A NEW STUNT
If the "gold-digger" railroad companies don't be careful, they will soon be without cars, if the experience undergone by the 8.45 accommodation train is often repeated.

It appears that that train left the local station a little late, and when a big moving van approached Rosedale crossing, not quite two miles from this place, the train was hitting it up quite lively. Instead of slowing down to let the moving van cross in safety, the steam cars kept right on, and as a result got an awful crack when the van went ker-smash right into the old railroad's train. The driver of the van, not wishing to smash the engine, which was worth several hundred dollars, just crumpled into a passenger coach and laid it hors de combat, or whatever you call it when a railroad car screeches out loud, and then falls down. The car was so fatally injured that it was untied from the train and left by itself.

SERVICES MEN'S MEMORIAL
Over 100,000 residents and organizations have been subscribed here for the erection of the hand-some monument and eight small markers, in honor of the men and two women, who all during the great war never returned alive. The monument, with a huge bronze eagle on top, will be placed in position in Wood-Park, in thousands of motorists en route to the points. The monument is of Carolina granite, and is 13 feet high. On the face of the monument will be a large bronze panel with the names of those who served with distinction, and on each of the eight small bronze panels, the name of the hero who lost his life in the great conflict. While the monument is being erected, the Chamber of Commerce has secured the project, and the money to come from all classes of people and organizations of this place.

THE MODERN FUNERAL

It is only as one loves his work and shows his love by availing himself of every possible means of developing his powers in the attainment of some supreme end, and as he is willing to make sacrifices if need be to be at his best in mastering the situation, that he can win or merit the highest success in his profession.

The strength that comes from the assurance that one is directing his energies wisely and intelligently and successfully, in the larger and better sense, is the essential part of one's equipment. Especially is it true in the profession of caring for the human dead.

It would be difficult in this day and age to find a physician who would wish to return to the methods in vogue twenty-five, fifteen or even ten years ago. Many changes have taken place in the last ten years in the conduct and management of funerals. The quality and character of funeral furnishings have improved. The advent of the motor vehicle has practically eliminated the horse-drawn coach, and science has perfected the art of preserving and beautifying the dead.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Garden farmer will find the Ford Model T One Ton Truck an especially valuable factor in his business because of the flexibility as well as the reliability of the service given by this splendid truck. The worm-drive of mangle-gear bronze carries all the power of the motor to driving the Truck, and there are combined in larger and heavier form all the elements which have made the Ford Model T Car the greatest motor car in the world in point of service. The Ford Truck with its worm-drive is most economical in operation and maintenance. There is very little, if anything, to get out of order at any time; there is the simplicity in control; there is the convenience in the flexibility of the car, it will turn in a circle of forty-eight feet; it accommodates itself to narrow alleys, and it "stands the gaff" of hard work day after day, and month after month, to the great satisfaction of the owner. There is hardly a line of business activity where the Ford One Ton Truck is not really a necessity. Come in and talk it over.

WE'RE IN LOVE

By R. RAY BAKER

(Copyright 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Mrs. Willie Weatherly, fleet, florid and fashionable at all times, and at this particular time almost furious, glared through the window as the roadster left the roadway and turned into the avenue.

The glare somehow managed to leave the windshield in a state of solidity and appeared to have no effect on the automobile or the two occupants, one of whom was a yellow-haired girl in a tailored suit, while the other was a young man who sat rather stiff behind the wheel and was garbed in a maroon uniform.

When the girl, just before the roadster became shut from sight behind a house, turned and waved her gloved hand, Mrs. Willie Weatherly moved and became more furious and "glared" and "glared" from the various library, down the luxurious hall, to stop teetering from one foot to another, before a closed door, on which she gave a resounding rap.

A deep, roaring voice boomed: "Come in," and she did.

A lean, black six-foot man who had been sitting over a deep, comfortable chair—comfortable had the occupant been less long—gathered himself together, and when he recognized the intruder he folded his paper, placed it on a corner of the table, sighed, and inquired in a voice that was not so thunderous:

"What seems to be the trouble, my dear? You appear agitated."

Mrs. Willie Weatherly reeled into another big chair and sat clenching and unclenching her fists and puffing for breath.

Mr. Willie Weatherly, the signed and preferred it William T. Weatherly, but had been unable to do the pickaninny society had selected for him waited in patience for his wife to explode, which he knew she would, and which she did.

"Agitated? Agitated? Who wouldn't be? Think of it! Agitated? Huh! You will be, too, when I tell you."

Mr. Weatherly sighed, and looked longingly at his paper on the table, and waited to be agitated.

"It's nothing less than preposterous—criminal!" his spouse resumed. "It's simply terrible! Think of it, I say!"

Mr. Weatherly looked at his wife, and waited to be agitated.

"It can't be true—it simply can't!"

Our daughter, our little daughter, June, in love with the chauffeur!

Her predilection as to Mr. Weatherly's state of temperance was fulfilled. He gained his feet, as though impelled by a spring.

"What?" he roared. "In love with Jim? No! No! No! Our daughter, June! Horrible, unpardonable, horrible! It can't be true—it simply can't!"

Mrs. Weatherly smiled, and nodded with satisfaction, satisfaction occasioned by the perturbed behavior of her husband. For the moment her agitation over her daughter's pickaninny choice in love was supplanted by her gloating over Mr. Weatherly's frantic conduct.

"It's true, though," she said almost sweetly. "I was seated in the library when the roadster passed with June and Jim. She's going to town to do some shopping, she said—the little deceiver! Well, as the car went past the library window I heard her say:

"Isn't it wonderful to be in love, Jim?"

"And that ungrateful rascal replied: 'Yes, and we're sure in love, ain't we?'"

Here Mrs. Weatherly bristled out again in ferociousness and launched a thrust directed primarily at Jim, but which she broadened its scope to include all chauffeurs and would up with an attack on the man who in vented automobiles, whoever he might be. Her husband chimed in now and then, whenever she paused for breath, but finally both calmed down somewhat, realizing that they were accomplishing nothing, and that perhaps their innumerable daughter had eloped with the miscreant driver while they were holding their trivial confab.

"What's to be done? That's what I want to know," Mr. Weatherly inquired, as he snatched back in his chair, tore off a piece of his newspaper and began chewing it nervously and meditatively.

"There's only one thing," said his wife decisively. "You must speak to her—you must forbid her having anything to do with Jim; and if that does no good you must discharge him."

Willie shrugged his shoulders. He had once visited France.

"Easily said," he observed, "but I don't care to tackle June. She's too much in the habit of having her own way, and she's too much of a spitfire. The first thing she would do would be to marry Jim, if she hasn't done that this afternoon. And I can't discharge Jim. He's too good a driver—and besides, it would make her care all the more. No, there must be another way."

Mrs. Weatherly stroked her double chin, and presently her eyes sparkled with a happy thought.

"I have it. We'll get Mr. and Mrs. Sparkwell to invite us for a cruise on their yacht. That will give June a chance to get in with Charlie Sparkwell, their nephew. You know we've often talked over with the Sparkwells what a good match it would be, and they'll be glad of the opportunity. Naturally, we wouldn't take our chauffeur on a boat cruise—and June is just crazy about the water. Perhaps she'll fall in love with Charlie and forget all about Jim, once she's away from him."

June returned late in the afternoon with no evidence of having eloped and fell unsuspectingly into the trap that had been laid for her, and two days later Mr. and Mrs. Willie Weatherly and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Sparkwell and nephew set sail on the yacht Clover Leaf for a two weeks' cruise on the Atlantic. In order to prevent June from fashioning their designs, her parents had kept from her the fact that Charlie Sparkwell would be one of the party.

June and Charlie seemed to get along swimmingly, much to the gratification of the four more elderly members of the party, who while the young couple strolled the deck in the evenings, played bridge and seven-up and discussed the future happiness of their respective daughter and nephew.

One evening Willie Weatherly complained of being out of sorts and remained in his room while his wife and the Sparkwells partook of amusement according to Hoyle. In the midst of their game, however, Mr. Willie breezed in on them, his look form fairly quivering with excitement and satisfaction.

"Come quick—all of you—to my room," he whispered, as though fearing the walls might develop ears.

"June and Charlie evidently forgot when they were seated and they're outside my window—and they're making love. It may seem like eavesdropping, but you've just got to hear it. It'll do you all good—like it did me."

Swallowing their suspicions, if they had any, the four conspirators hurried into the room in question, arriving just in time to hear Charlie say:

"One thing is certain: our folks won't have any objections."

"Objections?" laughed June. "Father not. They've wanted us to get married for the longest time, although my folks never dared to come right out and ask me. They know I have ideas of my own."

"The same with me," said Charlie. "Uncle and aunt never did anything more than drop hints about how nice a girl you were. They even kept it from me that you would be on this cruise, although, of course, I know about it already, from your telling me, the same way you knew I would be in the party."

"There was silence outside for a few moments, during which Mr. Willie Weatherly looked at Mrs. Weatherly somewhat sheepishly, and Mr. Sparkwell looked at Mrs. Sparkwell in much the same manner, and all smiled rather slyly.

"It's been lots of fun, anyhow," sighed June. "This falling in love of our own free will—without being told to. And isn't it fine for the folks to arrange a honeymoon for us?"

The conspirators listened with bated breath.

"Yes," agreed Charlie, "this is a regular honeymoon. Here the folks invite us on a cruise to get acquainted, and we've been married three days already. By the way, how did your chauffeur come out with his love affair?"

June laughed.

"Oh, he followed my advice and made up, and pretty soon the little black-eyed girl in the library department of the five and ten will become his wife. He was terribly worried that day he drove me down to meet you so we could get married; but I told him how to fix it, and he did it. In order to soothe him I told him something about my own affair with you, and it was great fun confiding in the chauffeur, for we were both in love, you know."

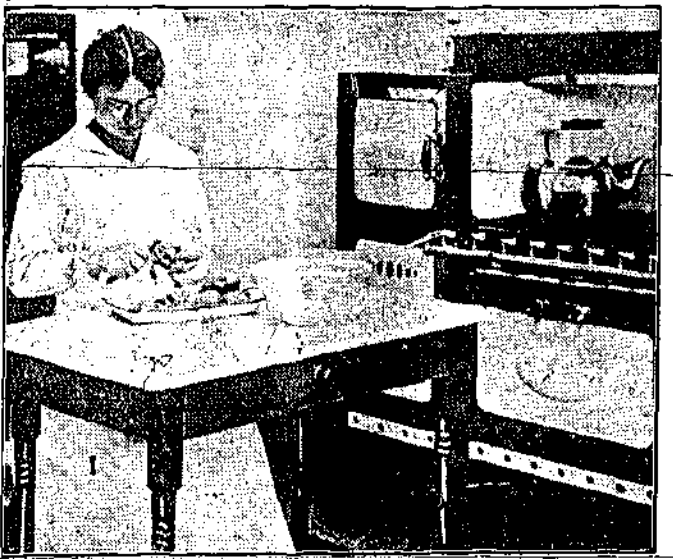

Danzig Strongly Fortified.

Danzig proper is a great fortress, with a population of 50,000 civilians within its ancient protective walls, which were strengthened by the Hohenzollern regime by the addition of modern bastions and the most improved artillery. Outside the city walls is a population for the Danzig district of about 100,000. The big guns of the city control the "Neufahrwasser," which is the port and docking place at the mouth of the Vistula; the grain warehouses on an island near the city built in a period when Danzig handled more of the Polish trade than she did during the latter days of the Hohenzollerns, and the shipbuilding on the Vistula bank.

PALATABLE AND WHOLESOME POTATO REAL STANDBY OF HOUSEWIFE WHO ECONOMIZES

Irish Potatoes Are Easy to Prepare and in Season All the Year.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The explorer, whoever he was, who introduced the potato to the civilized world, deserves even at this late date a rising vote of thanks from all those who are trying to serve three square meals a day to their families and not go bankrupt. Potatoes are high, in comparison with other days, but not as high as meat. The potato is not a substitute for meat because chopped and not protein is its main substance, yet it is a food which possesses much nourishment and is palatable, wholesome, and "filling." Where economy or health makes it necessary to reduce the amount of meat eaten, potatoes can well be used to form the base of the main dish served at a meal.

In the following recipes, which have been tried out in the home-economies kitchen of the United States department of agriculture, potatoes either help to make a little meat go a long way or else form the base of a palatable dish, which contains no meat.

Potatoes With Cheese and Green Peppers.

2 cups diced cooked potatoes
1 green pepper
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 cup grated American cheese
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup bread crumbs
1 egg yolk
Salt and pepper to taste

Make the sauce, using the fat, flour, milk, and seasoning. Mix the potatoes and the green pepper with the white sauce and cheese. Put in a baking dish and cover with the bread crumbs and brown in a hot oven.

Chopped red pepper or pimientos can be used in place of the green pepper.

Potato Souffle.

1 tablespoon fat
2 tablespoons potato starch
2 cups milk or cream
1 egg yolk
1/2 cup bread crumbs
1 egg white, beaten
Salt and pepper to taste

Mix ingredients in order given and bake until firm in greased, covered baking dish in slow oven. This quantity serves five persons.

Potato Omelet.

1 cup mashed potatoes
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup onion juice
1 egg yolk
1 egg white, beaten
Salt and pepper to taste

Wash eggs, and separate the whites and yolks. Add by the United States department of agriculture to the potatoes and beat until there are no lumps. Season with onion juice, if you like.

Heat in county, Texas, produces gas. A child girl who lives there learned through her club, how to make doll clothes by preserves. Last November a New York business man, desiring to secure a superior by preserve to put on the market, went to the demonstration agent of Harris county and asked if she had her club house and asked if she had her club house and asked if she had her club house.

The extension of other laws of recent, but the girl who excelled the rest in the art was young, too young, she feared, to carry on so large an undertaking. She was so well qualified, however, in every other way, that the man decided to have an interview with her. The sight and taste of her delicious preserves decided the question and the girl was engaged.

A market for these big preserves is now being built up in New York on the strength of the samples that could be put up at so late a date.

desired, and chopped parsley. Beat the whites until stiff and fold into the potato mixture. Put into a well-greased frying pan and bake in oven until brown. Then turn and fold on hot platter. Serve at once.

Potato and Cheese Molds.

2 cups mashed potatoes
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup cheese
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup salt

Melt fat in saucepan, add potatoes, and mix well; then add the milk and half the cheese and seasoning. Put into a greased baking dish, small ramekins, or baking cups, sprinkle the rest of the cheese on top and bake in a fairly quick oven about ten minutes.

Potato and Egg Mold.

2 cups mashed potatoes
1 cup egg sauce
1/2 cup salt

Mix the potatoes with the egg sauce and season. Put in baking dish or baking cups and bake until lightly browned. The egg sauce is made as follows:

Make a cream sauce by mixing the potato starch with the melted fat combining with the milk, and cooking until thickened. Add the finely chopped egg. If potato starch is not available cornstarch may be used instead.

Potato Thistle.

1 cup milk
1/2 cup potato starch
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup hard-boiled eggs

Line a dish around the sides with mashed potatoes, prepared as for the table, then fill with minced lamb or beef or other left-over meat, well seasoned; cover top with mashed potatoes, and crisp cover with a knife. Put in oven and brown. Left-over meat and potatoes can be used.

Potato and Nut Sausage.

2 cups mashed potatoes
1/2 cup onion juice
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup hard-boiled eggs

To the mashed potatoes add enough milk to bind them. Put nuts in boiling water to loosen skins, remove skins, and put nuts through meat grinder. Mix nuts and potatoes thoroughly and season well. Add well-beaten eggs to potato mixture. Form into sausages, flour them well, put in greased pan, and put a small piece of salt pork on top of each sausage. Bake in a fairly hot oven until brown (about 45 minutes). Serve with tomato sauce.

IS WED AFTER 25 YEAR WAIT

Chicago School Teacher Is True to Troth of Quarter of Century.

COMES WHEN CALLED

Sweetheart Goes to California to Make Fortune and When He Succeeds He Sends for Waiting Girl.

Los Angeles, Cal.—After an all-night wait at the railway station in San Bernardino for an incoming bride on a train that was long overdue, Frank Staron, a prominent Los Angeles restaurant man, forty-eight years, and Miss Elizabeth Mary Dixon, aged forty-one, a Chicago school teacher, completed a quarter-century romance by wedding at the San Bernardino courthouse.

Romance of 25 Years.

In this city the story of the long and romantic courtship was recorded. The bride had pledged herself 25 years ago to wed Staron, the latter said. He came west to make his fortune; she remained in Chicago and taught school, awaiting the summons to the altar. In all the quarter of a century, Staron said, they had not seen each other until they met at San Bernardino. But Miss Dixon remained true to her troth and when the call to wed was received she quickly packed for the trip to California and started.

Staron, however, would not wait until his bride reached this city. He hurried to San Bernardino and had a private interview with the justice of the peace and deputy county clerk.

Late and Then Later.

But when Staron and his bride to matrimony reached the depot they found the train late and growing later every minute. Through the weary and chilly hours of the night they waited, watching the bride's progress as it was reported by the dispatchers upstairs.

Then when in the early chill hours of morning the train rolled into San Bernardino station, the bride-to-be stepped from the coach into the long waiting arms of her fiance. The two county officials were introduced. The wedding followed without delay.

WIFE HAS RIGHT TO SMOKE

Los Angeles Judge Declares Women May Use Tobacco If They Wish.

Los Angeles.—Benjamin J. Morton was opposed to having women smoke, he declared in Judge Craft's court, where he won a decree from Leonard Morton. His decree, however, differed from those of the judge.

"She smoked my tobacco," said Morton.

"Do you smoke?" asked the judge.

"Oh, yes."

"Well, hasn't she as much right to smoke as you?"

"Of course she hasn't. She is my wife. Wives shouldn't smoke."

"Well, no man who himself smokes gets a divorce from this court just because his wife, too, smokes," stated the court, but he added that since the evidence showed the woman had deserted her husband he might have a decree.

"Somebody Will Grab You."

Los Angeles. Darwin J. Dechard "didn't have sense enough" to keep his wife, so he wrote her, and the wife came to divorce court seeking a divorce on the ground of desertion. There was not enough evidence, said Judge Telf, and denied the divorce. The letter in question read in part: "Darkest, I guess you'll be better off with your divorce. Somebody will grab you sure. I didn't have sense enough to keep you."

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

By Mary Graham, Denver, Colo.

SPINNING YARNS.

Daddy had a New Year's story he had not yet told the children, and though it was some time past New Year's they wanted to hear it. This is the story.

"In the first place of all," said old Mr. Giant, "I want to wish all of you the compliments of the season."

"Thank you, thank you kindly," said old Mr. and Mrs. White.

"We all thank you, every one of us," said Peter Gnome.

"And I hope you will have many happy New Years, every one of you," added old Mr. Giant.

Again every one thanked him.

And for a few moments all the Fairies and Brownies and Elves and Gnomes and the Bogle family did nothing else but bow to each other and say "Happy New Year every one; compliments of the season," and "May you have many more."

"I asked you to come to my New Year's party," said Mr. Giant, "after a few moments, 'as I have the famous story-tellers here for the afternoon.'"

"The famous story-tellers?" every one asked. "Who are they?"

"In just a moment you will see," Mr. Giant answered, with a smile. "Come, my fine guests, will you do me the honor to take your places? There is a seat for everyone. And the Fairy Queen has helped me with the seats."

"Story-tellers, special seats and the Fairy Queen has helped," they all said to each other. "It sounds pretty nice, eh?" And everyone chuckled with glee and smiled as they looked forward to a very nice afternoon.

They had all come to old Mr. Giant's cave and had been standing outside of the cave wishing each other their New Year wishes.

"All come in," old Mr. Giant said. "Everyone went into the cave."

"All pray, take your places. You will see your names on the backs of the seats. Master Chilly was good enough to paint them for me," old Mr. Giant grinned.

All about the cave were seats made of ice and hard snow. And over each seat was written in a great and flourishing hand the name of the guest who was to sit there. Yes, certainly, Master Chilly had painted the names very beautifully with his snow paint brush and his ice paint brush, blowing on them with his cool breath to make the shining just right.

"And I told you," said old Mr. Giant, "as the guests were about to take their places, 'that the Fairy Queen had helped me. You were going to have rather cold chairs, you thought!'"

"But the Fairy Queen brought her magic wand along just after the seats had all been made and waved it over them, saying:

"Be warm, be warm for Mr. Giant's party."

And do not chill any guest. Remember they are hale and hearty. And wish not to freeze when they take a rest."

Everyone laughed at this and turned to the Fairy Queen.

"Well," said Peter Gnome, "the Fairy Queen's magic wand is the only thing which could keep chairs of ice and snow from feeling that way. But Mr. Giant, we want to know about our next treat! We were to hear the famous, wonderful, fine story-tellers."

"At once, at once," said old Mr. Giant, and from a little distance off in the cave they heard low singing and talking, and then louder and louder it came.

Soon there came before them through one of the side passages until it reached the very center of the cave, a spinning loom drawn by six fairies. One of them sat down at the loom as soon as it was in the very center, and they took turns spinning and turning out story after story. As they spun they weaved stories instead of anything else.

"We're spinning yarns," they said, "which is Spinning Loom."

another name for stories, and whenever you hear folks spinning yarns or telling good stories and having fun old folks you will know that in the background the Yarn Spinning Fairies, or the Six Story Tellers are helping them."

And all through the afternoon, as they spun in turn, the stories became more wonderful and beautiful all the time, and as they spun them they said them aloud. Sometimes they turned out little songs and jingles, but mostly just stories, stories of great people and little people, of princes and princesses and of ordinary folks, and everyone said old Mr. Giant had given them a splendid treat at the beginning of the New Year!

LANE IS TO LEAD SALVATION ARMY

Former Secretary of Interior is Chairman, 1920
Committee

Franklin K. Lane, who recently resigned as Secretary of the Interior Department, has accepted the chairmanship of the national committee in charge of the Salvation Army's home service appeal for 1920. This is Mr. Lane's first big civic work after severing his cabinet connections.

In a letter to Commander Brangell Booth, Mr. Lane declared that sympathy for the suffering people of other lands must not cause America to neglect her own poor and unfortunate classes.

FRANKLIN K. LANE.

"In all our thoughts for other peoples, we may not rightfully forget those on our streets," writes Mr. Lane. "The girl who has stumbled and sees no refuge but the grave; the man who has been broken through repeated disappointment, dissipation or disease; the neglected, unloved child, the Salvation Army speaks words that are healing to the spirit, holds out a supporting hand and starts them on the way upward out of the slough of despair. If we were not all intended to do this kind of work, then I believe the teaching of nineteen hundred years has been in vain."

Mr. Lane has made it clear to officials of the Salvation Army that he intends to be a "working chairman" in the great appeal. Asked to deliver an address in the interest of the Salvation Army he readily acquiesced "but," he said, "I should like to address the workers themselves; the men and women who are carrying on this work."

Painless Dentistry

AN "ACTUAL FACT"
Says DR. SHOR

By the aid of Sweet Air it is possible to drill, fill, crown, treat and positively extract teeth and not hurt you the least bit; no matter how badly your teeth are aching, how sore your jaw may be, or how firmly your teeth are set. Dr. Shor's relief is without pain. The most sensitive persons can forget their fears and depend upon Dr. Shor's promise that he will not hurt them. This famous new discovery has revolutionized dentistry and is placed within the reach of all, old and young, by Dr. Shor. The results of Sweet Air Dentistry have robbed the dental chair of its terrors. With Sweet Air it is simply impossible to hurt you.

Caters to Plain People

Dr. Shor caters to the plain people, the kind that Abraham Lincoln said, "God loves, because he made so many of them." Rich people can pay the price of the exclusive dentist, who does work for only a few, but the average man can't pay excessive prices. Dr. Shor could have an exclusive practice, but he prefers an extensive practice, making a small profit from many people. Instead of a small practice and big profits, Dr. Shor keeps open evenings until 11 o'clock so that if you work days you can come evenings. His office is located at 241 Market Street, Philadelphia. Three Days of Painless Dentistry.

Work Guaranteed 15 Years

Dr. Shor guarantees all his work 15 years. This guarantee is as good as a Liberty Bond as the Doctor is a man of his word. His standing in the community is attested by bankers, business men and prominent people. If, however, any fault, no matter how trivial it may be, should develop in Dr. Shor's work, he will make good. Your work will be done over, if necessary, and without question. Dr. Shor is so plain, so simple, so easy to get along with, and he knows the value of the good will of satisfied patients. If you cannot pay here, pay one dollar and he will start your work. Dental Service to be paid in small weekly payments. So you see everybody can have their teeth attended to by the Shor method.

An Invitation to the Public

Dr. Shor wishes to extend a general invitation to the people of New Jersey to call and accept his offer of a free examination. His office is equipped with every modern appliance known to dental science which enables him to maintain a high order of cleanliness while operating. Open every evening.

Illness Costs U. S. Wage Earners Billion Dollars Every 12 Months

The annual sick bill of 30,000,000 American wage earners is $1,000,000,000.

The time clock of the nation shows that each worker, through sickness, loses an average of nine days. This means that the working time of the nation is decreased by more than 860,000 years.

Half of the billion-dollar sick bill represents wages lost and deducted from the total of earnings expected to finance the budgets of millions of families. The other half represents the bill for doctors, nurses and medicines. And the total is twice the amount given annually in the United States for all philanthropic purposes in normal times.

This is the problem of illness as it is presented by the survey now being made by the Inter-church World Movement.

The survey has formulated a program as a proposal for the co-operative effort of the evangelical churches. An increase in the efficiency and capacity of existing denominational hospitals is the first provision of this program. Construction of 31 new hospitals is the second. These hospitals include 12 general hospitals for white people; twelve for negroes; one tuberculosis sanitarium for African; four hospitals for incurables and two children's hospitals.

BIG MEET SATURDAY

The annual physical training contests of the schools of Atlantic county will be held here on Saturday morning, May 15, preceding the county song competition. The fifth annual track and field events for the county championships, will be held in the afternoon.

In the song competition Hammonton will have 34 voices in its singing team, while Egg Harbor City will have 32 in its congregation. Little Folsom, with 8 voices, will vie against Northfield with 35. Teams and leaders in its team. Ventnor City and Minatola will also contest in the latter event, but neither has made known the number of voices in its team.

COUNTY SONG CONTEST

The official program for the fourth annual song competition of the schools of Atlantic county has not yet been printed, but from the committee it has been learned that Hammonton, with 34 voices, will compete with Egg Harbor City, with 32 voices, in the High School contest, Hammonton singing
"Good-bye," by Tosti, and Egg Harbor City "Fiddle and I," by Goodbye, as their voluntary selections, and "O Stern Old Land," a patriotic hymn by Whitson-Stone and Bullard, as the selection of the Chamber of Commerce Cup Committee.

In the Elementary-School contest, Ventnor, Minatola, Folsom and Northfield will compete. Ventnor's voluntary selection has not been made known, but Minatola will sing "Sing a Light and Cheerful Lay," by Nicoll.
Folsom will favor with "Merry-Eyed
May," and Northfield with "Blow Balm Breezes," by Warner. All four schools will take a turn at singing
"Softly Fall the Shades of Night," by Marchant, the Chamber of Commerce selection.

The judges of the contests will be Mr. William Massau, supervisor of music of the Gloucester Public Schools; Miss Helen M. Kennedy, supervisor of music of the Atlantic City Public Schools, and Miss Ethel G. McKinley, supervisor of music of the Collingswood Public Schools.

The Cup Committee consists of W.
Richard Seely, Dr. Frederick C. Burt and Herbert C. Doughty.

This contest, which is held annually, is open to all the schools of Atlantic county, with the exception of those of Atlantic City. The school winning the handsome Chamber of Commerce Cup retains possession of it until the following year, when it must be again put in competition, until it has been won three times by the same school.
It then becomes the permanent property of that school. Each school contesting must sing a selection designated by the Chamber of Commerce Committee, and one of its own choosing.

NO INCREASE HERE

The town authorities have closed a contract with the Hammonton Electric Light Company covering a five-year period, with no increase in rates. In view of the increased price of labor and materials the local solons are congratulating themselves on the deal made.

A SURE WIN.

The Hammonton High School relay team, which last Saturday won first honors at the Penn race, will compete tomorrow in the Atlantic County school championship contests to be held here. The Hammonton team is composed of Isaac Cook, captain; Lambeth Monfort, George Youngman
and Willard Wood.

MANY ENTRIES FOR MEET.

Fully two hundred entries have been received for the fifth annual track meet of the schools of Atlantic County, to be held here on Saturday. Indications point to a hard fight for honors between Hammonton and Egg Harbor City athletes, with entrants from five other towns fighting for third place, although some of the la-tor may develop dark horses and upset all calculations.

RED MEN'S BIG TIME

Shamunkia Tribe of Red Men, of Hammonton, will send a delegation of braves to the big gathering to be held at Mt. Holly, on Saturday evening, May 16.

TOM'S RIVER RENEGES

Keen disappointment was felt here today over the failure of Tom's River High School to appear here for the baseball games scheduled with Ham-monton High. The only reason assigned by the Tom's River team is that it "cannot make connections," which fact it discovered as late as the day before the game for the day with some other team. Hammonton High is now in first class fettle, and was just "hot grey" to play, and in consequence feels the failure of the Tom's River aggregation that much more keenly.
