Goods Prices Treatment

Goods good,
Prices right,
Treatment fair.

These mottoes, good enough for any store, exactly suit ours. We endeavor constantly to serve our customers by selling the best articles at the lowest prices, and by dealing out fair treatment to all.

In hard times, the real benefactor is not he that scatters goods with lavish hand to the needy, since he thus, by unwise giving, injures himself and impoverishes the recipients of his gifts. Neither is it he that gives a man credit without proper security: such a person wrongs both himself and family, and causes the debtor to become careless and extravagant. But the real benefactor is he that sells good goods cheap, and for cash, never forgetting that every man has the right to be treated as a man, for he thus acts in a manner befitting his own dignity, and leads the masses to become careful, thrifty and incontinent.

Some prices that may interest buyers are given below:

Best pure leaf Lard, 7 c. pound: by the tub, 6½ cents.

Good Washboards, 10 cents.

Loaded Shells, 40 cents per box.

Lion or Arbuckle's Coffee, 11 c. pound.

Sugar, 5 cents a pound.

Lowest prices on Rolled Oats & Avena.

Communication.

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

The Journal man says I am a prohibitionist. Wrong; guess again. But "If meat maketh my brother to offend, I will eat no meat while the world stands." (Paul.) If everyone would follow this, and make it a part of his life, what a lot of misery might be prevented. Just read it over 'till you understand it fully. We are our brothers' keepers, and will be held responsible for their downfall if we could have removed the cause. It is the most selfish man who will think only of himself and not of a weaker brother. I never drank any liquor stronger than cider; and I never will, if for no other reason than a fear that some one with less will power than I might be influenced by my indulgence, and not be able to control his appetite for strong drink.

I have no personal interest for or against the proposed wine factory, except that it will result in the downfall of those for whom the stuff is made. My family are all safe,—they are as much opposed to it as I.

We read that Christ turned water into wine, and it was at once dealt out to the guests. That was not fermented wine. There is no more harm in drinking the juice as it comes from the press than in eating the fruit, except that it tends to form a habit. But what habitual drinker is particular as to the age of his beverage,—only so it has a good pedigree, dated back a few years.

Paul did advise Timothy to "use a little wine for thy stomach's sake and thine oft infirmities." He might with equal propriety have prescribed quinine; but I doubt that my Journal friend would recommend quinine as a beverage.

Some of the leaders in this wine movement are respected men; but for the life of me I cannot see how they can turn their backs on plain truth for the sake of their pocket-books, claiming that there will be money for our people and the town treasury.

"We unto him that giveth his neighbor drink, that putteth thy bottle to him and maketh him drunken * * and stablisheth a city by iniquity."
GOOD MORALS.

Atlantic County Bible Society.

The annual meeting of the Society at May's Landing, November 10th., was more than usually successful in attendance and in the exercises.

Executive committee reported that during the summer Mr. S. W. Steckel visited about half of the hotels and boarding houses in Atlantic City, and was successful in his efforts to sell to many the proprietors a handsome octavo Bible to place on the parlor table for the use of guests.

Rev. James G. Shinn also had labored gratuitously among Hebrews, Italians, and Chinese in Atlantic City, to supply them with the Holy Scriptures—one in their own language.

Interesting addresses were delivered by Prof. E. D. Riley, Rev. F. L. Jewett, Rev. G. S. Moseroll, Rev. Frederick J. Stanley, D. D., and Rev. W. W. Moffet. The next annual meeting will be held in the First M. E. Church of Atlantic City, on the third Tuesday of November.

Treasurer Daniel E. Izzard, (to whom all contributions should be sent promptly, at May's Landing), reported that he had received during the year the following sums:

J. C. Clark was appointed delegate to the Cape May Society; Rev. George L. Dobbias to the Camden County, and Lewis A. Howell to the Cumberland County Society.

A vote of thanks was given to the editors of papers who have kindly published notices of the Society; also to the good people of May's Landing for their generous hospitality, and for the use of the church, and the choral of the churches for excellent music. It was also

Resolved, that we urge the people of Atlantic County to increase their offerings, so that we may not simply supply the destitute in our own county, but assist the American Bible Society in its work in a wider field.

Resolved, we recommend our Sabbath Schools and Young People's Societies to give increased attention to the use of the Bible in their meetings.

Resolved, that we recommend pastors of the several churches in this county to invite Rev. W. W. Moffet, superintendent for the American Bible Society, to deliver addresses upon the Bible cause.

Resolved, that pastors be requested to report the substance of these resolutions and the proceedings of the Society to their congregations.

Upon application, the Society voted a donation of Bibles to two Sunday Schools, and referred other applications to the executive committee.

Book-Farming.

It seems to be generally agreed that the Farmers' Institute held in Jackson's Hall, on Monday last was the most interesting and useful meeting of the kind ever held in Hammonon. The attendance was large, both of local farmers and visitors from Egg Harbor and elsewhere.

The home talent was listened to with interest, because each was known as a practical man in the line assigned to him, and knew whereof he spoke, because of study and experience.

Mr. T. O. Keavit, of Passaic County, gave his audience some old ideas and some new ones on the culture of strawberries. He favors matted rows, with straw under the plants. That makes work, but gives better berries, which bring higher prices, and that is what all are working for. Ten crates of berries at ten cents per quart, net the grower more cash than twenty crates at five cents.

Prof. Dawley seemed to think commercial fertilizers more valuable than the barn yard variety. Not every man will agree with him, though the store goods are more easily handled, can be varied to suit the soil, have weed seed, and can be had at any time and in any quantity you can pay for,—and there's the rub.

We wonder whether our berries will find better market because of Editor Valentine's address. Certainly, he has some excellent ideas on the subject, but marketing produce is a problem that is more puzzling than any that confronts the growers. Improvement must be made in some way.

The irrigation question has not been much discussed here, because a good supply of water is wanting. That is the one thing needed—irrigation is possible, good crops can be raised, but the season as dry as a desert.

Secretary Dye talked in an interesting manner on "Profit in Farming," and made many good points. Still, some of his auditors wondered where the profit came in when it cost one hundred dollars to plant, feed and cultivate an acre of berries, and the fruit sold for seventy-five? A few of our farmers seem to be "catching on" to the idea that if berry culture does not bring satisfactory results, corn and potatoes must supply the table, clover and peas feed the stock.

We believe it would pay all growers to meet once a month and discuss such questions as the above. The "Union" tried it; but that is a society to aid in marketing produce. Organize separately, for the purpose of mutual aid in growing crops, and each member will help himself while endeavoring to help the rest. It would not be exactly "book farming," but would promote study, and result in more scientific work.

The Woman's Relief Corps invited the G. A. R. and S. of V., to visit them at the close of their meeting last week Friday evening. A good program had been prepared and carried out, and speeches were made by members of the three organizations. One feature was a potato-planting race, first by the Post, then by the Sons. Messrs. H. Sheppard and Wm. Cunningham won first prizes, W. H. H. Bradbury and Edw. Bernshous second.

Four comrades from Atlantic City, including Department Inspector Hanna, visited our local Post last Saturday evening. Comrade Zane acted as inspector, and complimented the Post on the excellent record made. After the conclusion of business, several members of our local W. R. C. were admitted, and an informal social held. The Post expressed that no bit had been given of the ladies' visit, an better program would have been made.

Game is so scarce, and gunners so eager, that even barnyard fowls and the circling pigeons are not exempt from their zeal.

The M. E. Sunday School is gaining in membership at every session, and much interest is manifested in the work. A branch of the Home Department is purposed, and Secretary L. D. Stoltz is expected on the 12th of December to perfect the organization.

The trustees of the M. E. Church have purchased two acres of ground fronting on Filiceoth Street, between the railroad, on which they will build a church.

We were told that the electric lights would be on each morning last week, and having had no use for them, supposed they were being enjoyed by those who needed them. We were unintentionally just a little too previous. The Company intended to start the five o'clock current, but were delayed by circumstances. However,—but we'll make no more promises in that line,—just try yours once in a while, and see if you can.

CHORAL and TYPE-WRITING. Night classes now forming for December, low rates, excellent terms to pupils of the Hammonon School. Address

ALICE K. K. PAUL,
Box 25, Hammonon, N. J.

Henry Smith, a German, formerly employed by John Magan, afterward bootlegger in Aitken's livery, and for some years with Antonio Capolla, was killed by the C. & A. express about 5:40 on Wednesday evening, near Waterford.

This was his first day's work on the Camden County Road. He was driving Capolla's handsome big gray, and as he approached the crossing was warned that the express was then coming, but paid no heed, and his wagon was struck by the locomotive. The back of Mr. Smith's head was crushed, one horse was killed, the other badly injured and later shot. The train stopped and bro't the man's body to Hammonon, where Undertaker Hood took charge. The County Physician of Camden notified Coroner Cunningham on Thursday evening, which was begun on Thursday evening, in Jackson's Hall. The following were the jury:

E. W. Strickland, Fred. Sutton,
B. Warrington, Wm. Cunningham,
J. Connors, S. Anderson, Jr.

Two witnesses were examined, and others being absent, the inquest was adjourned to Friday evening.

The Hammonon Juniors evidently enjoyed their game of foot-ball last Saturday, with the "Ocean Spray" team, at Atlantic City. The "Spray" was a mischievous holder, for six men belong to the "Corinthians," including Captain Farrar, and one is a "Regular." Here is the line-up:

H. A. A. Position SPRAY

H. Roberts, Right End, Conover

Bum and Brown, R. T. Albertson-Farrar

Geo. Drake, Right Guard, Harris

Joe Herbert, Centre, Reibehemer

Edw. Jones, Left Guard, Hibbe

Ed. Thayer, Quarter Back, Rauffebach

L. H. B. Galup, Andrews

C. Anderson, Left Half Back, Andrews

Monfort, F. B. Hamwell-Farrar

Each side made one touch-down, and each failed on goal. It was a good game, well played by both teams.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist Church gave a sociable on Tuesday evening, at the residence of Mrs. Wood, corner Second and Grape Streets. More than one hundred persons were present. There were solos, duets, trios, and chorus singing, and refreshments of course. It was a very enjoyable evening.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Co. have a difficult problem to solve. On the meadows, a mile or more below Absecon, there is a space that seems to be bottomless, and whole train-loads of gravel dumped there to fill up the road-bed sink in a few hours. Soundings to the depth of fifty feet reveal no substantial bottom. Trains move very cautiously along there. On Wednesday night, a down freight found the track considerably out of shape, but passed safely until a car loaded with beer reached the sunken part and jumped the track, turning crosswise and tearing up rails. No O. & A. trains crossed the meadows on Thursday,—malls and passengers being transferred around the wreck.

SHORT WORDS.

They Are the Best with Whom We Live.

A dozen or less newspaper men were collected together on the steps of a building in the soft October evening...

"I notice in the papers," said another, "that he is the best paid writer in the world at present, and that he is to receive a dollar a word for a long poem...

"The Pall Mall Gazette people say they paid him $750 a poem for all they printed of his," ventured a third.

"And why not?" put in a fourth; "he is the best writer of English prose or verse now writing. That one line of his, 'A rag and a bone and a hank of hair...' describing a rattle woman, couldn't be stronger, I think."

"Good and strong," commented a fifth, "but Kipling is not the only man who has chosen monosyllabic words for emphatic expression to his thought. If you will remember, Pope in his essay on Criticism remarked: 'And ten low words often creep in one dull line, and before and after in one slow spondee, as he were scarcely dull and slow crept. Hymn writers in that well-known hymn, for instance: 'Are there no foes for me to face? I am not dead, and I am not a ghost. In this world a friend to grace To help me on to God?'"

"Shakespeare found one syllabled words good enough for him, and you all know that passage of King's: 'The bell strike one. We take no note of time. Save by its loss; etc. 'Batter' a fortress, that makes its reader feel as if he had struck a nail with a sledge hammer, has many examples, and this one you will recall: 'We live in deeds, not years; in thoughts, not breaths— We should count time by heart throbs. Who think most, feels the noblest, acts the best. And the Bible, the greatest of books, is filled with the short words. Right at the beginning of things we find: 'And God said let there be light, and there was light,' and at the end of things, so the great day of things: 'His wrath is come, and who shall be able to stand? And still further along: 'And the gates of it shall not be shut at all by day; for there shall be no night there.' Oh, Kipling is all right; he knows he has plenty of authority for seeking short words when he wants strong ones."—Washington Star.

Hot Water Woman's Friend.

Hot water is woman's best friend. If she drinks hot water an hour before her breakfast she will be able to ward off dizziness. If she drinks hot water flavored with lemon and sweetened with sugar when she has chilled in the cold she will ward off chills.

"When a nervous headache makes the forehead throbb and back of the neck ache, hot water will relieve the pain. Sufferers from sleeplessness find themselves deliciously drowsy after a hot bath. Wrinkles fade before it, and blackheads vanish before its constant use. Great is hot water—Pittsburg Dispatch.
