W. C. T. U.

The ladies have taken this space for one year, and are responsible for all that it may contain.

The twenty-seventh convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union opened in Washington, D. C., Nov. 30, with an evangelistic service in the same church--(the Foundry-M. E. Church) where the convention met eighteen years ago. The church was crowded.
A very interesting programme was carried out. Mrs. Stevens, Miss Anna Gordon, and many others prominent in the W. C. T. U., took part.

Since the convention met there in 1881, the membership of our Society has multiplied eight times, and the receipts from various sources are ten times the amount they were then. We had twenty-six departments then; now we have thirty-six, and yet many think the W. C. T. U. are doing nothing.
You frequently hear one say, "They don't amount to much, anyway." To all such we say, attend one of these conventions, listen to the noble women who have given their life's work to this cause, and you will soon change your mind. You will see that we are gaining. We will succeed, in God's good time, in overthrowing this great evil, which is sapping the vitals of our nation, ruining our homes and the youth of our great country.

God hasten the time when King Alcohol shall be dethroned, not only here, but throughout the world.

Press Supr. W. C. T. U.

The School Problem.

We hear very little said now about abolishing the Kindergarten; but "they say" that many favor such action, and are prepared to introduce the subject at the next annual school meeting. The chief reasons given for such action are, first, economy; second, they believe the Kindergarten to be useless as a school, a sort of public play-room, supported by the tax payers' money.

Suppose we look into the matter a little. In our own Kindergarten there are enrolled fifty-seven pupils. These come from probably fifty homes, each with its own system of training—or no system—and this aggregation of independent Americans (many of foreign parentage) presents problems which the average primary teacher finds very difficult of solution. Here comes in the Kindergarten. With songs, games, and entertaining employment, these little ones are brought into harmony with wholesome school discipline, and really imbibe much knowledge of primary grades, without realizing that they are being trained and taught. In this way they are prepared for entrance into the school proper.

It is not a "baby school," either, as some people appear to think, where, as one stated it, "a mother sends her troublesome kids, to be rid of them for a few hours." Of the fifty-seven enrolled this term, but three are under five years of age.

This latter fact also disposes of the financial objection. Fifty-four kindergarten pupils are of legal school age, and must be provided with a desk, a teacher, and books. It would not cost a dime less to teach these little people in first primary grade than in Kindergarten, and all the preliminary training, and the love for school—which is almost universally gained before they begin their real battle with books, would be lacking.

There are eighty-four pupils enrolled in the first primary department; and the fifty-four from Kindergarten, one hundred and thirty-eight. No teacher can do justice to more than forty children. But law requires the town to provide proper school facilities for every child between the ages of five and eighteen years. Shall we do away with the Kindergarten, and open three rooms, with three teachers in the first grade? Would the poor tax payers be less burdened?

We have noted the working of the present arrangement, and feel satisfied that no proposed change would be either beneficial or economical. Let well enough alone, until something better is in sight.

A business-like snow storm began yesterday morning about eleven o'clock.

A Shocking Calamity
Late yesterday a railroad laborer, written Dr. A. Kellie, of Wilford, Arkansas, "His foot was badly crushed, but Dr. Kellie's Anklea solved quickly cured him." It's simply wonderful for horses, bulls, pigs, and all skin eruptions. It's the world's champion healer. Cure guaranteed, 25 c. Sold by Crowell.
