, president; P. H. Jacobs, clerk; Edwin Adams, L.
Monfort, Dr. Edward North, Wm. Rutherford,
Mrs. S. B. Jackson, Mrs. M. M. Beverage, Miss Anna Pressey.
Meets monthly: March, June, September and December. Tuesday after 1st Monday; other months, 1st Tuesday.

VOLUNTARY FIRE CO. John M. Austin,
president; Chas. W. Austin, secretary. Meets 1st Monday evening of each month.
TOWN COUNCIL. Wm. Bernshouse, Pres't.
Harry Mod. Little, E. A. Jolin, Wm. Can-ningham, J. E. Fetter, Alex. Adams. Meets last Saturday eve each month.

FRATERNAL.

ARTISANS ORDER OF MUTUAL PROTECTION.
A. P. Simpson, M. A.; A. B. Davis, Secretary.
Meets 1st Friday evening in each month in Mechanics' Hall.
WISCONSIN LODGE L. O. O. F. J. L. O'Donnell
N. G.; William H. Bernshouse, Secretary.
Meets every Wednesday evening, in Odd Fellows' Hall.

SHAWNEEK TRIBE L. O. R. M. Charles Hecker, Sachem; Chas. W. Austin, Chief of Records. Meet every Tuesday night in Masonic Hall.

THE ORDER UNITED AMERICAN MECHANICS.
L. A. Hoyt, Concllor; L. W. Parry, R. S.
A. T. Lobbey, F. S. A. Meets every Friday evening in Mechanics' Hall.
Geo. D. A. Russell, Post, G. A. R. Orville
S. Hoyt, Commander; Wm. H. Bradbury, Adjutant; L. Beverage, Q. M.; Meets 1st and 3rd Saturday nights in Red Men's Hall.

THE HAMMONTON ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.
Harry Smith, president; A. E. Bernshouse, secretary; M. S. Whitler, captain. Meets 2nd and 4th Monday at Wm. Bernshouse's office.

Business Organizations.
Fruit Growers' Union. H. J. Monfort secretary, shipper of fruit and produce.
Fruit Growers' Association. G. W. Elvins secretary, shipper of fruit and produce.
Hammonton Loan and Building Association.
Wm. R. Tilton secretary.
Workingmen's Loan and Building Association.
Wm. H. Bernshouse, secretary.

People's Bank, Wm. R. Tilton cashier.
Hammonton Improvement Association. M. D.
Jackson president, Wm. Bernshouse sec'y,
G. W. Pressey treasurer.

LOCAL BUSINESS HOUSES.
Reliable and enterprising parties, in their respective lines, whom we can recommend.
For details, see their advertisements.

Croft's Pharmacy.
Monfort Cycle Co., bicycles and supplies.
Robert Stoltz, jeweler.
M. L. Jackson, meat and produce.
L. W. Cogley, harness.
G. W. Pressey, justice.
Wm. H. Bernshouse, coal.
Dr. J. A. Wason, dentist.
John Atkinson, justice and tailor.
John Mandock, shoes.
G. W. Swanik, optician and fish.
Wm. Rutherford, real-estate and insurance.
Wm. Bernshouse, planing mill, lumber.
J. E. Theys, musical instruments.
Leach Stiles & Co., eye specialists.
Henry Kramer, (Folsom), cedar lumber.
George Steelman, tailor.
D. C. Herbert, shoes.
George Elvins, dry goods, groceries, etc.
P. E. Tilton & Co., general merchandise.
Frank E. Roberts, groceries.
M. Stockwell, hardware, groceries, & railroading.
Jacob Rohardt, meat and produce.
Fruit Growers' Union, general merchandise.
E. Albrici & Co., real estate.
Chas. Cunningham, Physician and Surgeon.
Geo. M. Bowles, meat and produce.
J. B. Small, baker and confectioner.
J. Goodman, clothing and millinery.
W. H. Ellis, notions and supplies.
H. L. McIntyre, meat and produce.
Wm. G. Hood, livery and boarding stables.
Wm. L. Black, dry goods, groceries, etc.
Win & Son, dry goods, shoes, etc.
Eam Stockwell, cash store.

Fruit Growers' Union

And Co-Operative Soc'y, lim.

Hammonton, Nov. 2, 1895.

Butter.

We call your attention especially to our different grades of butter,--

Fancy Print, 30 c.

Best Creamery, 27

Good Creamery, 25

BUT if you want a tub of 50 pounds or pail of 25 pounds, the price will be still lower.

Canned Goods.

A full line of the best, and prices low.

Mince Meat

Extra, 10 cents.

Coal.

Has any one told you that coal must advance still higher?

Leave your order with

Fruit Growers' Union

Orders taken, with prompt delivery.

Fall and Winter
Suitings.

New Fashion Plates
on exhibition.

Gents' Clothing made to order satisfaction guaranteed.

Dyeing and Scouring.

GEO. STEELMAN,
Merchant Tailor,
Black's Building, Hammonton.

A. H. CROWELL, FLORIST

Funeral Designs a Specialty.
Order by mail or telegram.
1512 Pacific Avenue.

Atlantic City.

GEO. W. PRESSEY,
Hammonton, N. J.,
Justice of the Peace,
Office, Second and Cherry Sts.

The Republican.
SATURDAY, NOV. 2, 1895.

LOCAL MISCELLANY.

Post meeting this evening.
First game of foot-ball to-day.
County Supt. Wilson was in town this week.

J. J. Roberts entertained his niece, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Morse were in town on Friday.

Lost. A pair of Gold Spectacles. The finder will be suitably rewarded on leaving them with Miss QUINN, at Fruit Growers' Union Store.

Election Day -- next Tuesday.
Don't forget to vote.

November days have come, the saddest of the year.

Miss Millie Whiffen is visiting Philadelphia friends.

Mrs. William Bernshouse is suffering from a gripe.

Next Monday will be Uncle
Sam's pensioners' day.

Mrs. M. Hall, of Camden, visited Hammonton relatives.

Farrar's flying tackle will be the feature this afternoon.

I WANT a furnished house for four to six months, for a good party.

W. RUTHERFORD.
Come see Jones' rush pig-skin on the grid-iron, 3:30 this afternoon.

J. T. French's men are painting
the Brighton Hotel, Atlantic City.

Mrs. Grant-King, of Trenton, visited relatives here, last Sunday.

Miss Maude A. Wilson visited relatives in Philadelphia this week.

Mrs. John Tice, Williamstown, spent a few days with her son, Edw.

Harry Taylor and child returned this week from their visit to England.

Come, cheer the boys this afternoon. You won't miss your quarter.

WANTED. For general housework.
Apply at home.

Admission to the foot-ball game this afternoon, 25 cents. Children, 10.

Watch Jackson go through the lines for a dozen touch downs this afternoon.

Clayton Scullion shot an eighteen pound shot in Aston Creek, on Thursday last.

They say the Pennants are a very strong team,--but our team are stronger
--we hope.

Everybody admires the new Presbyterian Church, as its form is rapidly developed.

Lost. Between the Browning property on Burlington Avenue and the leading R. R. station, a MAP of the Weymouth Farm and adjacent lands. The finder will be pleased to leave with John Atkinson, Esq., and receive suitable reward.

J. A. CUNNINGHAM.
Next Saturday, 9th, our foot ball team expect to play the U. A. A., of Philadelphia.

Dr. Wm. H. Gelston, of Cranford Hill, was among friends in Hammonton last Tuesday.

Mrs. F. A. Lehman and daughters spent a week and more with friends in Philadelphia.

Several Hammontonians attended the County Sunday School Convention, Thursday, at Linwood.

Two months of the REPUBLICAN given away to new subscribers, provided you pay a dollar for 1896.

SEVERAL good second hand bicycles are for sale at

The Junior foot-ball team have arranged for a game with the Pine Road
A. A. Date not yet fixed.

Mrs. Hester Cross died on Monday last, 28th inst., at her residence in Weacoctville, aged 78 years.

Rain began falling about noon on Thursday, and continued in good style until near daylight, Friday.

Wm. Rutherford and his child friend, little Roy Frambes, spent Sunday with friends in Vineland.

There will probably be a game of foot-ball this afternoon, weather permitting. A visiting team is expected.

CARPET WEAVING. If you have any carpet rags ready for weaving, drop me a postal card and I will call for the bails and show you samples of my work.

Thirty Minutes for Refreshments at Jackson's Hall, on Tuesday evening, November 5th,--election night.
Tickets, including supper and entertainment, 35 cents. General admission, 10 cents.

FOR SERVICE. A Poland China Boat.
Terms 40c. Wm. H. FARMER,
Central Ave., Hammonton, N. J.

Insure with A. H. Phillips & Co., 1232 Atlantic Ave., Atlantic City.

Foot-ball game this afternoon,
Pennant, of Frankford, vs. H. A. A.

Christmas is coming. Wouldn't your friend appreciate the HAMMONTON for a year? Take advantage of our offer.

Miss Anna Ramsey, a teacher in the public schools at Bristol, Penna., was with her Hammonton friends this week.

FIREMEN are requested to meet at Jackson's Hall this Saturday evening, 2nd inst., at 8 o'clock, for practice drill.

S. E. BROWN, Fire Marshal.

The County School Commencement will be held Nov. 22, at Pleasantville, in Red Men's Hall. Exercises will commence at 7:45.

Hammonton should go solid for
M. L. Jackson for Assemblyman.

There is no good reason why any man should vote against him.

Miss Bertha Courtright returned to her home in northern New Jersey, on Tuesday, after a Summer's visit with her brother and family.

YOUNG PIGS for sale, at Burlington Avenue, near the Lake.
Central Avenue, near the Lake.

The programmes are out for the County Christian Endeavor Union Convention, to be held at May's Landing on Tuesday, October 12th.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Moore, of Haddonfield, gave a large party on Thursday evening. Several Hammonton relatives were present.

An Atlantic City man is completing the contract to move J. T.
French's house, which was interrupted by Mr. Sturtevant's fatal fall.

Loan Association monthly meetings next week. Workingmen's on Monday evening; Hammonton on Thursday evening; both in the Council Room.

ALL CHAIRS remaining on the Fruit Growers' Union grounds will be sold at public sale on Saturday, Nov. 9, 1895, at 12 o'clock P. M. By order of Board of Directors.
E. ADAMS, Agent.

Money must be "easy" among our Democratic friends; for more than one stout Republican has been offered inducements to work for a Democratic candidate.

Rev. J. C. Killian spent most of this week with his parents, in Southern Pennsylvania. The family expect to make their home in Hammonton after a few weeks.

A party of young folks took a "straw ride" Monday evening. They enjoyed themselves, evidently; but some folks did not appreciate the racket they made.

WALMER HOUSE FOR SALE OR RENT.
It consists of a two-story house and out, stable, carriage house, for house, and large grounds. Half mile from the depot, Hammonton. Adapted to winter and summer boarders. Price reasonable.
Apply to J. A. KINGS, Agent.

Rev. Lyman R. Sweet has accepted a flattering call to the pastorate of a Baptist Church in Cambridge, Mass. He has been preaching there for a month or more.

Mr. Alex. Sutton tells us he "didn't mean it" the way it was taken, but that others were just as good to be named on the committee, as fruit raisers exclusively.

Of the six names erased from the register this week, four were those of aged men who died during the past ten days,--a Democrat, two Republicans, and a Prohibitionist.

CORN FODDER FOR SALE.--six and one half acres, near J. E. HOLMAN, Middle Road, Hammonton.

A word from Moorestown: Immense quantities of apples are being put up at the cannery factory, and all the idle women and girls are finding employment.

Our genial Chinese townsmen, Ding Hah, is being harassed by a lot of idle boys, old enough to know better.
The law can and will protect him.
The boys' names are known.

The foot ball boys have been practicing hard and expect to put up a stiff game. They have been under a heavy expense to arrange this game.
Come out and cheer the boys on.

The Board of Registration held their last meeting on Tuesday. Fourteen names were added to the register, and six erased,--making six hundred and fifty-two voters in Hammonton.

List of uncalled-for letters in the Hammonton Post-Office, on Saturday,
Nov. 2, 1895:

GEORGE CARROLL. Mr. HAMMONTON.
Rev. J. McDONNELL. Geo. Spaulding
Miss Mary Williamson.
Wm. Williams.

FOREIGN.
PHILO ANTONIO.

Persons calling for any of the above letters will please state that it has been advertised.

JOHN T. FARRER, P. M.

At Small's Bakery

The Best Bread, Cakes and Pies
Are made.

Buy 'em. Try 'em.

Optical Work

Of all kinds done--eyes fitted--lenses changed-- prescriptions filled.

Repairing in all its branches promptly done.

ROBERT STEEL, Hammonton Jeweler.

COAL

Largest assortment in town.
The best grades of Lehigh constantly on hand.

W. H. Bernshouse,
Office--corner Railroad Ave. and Orchard Street.

AT BLACK'S.

CHICKAMAUGA.
Briefly Told Tale of That Fateful Field.
Before the autumn of 1863 the Confederates had been routed at Gettysburg and Grant had captured Vicksburg with its garrison of 30,000 men. The one Confederate force which had escaped defeat was the Army of the Tennessee under Bragg, confronted by the Army of the Cumberland under Rosecrans. The two days' battle at Chickamauga was a desperate effort of Bragg to strike a decisive blow, and Lee lent him aid by sending heavy reinforcements from the Army of Virginia, unknown both to Meade and to Hancock. The latter was directing the Union armies from Washington. The story of that desperate struggle of Sept. 19 and 20 between 65,000 Union and 73,000 Confederates is now a matter of history and its main details only need to be recalled.
The first day's battle was a fight for position, the Confederates trying to head off the Union forces from reaching Chattanooga, and the desperate effort of that contest was to turn Rosecrans' left and cut off communications with Chattanooga. When the day's fighting ended the Confederates had made some advance on the right and center, but Rosecrans had held his position. Notwithstanding the terrible slaughter made upon his lines his men repulsed the attack.
That night the Union line was reconstructed, and that same night Longstreet arrived from Virginia with 10,000 fresh veteran troops from Lee's army and reported to Bragg.
The second day's battle was not for position. It was the last desperate effort to crush the Union army of the Cumberland, and failed by reason of Thomas' stubborn, wonderful knowledge with 40,000 men against 70,000 rebels.
Early in the morning Bragg and Cleburne hurled themselves against the "Rock" and their divisions were shattered and they were then fighting a desperate battle. The tremendous pressure upon Thomas, however, necessitated reinforcements. In sending those reinforcements, through confusion of orders, a gap was left in the Union line, and into that gap Longstreet plunged 20,000 Confederate troops under Hood. It was a stubborn fight, but it ended in shattering and forcing back part of the center and right of the Union army under McPherson. The result was a disaster on the right when Longstreet turned and began his march against him, but James A. Garfield foresaw the danger, made his memorable ride through Confederate bullets to where the bloodiest fighting was taking place, and then he ordered back to Spodgrass Hill at the base of Missionary Ridge and took a strong position. He was reinforced by Gordon Granger before Longstreet came up for his final charge, and then began one of the bloodiest fights of the whole year. "The Rock of Chickamauga" best back assault after assault, as he had done in the morning. After the battle closed for the night he withdrew his gallant remnants of heroes to Chattanooga, and while the Union army was reinforced and reestablished for the remainder of the campaign. That army had been saved from destruction by the immense fighting of the left wing. The Confederates were too badly shattered to be able to follow up any advantage which they had gained.
The terrific character of the two days' fighting was shown by the official reports, setting forth that the number of killed, wounded and missing on both sides amounted to one-third of all the troops engaged. Abraham Lincoln, at a time when Chickamauga was regarded as a defeat, pronounced it a military disaster, and the Southern Confederacy was gone forever. That brilliant dash which had distinguished the Southern Confederacy was gone forever. The rebels had found their blood match in the Western wilderness.
It is this great battle which was celebrated recently by Union and Confederate veterans alike, and most appropriately so, as both displayed upon that bloody field the most heroic qualities of the American soldier. North and South can well afford to meet on that spot and join hands in reconciliation. It has been set apart as a national park, and Northern and Southern States alike are privileged to commemorate the courage of their troops with enduring monuments and to designate every detail of those two days' movements in such a manner that the park will be a grand object lesson in the art of war—the only complete object lesson of its kind in the world. Every movement of troops, every charge and counter charge, every assault and repulse, and all the details of the warring details of battle have been mapped out. The veterans of both armies who were there had no difficulty in recalling old associations.

SELECT SIFTINGS.
Cherokee have had supplied chairs since the Elizabethan Century.
Chobola County, Washington, has 30,000,000 feet of standing timber.
In the little village of Clayton, Ind., there are eight men whose entire height is 2000 pounds.
In 1720 the first clocks were introduced, to be placed in churches, the hour glassing being previously used.
The remains of a mammoth mastodon were unearthed by workmen while working in a tunnel near Pomona, Cal., about a year ago.
There has never been a Primo Minister of England since the time of Queen Elizabeth who has worn a beard, with the single exception of Lord Salisbury.
The palace of the kings of Babylon may still be easily traced. It is a vast mound, 700 yards square. The walls were six feet thick, and strong enough to resist battering rams.
In saving a log at Beaver Dam mill, in Burke County, Georgia, a snake was found in a knot hole, when the tree was standing, was fifty-two feet from the ground.
Miss Catharine Larch is ninety-three, and at the age of ninety-three she formed a dislike to her father when a child and never afterward would have anything to do with him.
At Waco, Texas, Tom Roe, a truck farmer, entered his horse lot and his horse rubbed at him with open mouth. Roe leaped aside as the horse passed and struck him on the neck with his tail, killing the horse instantly.
Doctor Gulleperre, cashier of the Citizens' Bank, of Thomasville, Ga., claims to be able to reproduce a signature at a single glance. He says the "knack" depends largely upon the handling of the pen like the original writer.
The "hog" in the New York and Connecticut line was made to accommodate the people of Greenwich, who preferred to be in Connecticut. To recompense New York an equal amount of land to the east of a straight line was given to New York farther north.
An infant, who is probably the youngest girl in the United States who is actually engaged to be married, is only seven years old, and herself, her mother and the young man have entered into the compact, which is to be ratified when she is fourteen.
The five-pointed star on the National flag is a woman's idea. Washington wished to adopt the six-pointed or octagonal star but Mrs. Betsy Ross, who made the first "American" flag, pointed him how a five-pointed star would be more conveniently cut.
Four $1,000,000 bank notes have been struck at the Bank of England. Samuel Rogers, the banker poet, possessed one of them, one went to George Washington, and the other two to the library, and another belongs to V. M. Rothchild, while the fourth remains at the Bank of England, where it may be seen by visitors.
The British crown is a circle of gold adorned with pearls and precious stones, and which rises alternately four inches and four inches-decisive. From the top of the crosses spring four arch diadems, enriched with pearls, which close under a mound and cross. Within the crown is a crimson velvet cap bordered with ermine.
A poor stout fisher who plies his trade in Bixby Bay, an arm of the Gulf of Mexico which indents the State of Mississippi, recently discovered the broken wreck of an old French man-of-war, which he is now trying to dispose of to the Government. The vessel was one of a fleet of five, which was used to colonize Louisiana some two centuries ago, and many curious relics were found within her hull.
His Identity.
A prominent upstart man tells the following story on himself. He says: "I was in Chicago a short time ago, and, knowing that I would receive through the postoffice a money order within the next day or two, I went around to the postoffice to identify myself to them in advance. I am expecting a money order to the amount of $100. I said to the clerk in that division, 'and my name is—'. I showed him some letters addressed to me from other parts. 'Now,' I continued, 'I am not the man I claim to be. I must have killed him, and an awful impersonation. The clerk laughed, but I could see, I thought, visions of more than his mind. Well, the order came on time, and when I called to get the money the same clerk, and the man who had killed him, and an awful impersonation. He took one look at me, sized me up, and without more ado counted out the money and handed it to me, saying: 'Oh, yes; you're the fellow who murdered the man.'"
Watching Venus.
Venus rotates on her axis once in about twenty-four hours, according to Mr. Branner, of the Macon observatory at Bombay, who has been watching the planet and says he can prove his assertion. This agrees with Scherzer's statement, that the planet rotates once in twenty-four hours, and is opposed to that of Schiaparelli, who says that the time is the same as that of the planet's revolution around the sun.

A CURIOUS SECT IN IOWA.
CUSTOMS AND LIFE OF THE AMANA SOCIETY.
More Than 2500 People Living Together as One Family—The House and Work of the Colony.
CORRESPONDENT OF THE NEW YORK POST.
County, Ia., which is said to be the largest of its kind in the world. Here are 2500 people living together in harmony as one great family. The society, founded on the 44th and 45th verses of the Book of Acts, which read as follows: "And all that believed were together, and had all things common; and sold their possessions and goods, and parted them to all men, as every man had need."
The society was originally founded about one hundred years ago in one of the southern counties of Germany, where it existed for fifty years. The entire sect, if it may be so called, came to this country and settled near Buffalo, N. Y. Thence they moved to the north, and the story of the society, which is a curious one, is told in the northern part of Iowa County, on each side of the Iowa River. There they have lived ever since. At the present time they control 28,000 acres of land.
The people hold everything in common. No man individually owns anything. Every man, woman and child is well clothed and well fed, but all the surplus money goes into the treasury of the society. The people do not live on farms, but in villages, which are seven in number—Homestead, East Amana, North Amana, West Amana, and South Amana. These villages are situated from two to five miles apart, and are connected by telephone. The villages are about equal in size, and are built without any plan or regularity. Their streets are as crooked as so many legs, and the houses are of all shapes and sizes. Each town is a typical Dutch village. The houses are huge structures after the same pattern, and nearly all are built of bricks made at the villages. Some of the houses are made of wood, but have never been burned. This is for two reasons—because it is cheaper and because painted buildings would never be so much of a sight as the wooden ones. The houses are about forty by sixty feet, and are three stories high. Between them is a space of from two to six rods of ground. This space is planted to vineyards. The people all live in the villages and go to their work in the fields. All the cattle and live stock are kept in huge barns on the outer limits. The fields are very large, some containing 5000 to 8000 acres. The people at public houses or kitchens, having five meals a day, as they do in Germany, the men eating separately from the women and children. They sleep in these large dwellings, which are divided into dormitories. Each person has a room, and the families live according to the number of their children. The young women learn housework and also serve several years as assistants and cooks in the kitchens. The men do the work in the fields, and are best adapted for it. The educated keep the stores or act as overseers of the workmen in the factories. Each town has a general store which keeps all the necessities of life, but none of the luxuries. The store at Homestead village buys all supplies at wholesale for the entire colony. The villages have a flour mill, saw mill, and machine shop, which do all the repairing and make most of the machinery used on the farm and in the workshops. There are also two large woolen mills, one of which cost over $100,000, and the other, which cost $200,000, and are the only ones of the kind in Iowa. The wool is from the farms, and in the mills are manufactured every variety of flannels and dress goods. The cotton cloth is bought directly from the East, and is sold to the mills at a profit. The wool is generally dark blue or black. As only a small part of the woolen goods manufactured can be consumed in the colony, some of it is sent to wholesale merchants in the East, and large quantities are sold to surrounding towns. The Amana people bring the highest price ever where, for these Germans are so honest that what they make can be guaranteed to be "all wool."
The origin of the colony is done by its members. There are two railroads and four depots in it, and the section men, depot agents, operators and conductors are all members of the colony. Their salaries go into the colony's fund. The society makes its own rules and laws, which in no wise conflict with those of the United States or of the State of Iowa. Each village has an overseer, called an elder, making in all seven elders, who, taken together, are called a synod. The synod is governed by a President, and meets weekly to transact business. The public officers of these officials are chosen by popular vote, but the men elected are always those desired by the leaders.
Their religion is a form of Lutheranism. The people have no churches of any denomination, but every Sunday they hold a service in the village hall, and the elder of each village is leader. He reads the Scriptures and comments on the passages. There are no organs or pianos or instruments of any kind in the village, as they were not to be tolerated. Vocal music, however, is cultivated to a high degree of perfection. In their morality these people are very rigid. The youth are allowed few privileges—no card-playing, no dances, no theatres, and, in fact, no social gatherings of any kind. Young women and men are not allowed to walk on the street together or to keep company. But in case a couple are unfortunate as to fall in love, they must make it known to the elder of the village, who at once sends them to different villages, where they are not allowed to correspond with or see each other for two years. At the end of that time, if they are of the same mind, they are married. But in case they are not, they are immediately separated, and they are privileged to leave the society and remain out two years, when they can return again.
The people dress as the Americans do, but without ornaments. They speak the German language, but nearly all can talk English with equal facility. Every village in the colony has its school, taught by one of its members. In 1863, the society of Germany, which was founded on the 44th and 45th verses of the Book of Acts, which read as follows: "And all that believed were together, and had all things common; and sold their possessions and goods, and parted them to all men, as every man had need."
The society was originally founded about one hundred years ago in one of the southern counties of Germany, where it existed for fifty years. The entire sect, if it may be so called, came to this country and settled near Buffalo, N. Y. Thence they moved to the north, and the story of the society, which is a curious one, is told in the northern part of Iowa County, on each side of the Iowa River. There they have lived ever since. At the present time they control 28,000 acres of land.
The people hold everything in common. No man individually owns anything. Every man, woman and child is well clothed and well fed, but all the surplus money goes into the treasury of the society. The people do not live on farms, but in villages, which are seven in number—Homestead, East Amana, North Amana, West Amana, and South Amana. These villages are situated from two to five miles apart, and are connected by telephone. The villages are about equal in size, and are built without any plan or regularity. Their streets are as crooked as so many legs, and the houses are of all shapes and sizes. Each town is a typical Dutch village. The houses are huge structures after the same pattern, and nearly all are built of bricks made at the villages. Some of the houses are made of wood, but have never been burned. This is for two reasons—because it is cheaper and because painted buildings would never be so much of a sight as the wooden ones. The houses are about forty by sixty feet, and are three stories high. Between them is a space of from two to six rods of ground. This space is planted to vineyards. The people all live in the villages and go to their work in the fields. All the cattle and live stock are kept in huge barns on the outer limits. The fields are very large, some containing 5000 to 8000 acres. The people at public houses or kitchens, having five meals a day, as they do in Germany, the men eating separately from the women and children. They sleep in these large dwellings, which are divided into dormitories. Each person has a room, and the families live according to the number of their children. The young women learn housework and also serve several years as assistants and cooks in the kitchens. The men do the work in the fields, and are best adapted for it. The educated keep the stores or act as overseers of the workmen in the factories. Each town has a general store which keeps all the necessities of life, but none of the luxuries. The store at Homestead village buys all supplies at wholesale for the entire colony. The villages have a flour mill, saw mill, and machine shop, which do all the repairing and make most of the machinery used on the farm and in the workshops. There are also two large woolen mills, one of which cost over $100,000, and the other, which cost $200,000, and are the only ones of the kind in Iowa. The wool is from the farms, and in the mills are manufactured every variety of flannels and dress goods. The cotton cloth is bought directly from the East, and is sold to the mills at a profit. The wool is generally dark blue or black. As only a small part of the woolen goods manufactured can be consumed in the colony, some of it is sent to wholesale merchants in the East, and large quantities are sold to surrounding towns. The Amana people bring the highest price ever where, for these Germans are so honest that what they make can be guaranteed to be "all wool."
The origin of the colony is done by its members. There are two railroads and four depots in it, and the section men, depot agents, operators and conductors are all members of the colony. Their salaries go into the colony's fund. The society makes its own rules and laws, which in no wise conflict with those of the United States or of the State of Iowa. Each village has an overseer, called an elder, making in all seven elders, who, taken together, are called a synod. The synod is governed by a President, and meets weekly to transact business. The public officers of these officials are chosen by popular vote, but the men elected are always those desired by the leaders.
Their religion is a form of Lutheranism. The people have no churches of any denomination, but every Sunday they hold a service in the village hall, and the elder of each village is leader. He reads the Scriptures and comments on the passages. There are no organs or pianos or instruments of any kind in the village, as they were not to be tolerated. Vocal music, however, is cultivated to a high degree of perfection. In their morality these people are very rigid. The youth are allowed few privileges—no card-playing, no dances, no theatres, and, in fact, no social gatherings of any kind. Young women and men are not allowed to walk on the street together or to keep company. But in case a couple are unfortunate as to fall in love, they must make it known to the elder of the village, who at once sends them to different villages, where they are not allowed to correspond with or see each other for two years. At the end of that time, if they are of the same mind, they are married. But in case they are not, they are immediately separated, and they are privileged to leave the society and remain out two years, when they can return again.
The people dress as the Americans do, but without ornaments. They speak the German language, but nearly all can talk English with equal facility. Every village in the colony has its school, taught by one of its members. In 1863, the society of Germany, which was founded on the 44th and 45th verses of the Book of Acts, which read as follows: "And all that believed were together, and had all things common; and sold their possessions and goods, and parted them to all men, as every man had need."
The society was originally founded about one hundred years ago in one of the southern counties of Germany, where it existed for fifty years. The entire sect, if it may be so called, came to this country and settled near Buffalo, N. Y. Thence they moved to the north, and the story of the society, which is a curious one, is told in the northern part of Iowa County, on each side of the Iowa River. There they have lived ever since. At the present time they control 28,000 acres of land.
The people hold everything in common. No man individually owns anything. Every man, woman and child is well clothed and well fed, but all the surplus money goes into the treasury of the society. The people do not live on farms, but in villages, which are seven in number—Homestead, East Amana, North Amana, West Amana, and South Amana. These villages are situated from two to five miles apart, and are connected by telephone. The villages are about equal in size, and are built without any plan or regularity. Their streets are as crooked as so many legs, and the houses are of all shapes and sizes. Each town is a typical Dutch village. The houses are huge structures after the same pattern, and nearly all are built of bricks made at the villages. Some of the houses are made of wood, but have never been burned. This is for two reasons—because it is cheaper and because painted buildings would never be so much of a sight as the wooden ones. The houses are about forty by sixty feet, and are three stories high. Between them is a space of from two to six rods of ground. This space is planted to vineyards. The people all live in the villages and go to their work in the fields. All the cattle and live stock are kept in huge barns on the outer limits. The fields are very large, some containing 5000 to 8000 acres. The people at public houses or kitchens, having five meals a day, as they do in Germany, the men eating separately from the women and children. They sleep in these large dwellings, which are divided into dormitories. Each person has a room, and the families live according to the number of their children. The young women learn housework and also serve several years as assistants and cooks in the kitchens. The men do the work in the fields, and are best adapted for it. The educated keep the stores or act as overseers of the workmen in the factories. Each town has a general store which keeps all the necessities of life, but none of the luxuries. The store at Homestead village buys all supplies at wholesale for the entire colony. The villages have a flour mill, saw mill, and machine shop, which do all the repairing and make most of the machinery used on the farm and in the workshops. There are also two large woolen mills, one of which cost over $100,000, and the other, which cost $200,000, and are the only ones of the kind in Iowa. The wool is from the farms, and in the mills are manufactured every variety of flannels and dress goods. The cotton cloth is bought directly from the East, and is sold to the mills at a profit. The wool is generally dark blue or black. As only a small part of the woolen goods manufactured can be consumed in the colony, some of it is sent to wholesale merchants in the East, and large quantities are sold to surrounding towns. The Amana people bring the highest price ever where, for these Germans are so honest that what they make can be guaranteed to be "all wool."
The origin of the colony is done by its members. There are two railroads and four depots in it, and the section men, depot agents, operators and conductors are all members of the colony. Their salaries go into the colony's fund. The society makes its own rules and laws, which in no wise conflict with those of the United States or of the State of Iowa. Each village has an overseer, called an elder, making in all seven elders, who, taken together, are called a synod. The synod is governed by a President, and meets weekly to transact business. The public officers of these officials are chosen by popular vote, but the men elected are always those desired by the leaders.
Their religion is a form of Lutheranism. The people have no churches of any denomination, but every Sunday they hold a service in the village hall, and the elder of each village is leader. He reads the Scriptures and comments on the passages. There are no organs or pianos or instruments of any kind in the village, as they were not to be tolerated. Vocal music, however, is cultivated to a high degree of perfection. In their morality these people are very rigid. The youth are allowed few privileges—no card-playing, no dances, no theatres, and, in fact, no social gatherings of any kind. Young women and men are not allowed to walk on the street together or to keep company. But in case a couple are unfortunate as to fall in love, they must make it known to the elder of the village, who at once sends them to different villages, where they are not allowed to correspond with or see each other for two years. At the end of that time, if they are of the same mind, they are married. But in case they are not, they are immediately separated, and they are privileged to leave the society and remain out two years, when they can return again.
The people dress as the Americans do, but without ornaments. They speak the German language, but nearly all can talk English with equal facility. Every village in the colony has its school, taught by one of its members. In 1863, the society of Germany, which was founded on the 44th and 45th verses of the Book of Acts, which read as follows: "And all that believed were together, and had all things common; and sold their possessions and goods, and parted them to all men, as every man had need."
The society was originally founded about one hundred years ago in one of the southern counties of Germany, where it existed for fifty years. The entire sect, if it may be so called, came to this country and settled near Buffalo, N. Y. Thence they moved to the north, and the story of the society, which is a curious one, is told in the northern part of Iowa County, on each side of the Iowa River. There they have lived ever since. At the present time they control 28,000 acres of land.
The people hold everything in common. No man individually owns anything. Every man, woman and child is well clothed and well fed, but all the surplus money goes into the treasury of the society. The people do not live on farms, but in villages, which are seven in number—Homestead, East Amana, North Amana, West Amana, and South Amana. These villages are situated from two to five miles apart, and are connected by telephone. The villages are about equal in size, and are built without any plan or regularity. Their streets are as crooked as so many legs, and the houses are of all shapes and sizes. Each town is a typical Dutch village. The houses are huge structures after the same pattern, and nearly all are built of bricks made at the villages. Some of the houses are made of wood, but have never been burned. This is for two reasons—because it is cheaper and because painted buildings would never be so much of a sight as the wooden ones. The houses are about forty by sixty feet, and are three stories high. Between them is a space of from two to six rods of ground. This space is planted to vineyards. The people all live in the villages and go to their work in the fields. All the cattle and live stock are kept in huge barns on the outer limits. The fields are very large, some containing 5000 to 8000 acres. The people at public houses or kitchens, having five meals a day, as they do in Germany, the men eating separately from the women and children. They sleep in these large dwellings, which are divided into dormitories. Each person has a room, and the families live according to the number of their children. The young women learn housework and also serve several years as assistants and cooks in the kitchens. The men do the work in the fields, and are best adapted for it. The educated keep the stores or act as overseers of the workmen in the factories. Each town has a general store which keeps all the necessities of life, but none of the luxuries. The store at Homestead village buys all supplies at wholesale for the entire colony. The villages have a flour mill, saw mill, and machine shop, which do all the repairing and make most of the machinery used on the farm and in the workshops. There are also two large woolen mills, one of which cost over $100,000, and the other, which cost $200,000, and are the only ones of the kind in Iowa. The wool is from the farms, and in the mills are manufactured every variety of flannels and dress goods. The cotton cloth is bought directly from the East, and is sold to the mills at a profit. The wool is generally dark blue or black. As only a small part of the woolen goods manufactured can be consumed in the colony, some of it is sent to wholesale merchants in the East, and large quantities are sold to surrounding towns. The Amana people bring the highest price ever where, for these Germans are so honest that what they make can be guaranteed to be "all wool."
The origin of the colony is done by its members. There are two railroads and four depots in it, and the section men, depot agents, operators and conductors are all members of the colony. Their salaries go into the colony's fund. The society makes its own rules and laws, which in no wise conflict with those of the United States or of the State of Iowa. Each village has an overseer, called an elder, making in all seven elders, who, taken together, are called a synod. The synod is governed by a President, and meets weekly to transact business. The public officers of these officials are chosen by popular vote, but the men elected are always those desired by the leaders.
Their religion is a form of Lutheranism. The people have no churches of any denomination, but every Sunday they hold a service in the village hall, and the elder of each village is leader. He reads the Scriptures and comments on the passages. There are no organs or pianos or instruments of any kind in the village, as they were not to be tolerated. Vocal music, however, is cultivated to a high degree of perfection. In their morality these people are very rigid. The youth are allowed few privileges—no card-playing, no dances, no theatres, and, in fact, no social gatherings of any kind. Young women and men are not allowed to walk on the street together or to keep company. But in case a couple are unfortunate as to fall in love, they must make it known to the elder of the village, who at once sends them to different villages, where they are not allowed to correspond with or see each other for two years. At the end of that time, if they are of the same mind, they are married. But in case they are not, they are immediately separated, and they are privileged to leave the society and remain out two years, when they can return again.
The people dress as the Americans do, but without ornaments. They speak the German language, but nearly all can talk English with equal facility. Every village in the colony has its school, taught by one of its members. In 1863, the society of Germany, which was founded on the 44th and 45th verses of the Book of Acts, which read as follows: "And all that believed were together, and had all things common; and sold their possessions and goods, and parted them to all men, as every man had need."
The society was originally founded about one hundred years ago in one of the southern counties of Germany, where it existed for fifty years. The entire sect, if it may be so called, came to this country and settled near Buffalo, N. Y. Thence they moved to the north, and the story of the society, which is a curious one, is told in the northern part of Iowa County, on each side of the Iowa River. There they have lived ever since. At the present time they control 28,000 acres of land.
The people hold everything in common. No man individually owns anything. Every man, woman and child is well clothed and well fed, but all the surplus money goes into the treasury of the society. The people do not live on farms, but in villages, which are seven in number—Homestead, East Amana, North Amana, West Amana, and South Amana. These villages are situated from two to five miles apart, and are connected by telephone. The villages are about equal in size, and are built without any plan or regularity. Their streets are as crooked as so many legs, and the houses are of all shapes and sizes. Each town is a typical Dutch village. The houses are huge structures after the same pattern, and nearly all are built of bricks made at the villages. Some of the houses are made of wood, but have never been burned. This is for two reasons—because it is cheaper and because painted buildings would never be so much of a sight as the wooden ones. The houses are about forty by sixty feet, and are three stories high. Between them is a space of from two to six rods of ground. This space is planted to vineyards. The people all live in the villages and go to their work in the fields. All the cattle and live stock are kept in huge barns on the outer limits. The fields are very large, some containing 5000 to 8000 acres. The people at public houses or kitchens, having five meals a day, as they do in Germany, the men eating separately from the women and children. They sleep in these large dwellings, which are divided into dormitories. Each person has a room, and the families live according to the number of their children. The young women learn housework and also serve several years as assistants and cooks in the kitchens. The men do the work in the fields, and are best adapted for it. The educated keep the stores or act as overseers of the workmen in the factories. Each town has a general store which keeps all the necessities of life, but none of the luxuries. The store at Homestead village buys all supplies at wholesale for the entire colony. The villages have a flour mill, saw mill, and machine shop, which do all the repairing and make most of the machinery used on the farm and in the workshops. There are also two large woolen mills, one of which cost over $100,000, and the other, which cost $200,000, and are the only ones of the kind in Iowa. The wool is from the farms, and in the mills are manufactured every variety of flannels and dress goods. The cotton cloth is bought directly from the East, and is sold to the mills at a profit. The wool is generally dark blue or black. As only a small part of the woolen goods manufactured can be consumed in the colony, some of it is sent to wholesale merchants in the East, and large quantities are sold to surrounding towns. The Amana people bring the highest price ever where, for these Germans are so honest that what they make can be guaranteed to be "all wool."
The origin of the colony is done by its members. There are two railroads and four depots in it, and the section men, depot agents, operators and conductors are all members of the colony. Their salaries go into the colony's fund. The society makes its own rules and laws, which in no wise conflict with those of the United States or of the State of Iowa. Each village has an overseer, called an elder, making in all seven elders, who, taken together, are called a synod. The synod is governed by a President, and meets weekly to transact business. The public officers of these officials are chosen by popular vote, but the men elected are always those desired by the leaders.
Their religion is a form of Lutheranism. The people have no churches of any denomination, but every Sunday they hold a service in the village hall, and the elder of each village is leader. He reads the Scriptures and comments on the passages. There are no organs or pianos or instruments of any kind in the village, as they were not to be tolerated. Vocal music, however, is cultivated to a high degree of perfection. In their morality these people are very rigid. The youth are allowed few privileges—no card-playing, no dances, no theatres, and, in fact, no social gatherings of any kind. Young women and men are not allowed to walk on the street together or to keep company. But in case a couple are unfortunate as to fall in love, they must make it known to the elder of the village, who at once sends them to different villages, where they are not allowed to correspond with or see each other for two years. At the end of that time, if they are of the same mind, they are married. But in case they are not, they are immediately separated, and they are privileged to leave the society and remain out two years, when they can return again.
The people dress as the Americans do, but without ornaments. They speak the German language, but nearly all can talk English with equal facility. Every village in the colony has its school, taught by one of its members. In 1863, the society of Germany, which was founded on the 44th and 45th verses of the Book of Acts, which read as follows: "And all that believed were together, and had all things common; and sold their possessions and goods, and parted them to all men, as every man had need."
The society was originally founded about one hundred years ago in one of the southern counties of Germany, where it existed for fifty years. The entire sect, if it may be so called, came to this country and settled near Buffalo, N. Y. Thence they moved to the north, and the story of the society, which is a curious one, is told in the northern part of Iowa County, on each side of the Iowa River. There they have lived ever since. At the present time they control 28,000 acres of land.
The people hold everything in common. No man individually owns anything. Every man, woman and child is well clothed and well fed, but all the surplus money goes into the treasury of the society. The people do not live on farms, but in villages, which are seven in number—Homestead, East Amana, North Amana, West Amana, and South Amana. These villages are situated from two to five miles apart, and are connected by telephone. The villages are about equal in size, and are built without any plan or regularity. Their streets are as crooked as so many legs, and the houses are of all shapes and sizes. Each town is a typical Dutch village. The houses are huge structures after the same pattern, and nearly all are built of bricks made at the villages. Some of the houses are made of wood, but have never been burned. This is for two reasons—because it is cheaper and because painted buildings would never be so much of a sight as the wooden ones. The houses are about forty by sixty feet, and are three stories high. Between them is a space of from two to six rods of ground. This space is planted to vineyards. The people all live in the villages and go to their work in the fields. All the cattle and live stock are kept in huge barns on the outer limits. The fields are very large, some containing 5000 to 8000 acres. The people at public houses or kitchens, having five meals a day, as they do in Germany, the men eating separately from the women and children. They sleep in these large dwellings, which are divided into dormitories. Each person has a room, and the families live according to the number of their children. The young women learn housework and also serve several years as assistants and cooks in the kitchens. The men do the work in the fields, and are best adapted for it. The educated keep the stores or act as overseers of the workmen in the factories. Each town has a general store which keeps all the necessities of life, but none of the luxuries. The store at Homestead village buys all supplies at wholesale for the entire colony. The villages have a flour mill, saw mill, and machine shop, which do all the repairing and make most of the machinery used on the farm and in the workshops. There are also two large woolen mills, one of which cost over $100,000, and the other, which cost $200,000, and are the only ones of the kind in Iowa. The wool is from the farms, and in the mills are manufactured every variety of flannels and dress goods. The cotton cloth is bought directly from the East, and is sold to the mills at a profit. The wool is generally dark blue or black. As only a small part of the woolen goods manufactured can be consumed in the colony, some of it is sent to wholesale merchants in the East, and large quantities are sold to surrounding towns. The Amana people bring the highest price ever where, for these Germans are so honest that what they make can be guaranteed to be "all wool."
The origin of the colony is done by its members. There are two railroads and four depots in it, and the section men, depot agents, operators and conductors are all members of the colony. Their salaries go into the colony's fund. The society makes its own rules and laws, which in no wise conflict with those of the United States or of the State of Iowa. Each village has an overseer, called an elder, making in all seven elders, who, taken together, are called a synod. The synod is governed by a President, and meets weekly to transact business. The public officers of these officials are chosen by popular vote, but the men elected are always those desired by the leaders.
Their religion is a form of Lutheranism. The people have no churches of any denomination, but every Sunday they hold a service in the village hall, and the elder of each village is leader. He reads the Scriptures and comments on the passages. There are no organs or pianos or instruments of any kind in the village, as they were not to be tolerated. Vocal music, however, is cultivated to a high degree of perfection. In their morality these people are very rigid. The youth are allowed few privileges—no card-playing, no dances, no theatres, and, in fact, no social gatherings of any kind. Young women and men are not allowed to walk on the street together or to keep company. But in case a couple are unfortunate as to fall in love, they must make it known to the elder of the village, who at once sends them to different villages, where they are not allowed to correspond with or see each other for two years. At the end of that time, if they are of the same mind, they are married. But in case they are not, they are immediately separated, and they are privileged to leave the society and remain out two years, when they can return again.
The people dress as the Americans do, but without ornaments. They speak the German language, but nearly all can talk English with equal facility. Every village in the colony has its school, taught by one of its members. In 1863, the society of Germany, which was founded on the 44th and 45th verses of the Book of Acts, which read as follows: "And all that believed were together, and had all things common; and sold their possessions and goods, and parted them to all men, as every man had need."
The society was originally founded about one hundred years ago in one of the southern counties of Germany, where it existed for fifty years. The entire sect, if it may be so called, came to this country and settled near Buffalo, N. Y. Thence they moved to the north, and the story of the society, which is a curious one, is told in the northern part of Iowa County, on each side of the Iowa River. There they have lived ever since. At the present time they control 28,000 acres of land.
The people hold everything in common. No man individually owns anything. Every man, woman and child is well clothed and well fed, but all the surplus money goes into the treasury of the society. The people do not live on farms, but in villages, which are seven in number—Homestead, East Amana, North Amana, West Amana, and South Amana. These villages are situated from two to five miles apart, and are connected by telephone. The villages are about equal in size, and are built without any plan or regularity. Their streets are as crooked as so many legs, and the houses are of all shapes and sizes. Each town is a typical Dutch village. The houses are huge structures after the same pattern, and nearly all are built of bricks made at the villages. Some of the houses are made of wood, but have never been burned. This is for two reasons—because it is cheaper and because painted buildings would never be so much of a sight as the wooden ones. The houses are about forty by sixty feet, and are three stories high. Between them is a space of from two to six rods of ground. This space is planted to vineyards. The people all live in the villages and go to their work in the fields. All the cattle and live stock are kept in huge barns on the outer limits. The fields are very large, some containing 5000 to 8000 acres. The people at public houses or kitchens, having five meals a day, as they do in Germany, the men eating separately from the women and children. They sleep in these large dwellings, which are divided into dormitories. Each person has a room, and the families live according to the number of their children. The young women learn housework and also serve several years as assistants and cooks in the kitchens. The men do the work in the fields, and are best adapted for it. The educated keep the stores or act as overseers of the workmen in the factories. Each town has a general store which keeps all the necessities of life, but none of the luxuries. The store at Homestead village buys all supplies at wholesale for the entire colony. The villages have a flour mill, saw mill, and machine shop, which do all the repairing and make most of the machinery used on the farm and in the workshops. There are also two large woolen mills, one of which cost over $100,000, and the other, which cost $200,000, and are the only ones of the kind in Iowa. The wool is from the farms, and in the mills are manufactured every variety of flannels and dress goods. The cotton cloth is bought directly from the East, and is sold to the mills at a profit. The wool is generally dark blue or black. As only a small part of the woolen goods manufactured can be consumed in the colony, some of it is sent to wholesale merchants in the East, and large quantities are sold to surrounding towns. The Amana people bring the highest price ever where, for these Germans are so honest that what they make can be guaranteed to be "all wool."
The origin of the colony is done by its members. There are two railroads and four depots in it, and the section men, depot agents, operators and conductors are all members of the colony. Their salaries go into the colony's fund. The society makes its own rules and laws, which in no wise conflict with those of the United States or of the State of Iowa. Each village has an overseer, called an elder, making in all seven elders, who, taken together, are called a synod. The synod is governed by a President, and meets weekly to transact business. The public officers of these officials are chosen by popular vote, but the men elected are always those desired by the leaders.
Their religion is a form of Lutheranism. The people have no churches of any denomination, but every Sunday they hold a service in the village hall, and the elder of each village is leader. He reads the Scriptures and comments on the passages. There are no organs or pianos or instruments of any kind in the village, as they were not to be tolerated. Vocal music, however, is cultivated to a high degree of perfection. In their morality these people are very rigid. The youth are allowed few privileges—no card-playing, no dances, no theatres, and, in fact, no social gatherings of any kind. Young women and men are not allowed to walk on the street together or to keep company. But in case a couple are unfortunate as to fall in love, they must make it known to the elder of the village, who at once sends them to different villages, where they are not allowed to correspond with or see each other for two years. At the end of that time, if they are of the same mind, they are married. But in case they are not, they are immediately separated, and they are privileged to leave the society and remain out two years, when they can return again.
The people dress as the Americans do, but without ornaments. They speak the German language, but nearly all can talk English with equal facility. Every village in the colony has its school, taught by one of its members. In 1863, the society of Germany, which was founded on the 44th and 45th verses of the Book of Acts, which read as follows: "And all that believed were together, and had all things common; and sold their possessions and goods, and parted them to all men, as every man had need."
The society was originally founded about one hundred years ago in one of the southern counties of Germany, where it existed for fifty years. The entire sect, if it may be so called, came to this country and settled near Buffalo, N. Y. Thence they moved to the north, and the story of the society, which is a curious one, is told in the northern part of Iowa County, on each side of the Iowa River. There they have lived ever since. At the present time they control 28,000 acres of land.
The people hold everything in common. No man individually owns anything. Every man, woman and child is well clothed and well fed, but all the surplus money goes into the treasury of the society. The people do not live on farms, but in villages, which are seven in number—Homestead, East Amana, North Amana, West Amana, and South Amana. These villages are situated from two to five miles apart, and are connected by telephone. The villages are about equal in size, and are built without any plan or regularity. Their streets are as crooked as so many legs, and the houses are of all shapes and sizes. Each town is a typical Dutch village. The houses are huge structures after the same pattern, and nearly all are built of bricks made at the villages. Some of the houses are made of wood, but have never been burned. This is for two reasons—because it is cheaper and because painted buildings would never be so much of a sight as the wooden ones. The houses are about forty by sixty feet, and are three stories high. Between them is a space of from two to six rods of ground. This space is planted to vineyards. The people all live in the villages and go to their work in the fields. All the cattle and live stock are kept in huge barns on the outer limits. The fields are very large, some containing 5000 to 8000 acres. The people at public houses or kitchens, having five meals a day, as they do in Germany, the men eating separately from the women and children. They sleep in these large dwellings, which are divided into dormitories. Each person has a room, and the families live according to the number of their children. The young women learn housework and also serve several years as assistants and cooks in the kitchens. The men do the work in the fields, and are best adapted for it. The educated keep the stores or act as overseers of the workmen in the factories. Each town has a general store which keeps all the necessities of life, but none of the luxuries. The store at Homestead village buys all supplies at wholesale for the entire colony. The villages have a flour mill, saw mill, and machine shop, which do all the repairing and make most of the machinery used on the farm and in the workshops. There are also two large woolen mills, one of which cost over $100,000, and the other, which cost $200,000, and are the only ones of the kind in Iowa. The wool is from the farms, and in the mills are manufactured every variety of flannels and dress goods. The cotton cloth is bought directly from the East, and is sold to the mills at a profit. The wool is generally dark blue or black. As only a small part of the woolen goods manufactured can be consumed in the colony, some of it is sent to wholesale merchants in the East, and large quantities are sold to surrounding towns. The Amana people bring the highest price ever where, for these Germans are so honest that what they make can be guaranteed to be "all wool."
The origin of the colony is done by its members. There are two railroads and four depots in it, and the section men, depot agents, operators and conductors are all members of the colony. Their salaries go into the colony's fund. The society makes its own rules and laws, which in no wise conflict with those of the United States or of the State of Iowa. Each village has an overseer, called an elder, making in all seven elders, who, taken together, are called a synod. The synod is governed by a President, and meets weekly to transact business. The public officers of these officials are chosen by popular vote, but the men elected are always those desired by the leaders.
Their religion is a form of Lutheranism. The people have no churches of any denomination, but every Sunday they hold a service in the village hall, and the elder of each village is leader. He reads the Scriptures and comments on the passages. There are no organs or pianos or instruments of any kind in the village, as they were not to be tolerated. Vocal music, however, is cultivated to a high degree of perfection. In their morality these people are very rigid. The youth are allowed few privileges—no card-playing, no dances, no theatres, and,

BRIAR PIPE GIVEN AWAY.

WITH EVERY ONE POUND
bale
OF DUKES MIXTURE for 35 cents
Every pipe stamped
DUKES MIXTURE or 207 PACKAGE 5¢

PEIRCE SCHOOL

A representative American Business School for both sexes.

SECOND, THIRD AND FOURTH FLOORS OF RECORD BUILDING...
517-519 CHESTNUT STREET
PHILADELPHIA

THOMAS MAY PEIRCE, A. M., Ph. D.
Founder and Principal.

A Commercial School of high grade, which completes a good English education with a systematic business training.

31ST YEAR—

under the same Principal.
A complete all-around equipment for business life, including the English branches, with Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Correspondence, Mercantile Customs and Forms, Commercial Law and Geography, Banking, Finance, Economics and Civics.

Entrance examinations held daily throughout the year. Enrollment begins on application.
Day Sessions '99—Begin Monday, September
5, 1900. Night Sessions, September 10, 1900.
School literature, including addresses of Ex-Speaker Reed and Max O'Rell on last Graduation Day, free.

Graduates are Successfully Assisted to Positions.

A. H. Phillips W. A. Fannon.

A. H. Phillips & Co. Fire Insurance.

MONEY
FOR Mortgage Loans.

Correspondence Solicited.
1828 Atlantic Avenue,
Atlantic City, N. J.

O. W. PAYRAN, Attorney at Law.

Master in Chancery, Notary Public.
Atlantic City, N. J.
Hammonton office over Atkinson's

Real Estate Office.

In the Brick Fay building, at Hammonton Station.

We offer for sale

Several Improved Farms,
Nice Homes in Town,
Wild Land by the acre.
Building Lots.
Also, Properties for Rent.

Come and see us, and learn particulars.
English, German, French, and Italian spoken and written.

B. Albrici & Co.

Chas. Cunningham, M.D. Physician and Surgeon.

Hill's Block, Hammonton.
Office Hours, 7:30 to 10:00 A.M.
1:00 to 3:00 and 7:00 to 9:00 P.M.

Hoyt & Sons print
Anything you want.

Maurice River Cove Oysters

AT

Swank's Oyster Bay.

Bellevue Ave. and Second St.

WRIGHT'S PILLS

For all Bilious and Nervous Disorders. They purify the blood and give healthy action to the entire system.
Cure DYSPEPSIA, HEADACHE, CONSTIPATION and PIMPLES.

If you feel lonesome and unprotected,
read Psalm xcl.
If there is a chilly sensation about the heart, read Rev. iii.

Bucklin's Arnica Salve
The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required.
It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price, 25 cents per box. For sale at Croft's.

NOTICE OF REGISTRATION AND ELECTION.

Notice is hereby given that the several Boards of Registry and Election of Atlantic County will meet on Tuesday, Oct. 15, 1895,

At the place where the next election in their district will be held, at ten o'clock in the morning, and remain in session (recess from one to two o'clock) until nine o'clock in the evening for the purpose of making up from the canvassing books two lists or registers of names, residences and street numbers, if any, of all persons in their respective election districts entitled to the right of suffrage therein at the next election, or who shall personally appear before them for that purpose, or who shall be shown to the satisfaction of such Board of Registry and Election to have legally voted in that election district at the last preceding election therein for a member of the General Assembly, or who shall be shown by the affidavit in writing of some voter in that election district to be a legal voter therein.

And notice is hereby further given that the said Board of Registry and Election will also meet on Tuesday, Oct. 29, 1895, at the place of their former meeting, at the hour of one o'clock in the afternoon, and remain in session until nine o'clock in the evening, for the purpose of revising and correcting the original registers, or adding thereto names of all persons entitled to the right of surfrage in that election district at next election who shall appear in person before them or who shall be shown by the written affidavit of some voter in said election district to be a legal voter therein, and of erasing therefrom the name of any person who, after a fair opportunity to be heard, shall be shown not to be entitled to vote therein by reason of non-residence or otherwise.

And notice is hereby further given that the County Board of Elections will be in session in the Court House at May's Landing on Saturday, Nov. 2, 1895, for the purpose of revising and correcting the aforesaid register of voters, by ordering erased therefrom the name of any person who shall be shown to the satisfaction of said Board, for any cause, not to be entitled to vote at the next election in the election district where he is registered, and of adding to said registers the names of any person or persons who shall prove to the satisfaction of said Board, by affidavit or otherwise, his right to vote at ensuing election.

And notice is hereby further given that the next General Election will be held on Tuesday Nov. 5, 1895, commencing at six o'clock in the morning and closing at seven o'clock in the evening.

And notice is hereby further given that on the aforesaid day of the general election, Nov.
5, 1895, the County Board of Election will be in session at the County Court House in May's Landing, from eight o'clock in the forenoon to five o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of ordering added to the registration lists the names of such persons as shall then satisfy the Board of their right to vote on that day.

Done in accordance with an act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, entitled "A further supplement to an act to regulate elections," approved May 27, 1890, and the amendments thereto.

LEWIS EVANS, County Clerk.
County Clerk's Office,
May's Landing, N. J., Sept. 27, 1895.
Pr. fee, $15.74

J. S. Thayer Teacher of Guitar

Agent for Guitars, Mandolins, Banjos, and other instruments. Also, Music, both vocal and instrumental. Repairing promptly attended to. For terms and prices apply at residence in the evening, or at Herman Fiedler's Cigar Store.
Hammonton, N. J.

Real Estate FOR SALE.

1. A large and handsome house on Pleasant Street, only a few rods from the railroad, very convenient, with heater, conservatory; good barn, two lots.

2. A neat 7-room house on Second St., very convenient, beautifully finished, heated; one lot.

3. Good house and lot on Second St., very desirable.

12. Farm on Pleasant Mills Road, five miles from Hammonton post-office. 20 acres, partly in fruit; good house. A bargain.

14. The Lawson house, Orchard St.
Fine house, 9 rooms, heater, easy terms.

15. A large house on Grape Street, 7 rooms, nearly new. Two acres.

16. Ten acres on First Road, four in berries. Cheap.

17. An attractive and very comfortable house on Central Avenue, seven rooms, halls, pantry, bath, hot and cold water, windmill; two acres, apples and other fruit. Fair terms.

18. Thirty acres on Seventh St., partly cranberry bog.

19. Forty acres on Oak Road, good house, barn, etc. Nearly all land in in profit, including small cranberry bog.
Reasonable price.

20. A house and large lot on Egg Harbor Road; six rooms, halls, attic; heated. A bargain.

21. Eight room house and two lots on Third Street; very convenient; heated throughout.

For any desired information in regard to the above, call upon or address Editor of South Jersey Republican,
Hammonton, N. J.

It is edifying to see the Trenton True American using up a half-column of space a day in the vain endeavor to reconcile its praises of John W. Griggs a year or so ago with its calumination of him in this campaign. The editor says he is himself just as honest now as he was then. There is no doubt of it.
A profit of 288 per cent for several years on stationery and printing for the State bears eloquent testimony to this assertion.

Cure for Headache.

As a remedy for all forms of headache, Electric Bitters has proved to be the very best. It effects a permanent cure and the most dreaded habitual sick headaches yield to its influence. We urge all who are afflicted to procure a bottle, and give this remedy a fair trial.
In cases of habitual constipation Electric Bitters cures by giving the needed tone to the bowels, and few cases long resist the use of this medicine. Try it once.
Large bottles only fifty cents, at Croft's Pharmacy.

Castile Soap that IS Castile Soap.

United States Consulate, SMYRNA, Turkey in Asia.

I, Alfred Lavino, of the firm of A.
Lavino & Co., of Smyrna aforesaid, being duly sworn, do depose and say:
"Our brand of soap is and always has been made of pure Olive Oil."
(Signed) A. LAVINO.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, July 18, 1895,
(Signed) J. H. MADDERY,
U. S. Consul.

I hereby certify that the foregoing affidavit is a true verbatim copy of the original duly filed at this Consulate. Witness my hand and official seal at Smyrna, Turkey in Asia.
(Signed) J. H. MADDERY,
U. S. Consul.

To be had only at Croft's Pharmacy.

SHOES. Always a Good Stock

Only the Best!

Shoes made to Order is my Specialty, and full satisfaction is guaranteed.

Repairing done.

J. MURDOCH, Bellevue Avenue, Hammonton. : : N. J.

BOOTS SHOES RUBBERS.

If you want a good reliable article of foot-wear, at a reasonable price, you can get it by going to
D. C. HERBERT'S.

For $1---

We will send the Republican to any address in this County until Jan. 1, 1897.

Fourteen months
for One Dollar.

If you live out of this County, send us
$1.25 for the same time.

FRAZER AXLE GREASE

Best in the World!
Get the Genuine!
Sold Everywhere!

HARNESS.

A full assortment of hand and machine made,—for work or driving.

Trunks, Valises, Whips, Riding Saddles, Nets, etc.

L. W. COGLEY, Hammonton, N. J.

R-I-P-A-N-S

The modern standard Family Medicine: Cures the common every-day ills of humanity.

ONE GIVES RELIEF.

The People's Bank Of Hammonton, N. J.

Authorized Capital, $50,000
Paid in, $30,000.
Surplus, $13,000.

R. J. BYRNES, President.
M. L. JACKSON, Vice-Pres't
W. R. TILTON, Cashier

DIRECTORS:

R. J. Byrnes,
M. L. Jackson,
George Elvins,
Blam Stockwell

G. F. Saxton,
C. F. Osgood,

P. S. Tilton,
A. J. Smith,
J. O. Anderson.

Certificates of deposit issued, bearing interest at the rate of 2 per cent. per annum if held six months, and 3 per cent if held one year.

Discount days—Tuesday and Friday of each week.

Bring your orders for Job Printing of every kind to the South Jersey Republican office.

Atlantic City R. R.

Sept. 30, 1895.

DOWN TRAINS.				UP TRAINS.
Acco.	Exp.	Acco.	Exp.	Acco.	Exp.	Acco.	Exp.
6:30	5:45	4:30	2:00	8:00	Philadelphia	8:45	10:10
6:45	5:58	4:42	5:12	8:10	Camden	8:58	10:18
7:00	6:21	4:54	5:24	8:20	Magnolia	9:08	10:28
7:12	6:27	5:06	5:36	8:30	Laurel Springs	9:18	10:38
7:18	6:31	5:12	5:42	8:40	Clementon	9:28	10:48
7:28	6:41	5:22	5:52	8:50	Williamstown Junc.	9:38	10:58
7:31	6:46	5:25	5:55	9:01	Ocean Brook	9:48	11:08
7:40	6:56	5:30	6:00	9:12	Winslow Junc.	9:58	11:18
7:45	7:06	5:36	6:06	9:18	Hammonton	10:08	11:28
7:50	7:11	5:41	6:11	9:24	De Cade	10:13	11:33
7:57	7:18	5:48	6:18	9:32	Kilwood	10:21	11:41
8:05	7:26	5:56	6:26	9:40	Egg Harbor	10:29	11:49
8:12	7:33	6:03	6:33	9:48	Brigantine Junc.	10:37	11:57
8:24	7:45	6:15	6:45	10:00	Pleasantville	10:49	12:09
8:32	7:53	6:23	6:53	10:10	Atlantic City	10:59	12:19

Camden and Atlantic Railroad.

Sept. 30, 1895.

DOWN TRAINS.

STATIONS.	Mail.	Exp.	Exp.	Acco.	Exp.	Acco.	Exp.	Acco.	Exp.
Philadelphia	8:00	2:00	4:00	4:30	5:00	8:15	9:45	4:00
Camden	8:10	2:07	4:08	4:38	5:07	8:25	9:55	4:10
Haddonfield	8:20			4:48		8:35		4:20
Berlin	8:30			4:58		8:45		4:30
Atco	8:40			5:08		8:55		4:40
Waterford	8:50			5:17		9:05		4:50
Winslow	9:00			5:26		9:15		5:00
Hammonton	9:10			5:35		9:25		5:10
De Cade	9:20			5:44		9:34		5:20
Kilwood	9:30			5:53		9:43		5:30
Egg Harbor City	9:40			6:03		9:53		5:40
Atlantic City	9:50			6:12		10:02		5:50

UP TRAINS.

STATIONS.	Atco	Exp.	Exp.	Exp.	Acco.	Exp.	Acco.	Exp.	Acco.
Philadelphia	8:50		9:00	10:30	5:10	9:20	6:20	6:50
Camden	8:42		8:52	10:22	5:01	9:10	6:12	6:42
Haddonfield	8:32				4:53	9:03	6:03
Berlin	8:21				4:43	8:53	5:53
Atco	8:10				4:32	8:42	5:42
Waterford	7:59				4:21	8:31	5:31
Winslow	7:48				4:10	8:20	5:20
Hammonton	7:37				3:59	8:09	5:09
De Cade	7:26				3:48	7:58	4:58
Kilwood	7:15				3:37	7:47	4:47
Egg Harbor City	7:04				3:26	7:36	4:36
Atlantic City	6:53				3:15	7:25	4:25

Accommodation leaves Hammonton at 6:55 a.m. and 12:30 p.m., reaches Philadelphia at 7:40 a.m. and 1:50 p.m. Leaves Phila. at 10:50 a.m. and 6:30 p.m., reaches Hammonton at 12:15 and 7:34 p.m.

GREAT VALUE FOR LITTLE MONEY.

The NEW YORK Weekly TRIBUNE

a twenty-page journal, is the leading Republican family paper of the United States. It is a National Family Paper, and gives all the general news of the United States. It gives the events of foreign lands in a nutshell. Its Agricultural Department has no superior in the country. Its Market Reports are recognized authority. Separate departments for "The Family Circle," "Our Young Folks," and "Science and Mechanics." Its "Home and Society" columns command the admiration of wives and daughters. Its general political news, editorial, and discussions are comprehensive, brilliant, and exhaustive.

A Special Contract enable us to offer this splendid journal and the South Jersey Republican for

One Year for only $1.25, CASH IN ADVANCE.

Regular subscription for the two papers is $2. Subscriptions may begin at any time. Address all orders to the South Jersey Republican.

You can have a sample copy of each at this office.