He (loftily)—“I bring to you, dear Mabel, the love that fills the heart to overflowing; that thrills the soul with ineffable ecstasy; that croons its sweet secret to the pale, silvery moon, as she journeys across the starlit meadows of blue—”

Mabel (emphatically)—“And I want the love that fills the heart with energy and the pores with sweat; that guides the hammer against the steel and the foot against the spade; that packs home a ham every Saturday night and sees that there is plenty of flour in the house—”

Meteorologists say that the heat of the air is due to six sources. 1—That from the interior of the earth. 2—From the stars. 3—From the moon. 4—From the friction of the winds and tides. 5—From the meteors. 6—From the sun.

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Caillonette, druggist, Beaverville, Ill., says: “To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with la grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail, and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store, I sent for a bottle and began its use, and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep house or store without it.” Get a free trial at Croft's Pharmacy.

Bucklin's Arnica Salve

“The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price, 25 cents per box. For sale at Croft's.”

HORSE MEAT AS FOOD.

'TIS SAID THERE IS ALREADY QUITE A DEMAND FOR IT.

Two Regularly Organized Horse Packing Plants in the United States—Meats Used by the Poor of Large Cities and Much Is Shipped Abroad.

It was during the dark days of the Paris commune that horse flesh as a table viand first came into metropolitan use. The necessities of the beleaguered citizens drove them to its adoption, and there are many Americans now living who were shut up in the famine-stricken metropolis, who could probably confess to more than one meal from some ancient charger worth his weight in gold on the butcher's block. At that time it was considered a rather unique and valorous operation. To-day, however, the systematic killing of horses on the market is by no means so novel an article of trade as it is reaching out to utilize the industry for all it is worth. No one can be absolutely sure that in buying a car branded "corned beef" he is not securing an equine preparation masquerading as the genuine article, and all because horses are cheaper to kill than to keep. So far, popular sentiment is against the noble steed as an article of diet, but among the lower classes of Poles and Bohemians, in large communities of cheap workers, and especially abroad, there seems to be quite a demand, and liking, too, for "corned horse," "horse steak," "fried horse," "horse soup" and "horse sausage." lunches were supplied out of these keuties. The enterprise at Portland, Ore., has a much wider scope than its Eastern prototype. There it was simply sought to utilize the thousands of half-starved, semi-wild horses roaming the plains. Last July a big bunch of these animals were rounded up for the butchering block. They were driven to Umatilla, and then transported by rail to Portland, en route for the slaughter at Lincoln. Here extraordinary preparations were made for them. The horses were corralled and, as needed, were driven up an inclined plane into a building supplied with cooling rooms, large, modern tanks, canning rooms and all the varied departments of a first-class packing house. On the ground, the horses were the vats for steaming the fat out of the meat, a number of smaller tanks of galvanized iron, two large vertical digestors or retorts, a press for pressing the oil out of the meat, a heater by steam for drying the bones, a bone crusher resembling a rock crusher, a disintegrator or machine for grinding the refuse into a fertilizer, a boiler and an engine. All the by-products are utilized, so that the profit is not only on the flesh.

After being killed, the legs of the horses are cut off at the knee, the mane and tail removed, a slit made the whole length of the skin, and the head skinned and also made the whole. A rope is made fast to the skin, so it cannot slip, a chain put around the neck and fastened to a post, and power is applied. In ten seconds the skin comes off, a few cuts and slashes ensue, and the horse is on the way to the cooling at the outskirts of Chicago, occupying a building 30x70 feet, but fitted up with every accessory for conducting a normal slaughtering business. Its capacity is about 100 horses a week, which are purchased at an average cost of $17.50. The animals secured for meat are worn-out horses from livery stables and street car and omnibus companies, and generally weigh about 700 pounds. After killing, about 200 pounds can be utilized. This brings the average cost of a horse at 4 cents a pound. The hides and bones are also marketable, bringing the value of a butchered animal well up to ten dollars.

A visit to this horse-killing establishment reveals a system, if not clean and decent, the animals are allowed to roam in a kind of corral, and when one is selected for slaughter, a man places a gunny sack over its head and leads it into the killing room, where another man stands ready with axe and delivers a blow between the eyes that instantly kills the animal. It is then skinned, its legs being chopped off, and the marketable part is hung up in the cooling room, the treatment being identical with that awarded beef. Some of it is salted, other parts are thrown into iron cauldrons with a capacity of 300 gallons. The packers claim that only parts are thus treated that are sold to the glue makers, but an outside insists that he saw the necks of horses in one of these vats, and another thought it "beef extract," another thought it "soup extract," and yet another was certain that saloop free room, or being boiled up for canning purposes. Recently various State Boards of Health have taken cognizance of this kind of slaughter and have established a determined effort to suppress the industry, at least so far as the indiscriminate sale of the product is concerned. It is charged that quite reputable retail butchers have more than once sold the choice horse cuts as prime beef, and large beef packers are very much concerned for fear these exposures will injure their trade, and induce foreign governments to lay an embargo on legitimate products.

RAM'S HORN BLASTS.

Warning Note Calling the Wicked to Repentance.

ALL doubts come from the devil. Worry kills more people than the smallpox. WHENEVER the good play God pays close attention. THE devil watches the feet. God looks at the heart. The devil works hard to make different fruit week.

A LIFE in the heart is no whit less than a life in a horse trade. God's work never waits for the man who loves God will be full of life. A gentle spirit is a better protection than a coat of mail. If you have faith in Christ what are you doing to show it? WHEN you go away from home remember God is everywhere. WHEN people begin to think right they will begin to live right. THERE is sure to be starvation in the heart that keeps Christ out. God always has somebody preparing food for the man who is faithful. NO MAN can ever reach his best who does not follow Jesus Christ. The new man will do by nature as the old man could not do by law. Whenever a man believes that he is a child of God he tries to live like one. The real chosen people of God are those who will hear His work and obey it.

If men had to be judged by one another nobody could ever get to heaven. The surest way to make a bad man mad is to tell him the truth about himself. THE more good there is in a man the more he knows that there is a personal devil. WHEN you shake hands with a young convert don't do it with the tips of your fingers. If I doubt a man I will not let him do good for church praying for people that will hit him.

THE reason some people treat God worse than they do their neighbors is because they think it is safer. THERE is something wrong with the religion of the man who is never seen at church on lodge night. THE devil will never be discouraged as long as he can find men who are willing to make and sell whisky. Give some people the power to move mountains, and how soon they would ruin the farms of their neighbors.

A GREAT many people lose their souls because they are foolish enough to believe that money can buy anything. Superstition in Maine. That superstition may sometimes have an unfortunate away over the human mind, it was illustrated in Passaic, N. J., last week, in the death of Miss Beale Bryant, a handsome and accomplished young lady. One year ago this month she attended a party at Elin's Beach, where thirteen were seated at the table. Before that time Miss Bryant had declared that she was the one who was going to die within a year. Six weeks ago she told her mother that she was going to die in October. Mrs. Bryant laughed at her, but Beale still persisted that she had but a short time to live. Two weeks ago she was taken sick, and from the first felt she could never get well. The case is most peculiar. That she brooded so much over the matter until it finally gave her death seems to be little doubt.

Not long since in New York city (says the Tribune) an advertiser was in the publication office of a sensational journal which makes a specialty of printing scandals, to get rates for an "ad." "Do you want your 'ad' next to pure scandal matter?" asked the clerk. "Yes," said the advertiser. "Then you know you had any pure scandal matter."

Unfortunate. If you ever come within a mile of my house, stop there, said a hospitable man who was unfortunate in choosing his words.—Tit-Bits.

The surest way to be wretched is to stop and think how happy you expect to be.

GOLD THAT LIES BURIED.

Hidden from Guerrillas During the War.

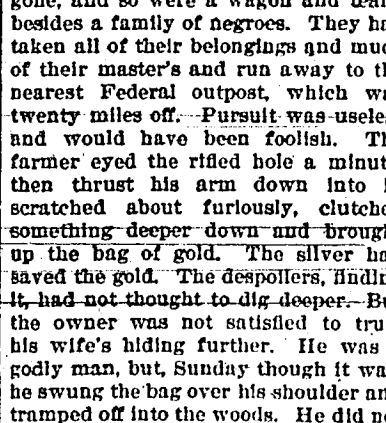

For three years of the civil war there was no security of person or property in a large section of the mid-south, outside the army posts. The invaders themselves had a taste for looting, but they could not compare in their rapacity with the guerrillas, who plundered alike from sympathizers of the North and those who upheld the Confederacy. The guerrillas had indeed, but a single active principle—plunder. A Southern writer, Gold was a peculiarly apt name for the enormous plunder, and nearly all the rich agricultural country produced crops of cotton or tobacco, both equivalent to gold in the controlling European market. The owners of such crops were in a war between the devil and the deep sea. It was extra hazardous to sell and hoard the proceeds, yet to undertake to store the produce was to invite the guerrillas' ready tooth. Then, too, the country swarmed with traders. They gave liberal prices—enormous, indeed, on the face, when payment could be made in greenbacks. If Kentucky bank notes were demanded by the seller, the guerrillas would not touch them. If the payment was in gold pieces, went down, almost out of sight.

Still, very many did insist on having gold, and found life a burden after they had it. I remember, as a child, the weeks of unrest that followed the coming into the house of a fat bag of money, and found life a burden after they had it. Spread of Tattooing. The practice of tattooing is now confined to jolly Jack tars. It is in favor in the most aristocratic circles. A prince of the royal blood, it is said, has the adornment of artistic marks on his forehead, and members of the house of lords are similarly decorated. The house of commons, too, has its tattooed members. Some of the most distinguished names in the house of commons, too, have the marks of the tattooist. A curious church is being built in Constantinople. The ground owned by the Bulgarian congregation of that city, upon which they propose to erect the structure, has been found to be unsuitable for the erection of a church of the usual materials. The architect, Constantinople has secured the acceptance of his plans for an iron church weighing about 1,000,000 pounds and is to cost $50,000. Spread of Tattooing. The practice of tattooing is now confined to jolly Jack tars. It is in favor in the most aristocratic circles. A prince of the royal blood, it is said, has the adornment of artistic marks on his forehead, and members of the house of lords are similarly decorated. The house of commons, too, has its tattooed members. Some of the most distinguished names in the house of commons, too, have the marks of the tattooist. Some of the most distinguished names in the house of commons, too, have the marks of the tattooist.

An Iron Church.

A curious church is being built in Constantinople. The ground owned by the Bulgarian congregation of that city, upon which they propose to erect the structure, has been found to be unsuitable for the erection of a church of the usual materials. The architect, Constantinople has secured the acceptance of his plans for an iron church weighing about 1,000,000 pounds and is to cost $50,000. This includes all costs of transportation and erection as well as the materials.

LESSON ANALYSIS.

1. THE UNREPENTANT WEAPONS.

1. Military Equipment Discarded: Saul clad David with his apparel.... David put them off (83, 39).

They gathered.... all that were able to put on armour (2 Kings 3: 21). His whole armour wherein he trusted was a sound.

2. THE DRUNKEN CHAMPION.

1. Approach: The Philistine came on and drew near unto David (41).

When Pharaoh drew nigh, the children of Israel were sore afraid (Exod. 14: 10).

2. Dismissal: When the Philistine.... saw David, he disdained him (42). They laughed us to scorn, and despised us (Neh. 2: 19). He was despised, and rejected of men (Isa. 53: 3).

3. Scare: The Philistines cursed David by his gods (43). Shimei.... cursed as he went and threw stones at him (2 Sam. 16: 13). His mouth is full of cursing (Ps. 10: 7).

4. Defeat: Come to me, and I will give thee flesh unto the fowls (44). How shall I defy, when the Lord hath not defied? (Num. 23: 9). Surely to defy Israel is to come up (1 Sam. 17: 25).

5. THE TRIUMPHANT ASSAULT.

1. Jehovah's Name: I come to thee in the name of the Lord of hosts (45). He teacheth my hands to war (2 Sam. 22: 35). Our help is in the name of the Lord (Ps. 124: 8).

2. Assurance: This day will the Lord deliver thee into mine hand (46). Shout for the Lord hath given you the city (Josh. 6: 16). He will deliver us out of thine hand, O king (Dan. 3: 17).

3. Exultation: The battle is the Lord's (47). The Lord shall fight for you, and ye shall hold your peace (Exod. 14: 14). The battle is not yours, but God's (2 Chron. 20: 15).

4. In Exultation: David hastened, and ran toward.... the Philistine (48). Stay not ye; pursue after your enemies; and smite (Josh. 10: 19). The lions in wait hastened, and rushed upon Gibeon (Judg. 20: 37).

5. With Telling Consistency: David.... cut off his head.... The Philistines.... fled (51). David took the head of the Philistine and.... his armor (1 Sam. 17: 54). Waxed mightily in war, turned to fight armies of aliens (Heb. 11: 34).

6. Verse 50.—"I cannot go with these." (1) David's personal prowess; (2) David's armor; (3) David's preferred equipment.

Verse 40.—"He drew near to the Philistine." (1) Goliath and his equipment; (2) David and his outfit; (3) God and his interpositions.

Any reckless man can face death; it takes a hero to face duty.

WE HAVE THREE EYES.

Science Declares that Man Has a "Third Eye."

Recent researches prove that man and all vertebrates seem to possess the rudiments of a third eye. This discovery is not only very interesting, but is also remarkably instructive, since the rudimentary third eye of man, though one of the most noted philosophers of modern days, been looked upon as being the seat of the soul.

As organs by proper use develop in strength and perfection, so they become weak by lack of use. If for many generations an organ should remain without use, its structure in time becomes simpler and more imperfect. It is such a process continues throughout the life of an organ, by constant disuse, with the result that the organ is gradually reduced to a mere rudiment of what it was in the species using the same. Thus, species of birds that only walk and run, but never fly, have only rudimentary wings, as the ostrich; while in the eagle and the falcon the wings are seen in a state of perfection.

Now, in closely examining the skulls of certain lizards, it was found that near the top of head, under the dark, opaque skin, and often in the very bone, an almost perfect eye existed, though no ray of light ever reaches it. This eye shows a crystalline lens, a retina of very complex structure and an optic nerve; in fact, all the essential parts of a perfect eye. But being covered by the opaque skin of the animal, it is absolutely useless. If this optic nerve is traced to the brain it is found to connect the eye with the so-called pineal gland of the brain. This pineal gland, which is in no sense of the word a real gland, but a definite portion of the nervous tissue of the brain, invariably located just back of the rounded brain-mass which generally is considered to correspond to the corporeal quadrangle in a man.

The third eye of the spotted lizard is called the pineal eye, on account of the nerve connection of the retina with

HAIL THE CHAMPIONS!

"Filipity, flopi
Who's on top?
Hammononton!
What's the score?
Naught to four;
Atlantic City's on the floor!"

By defeating the Atlantic City football team at that place, in the second match of the series, Wednesday, the Hammononton A. A. are acknowledged champions of Atlantic County. Yes, we beat them in a hard fought, but clean and fair game, with the score of 4-0. Atlantic City was not in it, though, at all, never getting the ball within our 20 yard line. The long brilliant runs expected, did not materialize—notwithstanding the addition of Wolsseifer, captain of the strong South Jersey Institute team, and Zeigler, from the U. of P. scrub team, as half backs on Atlantic's team. Wolsseifer did well and would have done better had he received better support, as it was he materially helped to keep down the score. Zeigler made some good gains, but disappointed the mass of his would be admirers. Wolsseifer for a while tried to skirt our right end, but Parkhurst was too much for him and he tried with no better success to pass Treat. Our team played for the line mostly in hopes at first that they would draw in their ends and allow some long runs, but they knew Parkhurst of old and scattered themselves over the field, thus allowing the mass plays. Our line stood solid and they made little gain there. The H. A. A. played together wonderfully, each taking his own part to make a hole through for the ball or to help push it through the line. Thus they scarcely ever failed to gain. Farrar had the ball more often than any one else, though Langham, Jones, Parkhurst and Treat each had their turn at it.

Hammononton won the toss and took the ball, Jackson kicked off to Zeigler who fumbled, Wolsseifer gathering it up on the 20 yard line and advancing it 15. Then Zeigler, by a succession of dodges, gained 20 more. After T. Roberts and Wolsseifer had been tackled for losses T. Roberts punted to Farrar for 15 yds. Then our boys showed what they were made of, and what drill counted for. When Atlantic City stood up Hammononton went under them; when they got down we went over their heads with the greatest possible unity of purpose and execution. Thus they went on, Farrar generally through right guard, Jones between right tackle and end, Langham left guard, and Parkhurst a few times around left end, especially once for 7, then again for 18 yards, until the ball had been forced for considerably more than half the length of the field without losing the ball, and falling but once to gain. Then Farrar went through right guard and made the touchdown. Jackson started to kick the goal but Wolsseifer blocked it, claiming Slack had touched it down while holding it for the kick. Score 4-0.

Betzback kicked off to Jackson on the 20 yard line, he returning it to the 40 yard line. Then Atlantic City gained very little, being more often tackled for loss. Hammononton got the ball on a fumble, soon losing it in the same manner, but immediately recovered it. This half ended with the ball a little way in Atlantic City's territory. Score 4-0.

Betzback kicked off to Jackson, who made a free catch and returned it to T. Roberts in the centre of the field, who advanced it 10 yards. On third down, having 9 yards to gain, Wolsseifer punted to Farrar for 23 yards. Parkhurst made another 10 yds. around the end, but soon after Schwinghammer broke through past Treat, blocked Farrar's punt, losing us 10 yards, and they brought the ball to our twenty yard line. But we secured the sphere on a fumble, did some more line bucking, Farrar made a 35 yard punt to T. Roberts, Miller tackling, and our goal was out of danger for the rest of the game. Securing the ball on fourth down, Hammononton steadily pounded the line for 40 yd., but T. Roberts secured the ball on a fuke, and with excellent assistance from Wolsseifer, made a run around left end for 17 yards, where Parkhurst nailed him. Immediately after, Wolsseifer nearly succeeded in passing our left end, when Jackson threw him for a loss of 5 yards,—one of the prettiest plays of the game. The contest ended with the ball in Atlantic's territory. No one was hurt to any extent except Franklin, who was rendered temporarily unconscious near the end of the game by the crushing weight of both teams. Score, 4-0.

NOTE.

Hammononton had the ball a good share of both halves, losing it (aside from kick-offs and punts) only four times,—three on fumbles and once on a blocked kick. No four downs occurred in succession without our gaining 5 yards.

The H. A. A. was acknowledged to be out weighted by their opponents, and were called foolish for lining up against them.

To show how hard the game was fought, on a 4th down the distance had to be measured, and our team got the ball with a margin of 2 inches.

All acknowledged that the game was managed impartially and with fairness.

In an interview with the reporter, Wolsseifer said, "Your team is good, though I think it inferior to last year's, don't you? You play together much better than Atlantic City, but if I had the South Jersey Institutes lined up against you we would defeat you 58-0. I congratulate you on playing a clean game." C. P. Smith, the umpire, a U. of P. man, said "It was a good game; Hammononton played together splendidly." H. M. Phillips, referee, remarked, "The game was remarkable for the skill and determination employed."

Whatever praise the boys receive, they feel that much of it is due to Mr. Phillips, whose ceaseless zeal and untiring efforts in coaching, have done much to mold the material and make the team what it is. Much credit must be given to Captain Jackson, whose head always appears to be level, his judgment cool and collected.

While going to and from the Inlet Park, where the game was played, stick, stones, rotten potatoes, and mud were thrown at our representatives by parties of toughs, most of them big enough, old enough and ought to know enough to do better.

It was heroic business, some said, to play on the hard gravelly ground at the Inlet Park, and to this the several "badges of honor," added their silent testimony.

Two or three score of enthusiasts were at the station, and escorted up the street to the music of many bells and the light of fireworks, our returning, tired and hoarse, but happy, champions, with their friends, "covered with mud and glory."
