First War, Then Election, NOW BUSINESS!

War and Election being over, it is now high time that people in general were turning their attention to commerce and trade. Let's keep moving, so as not to be out-run by the advancing times. Good quality, fair treatment, low prices,—if attained to, these qualities cannot fail to gain success.

Some every-day bargains,—the result of judicious buying, for we make a good profit on every article mentioned,—will be found below. They are all worthy of earnest attention.

THE PITMAN SYSTEM has for 44 years been the standard. Called by U. S. Bureau of Education "The American System." First prize, World's Fair. THE PHONOGRAPHIC INSTITUTE CO., 222 W. 4th St., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

A SCHOOL PROBLEM.

Sixty-seven pupils on the roll, a prospective increase in view, and seating capacity for but sixty-four; an over-taxed and discouraged teacher, who, unless relieved of a portion of this burden, will probably resign. When we consider that under this teacher's management this unwieldy school is making good progress, the loss of her services would be deplorable.

The solution of the above problem, which represents the condition of the Fourth and Fifth Grades department in the Central School building, has been submitted to the Board of Education.

There are pupils in these two grades that properly belong to outlying schools. At their last meeting, the Board had under consideration the return of these pupils to the schools where they belong; but it was soon found that the outlying schools, with two exceptions (Rosedale and Magnolia), were filled to about their full capacity. Being unable to arrive at any satisfactory solution of the difficulty, the matter was deferred until next meeting.

Upon further investigation it was learned that not only are the two grades in Central crowded, but also the sixth; and an inspection of last year's rolls shows pupils in excess of seating capacity in the following schools:

Main Road.....enrolled 70.....sittings 64
Union Road....." 73....." 52
Middle Road....." 51....." 48
Lake....." 65....." 48

With the exception of Middle Road, the attendance of pupils at these schools will apparently remain the same as last term. Middle Road will fall short,—may not exceed 40.

It is very evident that relief is now needed, not only for Central, but for the other schools mentioned.

A school house with seating capacity for sixty, in the vicinity of Main Road and Bellevue Avenue, taking fifth grade pupils from neighboring schools, would give needed relief, and enable teachers to do better work in the lower grades. Then take the fifth and sixth grade pupils that belong to the section in which these schools are located (drawing the dividing line at Valley Avenue) from Central school, and thus relieve the overcrowding there, and provide ample accommodations for a number of years.

The Board must adopt one of three alternatives,—permit schools mentioned to fall below their former standard (as no teacher can do justice in a school with over sixty pupils, especially where five grades are taught); or they must refuse to admit pupils in excess of present accommodations; or ask for an appropriation to build another school house. It is safe to predict that the present Board will not resort to either the first or second alternative, unless compelled to do so; therefore the public may reasonably expect that they will apply to the next annual school meeting for funds and permission to build. Whether they ask for twelve hundred dollars to erect and equip an ordinary building, or (as the tendency of the age is toward centralization) for three or four thousand to build an annex to the Central (which for many reasons would be preferable), will probably depend on public expression.

But for the present term there must be immediate relief. Temporary relief, as an experiment, has been provided by the Principal, until the next meeting of the Board. It may not prove practical, and have to be abandoned. If not continued, it should elicit no surprises if some fourth or fifth grade pupils are returned to the outlying schools not now overcrowded.

Feels It Safe to Sleep.

[The following was written for last week's issue, but crowded out.]

I want to say a few words to H. Har-rald, who so brilliantly wrote a reply to what I said the week before, of a certain individual's retrograde slide. Election is over, and the voters, it seems, graded him about as I did,—left him in obscurity, as the "great and honorable party" convention found him. Their effort to bring him out of "darkness" proved of no avail. "Great and honorable is good." He can't have read the history of his party since Andrew Jackson. Not an honorable record.

Yes, after McKinley's advent I did go to sleep in perfect security, knowing there would be a return to prosperity and a revival of business; that there would be no further need of soup-houses to feed the thousands of laborers and their families, their poverty caused by lack of employment because of the Wilson Democratic tariff law. There was no danger of a bankrupt treasury, as under Buchanan and Cleveland. I could sleep, and give the Republican administration praise. But I awoke in time to assist in sending back to his obscurity the Hall who missed having greatness thrust upon him by a "great and honorable" party, represented by men who did their "honorable" best to destroy the Union.

Caesar was so "honorable" that his friends slew him to save Rome. So the people slew the "great and honorable" party, on Tuesday, to save the nation from destruction, and prevent a repetition of the disasters of the late Democratic administration.

I can continue to sleep in security while McKinley is at the helm of the Ship of State,—thanks to the good sense of the great majority of the voters of the Nation.

Home Interests.

Experience and observation have led us to the conclusion that many things can be purchased in our own town quite as reasonably as in the city. Habit controls many people; and there is such a thing as getting in the habit of going to the city for nearly everything that is needed, and overlooking home interests entirely. It is true, there are some things that cannot be purchased here, and the necessity arises for going away occasionally; but so far as groceries, shoes, and the ordinary line of dry goods are concerned, we not only find them right here, but at prices that are equally as cheap. Take, for instance, the shoes that are manufactured and sold among us,—I am sure an inspection of the material would convince any unprejudiced mind of their reasonableness. The same thing is true in hardware. In fact, a buyer who has purchased considerable in the city has declared that better prices were offered here. And this could be said of many things.

Most, if not all of our buyers, are prepared to pay spot cash for their goods, which gives them a decided advantage, and they seem willing to share this advantage with the consumer; and somehow the cavil grows on us that we should help each other so far as is possible in this way.

And there is another consideration,—many of our business men employ others, and if success comes to them it is mutual. And this is not to be overlooked. It is often exceedingly tedious to secure the few things you need in the city stores. You are out from counter to counter, and if you get a transfer you hardly ever find your goods in waiting. Then add to your time the fare, and weariness, and we think you will conclude that the readiness with which you can get supplied at home will convince you that home stores and industries demand a more favorable consideration.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month, by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found he self benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework, and as well as she ever was,--free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at Dr. G. M. Crowell's Drug Store. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows; I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite--gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately a friend advised trying "Electric Bitters," and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks and am now a well man. I know they saved my life and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at Dr. G. M. Crowell's Drug Store.
