

Thanksgiving Day comes next Thursday.

H. C. Driscoll, Adams Express man, was laid up with a severe cold, this week.

Harry Croasdale has returned from four weeks treatment in Hahnemann Hospital.

The Woman's Civic Club thank you all for your generous patronage of their 1916 fair.

George H. Naylor has purchased the Garcelon house, Grape Street, and is making improvements.

The regular meeting of the War Relief Fund will be held Tuesday next, at Mrs. L. H. Parkhurst's.

Work was begun, Monday, on Bellevue Avenue improvements. H. K. Spear is putting in the new gutters.

Little Ha-Ha will give a mask social next Monday evening, in Red Men's Hall. Prizes will be awarded.

Several young couples will have something to be thankful for next Thursday. So will the officiating clergymen.

James V. Baker passed the Civil Service examination for county detective, with the highest average of the class.

Bids for installing sewer laterals (house connections) on upper part of Bellevue Avenue, will be opened next Wednesday eve.

Thomas Lockhart, David Adams, and William Dunning, Jr., have received their appointments as mail carriers in Hammonton.

The pupils of Mrs. Clara A. Brown will treat their friends to a recital next Friday evening, in the Presbyterian Church lecture room.

Thomas Creamer was suddenly taken very ill, on Wednesday; but we learned yesterday that he is making satisfactory improvement.

John Vadala has returned from Wills Eye Hospital, where he was treated for an injured optic. He had fallen and run a splinter into his right eye.

The Rally-Day services in the M. E. Church, last Sunday, were interesting. The congregations, both morning and evening, were unusually large.

J. C. Anderson and family and Wm. H. Parkhurst and family propose to spend part of the cold weather period in Florida, a good way to escape the coal famine.

The Pollyanna Club will give an entertainment next Tuesday eve, in the M. E. Church parlor, entitled "The first day in a country school." Admission, ten cents.

The Rev. Everett van Dright lectured before the Crescent Historical Club of New York last week Friday evening, on "Side Lights on Early Colonial Events." Wednesday evening he preached at Pennsgrove.

Yesterday's papers announced a successful operation on the eyes of a former Hammontonian, David F. Lawson, building inspector in Atlantic City. He had been nearly blind for more than a year, caused by cataracts.

The Civic Club Fair was well attended, Tuesday and Wednesday—especially evenings. Everyone enjoyed the entertainments, participated in by both adults and children. The suppers and fancy goods tables, cake and ice cream, etc., attracted liberal patronage.

Anthony Rice, clerk in Baker Brothers' store, and Miss Mary Grillo, were united in marriage on Monday last, Nov. 20th, at St. Joseph's Church. Both young people are well known and liked, and having returned from a trip, have a new home on Packard St. They have the best wishes of many friends.

Congressman Bacharach will have the naming of six young men as principals and alternates to take the examination for West Point and Annapolis. A date in December will be chosen for the test. For West Point, boys must be between seventeen and twenty-two years old; for Annapolis, from sixteen to twenty. Write to Mr. B. if you desire to enter this competition.

The Department is revising the water system on upper Bellevue.

The Baptist Y. P. S. C. E. Soc'y postponed their mask social from last evening until next Tuesday evening, on account of two local funerals. A silver offering will be taken.

On Friday, Dec. 1, there is to be a Farmers' Institute at Blue Anchor,—three sessions, 10.30 a.m., 1.30 and 7.30 p.m., the latter being "Songs that Live," by Mrs. Morgan.

A sauer kraut supper is to be given by St. Joseph's Church on Saturday evening, Dec. 2nd, in Union Hall. Tickets, 35 cents. All are invited. Dancing to follow the supper.

Richard Morgan, long assistant to Geo. W. Bernshouse, agent for the Standard Oil Company, has been transferred to a better position, and will operate a truck as far as Pleasantville.

Town Council Meeting.

Regular meeting on Wednesday evening.—Messrs. Holland and Nicolai absent.

Finance Committee reported that the Sewer Inspector was appointed by the Board of Health, and is entitled to two dollars for each tap inspected. He is allowed to put in new connections, but his work must be inspected by some other plumber, who is entitled to the fee.

Voted, that the Clerk ask the Board of Health for a report of connections made and fees collected during past year,—to be made a matter of record.

Property Committee reported "progress" on house numbering. They find many problems.

Sewer Committee reported completion of repairs, and repainting, at disposal plant.

Bills ordered paid:

Highways	348.42
Sewerage	204.13
Town Purposes	15.00
Forest Fire	5.00

Collector gave detailed report of properties sold for taxes of 1915.

Engineers Remington and Vossbury appointed to take charge of Bellevue Avenue paving,—their compensation to be five per cent of contract price.

Specifications for sewer house connections, prepared by engineer, were adopted.

Some details in regard to railroad ditch at Eleventh St., and paving problems at Tilton and Packard Streets, were considered and disposed of.

An ordinance authorizing issue of bonds amounting to $12,000, to pay for fire apparatus and sidewalks, passed second and final reading. The entire ordinance is published elsewhere.

The people of Belgium still need help from the good people of the United States, who responded so nobly to previous appeals. Leave a contribution with Mr. Doerflinger, at The Peoples Bank. These brave people have been robbed, and are starving. Help them.

Last Friday night's Democratic celebration was one not to be soon forgotten, especially the long-eared animals (four-legged) heading the procession. There were two bands, lots of torches, fireworks, autos, and a tremendous effort to feel good over the prospect of four years more of outrageously high cost of living. But Mr. Wilson "will keep out of war."

As I have been drawn into the Thanksgiving service mix-up, let me say that, as a layman, I was present when the pastors of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist Churches decided to invite the local Universalist Church into the union Thanksgiving service. We knew nothing of a change when the Republican published "As per agreement union Thanksgiving service will be held at the Universalist Church." We were informed that we were wrong. But it has since developed that neither Rev. W. L. Shaw, former pastor of the M. E. Church, nor either of the present pastors, were advised of any change until very recently announcement was made that the annual Thanksgiving service would be held in the Presbyterian Church. We are further advised that the Baptist and Methodist Churches will unite with the Universalist Church next Thursday, "as per agreement." Wm. O. Hoyt.

AN ORDINANCE for the issuance of bonds of the Town of Hammonton, in accordance with the provisions of the Act of the Legislature of New Jersey, passed April 10, 1918, Chapter 111, for the purpose of the construction of a sewer system and the purchase of certain real estate and other purposes.

Be it ordained by the Mayor and Council of the Town of Hammonton, that the following bonds be and the same are hereby authorized to be issued and sold for the purpose of the construction of a sewer system and the purchase of certain real estate and other purposes: To-wit: Bonds in the sum of Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000.00) which said bonds shall be payable in five equal annual installments of four thousand dollars ($4,000.00) each, the first installment to be paid on the first day of January, 1920, and the remaining four installments to be paid on the first day of January, 1921, 1922, 1923, and 1924, respectively. The interest on said bonds shall be at the rate of five percent per annum, payable semi-annually on the first day of July and the first day of January of each year. The bonds shall be secured by a mortgage on the real estate of the Town of Hammonton, and by the full faith and credit of the Town of Hammonton.

Be it further ordained by the Mayor and Council of the Town of Hammonton, that the following bonds be and the same are hereby authorized to be issued and sold for the purpose of the construction of a sewer system and the purchase of certain real estate and other purposes: To-wit: Bonds in the sum of Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000.00) which said bonds shall be payable in five equal annual installments of four thousand dollars ($4,000.00) each, the first installment to be paid on the first day of January, 1920, and the remaining four installments to be paid on the first day of January, 1921, 1922, 1923, and 1924, respectively. For Open Models, f. o. b. Detroit

You can still Save $175

ON A HUDSON SUPER-SIX

We have still have a few cars due us on this year's Hudson output. Some are open models, some enclosed, some convertible. And all like coming models, save in possible minor refinements. These are the best Hudson Super-Sixes to be sold at the present prices.

The Hudson Factory is now sending us the last of this year's allotment. That means the last cars built from materials contracted a year ago.

They start a new production, built from the same grade of materials, but enormously advanced in cost. To maintain Hudson standards, the same car hereafter must cost $175 more.

Our customers can save that $175 while our present allotment lasts.

No New Models

The new production starting December 1st, does not involve new models. There will be no changes, unless such other refinements as frequently occur.

So the car you get now is the same car—at least practically—as the car which will then cost $175 more.

Our purpose here, therefore, is not to close out a model. Nor is it to sell overstock. We have none.

It is to get for our customers as many as possible of the current-production cars.

Still Below Others

The Hudson Super-Six at $1650 will still under-sell numerous other cars. Yet the Super-Six has proved itself the greatest car that's built.

It holds all worth-while stock-car records. It has outstripped all its rivals in every test attempted.

If you measure a car by performance and endurance, no other car compares with the Super-Six.

If you measure by fine engineering, by beauty and luxury, the Super-Six is at least the peer of any.

So the coming price is a fair price. The addition is just the year's added cost of materials.

But those explanations come later. To-day we can save you that advance on any type of Hudson Super-Six closed or open models.

A Year of the Super-Six

These cars will close the first year of the Hudson Super-Six. It started the year as a stranger. It ends the year in the throne place of Motordom. And with 20,000 enthusiastic owners.

It is now the holder of all worth-while records. All the records for speed in a stock car. With a 24-hour record of 1819 miles. As having made the best time in the Pike's Peak hill-climb, the world's great hill-climbing event.

As the holder of the ocean-to-ocean record, the supreme endurance test. It made a new mark by going from San Francisco to New York in 14 hours and 59 minutes less time than the best previous record. Then it turned and went back, again breaking all other records. The round trip was made in 10 days 21 hours. Just two days longer for both ways than last spring's best one-way time.

When you buy a fine car you will want this all-record-holder. You will want the greatest car when you buy any great car at all. You will want the super-endurance which these records prove. And you will want the Hudson luxury and beauty.

Come and see if that is not so. Come now, because a prompt decision means $175 saved.

1. "Speakin' o' swearin' off brings me back to Capt'n Salsbury an' the good ship 'Dancin' Sally.' You see we ended our voyage on New Year's day an' owing to th' shameful treatment o' th' skipper, Bill an' me had decided t' skoot. But wot do you 'spose that same old capt'n done but invite us into th' cabin—his own cabin, mind you—an' show us a resolution he'd writ up."

2. "Sink us for a pair o' fools 'f we didn't take him at his word an' sign papers there an' then for another cruise. Me an' Bill felt so good an' the next day bein' New Year's an' in port, wot does we do but get 'shore leave and come back 't'ib a cargo o' handsome presents for th' skipper."

3. "You'd a thought same as me an' Bill that them presents 'ud a touched his heart, but some men 'at go to sea haven't got any, an' us bein' a short spell over due made matters worse when th' skipper fixed his glass on us an' see th' packages, I never see a man get so vexed."

4. "Bill an' me 'us so upset an' taken aback 'at we didn't stand th' ghost o' a shoe, besides th' skipper 'us a powerful man when riled up an' th' way he misused us an' bawled us about th' deek 'us sompin' shameful an' terrible."

5. "Bill an' me both tried t' remind him o' his resolution, but that warn't no chance to get a word in edge-ways with the capt'n, an' we felt actually relieved when he kicked us into th' hold an' clapped down th' hatch."

6. "In all my experience, boy an' man, afore th' must, I don't recollect any harsher treatment on shipboard than wot we got in them same three months, an' as Bill says, an' so do I, never take no stock in these New Year's resolves, an' you can lay to that, my lad." Inter-verse, my dear friends, by M. L. B. 1934

[illegible][illegible][illegible]

BUSINESS men everywhere have been told to exercise tolerance with new office help. It was a thorough realization of this fact—arrived by having worked for many years as a confidential secretary for a law firm—which impelled me to establish myself as a provider of stenographers, typists, shipping clerks, messengers, minor help, in fact, to the offices of this downtown district.

The middle-aged woman whom the majority gave her home address as "Miss Nell" interrupted here to cross the floor of her sanctum, open a door and look into the adjoining room. "Tommy!" she said, speaking very mildly, "didn't you hear your call?" The addressed a half-frozen boy whose attention was absorbed by the spotting page of a newspaper.

"No, ma'am, I don't hear no bell," replied the lad, nervously playing his head, but not getting upon his feet.

"Stand up like I'm speaking to you," Miss Nell commanded, but sharply.

"That's the proper behavior for a boy who wishes to make friends in a big office. You did not hear he because you didn't prompt to please my master."

"Yes, ma'am. I'll listen-har," prompted the lad, and as an earnest of his good intentions Tommy laid aside the fascinating sheet.

nothing is said to them. The average man at the head of an office would rather invent an excuse for not hiring one of competent, quiet stenographer or typist than to tell her frankly that her manner and her gait are getting on his nerves. As I have filled positions similar to those which the girls who come seeking employment are anxious to obtain I can talk to them as women to women.

YOU wouldn't suppose I could teach a shipping clerk or a messenger anything continued Miss Nell; and can't tell them anything definite about their duties, because in every place where I've worked they do some things. But I break them in to paying attention to whatever is said to them, to keeping records of all transactions and to submitting adequate, concise reports concerning whatever has been entrusted to them. I train them to tell over the telephone what I find plenty of any shortcomings in manner or acts. A high-class employer does not take an interest in caring for a shipping clerk or messenger whose clothes, boots and hair need brushing; whose hands would be better for a bath and whose chin needs shaving. To overlook such details is himself brusque of manner—he does not want his employee to be conspicuous. To overlook such details in a youth he would hardly believe so conspicuous would be to give him the first opportunity to secure someone more to his taste.

"I assure most of the people whom I

[illegible][illegible]

"Three thousand," I said," repeated Harry.

"A rattling, rattling kind 'made' him guess back," Mr. Reed had turned his back on them and was trudging away. Mrs. Simpson looked after them sorrowfully.

"Three thousand, then, Mrs. Simpson?"

She took the notes, counted them, sighed, and said—

"There's two things as I'll be sorry at leaving Broadway for Old's here here onions and me poor Fido's grave. You'll like the bargain in writing how the lawyers fix it all, I suppose, Mr. Palmer."

"If you please," he said. "Nice old well that," he added, following her into the house, "pretty work all that is, but I don't want the stone hid in hidden in bramble and stuff. I must have it cleared. All that pretty work ought not to be hidden—"

"You're right," she said, with a phrase. Harry prompting her with the receipt.

"Pretty," she repeated. "It's an expense to me. So it is to my Fido. It's that poor Fido broke his leg. He was never the same dog again—never. Fell down, he did, little innocent. Ever after Sir John Porrett paid his license, he old, and well he might. You're a stranger hereabouts, so you won't recollect the burglary there was at Rikee End. Costs on five thousand dollars was stole—"

Mrs. Simpson leaned back with reminiscent eyes. It was as well she should see the face of the purchaser of Thrasy Cottage.

"Tom Theed it was as they let down to fetch poor Fido up. First they thought he was gassed, he hollowed so. There was all the proceeds of that night's show. He had wanted to be not as you please, bage of gold and a wallet of notes! Such a stir as it made, and old Sir John slipping five dollars into me hand. But poor Fido was never the same."

She spoke to empty air. Harry was stifling. He felt that his brain reeled. He feared he might clutch the notes she held in her greasy fingers and tear them from her hands. He escaped into the garden.

Suddenly he remembered Reed. He did not realize that he contemplated a Shortman (wishing for fresh fields to conquer)—I should like to try my hand at big game."

Fair ignorance—Yes, I suppose you find it very hard to hit these little birds?"

"Only think," Mrs. Grogan, that great Plainpounder has practiced so hard at the planity for the last six months that he has paralyzed two ingers."

"Begorrah, that's nothing, Mrs. Doolan. Me daughter, Mary Ann, she's been out so long for the last six months that she's paralyzed two pinnales."

The teacher had been reading to the class about the great forests.

"And now, boys," she announced, "which one of you can tell me the names of the longest and sharpest needles?"

"Up went a hand in the front row. "Well, Tommy?"

"The porcupine!"

"Major Rasher, I saw a man to-day who said like the pleasure of kicking you," said a friend.

"Kicking me?" exploded the Major.

"Kicking me? Give me his name at once!"

"I hardly like to tell you," said the other.

"I insist upon knowing," said the Major.

"Ah, well, I'll tell you," said the other. "It's a soldier who's in the hospital with both legs off."

The head of a certain family was recently approached by his son, just nearing his majority.

"Father," said he, "I want to have a talk with you concerning my future. I have decided to become an artist. Have you any objections?"

The old man scratched his head reflectively, and replied:

"My son, no—provided, of course, my son don't draw on me."

The town council of a small community town sought to inspect a site for a new hotel. The site was in a chapel, and as it was a warm day a member suggested that they should leave their coats there.

"We can't go in behind," and watch them," suggested another.

We Sell this Rugged Footwear Marked by the Red Ball

We sell it because we believe it is the best you can buy. We sell it because men who have worn rubber footwear for years have proved that "Ball-Band" gives them better comfort and more days of wear than any other make.

"Ball-Band" is the cheapest in the long run, too. You can't figure the cost of rubber boots and other rubber footwear by the first price. You've got to know how much wear it will give. You can put "Ball-Band" footwear to any service and judge it by wear. Then you will see why it gives the greatest service for the money.

Look for the Red Ball. You'll find it on all "Ball-Band" footwear.
