HAMMONTON, N. J., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1914

No. 48

Dr. W. B. Peet was in town this week.

Sunday Schools are preparing for Christmas.

Ross Thomas was at home for Thanksgiving.

Mrs. G. W. Fitting spent Thanksgiving at her parents'.

Only twenty-four more shopping
days before Christmas.

The Water Commissioners meet
Thursday evening next.

Hammonton Loan Association
meets next Thursday evening.

Adjourned meeting of Town Council next Monday evening.

Regular meeting of the Board of Education next Wednesday eve.

There will be no meeting of the Grand Army Post this afternoon.

Mrs. Clara Wilson, of Philadelphia, is visiting Mrs. D. W. C.
Russell.

Independent Fire Company holds its regular meeting Wednesday evening.

Dr. J. E. Hoyt and family are spending Thanksgiving holidays at his father's.

There will be a Sheriff's sale, today,—the Frederick Ehrlick place,
on Main Road.

Mrs. J. D. Fairchild spent Thursday with her sisters, Mrs. Geishaker and Mrs. White.

Ernest M. Jackson and family partook of the Thanksgiving turkey with his parents.

The Civic Club will meet next Tuesday afternoon, three o'clock,
in Firemen's Hall.

G. Colasurdo is erecting a large garage on the rear of his Pleasant Hills Road property.

The Sewerage Commission will meet again next Tuesday, Dec. 1,
at ten o'clock, in Town Hall.

The Junior Editor and his family attended the Jones re-union at Collingswood, Thanksgiving.

The U. S. Revenue Collector was in town for a day or two this week,
visiting cigar stores, theatres, etc.

On Wednesday evening, Dec. 9,
the Universalist Ladies Aid Society will give a New England supper,
in their supper room.

The night school will open next Monday evening, for men and boys, holding sessions on the first four nights of each week.

shore one or two days a week. He will soon move back here, into his old house near the Reading.

A benefit will be given Volunteer Company, No. 1, on Wednesday evening, Dec. 9th. Tickets for sale by the members.

Thanksgiving services
will be held in the Baptist Church.
Attendance was fair; singing
especially pleasing; the sermon, by Dr. Gardner, appropriate and interesting.

Friends of Louis L. Purchase, of the "Raleigh-in-the-Pines," will be glad to know that having sufficiently recovered from his recent operation at Jefferson Hospital, in Philadelphia, he was brought home to spend Thanksgiving with his family.

Alumni Entertainment.

The first number for the season was given on Monday evening, in the Assembly Room. Every seat was occupied, and many stood up.
The program had to be changed some on account of absentees, but it was lengthened somewhat. It was very enjoyable, and, as some said, the committee had set a pace
hard to keep up.

The programme included these attractive numbers: reading by Miss Amanda Wilson; a selection
on Victrola; the Board of Trade Quintette; solo by Miss Laver;
piano solo by Miss Carr; violin solo by John F. Rhodes; recitations by Mrs. Shaw; accordion and guitar duet by the Messrs.
LaRocca. Applause was frequent and hearty.

The next entertainment will be given Dec. 7th. Two weeks later, a Christmas number is planned.

John Hey, a well known citizen,
died on Sunday morning, Nov. 22,
aged 72 years, after prolonged suffering. Funeral was held Tuesday afternoon.

We desire to thank our friends
and neighbors for their kindness
during their recent sorrow.

ELIZABETH VERNIER,
SARAH BURK,
JOHN PARKER.

The Woman's Civic Club wishes to thank most heartily all who helped so generously in making the 1914 Fair a success, both in buying goods offered, and freely assisting in making a most delightful feature of the entertainments.

ing Prayer at 4.30.

An old resident of Hammonton, Micajah Vincent, remembered by a few of the old timers, died (probably at Springfield, Mass.), Nov.
16th, aged 84 years. He was prominent in Town affairs, universally respected. He was a soldier, taking part in several important battles
during the war of '61.

Mrs. A. C. Phillips, mother of
H. M. Phillips and Miss Pauline Robinson, died at the residence of her son on Main Road, Hammonton, on Sunday last, Nov. 22nd, aged 81 years. Funeral services were

Thursday evening at 7.30.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McCullough, of Haddon Heights, formerly of Folsom, wish to thank their many friends in Hammonton and Folsom
for their kindness and sympathy tendered during the illness and the death of their son, who died in St.
Agnes Hospital, Philadelphia, on Nov. 15th, from abscess of the head resulting from a fracture of the skull which he received at his employment on May 14th. M.

All Hammonton is mourning the death of Edwin Adams, which occurred Thursday morning, Nov.
26th,—caused by neuralgia of the heart, aged seventy-three years.
He had been suffering for a few days, but was apparently much better when the sudden summons came. Mr. Adams has resided here many years, has been a very useful citizen, serving on the Board of Education for several terms, was for many years an official in the Presbyterian Church and Sunday School, and interested in all that concerned his town. It will be difficult to fill his place as an official, a citizen, or a neighbor.
Funeral services will be held at his residence, on Main Road, Monday afternoon, at two o'clock. The Grand Army Post and P. O. S. of A., of which deceased was a member, will attend in a body.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1914

Evil influences of the dance hall and the cafe on young folk were never more firmly impressed on the mind than through the recent conviction of a young man in the County Court, accused by an eighteen year old girl of a serious offense. The sordid details of the story were the old, old story of impetuous youthful nature "out for a good time," the consequences of which were reaped in sorrow and shame.

Too many young men and women are indulging in just such midnight orgies. How parents can permit their children to freely frequent public dances and "follow the crowd" to cafes passes understanding. Perhaps some of them do not know, but they should know, where their boys and girls are after dark.

There is a moral lesson in this instance that should impress every parent with the urgent need of keeping a watchful eye on the pastimes of their offspring. Eternal vigilance is the price of safety. Make it your business to know where your boy or girl is at night. If you neglect this, sorrow and shame and a blasted life may be the cost.

On petition for recount of ballots cast for Town Councilmen, made by Peter Tell and Joseph Pinto, all the Town's sixteen election officers were summoned to May's Landing last Saturday, taking the ballot boxes with them. A recount was made before the Court, and Tell declared elected by one majority over Pinto. You'll remember that there was a tie, each of the two mentioned receiving 285 votes. One ballot, rejected by the Board because the marking was very indistinct, was accepted by the Court, who held that the voter's intention was evident, but his pencil was poor.

The Sewerage Committee is having new propositions come up daily, and probably will have for months to come. In making the "lateral" connections, between the sewer and the curb, vacant lots were skipped. Now that E. A. Cordery is putting up a garage, it seems unjust that he should be compelled to connect from the far side of the street, costing him about seventeen dollars, when others pay the town but ten dollars, the work having been done by contract. Council will probably arrange a uniform rate, similar to that now charged for water taps.

People are asking the question, "By what right did the County officers hold a secret trial of the man accused of shooting Polunbo, one hour before Squire Strouse's appointed time? We do not know enough about law to express an opinion; but it was a very unusual procedure. Probably some one "batted in," and gave the County Detective, the idea that nothing was to be done about it here.

Notwithstanding the fact that our State Utilities Commission has declared the Railroad Companies' proposed increase in fares until March 15th, our local Board of Trade is to hold a public meeting next Monday evening, in Central School auditorium, to enter a formal protest against the advance. Everyone is invited, and all should attend.

Hammonton is certainly doing well in its response to the call for help for the destitute Belgian people. Up to yesterday, the cash receipts were $500; and provisions and clothing shipped weighed thirteen hundred pounds. Treasurer Doerfel is still accepting donations.

The ordinance increasing the Town Clerk's salary from $500 to $500 a year is a proper move. He earns every cent of it; and by his knowledge of law, his ability to make things clear on paper, and his systematic habits, he saves the town much more than his salary.

Sunday night's fight was said to be the result of imbibing too much fire water. An inflamed brain and the unlawful carrying of weapons won't mix.

Only three weeks more in which to pay your taxes. Better call and settle. Do it today.

Buy a ticket for the Firemen's benefit. Only a dime.

Sunday night, during a row at the home of Joe Polunbo, Domenico Gugelmo fired a thirty-two bullet into Polunbo's head, lodging in the mastoid cavity. Dr. Butler took the wounded man to the Hammonton Hospital, where the ball was removed, and the patient started on the way to recovery. Gugelmo was committed by Justice Strouse, without bail.

Travelers' Checks Resumed.

Through the Treasurer's Office of the American Express Company it is announced that they are mailing notices to their Agents and Correspondents to resume the sale of American Express Travelers' checks for European use.

Although the Company's offices and correspondents in Europe were very positive in their assurance, when war was declared, that they could continue to cash American Express Company travelers' checks, it was felt that owing to the high rate of exchange then prevailing and the fact that the Company would be obliged to charge a higher rate of commission than usual, it was best to discontinue temporarily the sale of their travelers' checks, except for domestic use.

The Company, however, feels the time has come when Americans who are obliged to travel abroad on business, should again be provided with this form of traveling credit, particularly since they are in a position to assure their clients that their travelers' checks will be cashed as usual at all their exclusive offices and correspondents throughout Europe.

Feeding Moulting Fowls.

It is well known that yearling hens will lay few eggs during moulting season. Most of the food supply during this period goes to nourish the body and to manufacture new feathers. This is but natural. The hen needs some time during the season when she can take a short rest. New Jersey Experiment Station authorities say that if the best results are to be obtained it is not desirable that the moulting period be indefinitely prolonged. It will usually take from three to six weeks, for the average poultry flock to pass through the moult and be ready for egg production.

Renewed egg production following the moult is largely a matter of feeding. Results show that there are three essentials in laying ration for this period: viz, plenty of nitrogen, an abundance of fat or oil, and a liberal supply of unaccounted feeds. The nitrogen can best be secured from meat scrap. The laying mash for moulting hens, especially the one which is about over the moult and which is being fed for renewed production, should contain from 20 to 25 per cent of meat scrap. A little meat scrap in a separate hopper for a few weeks will give them a good start. Meat scrap is rich in nitrogen and is relished by the birds.

Feathers require considerable fat or oil in their formation; furthermore, the oil in the feed tends to make the new feathers slick and smooth, giving them a bright lustre. Oil meal, soy bean meal and sunflower seeds are among the best materials to supply this much needed ingredient.

Eggs are over 66 per cent water and the bird's body contains about 55 per cent. Is it any wonder then that fresh water should always be before them? Best results are always secured where additional succulent material in the form of mangel beets, sprouted oats, or cabbage are supplied. Water adds to palatability of the feed, inducing the birds to eat more. A heavy food consumption is essential to egg production.

Corn Growing Contest.
Preparations are being made all over Atlantic County for the corn-growing and home-making exhibition to be held at May's Landing on Dec. 5th. Local contests have been held in numerous districts, namely, Pleasantville, Egg Harbor City, Galloway and Weymouth Townships, May's Landing, Buena Vista Twp., Egg Harbor Twp., and other districts.
A large number of boys are also prepared to make an exhibit of corn and sweet potatoes that they have grown for prizes. There will be distributed in prizes probably $200 in the two contests. Besides corn and sweet potatoes, there will be on display, bread, biscuits, aprons, work-bags, school bags, work in darning, and many other articles too numerous to mention. It is said that every live teacher in the County is interested in these contests.
The home-making contest is supervised by twenty representative women, located in various parts of the County. The president of the corn-growing-contest-committee is John Huenke, Chairman of the County Board of Agriculture, Sec't. Henry M. Cressman. Corn, sweet potatoes, and all other articles for the exhibition, should reach May's Landing not later than noon, on December 4th. The judges will then examine the articles and award the prizes. The president of the home-making contest committee is Mrs. Evelyn B. Connors. The prizes will be awarded on Saturday afternoon, at which time addresses will be made. Among the speakers will be Mrs. A. H. Reeve, of Moorestown, N. J. Mrs. Reeve is first vice-president of the New Jersey Congress of Mothers, and has been largely instrumental in interesting many of the teachers and the boys and girls in this form of practical education.

CARE OF INFANTS.
The Prudential Insurance Company has just published a little booklet addressed to mothers and having entirely to do with the care of infants. It has been called "The Baby Book" and is replete with excellent advice and other useful information as to the health, feeding and physical and moral training of the new arrival in the household. The booklet is divided into chapters, each one prefaced by a clever drawing showing some of the various stages of infancy and early childhood. The cover is in several colors and of a very novel and original style, depicting, as it does, two very pretty, bare-headed tots seated on a flower-strewn mound with a couple of newpapers before them from which they are apparently deriving much enjoyment and satisfaction. On the whole the book is one of the most attractive publications ever issued by the Prudential. An edition has been printed for general distribution, and any one desiring a copy can receive the same by writing to the Home Office of the Company at Newark, N. J., or by making request to the local Prudential agency in the town or city where they reside.
