DR. JOHN BULL'S
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FEVER and ACUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER,
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the cure of MALARIAL FEVER, CHILLS and FEVER, and all the symptoms of the disease, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire testimony of Southern and Northern physicians and the truth of the assertion that in no case has it failed to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

BULL'S SARSAPARILLA is the old and reliable remedy for impurities of the blood and scrofulous affections.

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 29, 1884.

There is a movement in this city looking to the organization of enormous excursion parties from all parts of the country during the winter and spring, the objective points being Washington and New Orleans, and the attractions the great Cotton Exposition in the latter city and the dedication of the Washington Monument and the inauguration of President Cleveland here. As the Exposition will remain open for several months from December 16th, and the dedication and inauguration will be on the 22nd of February and the 4th of March, respectively, excursionists can suit their convenience as to the order in which they will take in the various attractions. It is believed that extraordinary low rates can be obtained on all railroads.

In his late report, the Attorney-General has excited the ire of citizens generally by recommending that juries be selected in Maryland for the trial of United States cases in the courts of the District of Columbia. The suggestion is a novel one, but is in keeping, to some extent, with the system of government for the District. Citizens do not vote for their own rulers here, or for local legislation, or for any thing else. The governors of the District are three gentlemen selected and appointed by the President, and our laws are made by Congress. It is not believed the suggestion of the Attorney-General will be heeded by Congress. Indeed, many express an opinion that its very audacity will call the attention of that body seriously to the incongruity of a despotic government for the capital of a republic, and will lead to a restoration of the old time local rule for the District.

Monday Congress meets. There are many deceased members to mourn over, and the inauguration and dedication before mentioned to provide for, and it is not believed that much actual legislative work will be done until after the first of January. In fact, it will be an exception to the general rule if much is done. I have never quite been able to understand why the first of December was fixed upon for the opening day of Congress. To come here and almost immediately adjourn until after the holidays is not to advance the public business certainly. If the meeting could be fixed for the 5th of March, say, the interests of legislation would be advanced, and another possible benefit would be assured, which is this: The danger of a failure in the Presidential succession would be prevented. The next Congress will not meet until next December 1885, and there will, therefore, March 4th to December 1st during which time the House will have no Speaker. Congress has under consideration several bills providing for succession of the Chief Justice, of Cabinet officers, &c., if the Constitutional provision on the subject could be found insufficient; such insufficiency may be easily made more remote by the suggested spring and summer session of Congress, which would ensure a Speaker of the House perpetually. As is known to all your readers, the succession in case of death or inability of the President is to the Vice-President; failing that official, in the Speaker of the House.

To-day the capstone of the Washington Monument, 555 feet above the ground, is being put in place, being the highest stone in the world upon a work of man's hands. The demand for "chips" from this particular stone are numberless. Tons of them; beyond the weight of the stone before the artisan touched it, have been distributed, and thousands of patriotic homes for generations to come, I doubt not, alleged, but delusive pieces of this capstone will be exhibited with pride. Supposed copies from Mount Vernon are few in number compared with these chips.

The latest cabinet speculation here, and one which I am inclined to believe has some foundation, gives the State Department to Hon. J. Randolph Tucker, of Virginia. Mr. Tucker is now in the House, and has been for many years. During and before the civil war he was Attorney General of the State of Virginia. The special point made in his favor, aside from his conceded ability and accomplishments, is that the selection of a southern man for this particular post would impress all the world with a belief that the United States Government is thoroughly re-established, and that we are again one people. Other ten thousand Cabinet rumors I do not give, for they do not appear to have the same foundation which I am assured this one has.

Miss Mattie Worley, a school teacher in Greenwood County, Kansas, earned enough money by teaching to buy 100 acres of land. She hired eighty acres broken last year, and had ten acres sown to wheat. She purchased stock and pastured the rest of her land. She is now out of debt, and receives forty dollars per month for teaching. She is not yet twenty years old.

WHAT A MISSISSIPPI PILOT SAYS.—Capt. D. M. Riggs, who is well known at New Orleans and along the Mississippi river says, "I have been suffering from dyspepsia for the past five years, and from broken rest, by some medicine in the bowels and kidneys. I tried every medicine recommended for these diseases, without success. At last I used a bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters, which proved an entire success in my case. It cures all liver, kidney and malarial diseases."

How often do we hear of the fatal termination of a case of croup, when a young life might have been spared by the prompt use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Be wise in time, and keep a bottle of it on hand ready for use.

A mere hint of making Mr. Blaine U. S. Senator from Pennsylvania causes a shriek and a tremble all over the South.

Purge out the lurking distemper that undermines health and the constitutional vigor will return. Those who suffer from an enfeebled and disordered state of the system, should take Ayer's Sarsaparilla to cleanse the blood, and restore vitality.

Governor Hoadly, of Ohio, appointed a commission to carry out a contract to present a statue of Garfield to the national gallery at Washington. The work is now being executed by Sculptor Niehaus of Cincinnati at Rome.

The postoffice officials at Washington find that a large number of packages of merchandise, evidently intended for Christmas presents for friends in foreign countries, are beginning to be sent through the mails. All articles of this character are unavailable to foreign countries, and in consequence find their way to the dead-letter office.

Dr. David Kennedy, Resident, N. Y.
For ten years I had been afflicted with Kidney trouble, and in the last year it became so bad that I was unable to do my work. I was advised to try Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and I did so. I found it to be the only thing that did me the slightest good, and I was happy to admit that it gave me permanent relief. I have recommended Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy to many people for Kidney disease, and they all agree with me in saying that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has not its equal in the whole world for this distressing and often fatal complaint.
